WILL ROB THE RIVER TO EXTEND THE CITY

Plan Under Consideration to Make Montreal Island a Mile Longer by Filling in Waterfront—Would Add Million Dollars Worth of Land and Give More Space For Docking Ships—Contraband Discovered at St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary—City Pays Large May Day Bill—Explosive Socks Civilization's Latest Danger—Fortune Made from Puzzles

(From our own correspondent.)

MONTREAL, May 1.—With the problem of accommodating a population of one million five years hence staring her in the face, Montreal is planning to rob Father Neptune of nearly a square mile of territory in an effort to provide additional room. As in the case of smaller cities the plan in question simply proposes reclamation. In this case the reclamation will be from the river involving an amount of land which will be worth something like a million dollars. The idea originated with an engineer who has acted in a consulting capacity in the erection of some of the largest buildings in the city, and has made a specialty of foundation and caisson work. His idea, in brief, is to lengthen the island of Montreal by the erection of sea walls, behind which the space could be filled in by pumping sand from the channel. Chimerical as the scheme may sound at first hearing there appears to be no reason why it should not be carried out, since the value of the made land will far exceed the cost of its creation. Of course until borings and surveys have been made it is impossible to more than roughly estimate the cost of such an undertaking, but it is believed that it would not only pay for itself, but would leave a handsome profit besides.

Ran Liquor Store in Prison.

It is well over a year now since Johnny Woods, an expert second story man and false key burglar, stepped out to freedom and announced that all was not as it should be behind the walls of St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary, where he had been confined for the five years previous for robbing the home of ex-Mayor Ekers whilst His Worship and family were abroad. Johnny is a smooth, well-educated young Englishman and he tells a good story. The newspapers took him up and he became famous in a night. Briefly he charged that cocaine, rum, dope of any kind and pipes to smoke it with, dainties, tobacco, even knives and razors, were bartered and exchanged within the walls of the pen as freely as they would outside. Coin of the realm was the standard, of trade, although, if short, an ordinary plug of tobacco cut into ten slices stood for fifty cents. From outside appearances Johnny's tales did not ruffle one whit the equanimity of the prison officials, the inspectors nor the Department of Justice, but it has been learned since that, almost as soon as he had spoken, a searching investigation was ordered through the Dominion police. Now, it turns out, matters are even worse than Johnny pictured them. One guard had the audacity to enter into partnership with a convict to run a barroom. The guard smuggled in the fire water by the "underground route" and the prisoner peddled it, his place of business being a well-concealed cave in the huge coal pile standing in a corner of the walled yard. A hospital orderly sold cocaine and morphine from the hospital stores. A cook when discharged after his time was up, walked out with $700 in his pocket although he had not a cent when sentenced, all of it made by selling dainties and extra rations to the wealthier inmates. Several guards have already been suspended and a general shakeup and reorganization is being brought about behind those high grey walls.

Pays Large Interest Bill.

Cheques totalling $913,397.51 are being sent out from the City Hall as a cheerful May Day present from the city to its various creditors. The whole sum comprises Montreal's half yearly payment of interest on the various civic loans, including interest on the loans of several municipalities which were last year annexed to the city. Nearly two millions of dollars are expended each year in this way. The sum of £94,569, 1sc, 4d goes to the Bank of Montreal in London, £19,204, 2s, 3d goes to the National Bank of Scotland in London and £46, 0s, 6d goes to the Bank of Scotland in Edinburgh.

The foregoing amounts are equivalent to $553,632.25 in Canadian currency, and the balance of the interest is made up as follows:—Coupons payable in New York, $66,495.50; coupon payable in Montreal, $118,103.43; registered stock dividends payable in Montreal, $94,116.28; Catholic School

Commission coupons, $11,000.

Explosive Socks.

The various citizens throughout the country may be the unsuspecting wearers of gun cotton neckties and explosive socks liable to blow up at any moment, is the startling possibility just brought to light here. Nor is the feminine sex immune from the danger since petticoats may likewise be articlse of destruction. This unsuspectde condition of affairs has been discovered through a local protest recently filed against the manufacture of artificial silk from cellulose, in which it appears that there is a possibility that almost any article of wearing apparel made to imitate real silk may be actually explosive. There are several processes, it appears, according to the process, by which artificial silk is produced from cellulose. One process employs nitro cellulose which is really nothing more than soluble gun cotton. From it the threads to be used in manufacture are drawn in ether or alcohol. After the thread has been drawn and is ready for wearing, it is supposed to be de-nitrated. If it is, it is entirely safe. If it is not, it may be exceedingly dangerous, for it then remains nothing less than gun-cotton spun into a fabric. So in the future it may be worth while to refrain from stamping the "nearsilk" clad foot or yanking viciously at the cravat of the same material, even though no casualties from explosive garments have not yet been reported.

STOLE A RING AND SETTLED FOR IT

Foreigner Paid All Costs and Was Given Suspended Sentence

John Sapica, an Austrian, was this morning charged with theft. It appears the foreigner was in Mr. Yanover's store, and among other articles shown him were finger rings. Shortly after Sapica left Mr. Yanover noticed a valuable ring was missing. He reported the affair to the police with the result that the Austrian was arrested, and, upon being searched the ring was found upon him. He was locked up and subsequently brought before the Magistrate. To the charge the accused, through an interpreter, pleaded guilty but did not appear to realize the gravity of the offence he had committed. As the ring was secured, and Sapica paid all costs incurred, he was allowed his liberty on a suspended sentence. The Austrian is employed at Point Ann.

FIGHTING FIRES IN NORTHUMBERLAND

Farmers Have Hard Time—Families Driven Out Of Homes

COBOURG, Ont., April 30.—During the past week fire has been raging in the Haldimand Prains, and some forty men have been hard at work in an endeavre to save fences and buildings. Mr. Robert Baptist, a well-known farmer residing in the fire area, had to plough a space around his house to save it. The weather has been very dry and rain would be welcomed. The old grass and brush burned like tinder. The fire has swept over a considerable area.

Dr. Hutchinson's house at Grafton, a village eight miles from here, was burned during the week, entailing a considerable loss. It was insured for $800 and the contents for $100, which does not nearly cover the loss. Mr E. Caswell's residence adjoining was damaged by water and smoke. He is insured in the London Mutual. The fire was so serious that the Cobourg brigade was summoned, and two minutes later was speeding on a Grand Trunk Railway special, with a volunteer band of firemen, who took chemicals and other apparatus with them. By heroic work the fire was confined to the one building, although other buildings adjoining were in danger.

WHAT IS BEING DONE ON THE C. N. R.

Big Fill at Jones' Creek is Nearly Finished—Work East of City

While within the limits of the city just at present there is nothing definite being done in regard to work on the C.N.O.R. line, operations are actively progressing east and west of the city limits.

On the western limits a gang of men is engaged at what is known as Jones' Creek. At this point it was at first decided to have trestle work, but later it was decided to fill in and build a large culvert. For some time this work has been going on and it is almost completed. A large quantity of material has been used to fill in and some tons of cement used in constructing the culvert.

East of the city limits, at what is known as Giroux's camp, a number of men have of late been at work on a cut at a point on the road leading to the Point Ann cement works. There has been much filling in done here and other work of necessity.

It is confidently expected that within a few days a gang of men will be at work on construction operations through the city and on the bridge.

NOTES FROM THE POLICE BLOTTER

Only one arrest was made since Saturday, that occurring this morning.

Mrs. Hall, who resides at Bayside, left a small sum of money for some apples she sold on the market on Saturday and was unable to find the purchasers.

As the result of some boys making considerable noise and desiring to fight on the lawn in front of Christ Church on Saturday night, a police court case will probably follow.

Some boarders on Saturday evening were endeavoring to run a boarding house on Front Street in a manner not to the liking of the proprietor. The police were called, but no arrests were made. The parties were somewhat under the influence of liquor.

MISSIONARY SERVICES IN BRIDGE STREET CHURCH

Rev. Dr. Hartnell Tells of Work in the Flowery Kingdom on Behalf of Christianity—Strange Misapprehensions Among the Natives, Few Conversions and Few Baptisms But the Seed Has Been Sown and Will in Time Bear Abundantly—A Highly Interesting and Encouraging Discourse

At Bridge St. Church yesterday missionary services were held and the speaker for the day was the Rev. G. E. Hartnell, D. D., who, with his wife, has been for some time engaged in missionary work in China. In the evening after the usual devotional exercises had been held, the Rev gentleman gave an address relating to missionary work amongst the Celestials. The basis of his remarks was the 3rd verse of St. Mark's Gospel 16th chapter: "And they said among themselves: Who shall roll away the stone from the door of the sepulchre?"

In his opening remarks the divine said the words of the text arose out of a conversation which took place between Mary Magdalene and Mary the mother of Jesus, who visited the tomb wherein the Saviour was laid. They went to the tomb and saw the stone had been rolled away and an angel was seated thereon. These women to some extent represented the church of God. All down through the ages the church had triumphed over difficulties and rolled away the stones of opposition. Corea, at one time would not allow a foreigner to come into that little hermit country, but that stone had been rolled away. In China the stone had been rolled away by allowing missionaries to go into that country. At first great obstacles were encountered in regard to the sound and tone of the language of that country. This stone had been rolled away.

Secondly a great stone was the fact that the people were strongly opposed to having foreigners in their midst. They had not seen people with pale faces and they thought these foreigners ate strange food and were in fact cannibals. The shadow of the foreigners was adverse to the Chinese. It took an earthquake to roll away that stone. From 1895 to 1900 was the seed sowing time in that country. There were few conversions and few baptisms, but the seed of the Gospel was being successfully implanted.

The speaker referred to the Boxer movement in 1900 and the fact that many missionaries and Chinese Christians were put to death, but at present the missionary had a social standing if they so desired. In 1902 a request came to the missionaries to open up chapels and churches. The Chinese would come with a list of names of those who desired to hear the Gospel preached. Here was an answer to prayer to get hold of the people to teach them. All at once the door was opened and the missionaries took advantage of the opportunity to preach the Gospel to the Chinese. In this way the missionaries were able to accomplish much good. The Canadian missionaries are concentrated in one province in the western part of China and in this part of China we have recently had a wonderful movement namely, a spirit of revival, and many were truly converted. God is blessing the work. It is spreading, not only in western China, but in other parts. A great responsibility is resting upon the home church in this matter. Now seems to be the open door for the evangelization of China. May we who have had blessed Gospel privileges give all we can to assist in the great work of the evangelization of that great country.

Rev. Dr. Stephenson, who was present, spoke briefly, referring especially to the fact that missionary work was needed to be done amongst the thousands of foreigners who are coming to this country to make it their home. Give them all the blessings we enjoy in the way of religious teaching and liberties we enjoy, was the keynote of his remarks.

Rev. Prof. Doxsee assisted in the service and the choir rendered appropriate music and Mrs. A. P. Allen

KICKED BY A HORSE

A young man named John Hunter was yesterday kicked in a livery stable in the city, while assisting in harnessing a horse. The animal kicked him upon the right hand, inflicting a painful wound. No bones were broken but the hand, in addition to a severe cut, was badly bruised.

CURRENT COMMENT

The Government of Portugal has issued a decree putting an end to the special connection between the state and the Roman Catholic church. The days have returned when the free church is the strong church and when connection with the state hinders the true growth of the institution. With disestablishment in Portugal, it appears, also comes confiscation of some $30,000,000 of the Roman Catholic Church's property. The dissolution of the legal ties between a church body and a government gives the state no right to take from the church that which was freely given to the church by members of the church for church use.

As was expected, Berlin is not at all pleased with France's activity in Morocco. It is said that France is taking advantage of a more or less unimportant disturbance to work out its own ends in that country. There is talk too of calling for a new conference of the powers, while the Pan-German League has adopted a resolution requesting the government to negotiate with France for the partition of Morocco between Germany and France. Seemingly, another conference of the powers is needed to deal effectively with the Moroccan question. If the country is to be broken up, why shouldn't Spain and Great Britain have a part of it as well as Germany and France

DAILY DEATH LIST

MRS. WM. CLARKE.

Mrs. Ellen T. Clarke, wife of Mr Wm. Clarke, pased away yesterday at the family residence, Foxboro. Deceased was born in Sidney Township in the year 1858, being a daughter of Mr. Thomas Gay. All her life was spent in Sidney and Foxboro. She was a lady who was highly esteemed. For many years Mrs. Clarke had been a member of the Methodist Church, and took an active interest in church work. Mr. Clarke, but no family, survives. Four brothers and two sisters of the deceased are living.

JAY R. DENYES.

Some months ago Mr. Jay R. Denyes, of Thurlow, was the victim of a paralytic stroke and yesterday he sustained another stroke which proved fatol. He passed away last night. Deceased, who was in his forty-ninth year, was a son of the late Mr. Wesley Denyes, and was born on the family homestead, 8th concession of Thurlow Township, where he passed away. Mr. Denyes was a man well known and highly respected in the township having been for some years treasurer of the municipality. He was a member of Stirling Lodge, A. F. & A. M. and a member of Belleville Lodge, A. O. U. W. For years the deceased had been a member of the Methodist church and was for some time superintendent of the Sunday School, of Bethel church. He was a man, who by his upright character, made many friends. Surviving are a widow and two sons, Percy and Otha, and a large circle of relatives. A sister, Mrs. J. Dickens, resides in Huntingdon and one brother, Clayton, of Thurlow. To the bereaved ones will be extended the sincere sympathy of all their friends.

SAMUEL TAFT.

On Saturday afternoon Mr. Samuel Taft, who was well known in the city, died after being ill for some time. Deceased, who was 70 years of age, had resided in Belleville many years. He was a member of the Anglican church. An aged widow survives.

Mr. Taft was one of four brothers who were on active service at the fenian raid of 1866. Deceased was a member of the Veterans' Association of this city.

Silence!

The instinct of modesty natural to every woman is often a great hindrance to the cure of womanly diseases. Women shrink from the personal questions of the local physician which seem indelicate. The thought of examination is abhorrent to them, and so they endure in silence a condition of disease which surely progresses from bad to worse.

It has been Dr. Pierce's privilege to cure a great many women who have found a refuge for modesty in his offer of FREE consultation by letter. All correspondence is held as sacredly confidential. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores and regulates the womanly functions, abolishes pain and builds up and puts the finishing touch of health on every weak woman who gives it a fair trial.

SINS OF THE ...CITY...

CHAPTER I.

A Withered Leaf.

"There are surely other objects in this life than the mere making of money, aren't there?"

"You wouldn't think so my dear fellow, if you had much to do with the City. There, it's money, money, nothing but money and don't be too particular how you get it, so long as you do get it. Mind you, I like making a little bit myself, honestly, as well as anybody but I draw the line. What I make I make with clean hands, figuratively, of course, for in electrical engineering one has to soil one's fingers sometimes but then, it's clean dirt and will wash off. And some of the City dirt won't."

"You're quit eright, Mildmay, quite right," replied the other. "I think it was that as much as anything which made me take up my wandering exploring line of life. I had a look in at the City, as you know and I very soon had enough of its money-grubbing ways. I longed to get away into a healthier, purer atmosphere, and, having a certain amount of income of my own, I set off for Northern Siberia."

"And nearly got frozen to death. Then by way of warming yourself into life again, off you go to Africa and paddle up the Congo and as if that were not enough, you must take a boating trip up the Aruwimi, right to the source."

"By Jove, Mildmay! I wish you had been with me. It was the most interesting journey I ever made; even you would have enjoyed it."

"Thanks, but if I am to have fever I prefer having it at home, where I can be decently and comfortably nursed and not among the swamps, the flies and the heat. No, thank you, Old England's good enough for me."

The two men, both in evening dress and divided by a fringe of similarly clad spectators, had been standing leaning against the barrier which separated the seats from the promenade in the grand circle of the Empire Theatre in Leicester Square. The famous Bandini Family were doing their turn and apparently risking their necks in every conceivable manner, in mid-air. When at length they had finished and the curtain had hidden them, standing in a line, hand in hand, on the stage, bowing and smiling in response to the applause which had greeted their efforts, the two men left the places they had occupied and sauntered in the direction of the bar.

The younger of them, Gerald Mildmay, a dark, good-looking young fellow was carrying his light-colored dust coat over his arm, for the theatre was warm and by his side walked his old friend, Wallace Vipan, a tall, thin spare figure, whose rather bony face was weather-beaten by the storms of the north and tanned by the southern sun. He was about forty but travel and privations had turned his hair prematurely grey, yet on his face was the pleasant, careless expression of the true cosmopolitan.

"It is real good running across old friends," he said, as they seated themselves at one of the small tables and lit their cigars. "Yours is the only face in all this crowd that I know. I was beginning to feel quite solitary."

"You solitary, I can't quite swallow that. You who seem to spend your life poking your nose into all the out-of-the-way corners of the earth you can find places wherein no other white man has ever been before. You'd never feel solitary."

"Not in those places, certainly but in a crowd like this I get the blues at once, unless I have a chum. This place brings back the memories of the old days you know, my dear old fellow."

"And so you're just back from South America?" continued Mildmay, when he had obtained a satisfactory light to his cigar.

"Yes, I had a most interesting trip. Started on the west coast, at Lima and worked right across the Continent till I struck the sea again at Rio, something over two thousand four miles."

"Whew! And have you made a pot over it?"

"Hardly. I've spent a pot, as you term it," replied Vipan, smiling.

"Then what in the name of wonder was the good of going? Well, certainly I haven't been given a medal with 'Aruwimi' engraved on it, nor may I write F.R.G.S. after my name but at the sam etime I'm not liable to an attack of fever every second day, I've got no grey hairs above my ears and my face isn't lined like a ploughed field by hunger, thirst and privation. So, on the whole, I think I have the best of the bargain."

"As you will, my boy. Each one must follow his own taste. But tell me, how ar ethings with you? Are you making a pile?"

"Hardly that, but I'm just jogging along slowly. There's a lot of competition in our line in London."

"I should think so; London's played out. You'd coin dollars there. Cuzco, for instance; there's water-power, metal, labor, all that you want and no great competition to make you cut prices. Think it over and come out with me when I return."

"What, Vipan? You're never thinking of going back there, surely? But then you were always fond of new places."

"There are more unlikely things than my return. But you call it a new place. Look at that! I'll make you a present of it" and Vipan drew from his pocket and threw on to the table a littl eimage in solid gold, very quaintly formed and chased.

"Thanks awfully but what is it?" asked Mildmay, picking it up and examining it."

"Evidence that Peru isn't quite as new a place as you seem to think. You're holding in your hand the work of some Inca, who lived before Pizarro and his divils of Spaniards played the deuce with the inhabitants in the sixteenth century."

"Then there's gold there?"

"Gold, silver, copper, cinnabar—everything a man can want, though some of it requires finding and— Hulloa, Olcott!" and Vipan sprang to his feet to greet a man who halted in front of the table and was regarding him with an uncertain look.

Sir Charles Olcott, baronet, was a by no means prepossessing-looking individual, about forty-five years of age but being well set up, well dressed and well groomed, he looked much younger. He had all the appearance of the man about town, minus the careless, lackadaisical air which so often forms an attribute of the genus, its place being supplied by a keen sharp briskness which indicated a mind quick to snap at trifles and guage them at their true worth. His eyes were small and restless, closely set together and seemingly incapable of looking a person straight in the face. The lips were remarkably thin and The lips were remarkably thin and hard, while the chin was small and pointed. He wore no hair on his face, and that fact seemed to accentuate the many lines by which the countenace was scored, most especially about the mouth and chin. Sir Charles was not a persona grata with many; he was considered too clever, too hardheaded, too good a hand at a bargain, but there were others who at times found him useful, and his undoubted influence in certain quarters of the City, in the way of loans and advances, was not a matter to be ignored.

"Then it is Vipan, the explorer?" said Olcott, holding out his hand with a harsh chuckle. He could not laugh—he had never been known to—his nearest attempt was a grating chuckle. "I heard from Oxendale you were back from Peru. Had a good time, eh?"

WHY SO ANXIOUS?

In considering the proposal for reciprocity between Canada and the United States, every person who has any knowledge of the course hitherto for many years pursued by the United States towards Canada must naturally ask the question of himself, what means the sudden reversal of the policy of that country—why the substitution by our neighbors of effusive friendship for commercial enmity? The abrogation of the reciprocity treaty of 1854-66, the repeated refusals to negotiate for limited reciprocity, or even to consider the project of unrestricted reciprocity, as engineered by Erastus Wiman in 1890-1 and supported by Messrs. Laurier, Cartwright, Paterson and other leaders of the Liberal party, together with the repeated enactments of hostile tariffs, contrast so forcibly with the present attitude toward us that explanation is naturally sought of so remarkable a change of front.

It has generally been accepted as explanation, in part at least, that President Taft, the high tariff party having been defeated, was endeavoring to beat the Democrats at their own game by anticipating them, while his own party still held the reins of power, in their declared policy of tariff reduction. By his bargain with our Government Mr. Taft hoped to gain free access for American manufacturers to our pulpwood areas and other natural resources. But this was not the only object which Mr. Taft had in view, as he openly confessed in his speech at the press banquet in New York on Thursday night last, in the course of which he said:

> "I have said that this was a critical time in the solution of the question of reciprocity. It is critical because unless it is now decided favorably to reciprocity, it is exceedingly probable that no such opportunity will ever again come to the United States. The forces which are at work in England and in Canada to separate her by a Chinese wall from the United States and to make her part of an imperial commercial band reaching from England around the world to England again, by a system of preferential tariffs, will derive an impetus from the rejection of this treaty, and if we would have reciprocity, with all the advantages that I have described and that I earnestly and sincerely believe will follow its adoption, we must take it now or give it up forever."

Are loyal Canadians prepared to further President Taft's avowed object, namely, the commercial dismemberment of the British Empire?

But that is not the only purpose which our neighbors hope to achieve by their "bearing of gifts," as we will make apparent in future articles on the subject.

WHITEWASHED LANCTOT

The magnificent supremacy of party was again convincingly demonstrated at Ottawa during the small hours of this morning, remarks the Montreal Star of Friday last, when the report of the special committee on the Lanctot case was adopted. Mr. Lanctot, who "borrowed" paint and painters from the Government stores at Sorel without consulting the Superintendent of the Yard, is consequently declared to be not only an honest and honorable servant of the people, but a shrewd and able business man as well, while Mr. Blondin, who took the responsibility of calling the attention of Parliament to the fact that one of its members was having personal work done by Government employees, is officially designated as an interfering and meddlesome person who ought not to be encouraged. As the committee had divided strictly on party lines, so did the House of Commons. Every Liberal present put his hand to the whitewash brush and every Conservative called for the tar barrel. As an evidence that party ties can be tautened on emergency, the vote was very gratifying, but as showing that the representatives of the people in Parliament feel a responsibility other than to their organization, it was something of a failure. The Lanctot rehabilitation has been too much for strongly partizan Government organs throughout the country to swallow, but the honorable and intelligent gentlemen who compose the Government's majority at Ottawa gulped it down as eagerly this morning as though they liked it—as perhaps they do. The theory that one good turn deserves another is the very foundation of our present political system.

For this and other corruption of various kinds, the Government have yet to answer to the people.

EDITORIAL NOTES

INTERESTING STATISTICS.

The United States Department of Agriculture has just published some interesting statistics. There were 21,000,000 horses in the country last year, as compared with 17,000,000 in 1905, showing an increase of 4,000,000 horses in five years. It will be seen by these figures that proportionately the increase of horses is greater in the United States than the population, proving the fallacy of the cry that Canada is to be benefited in horse sales by reciprocity.

A DISTINCTION.

The Montreal Gazette says: "Mr. Bryce, Ambassador of Great Britain to the United States, has been at Detroit speaking in praise of the Canadian reciprocity arrangement. Lord Sackville, one of Mr. Bryce's predecesors at Washington, twenty-three years ago, was sent home for talking too much about U. S. political issues. The precedent was not a notably decent one, however, and may be barred by the statute of limitations as to such matters. And Mr. Bryce may be privileged." Not on account of the "statute of limitations," but for another reason. Sackville spoke against the policy, at the time, of the United States; Bryce in favor. The greater the harm that policy would be to Britain and Canada, the greater would Bryce's advocacy of such a policy be admired and appreciated by United States statesmen. That's the difference.

WEST NOT A UNIT.

The advocates of reciprocity have persistently asserted that the people of the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan are practically a unit in support of the Laurier-Taft pact, but the fact is that such was never the case and public opinion in that part of Canada is steadily becoming more hostile to the arrangement. Mr. W. A. Shepard, of Borden, Saskatchewan, who is President of the Board of Trade of that town, and also a member of the Consolidated Boards of Trade for that province, has informed The Intelligencer that such is not the case. Along the southern border of the western provinces there is, he says, a majority in favor of reciprocity, but elsewhere the majority is very largely against it. Mr. Shepard's opportunities for observation are unexcelled, as in his capacity as an advertising contractor, he visits every city, town, village and hamlet from Winnipeg to the Rocky Mountains, and necessarily comes into close contact with all classes of people in that region.

ALL DRUGGISTS

TO-NIGHT, GRIFFIN'S OPERA HOUSE.

There is no one who does not thoroughly enjoy "The Man on the Box," for the play by Grace Livingston Furniss is no less enjoyable than the novel by Harold McGrath, and both have that something in their make-up that grips the interest and holds it firmly until the last word is spoken

It happens that a lieutenant of the regular army, latley resigned, seeks to play a practical joke on his sister by officiating upon his return from a trip abroad, as the family coachman He borrows a livery and proceeds to jump upon the box of what he supposes to be the family carriage, as the guests are leaving from the British Embassy, after a grand ball. Fate wills, however, that he shall mount to the wrong box and that he shall kiss the wrong girl, Miss "Betty" Annesley by name, with the result that he finds himself in a police court undergoing examination and he finally extricates himself from this rather embarrasing position by actually accepting a place among the servants of the Annesley family. With this beginning "The Man on the Box" develops extraordinary complications and makes its way through three acts of uproarious fun and enlivening dialogue. The many embarrasing situations in which the pseudo coachman finds himself as a consequence of his rash act furnishes a lively evening's entertainment. Of course, in the end he is unmasked, but he wins the pretty girl, so is well repaid for all the mental anguish he has undergone Incidentally he saves her father from a contemplated act of treason to the Government, a situation which gives the play just a faint touch of melodrama and makes it all the more enjoyable.

Cobwebs in the Morning.

Cobwebs in the head on rising in the morning is the result of a Lazy Liver, one or two mornings in succession and sick headache follows.

Father Morriscy's Liver Pills will clear the Brain.

These Pills are a purely vegetable compound prepared with great care, and are without doubt the very best pills for general use, on the market. The greatest care has been given to selecting the ingredients, and being entirely vegetable, they act upon the liver and bowels in such a manner as not to disturb the other functions of the body as many pills do.

As a Liver Invigorator, Blood Purifier and General System Renovator, they are unequalled. Sick headache is invariably brought on by a sluggish liver, constipation or irregular bowels; these pills are a cure for sick headache in any form.

Pimples, eruptions and yellow skin are often caused by a lazy liver; one pill three times a week, will soon clear the complexion.—Price 25c. per box.

You, the Unbelievers—You're Going to be Converted

There are two classes of men not yet wearing "Sovereign Brand" Clothes:

(1) Those who imagine they have to have custom tailoring;

(2) Those who think they are already wearing the "best value" brand of ready-to-wear.

By a series of advertisements to appear in this space, we intend to convince both classes of their error.

You may consider yourself beyond such influence—and we must admit it's hard to put into words the arguments that our clothes themselves so forcibly express.

But read the series anyway—it's going to be worth your while.

A quicker way to be convinced, is to go to the shop in your town where Sovereign Brand Clothes are sold, and see for yourself the wonderful value they represent.

ATHLETICS

BEAT SHRUBB AGAIN.

NEW YORK, April 29.—William Queal, of Alexandria Bay, again defeated Alfred Shrubb, the English runner, in a ten-mile race here to-night, winning by about 25 yards. The men kept together all the way until three laps from the finish, when Queal jumped out and Shrubb was unable to hold him. The time was 52 minutes 15 seconds.

LONGBOAT "CAME BACK."

BUFFALO, N.Y., April 30.—Tom Longboat, the Canadian Indian, defeated Gustav Ljungstrom, of Sweden in a 15-mile race here to-day. The time was 1.47:46.

TURF

Ottawa Horse Show.

Among the out-of-town visitors who will attend the Horse Show, in the Capital are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilmot of Belleville and their daughters the Misses Audrey and Gwen Wilmot the two latter of whom will ride their English hackney ponies.

Echoes of Toronto Horse Show.

Ponies and roadsters were not numerous but they made a brave showing in quality. Of course Miss Wilkes was a leader in roadsters, but regrettably she was not as largely represented as in former years, although "Jimmy" Weatherill made a great display with Moko Belle and Maze which are not by Mogorazia, as was generally thought. In the ponies, few of which had been judged by Friday a quartette of capital pairs contended for the costly cup given by Secretary Manager Stark, who is also secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Pony Society. Senator Beith won with a glorious pair of chestnut mares, artistically handled by "Tomy" Crow. Mrs Wilmot, of Belleville, had two pairs in, one handled by her husband, and the other driven in a most graceful fashion by a pretty daughtre, who is also a capital equestrian. She appears to be a born horsewoman. Dr Campbell had a natty team in hand and was picked by many for a higher place than fourth.

The Most, At The Price

We make no supernatural claims for "PROGRESS BRAND" CLOTHING.

We have never said that "Progress Brand" Clothing is the "finest in the world".

We have never stated that a "PROGRESS BRAND" SUIT at $15, "was better than any custom tailor could make for $50."

But what we do guarantee is this—that "PROGRESS BRAND" CLOTHING is the best in Canada at the Price.

Just compare a "Progress Brand" Suit, with any other suit retailed at the same price, and you will see why more and more men are adopting the sensible, money-saving plan of wearing "PROGRESS BRAND" Suits and Overcoats.

The spring styles are unusually handsome.

PLEASANT SURPRISE FOR PROF. DENMARK

Holloway St. Church Marked Appreciation of His Services

At the close of the service at Holloway Street Church last evening a presentation took place in the basement of the church. The recipient was Prof. Denmark, who has been for some time choirmaster and leader of the orchestra in connection with the Sunday School, and who to-day left for the west. The Professor was presented with a well-filled purse by Miss Lela Weese, on behalf of the various church organizations he had been identified with.

Although taken by surprise, Prof. Denmark made a suitable reply. At the presentation the choir was represented by Messrs. G. Dulmage and T. Taylor; the Sunday School orchestra by Mr. P. F. Canniff, and the church officials by Mr. A. E. Bailey.

ROYAL GOVERNOR FOR CANADA

DOWNING STREET,
21st March, 1911.

The King has been pleased to appoint Field Marshal His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught and Strathearn, K.G., K.T., K.P., G.C.B., G.C.S.I., G.C.M.G., G.C.I.E., G.C.V.O. to be Governor-General and Commander-in-Chief of the Dominion of Canada."

CANADA CEMENT COMPANY'S STOCK

A bill respecting the Canada Cement Company was passed by the Senate Committee on Banking and Commerce at Ottawa this morning. Under the bill the company secures the power to create 6 per cent. debenture stock to the aggregate value of $11,000,000.

The debenture stock is to be issued at not less than par in exchange for or to provide funds to purchase the issue and outstanding shares of the company's 7 per cent. preference stock, the preferred shares to be cancelled. The amount of preference stock redeemed and cancelled must equal the amount of preference stock issued. As to dividends the debenture stock will have priority.

Mr. Frank P. Jones stated that it was not promised to issue more than two millions of debenture stock now. It would be listed in London. The first allotment would be issued to the holders of preference stock.

Shareholders are given two months to decide whether or not they will exchange for the debenture stock.

HAIR HEALTH

If You Have Scalp or Hair Trouble Take Advantage of this Offer.

We could not afford to strongly endorse Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and continue to sell it as we do, if it did not do all we claim it will. Should our enthusiasm carry us away, and Rexall "93" Hair Tonic not give entire satisfaction to the users, they would lose faith in us and our statements, and in consequence our business prestige would suffer.

We assure you that if your hair is beginning to unnaturally fall out or if you have any scalp trouble, Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will promptly eradicate dandruff, stimulate hair growth and prevent premature baldness.

Our faith in Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is so strong that we ask you to try it on our positive guarantee that your money will be cheerfully refunded if it does not do as we claim. Two sizes 50c. and $1.00. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store. J. S. McKeown Belleville.

CLEVER DEBATE ON CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

"Resolved, that capital punishment should be abolished."

Such is the wording of the subject which was debated upon last evening in St. Michael's Academy before a large attendance of St. Michael's Total Abstinence Society.

The affirmative opened the discussion followed by the negative, and the addresses delivered by the four speakers were very instructive and showed careful thought and study. This is a deep subject for a debate, especially for boys as young as the above, but they all took care of their respective parts as good as their elders.

After consideration, the judges gave their decision in favor of the affirmative. The honor of best speaker was awarded to Mr. Basil Taugher. The judges were Rev. Father Meehan, Thos. Turley and Wm. K. Wims.

This was the last debate of the season and the members of St. Michael's Total Abstinence Society, one and all, wish to extend to Rev. Father Meehan their sincere thanks for his untiring efforts in arranging these debates which were very interesting, instructive and enjoyed by all the members of the society.

And Now for Wall Paper

We are making preparations in our Wall Paper Department for a vast business.

That 1911 will lead all previous years we are amply assured.

We feel it in our bones It is the grip we have on the Wall Paper and Decorating trade, that tells us so much.

Receipt of charming new goods,

By inquiries regarding spring work,

The unusual busy winter in the line of decorating forecasts a good year. A recent call from Toronto for our decorative advice, and the execution of the work advised on, all tell the trend of business, and assure us that we are in line for a busy year.

We recently decorated for a manufacturing firm a suite of offices, (out of the city), that critics say is not paralleled for artistic workmanship in Ontario. If you are a doubter we would gladly show you the offices. It would be to our credit to show same.

French Hair Dressers are Clever

Scientists in France have given much study to the care of the hair and nowhere in the world do men, women and even children have such luxuriant hair.

It was Dr. Sangerbund of Paris who discovered that falling hair, faded hair and dandruff was caused by germs and it was a Frenchman that first gave to the world a hair tonic that would destroy the germs.

Since the introduction of Parisian Sage into Canada, the people have learned that dandruff can be quickly abolished, that falling hair or thin hair is unnecessary, and that everybody can have an abundant head of vigorous hair full of life and beauty.

It is because Parisian Sage works such wonders that the sale all over Canada is phenomenal. J. V. Doyle guarantees it to eradicate dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks, or money back.

Parisian Sage costs 50 cents a large bottle at J. V. Doyle's, and druggists everywhere. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package. Mail orders filled, charges prepaid by Giroux Manufacturing Co., Fort Erie, Ont., on receipt of price.

TEACHERS IN DISASTER

Special Train Carrying Schoolma'ams From Utica and Syracuse to Washington Jumps the Track and Exploding Oil Starts a Holocaust—Fifty Are Injured — Fatal Wreck Occurs at Tampa, Fla.

Easton, Pa., May 1.—Three persons lost their lives, eight are missing and believed to be dead, and half a hundred others were injured on Saturday afternoon at Martin's Creek, N.J., in a wreck of an excursion train, carrying 170 school teachers and friends from Utica and Syracuse, N.Y., and vicinity to Washington, for a week's outing.

The train was one furnished the teachers by the Delaware, Lackawanna Western Railroad, and the accident occurred while it was traveling at a high rate of speed over a stretch of track controlled by the Pennsylvania Railroad. The locomotive jumped the track, the cars toppled over and were set on fire by exploding oil, the wrecked coaches having sidewiped an oil tank along the track when they left the rails.

The entire train was quickly enveloped in flames and completely consumed by the fire. The eight missing persons, seven of whom were women and lived in Utica, are believed to have burned to death in the wreckage. The finding of charred bones led the railroad wrecking crews to the conclusions that they are dead.

The most seriously injured were removed to the Easton hospital, where two of them, Miss Eleanor Rutherford, a Utica teacher, and Charles M. Person of Stroudsburg, Pa., a Pennsylvania Railway conductor, died on Saturday night, while W. M. Vanoy of Trenton, N.J., engineer of the train, succumbed early Sunday morning.

The physicians at the hospital said that most of those in the hospital will get well. Those not injured and who were willing to return at once to their homes, left Martin's Creek late Saturday night.

The cause of the wreck has not yet been ascertained. The place where the accident occurred had been undergoing repairs and unfinished work may have been responsible for the train leaving the track.

Vice-President Sherman was to have given a reception for the teachers in Washington and it was reported he was on the ill-fated train. Later, however, it was learned that he had remained at his home.

Another Fatal Wreck.

Tampa, Fla., May 1.—Walter Hagens of Chicago was killed, and T. F. Cook, baggagemaster, was fatally injured, when Coast Line train No. 39, from Jacksonville to Tampa, was wrecked near Odessa last night. Twelve passengers were more or less seriously injured.

Hagens, a 12-year-old boy, was in the baggage car feeding a pet dog and it was in trying to save him that the baggage master was injured. Spreading rails caused the wreck.

FARMER SHOOTS HIMSELF.

Swift Current, Sask., May 1.—C. G. Badlemyer, a homesteader at Burradon, a farming district southeast of here, shot himself Saturday when placed under arrest by Corpl. Snedden, charged with forgery. He died instantly. Badlemyer saw the police coming. He took a revolver from the bureau, but his wife took it from him and placed it back. When arrested he asked time to change his clothes, and he and his wife went into the room together. His wife went out to tell the corporal that she had a receipt for the money in question. As soon as his wife left him he reached for the gun and shot himself through the breast. He never moved after. His wife is prostrated. She is only 17, and he was 24. They kept a restaurant here last summer and were well-known.

Millions In Rebate.

Washington, May 1.—Preliminary figures have been compiled by the Interstate Commerce Commission investigators showing the amounts which the Government will allege have been illegally rebated in the recent cases at Cleveland.

Between April 1, 1908, and July 31, 1909, it is alleged $482,000 was rebated by the Pennsylvania Railroad to various shippers, of which $133,000 is said to have been paid to subsidiary companies of the United States Steel Corporation.

Between Jan. 1, 1908, and June 30, 1909, it is alleged more than $798,000 was rebated to the Carnegie Steel Co. by the Bessemer and Lake Erie Railroad. That amount was rebated, it is said, through dock charges, by which a charge of 25 cents a ton was made for handling ore, and 17 cents was rebated.

Abolish Common Drinking Cup.

Berlin, May 1.—The Board of Education has authorized the abolition of the common drinking cup in all of the schools after May 15, and the pupils will be instructed to bring their own cups for drinking purposes.

During April there has been larger numbers than usual of contagious diseases here — eleven of scarlet fever and nine of diphtheria. Three of the latter proved fatal. The Board of Health has authorized the immediate erection of an isolation hospital and a smallpox shack.

Hanna Vetoes License.

Woodstock, May 1.—A letter was received by License Inspector Shave Saturday morning from Provincial Secretary Hanna vetoing the license granted to the hotel at the Grand Trunk Railway station.

The commissioner granted the license last week, and the temperance people sent their protests to the Provincial Secretary. Mr. Hanna states that he cancels the license owing to public sentiment being against it.

KILLS BOY'S SLAYER.

New York Italian Takes Fatal Revenge on Truck Driver.

New York, May 1.—Giuseppe Bongicci, an Italian cigarmaker, who saw his three-year-old boy trampled beneath the hoofs of truck horses Saturday night, took summary justice upon the driver, Wm. Krugman, by pouring four bullets from a revolver into his body. The driver fell dead from his seat almost into the arms of a policeman, who had halted him, and a mob of two thousand persons, bent upon punishing the driver, first stood aghast at the shooting, then set furiously upon the slayer.

The lone policeman fought the crowd valiantly for the slayer, but they were not to be denied. Reserves who charged the mob on the double quick, found the bluecoat bruised and battered and the prisoner unconscious, with blood flowing from a dozen wounds. He was taken to a hospital, then lodged in jail on a murder charge. The child died on the operating table an hour later.

Seek Pointers on Taxes.

London, Ont., May 1.—Assessment Commissioner Grant has been written to and asked to explain the system of the "business" tax in London by the City of New York. The New Yorkers have been making enquiries about a business tax, as it is the intention of the bureau of finance of that city to take the matter up and see how the system could be applied to the merchants and business men of New York.

W. A. Pendergast, comptroller of the bureau of municipal investigation of statistics, has been referred by the Provincial Secretary to Commissioner Grant for advice on the subject.

Huron Wants Hydro Power.

Goderich, May 1.—The special committee of the Huron County Council named to investigate and deal with the question of the development of power on the Maitland River, will go to Toronto shortly to interview the Hydro-Electric Commission on the subject. Two engineers were in Goderich a few days ago in the interests of the commission, and as a result of the conference the commission will be asked to say whether they will take whatever power may be possible of development, and also to furnish an estimate of the quantity of power available and the cost of development.

Met Swift Death.

Quebec, May 1.—A little boy named Gingras met with a swift death while out driving with his parents Saturday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Mederic Gingras were out enjoying a drive with their two children. The little ones were sitting with their backs to the horses. While on the Little River road, near the Canadian Northern Railway crossing, the father touched up the horse with the whip, when the animal suddenly kicked, striking the boy in the back and killing him instantly. The boy was only eleven years of age.

To Attend Coronation.

Ottawa, May 1.—To consider a proposal to send 200 representative Canadian boy scouts over to England in time for the coronation is the object of a meeting of the Dominion Council of the movement, which met at Government House on Saturday afternoon.

The original plan and that proposed by the British organization, was that the colonial boys should arrive just in time for a monster scout rally to take place in London on July 4. The Dominion authorities, however, are of the opinion that Canadians will give more support if the boys are going to be present at the coronation ceremony.

To Spend $10,000,000.

Montreal, May 1.—It was officially announced at the Grand Trunk offices on Saturday that the company proposes to spend between nine and ten million dollars on its great scheme for the improvement of its terminal facilities in Montreal.

The plans for this scheme have now been laid before the Railway Commission as well as before the city authorities. They embrace the elevation of the tracks between Bonaventure station and Turcot yards, and from St. Henry to the Point St. Charles yards.

The work as contemplated also includes the erection of new freight and passenger terminals at Bonaventure.

BANGOR IS FIRE-SWEPT

Property Loss in Conflagration Will Be $6,000,000.

Hundreds of People Are Homeless and Almost Entire Business Section Is Devastated by a Fire Which Started in a Hay Shed—Attempt to Stop the Flames by Dynamiting Building Proves Fruitless.

Bangor, Me., May 1.—Property valued at upwards of $6,000,000 was destroyed, hundreds of people made homeless and almost the entire business section of the city devastated during the first six hours of a conflagration which at midnight was still raging, although the firemen seemed to be making some headway. One life is known to have been lost, an unknown man being killed by a falling wall after his clothing had taken fire. Mayor Mullen placed the city under martial rule. Portland, Lewiston, Augusta, Old Town, Brewer and every other city and town within reach were asekd for help and sent it.

The fire started in the hay shed of J. Frank Green on Broad street and in a short time was sweeping through the city in a northwesterly direction, a tornado of flame beyond the power of the firemen to stay.

Before midnight both sides of Exchange street from York to State, both sides of State street, from Kenduskeag Stream to Broadway, a considerable part of Central and Franklin streets, nearly all of Park street and Marlow street were in ruins, and the flames had made inroads of nearly a mile into the best residential section in Broadway, Centre and French streets.

One of the few buildings to escape destruction was the City Hall. This was in the direct path of the fire, but in some way the flames leaped over it and it was hardly scorched.

An ineffectual attempt was made to stay the progress of the flames by dynamiting several blocks located in a triangle formed by Hammond and Central streets and Kenduskeag Stream but the fire bridged the chasm and continued with unabated fury.

Help from outside cities began to arrive soon after nine o'clock, the Augusta department being the first to arrive.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

Calgary announces that it will spend $1,000,000 in paving and grading its streets during the present year.

William Martin of Smith's Falls, aged 45, was struck by a C.P.R. train while walking on the tracks six miles from that City Saturday night. He was deaf.

The Canada Gazette Saturday contains the official announcement from The London Gazette of the appointment of the Duke of Connaught and Strathearn to be Governor-General of Canada.

It is reported that Sir Daniel Hunter McMillan, whose term of office as Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba expires in May, has again consented to take up the duties for a further term of six months.

Thomas Graham, ex-chief of the Toronto fire department, died on Saturday evening, at the residence of his son, W. T. Graham, 56 Lakeview avenue, after an illness extending over a couple of years.

The civil service commission is calling for applications for the position of French translator in the Privy Council office, initial salary $1,600; and assistant on the hydograph survey, initial salary $900. There will be competitive examination.

Negro Escapes Mob.

Lakewood, N. J., May 1.—Detectives seeking the murderer of Mrs. Charles Turner, whose body was found in the woods near here on Friday, arrested Saturday night Henry Graham, a short, powerful negro, whom they had trailed in and out of the pine forests and marshes all day. Graham was found at the home of a farmer named Jennings, near Jamesburg, 25 miles from the spot where Mrs. Turner met her death. He was rushed in an automobile to the county jail at Toms River.

The black had been crowded all day. His clothing was torn by the forest undergrowth and he was fatigued almost to exhaustion. He told the detectives that he had left his home to get work with a farmer named Reynolds near Southard, four miles from Lakewood. He was committed to jail on suspicion without a formal charge being placed.

EARL LEAVES WINNIPEG.

His Excellency Starts For Rideau Hall After Contests.

Winnipeg, May 1.—Contrary to the hopes of Winnipeg people, who had anticipated that the Earl and Countess Grey would spend a large part of next week in this city, the vice-regal party left for the east Saturday night. The earl was present at the play at the theatre at night, and at the close of the usual performance the members of the party bid farewell to friends in Winnipeg. It is understood that the political situation at Ottawa had had some effect on his sudden departure.

Very great regret is expressed that it has been found necessary that the Governor-General and Countess Grey should leave for Ottawa so soon. Arrangements had been made for a number of events next week, at which it was hoped that the vice-regal party might be present. One of the chief of these was the military concert, to be given by the Sheffield Choir, on Wednesday night. At this function it was hoped that there would be a very large representation of the military of the city, and it was intended that it should be made one of the greatest gatherings in the musical history of the city. Lord Lascelles had indicated his belief that the earl and countess would be present, but the plans have had to be changed, and on Wednesday night the party will

THE MARKETS.

Liverpool Wheat Futures Close Higher, Chicago Lower—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

LIVERPOOL, April 29.—Wheat market opening was affected by firmness in American cables, and values were ½d higher, with October unchanged. Following this, the market ruled dull, but firm. Predictions are for increased Russian shipments, and weather and crop outlook in most countries is favorable. These were offset, however, by a continued good demand from the continent, and especially from France, which was buying freely of nearby Australian cargoes at full prices. There was a sharp covering movement of shorts in Paris in the near months. It is generally thought that liquidation in May is over, and shorts covered. At the close the market was steady, unchanged, to ½d higher than yesterday.

CHICAGO, April 29.—Reports that Europeans were large buyers at Winnipeg turned wheat upward in the last half-hour to-day, notwithstanding weakness had been the rule all the rest of the session. Closing prices were unsettled, ⅛c off, as compared with twenty-four hours before. The end of the day left corn ⅛c to ⅛c lower to ⅛c up; oats ⅛c down to a shade advance, and provisions at 7½c to 15c decline.

British Cattle Markets.

LIVERPOOL, April 29.—John Rogers and Co.'s Liverpool cable to-day says that owing to the scarcity of home cattle there was an advance of one half cent. per pound in the price of cattle in Birkenhead, bringing the quotations for both States and Canadian steers to from 13½ to 13¾ cents per pound. The sheep trade varies very little, clipped lambs making from 14½ to 15 cents and clipped wethers from 11½ to 12 cents per pound.

Eloped With Negro Actress.

New York, May 1.—A report that W. Stewart Robertson, a retired insurance broker of Montreal, had visited New York for the purpose of having annulled the marriage of his son, W. Stewart, jr., revealed the fact that the young man had eloped from Montreal with Gertrude Townsend, a young negress, who was a member of the chorus of Cole Johnson's "Red Moon" Company.

Robertson and his wife are living in an extensively furnished flat in the negro quarter, where he was found. He denied that any proceedings looking to an annulment were to be instituted.

"My father and sister were here three weeks ago and stopped at the Manhattan Hotel," he said. "They visited us here at our home and appeared to be very well satisfied with our marriage."

Man Swept Overboard.

Boston, May 1.—With her crew exhausted from a two weeks' struggle with storms and her flag at half-mast for Mate James Horner of Baltimore, who was swept overboard and drowned on April 20 off Hatteras, the four-masted schooner Lydia M. Deering was towed into Boston harbor yesterday. She had lost her sails and a deckload of railroad ties.

Struck Breakwater.

Dover, May 1.—The Red Star steamer Kroenland, which sailed from Antwerp Saturday for New York, struck the breakwater on entering Dover harbor Saturday night and damaged her steering gear. This delayed the sailing of the Kroenland until 7.30 o'clock

License Transferred.

Berlin, May 1.—The Kaiserhof Hotel Co. still claims the ownership of the Walper House, and as no license has been asked for, it is believed that the company's intention was to run it as a temperance house. It is understood, however, that Wm. Roos, wholesale grocer and liquor dealer, is the real proprietor, and as the present leases, that of Ed. Hollinger, expires on May 8, the license was transferred on Saturday to Joseph Zuber of the Grand Central Hotel, he being given thirty days in which to dispose of his interests in that hotel.

Another British Bulwark.

Barrow-in-Furness, England, May 1.—The Princess Royal, the largest cruiser-battleship ever built for the British navy, was launched yesterday and christened by Princess Royal Louise, after whom the vessel was named.

The cruiser has a displacement of 26,360 tons and turbine engines affording 70,000 horse-power. Her contract calls for a speed of 28 knots an hour. She will carry eight 13.5 inch guns, besides smaller weapons.

COUNCIL SAT WELL INTO THE WEE SMA' HOURS

Lots of Business and a Plethora of Talk—Interesting Discussion on Marsh & Henthorn Industry—Propositions to Go Before the Industrial Committee—Building and Construction Bylaw Introduced-Resolution Against Ward System Passed-Opera House Tax Referred to Executive—C. N. O. R. Thank the City—Mayor Ackerman Ill Ald Vermilyea Presided

The city fathers were in session until 1 o'clock this morning and during the five hours they were sitting much business was transacted. Ald. Panter's motion to return to the system of ten aldermen, to be elected at large, prevailed; a 33 page building by-law was passed; and a proposition was introduced to secure a site for the Marsh & Henthorne industry and give other concessions. Other matters were brought up and discussed.

In the absence of Mayor Ackerman, owing to illness, Ald. Vermilyea was voted to preside over the Council proceedings last night. Other members present were Ald. Panter, Caldwell, McGie, Chown, Parks, Bleecker, Marshall, Adams, Riggs, Gibson, Bogle, Woodley, Lott, Sills and Clarke.

After the reading and confirming of the minutes of the last meeting, the Council went into Committee of the Whole on Reports, Communications, etc., Ald. Panter in the chair.

OPERA HOUSE TAX.

Mr. Carnew addressed the Council in reference to the proposed tax no the Griffin amusement house. The company agree to allow the house to be sub-let for charitable purposes for three nights during the year at $25 per night. Another proposition was that the house be sub-let for four evenings during the year for $35 per night. The management feel that they want to co-operate with the citizens in having the opera house for use when it is needed. There was a feeling abroad that the opera house could not be secured for any purpose, but this was not the case. The proposition is that the company pay $60 per annum as a tax.

Ald. Lott was of the opinion that the city would not benefit by this proposed arrangement.

Mr. Carnew stated that the house had been leased for ten years and one year was given. The proposition made would be for nine years to come.

Ald. Woodley—Would the management give the city any percentage from the receipts of any entertainment which might be held?

Mr. Carnew—That would not be possible, as the management would under the proposition be a loser.

Ald. Bogle was of the opinion that the proposition was a favorable one and should be considered.

Ald. Riggs—Could the Star Course get the opera house for their entertainments at $25 per night. They would take it at that price.

Mr. Carnew—How many entertainments would there be in the season?

Ald. Riggs—Six entertainments.

A motion prevailed that the matter be referred to the Executive Committee and no license be exacted until the matter is finally settled.

MARSH & HENTHORN INDUSTRY

Mr. W. B. Deacon said that the Marsh & Henthorn Company had a tempting offer to go to Trenton with their concern. Members of the Board of Trade, members of the Council and others had been interested in this matter. There were at present 89 on the pay list of that company, and $40,000 was paid out annually in wages. It would be a calamity for the city to lose this industry. Something had to be done in this matter immediately. We want to retain that industry in our midst. He hoped the Council would do everything possible to retain that concern in the city.

Mr. D. V. Sinclair said the Council appreciated the position of the Marsh & Henthorn concern. That company wish to enlarge their plant, as it is much congested at present. Trenton is making flattering offers to this industry to locate in that town. The facts are that the concern has developed wonderfully, and by having a larger plant it will be further developed. If the company intended to enlarge their plant it would mean increased revenue to the city. If that concern was outside, what would the city do to endeavor to get it located in this city? He appealed to the Council to do all in their power to treat this concern in a manner that will be satisfactory.

Ald. Panter—The matter will be dealt with later in the session.

The reports of the various committees were next taken up. The accounts were passed without discussion.

INCREASE IN WAGES.

The Water Works Committee made the following recommendations, which were passed:

That the salary of John Colden, foreman, be $50 per month, with free house and one water tap, to date from May 1st, 1911;

That the two engineers at the pumping station be allowed an increase of $10 per month in view of the additional time of work each day, to date from May 1st, 1911.

The following accounts were passed:

Finnegan Carriage Co.	$ 1.00
Acme Foundry Co.	67.60
Marsh & Henthorn	35.00
Intelligencer Printing Co.	27.00
John Reeves	5.65
R. Templeton	14.70
Parks pay list	301.00
Public Works pay sheet	714.88
Trenton Electric Light Co.	.34
Trenton Electric Light Co.	381.10

F. S. Anderson	14.00
Finnegan Carriage Co.	55.20

A communication was read that the Board of Railway Commissioners would hold a meeting at Ottawa on Tuesday, May 2nd, in reference to the C.N.O.R. crossing the roadway leading to the bay bridge.—Filed.

ASKING FOR DAMAGES.

A communication was read from a legal firm stating that Mr. H. McIninch recently fell on Campbell Street and sustained painful injuries owing, it was alleged, to a defective walk. Damages were claimed for Mr. McIninch.—Referred to Claims Committee.

C.N.O.R. THANK COUNCIL.

A communication was read from the C.N.O.R., thanking the Council for the action it had taken in reference to the closing up of certain streets as asked by the railway.—Referred to the Industrial and Railways Committee.

COLLECTING GARBAGE.

A communication was read from a firm in Guelph in reference to the collecting of garbage in the city. It would cost citizens from 15c. to 20c per month to collect same.

On motion, the matter was referred to the Board of Health.

A communication was referred to the Railway and Industrial Committee from Willis McLaughlin in reference to assisting in advertising the city as an industrial centre.

WRIT ISSUED.

The city was notified a writ had been issued against the city on behalf of Margaret Thrasher, who sustained injuries by a fall some time ago.—Referred to the Claims Committee.

A communication from a firm in the United States which manufacture whitewear goods was read. The concern contemplate locating somewhere in Canada and desired a free site and the guaranteeing of $20,000 bonds for 20 years.—Referred to Industrial Committee and Board of Trade.

COLLECTION OF TAXES.

Mr. F. D. Diamond presented the following statement showing the collection of taxes since the last meeting of the Council and what was due on the tax rolls for 1909 and 1910:

	Collected.	Due
1909	$2,391.74	$1,000
1910	431.90	19,000

The Collector asked for an extension of time for the return of the 1909 roll.

Ald. Vermilyea said that Mr. Davidson had taken some papers away with him to the Northwest and they had not been returned yet. This had inconvenienced Mr. Diamond to some extent. The back taxes were not coming in rapidly enough.

Ald. Clarke moved that the tax collector collect the 1909 back taxes at once.—Carried.

Mr. Wm. McCoy complained that owing to the sewer on William Street caving in he was put to inconvenience.

Ald. Woodley said it was not the sewer caving in, but where an excavation was made from the sewer to Mr. McCoys' house.

The matter was referred to the City Engineer to look into and remedy.

A motion prevailed that the sum of $35 be given to Mr. Tobias Ca[illegible] in lieu of all claims he had against the city.

Mr. Ed. Bolyea asked that he be paid $50 instead of $25 per annum for removing dead animals, etc.—Referred to the chairman of Parks.

Y.M.C.A. DEMONSTRATION.

The Y.M.C.A. physical department asked the Council for a grant to assist in a demonstration here on the 24th of May.

Ald. Bogle was in favor of giving a grant to the Association. He moved that a grant of $50 be given.

Ald. Clarke asked what is the object of granting $50. If $100 is granted the demonstration will be on Victoria Park and free, and if only $50 is given the demonstration will take place at the Agricultural Park and a fee will be charged. He would rather support the larger grant. He moved in amendment that $100 be granted for a free public entertainment.

The amendment prevailed.

AUDITORS' SALARY

Messrs. J. D. Clarke and T. Thomson wrote the Council that they would make a quarterly audit for the city for $250 per annum, and also that the books be properly prepared for them.

Ald. Vermilyea—They had been getting $175 each per annum. They certainly spent a lot of time in making the audit.

Ald. Bogle said the request was a reasonable one, and both gentlemen were efficient auditors. One of them had stated that it meant only about $1 a day to them. He moved that the request be granted.

Ald. Panter—Was it a fact that these gentlemen had to make a statement which should be prepared for them.

Ald. Vermilyea—Yes.

Ald. Clarke said it did not seem reasonable that the auditors should take as long a time as they do in making their audit. Is not $250 to each of the auditors rather an expensive audit? He had no fault to find with the auditors, who were capable men. He moved in amendment that the resignation of the auditors be accepted and that the salary be fixed at $200 per annum and the Council ask for applicants for the position.

Ald. Bogle said the audit was made more cumbersome than it was in former years. This he had been informed was a fact by the auditors.

Ald. Clarke's amendment was carried.

A petition for a water main to be placed through Murney Street between Moira and Catherine Streets, was referred to the Water Works Committee.

The W. C. A. asked the Council to pay for a granolithic walk leading to the hospital.—Referred to the Public Works Committee.

The committee rose and reported. The report was received and adopted.

INQUIRIES.

Ald. Clarke—The sidewalk on the south side of Victoria Avenue between the Bank of Montreal and Dr. Tracy's residence is heaved. Will it be fixed?

Ald. Panter—It is settling down.

Ald. Clarke—Has the Chief of the Fire Department made a report, as ordered by the Council, in reference to firemen attending fires.

City Celrk—None that I am aware of.

Ald. McGie—Who is responsible for holes on Bridge and Charles Streets where excavations had been made. He understood it was the Gas Department which made the excavations.

City Engineer—I will see Mr. Gardener about it.

Ald. Panter—Can the chairman of Market and City Property give the cost of the alterations and improvements made to the old meat market to be used as police headquarters, and when will it be completed?

Ald. Parks—I cannot tell now.

City Engineer—The cost will be nearly $4,000. The painters are now at work.

Ald. Sills—Who is responsible for the filling in of holes on streets where sewers have been constructed?

SLASHED GIRL WITH A RAZOR

John Robinson Commits Suicide After Trying To Kill Mrs Larue

MONTREAL, May 1.—Montreal was this morning the scene of an attempted murder and suicide. John Robinson armed himself with two razors at his boarding house, St. Antoine Street, and going to the ice-cream parlor owned by Endore Larue, at the corner of Beaubien and Sanguinet Streets, without warning slashed Miss Larue across the throat with a razor and then cut his own throat from ear to ear with the weapon.

Miss Larue rushed into the street, calling for help and crying: "Jack Robinson did this!" When passers-by ran into the store they found Robinson just breathing his last.

Robinson formerly boarded with the Larues, it is said, and was requested to leave, owing to his unwelcome attentions to Miss Larue. It is supposed that he brooded over this until he became temporarily deranged.

Examination Adjourned Till Friday—May Be Liberated On Bail

A number of spectators were this morning in attendance at the police court anticipating that the trial of John Lockwood, who is under arrest for making, it is alleged, certain damaging statements in reference to fires which took place last week, would taka place. The case will, however, not be heard until Friday morning. In the meantime the accused may be liberated on bail of two securities of $500 each if they can be secured.

RECRUITING IN 15TH REGIMENT IS BRISK

There is considerable activity in local militia circles at the Armories, these nights. The various companies of the Regiment are being filled with a good class of young men, and in a short time Belleville will have a City Regiment, that the citizens will have reason to be proud of. The spacious Armories provide a greater amusement for the men.

All memebrs have the privilege of the bowling alley, the shooting gallery and the athletic room, where several scientific boxing bouts will take place.

Young men wishing to join can apply any night to any of the Sergeants on duty. The weekly parades for this week take place to-night and Friday night.

CURRENT COMMENT

Kill the flies!

Scorch the auto scorchers!

Maybee and Must Be are synonymous terms in the Railway Commission when occasion requires.

The people will have an opportunity at the next municipal election of abandoning the Ward system. And they will do it.

The present City Council will pass into history as about the latest sitters on record; but it will be the last of its kind.

The virtues of oil for street purposes are many. It lays the dust, is a powerful disinfectant, kills germs and drives flies and mosquitoes beyond the corporation. Board of Works, bring on your oil.

Small houses are very scarce in town—so scarce that some dwellings which five or six years ago were virtually a drug in the market now rent at $10 per month and others which rented at $7 to $8 now command $12 to $17. Truly Belleville's population is increasing.

A contemporary, commenting upon the result of the prosecution of a municipal grafter in the county of Oxford says: "One of the persons accused of municipal graft in Oxford has made restitution to the tune of $3,000, has pleaded guilty of misconduct, and has been allowed to go on suspended sentence." The result is not what in the public interests is to be desired. Misbehavior in office is so serious an offence, grafting is so prevalent and so far-reaching, that there ought to be no escape for the person who is guilty."

The season has arrived when bonfires are the order of the day. Such fires are doubtless a necessary adjunct to the disposal of garbage, refuse and other increments, but, nevertheless, the greatest of care should be exercised in the handling of such. The injury to a lady at Stirling last week from a bonfire was sad indeed and but emphasizes the absolute necessity for a greater care in the handling of fire. Human life, no matter what the years, is always valuable and the public should see to it that life and property are properly protected, more especially at this season of the year when bonfires are the rule.

Well put! The Daily Graphic, of London, England, says: By far the gravest question to come before the imperial conference will be the question of steps to be taken to strengthen and render more effective the defensive forces of the Empire. If each dominion is to have its own army and navy it becomes imperative to create some kind of machinery for harmonizing the action of different parts of the Empire. What is primarily needed is an arrangement enabling the governments of dominions to be kept constantly informed by the Foreign Office of important developments in international politics, so that the may not become involved in the consequences of a policy about which they never consulted.

Ald. Woodley asked if a walk was to be constructed on the north side of Dundas Street between Ann and Charles Streets.

City Engineer—Yes.

BY-LAWS.

Ald. Adams asked for the reading of a by-law known as the Building By-law, which was granted.

The Council went into Committee of the Whole on By-laws, Ald. Adams in the chair.

The by-law was a rather formidable looking document, comprising thirty-three pages of typewritten copy.

The second clause did not seem to meet with favor. It was to the effect that any building proposed to be erected at a cost of over $100 cannot be built unless a permit is granted.

The clause was, however adopted.

A clause that if an addition is proposed to be made to a building after the plans have been prepared and a permit granted, the Inspector of Buildings must be consulted and a plan of the change made, was, on motion, struck out.

The by-law was finally carried clause by clause. To adopt the by-law Ald. Clarke moved that the clause which was struck out be reconsidered.

The committee rose and reported. On motion that the report be received, Ald. Clarke renewed his amendment to adopt the clause struck out, but it was withdrawn and the by-law was not given its final reading.

MOTIONS.

Ald. Panter moved, seconded by Ald. Caldwell, that the present system of electing aldermen be changed to that of electing ten aldermen by the city at large and that necessary steps be taken by the Solicitor for carrying out of same.

Ald. Clarke rose to a point of order that a similar motion had been defeated. Mayor Ackerman had ruled it out of order.

The Solicitor—He knew nothing in the rules that would prevent the motion being introduced again.

Acting Mayor Vermilyea ruled the motion was in order.

Ald. Clarke could see no reason why we should return to a system of electing aldermen which had been but recently changed. The Council, when there were ten, placed all the members on each committee and there was no opportunity of criticism. Now, as only seven aldermen are on any committee, the remaining fourteen aldermen can criticize the actions of the seven if necessary. While submitting to the ruling, will the Council return to a system of election which has been discarded? We are taking a step which the citizens have not asked for. We should not pass on this important question, which he claimed was a fad.

Ald. Bogle moved, seconded by Ald. Parks, an amendment that this Council, instead of returning to the general system, reduce the number of wards to five and have three aldermen from each ward, who, with the Mayor, would constitute the Council.

Ald. Clarke would prefer to take the amendment to the motion, but he feared that the mover had not taken into count which it meant. It would mean the readjustment of the assessment and the equalization of the assessment. It would entail an expense which was unnecessary.

Ald. Chown moved an amendment, seconded by Ald. Bleecker, that the present system of electing aldermen be changed and that the Council consist of a Mayor and a Board of Control of three members elected at large.

Ald. Panter said the motion proposed by him was workable, but Ald. Chown's amendment would mean special legislation to make it operative.

Ald. Chown withdrew his amendment for the evening.

Ald. Bogle spoke in support of his amendment.

Upon a vote being taken, Ald. Panter's motion prevailed and the yeas and nays were called, with the following result.

Moved by Ald. Bogle, seconded by Ald. Thompson, that this Council appropriate the sum of $500 on condition that the Board of Trade raise a further $300 to be used in advertising the advantages of the city of Belleville; the expenditure of said money to be under the control of two members of the Board of Trade and the Railway, Industrial and Publicity Committee of the Council and the Mayor, or such other committee as the Council may appoint. In case the amounts named are too small or too large for the Board of Trade, that a proportionate sum be appropriated by the Council.

This motion was allowed to stand as a notice of motion.

Moved by Ald. Bogle, seconded by Ald. Chown, that a by-law be prepared for the purpose of granting to Messrs. Marsh & Henthorn, Limited, lots 10, 11, 12 and 13 east side of George Street south, and that parcel of land east of lots and south of the C.N.O.R. right of way up the westerly limits of lot 34, the latter containing 3 3-4 acres, more or less, for the purpose of erecting by them of their proposed new work shops, railway sidings, offices, etc., and for the purpose of granting a fixed low assessment, namely $5,000 for the first ten years, and $20,000 for the following or subsequent ten years; and for the further purpose of guaranteeing their bonds to the extent of $25,000. Security to be given by the said Marsh & Henthorn, Limited, to the city respecting the bond guarantee.

Ald. Clarke—Was there a notice of this motion?

Acting Mayor Vermilyea—No.

The rules were suspended and the motion was introduced.

Ald. Bogle spoke in support of the motion. Last year the pay roll of this concern was $36,000, and in the last five years $151,621. This was a growing concern. In the first four months of this year $30,000 worth of machinery, etc., had been turned out and shipped away. We cannot afford to lose such a prosperous and flourishing business. The firm had been offered even better inducements to go to other places than that mentioned in the motion. It was a business that was beneficial to our city and we should make every effort to retain it in the city. If they move out, it means 400 people to leave here. The motion should be favorably considered by the Council. The total assessment of the lots named was $950. It would not cost the city over $2,500 to secure the site proposed.

Ald. Panter—Have Marsh & Henthorn options on these lots.

Ald. Bogle—No.

The motion was amended to read a suitable location as a site.

Ald. McGie said it was a matter that had to be dealt with immediately. The firm had a flattering offer from the town of Trenton. The firm ask for a site and put up a plant costing $40,000. It is a matter that the people will have to decide upon.

Ald. Panter was of the opinion that the Marsh & Henthorn firm should consult with the Industrial Committee, select a site, have a by-law prepared, and submit same at the next meeting of the Council.

Ald. Clarke said it was desirable to keep that concern in the city, and he was not opposed to the principle of the resolution, but did the guaranteeing of the bond mean an increase to the city debt?

Ald. Bogle did not consider the city would lose anything in guaranteeing the bond. Mr. Marsh had intimated that he was in favor of the motion. Personally, Mr. Marsh wants to remain in the city, but other places had offered him great inducements to remove the plant.

Ald. Adams suggested that the matter be referred to the Industrial Committee and give them power to act. He moved in amendment that the matter be referred to the Industrial Committee to report at the next meeting.

The amendment prevailed.

Ald. Clarke asked that his motion that it is considered not desirable that the City Solicitor act on behalf of the C.N.O.R. in its actions against any citizen of the city for the expropriation of land, be laid over as a notice of motion.

Council adjourned.

The Imperial Conference

The determination of Sir Wilfrid Laurier not to attend the Imperial Conference at London unless the Opposition allow the reciprocity proposals which are now before Parliament to pass previous to his departure for London is one of the most extraordinary episodes of that extraordinary gentleman's political career.

The proposals of the Liberal-Conservative party, as announced by their leader, Mr. Borden, were of such a character and made in so courteous a manner, that Sir Wilfrid might very well have received them in a like spirit, but the Premier, with a petulance wholly unbecoming a gentleman in his high position, repelled the proposals with the abrupt declaration that he would not submit to having the minority rule in Parliament, and that, although he had booked his passage for England, he would not attend the conference if the Opposition continued to refuse to allow the reciprocity pact to pass as they had previously determined. This declaration was a mere subterfuge, as the Opposition did not propose to rule Parliament, or to do other than exercise their rights in the House; and their offers to the Premier were dictated by a sense of the duty of all concerned in the premises.

Sir John Thompson, under somewhat similar circumstances, left the conduct of the country's business in Parliament to his colleagues and went abroad to discharge the duties which were imposed upon him.

Is Sir Wilfrid Laurier so unfortunate as to have no member or members of his cabinet who is or are incapable of leading the large majority of members in Parliament who support his administration? Such a supposition is forbidden by the assertions of the Liberal press that Sir Wilfrid has secured an "all-star" cast for his political drama. So, it appears, the Premier has no cause for fear on that score.

Furthermore, had the Congress of the United States passed favorably upon the reciprocity project, Sir Wilfrid might have had some excuse for the haste which he is desirous of making in forcing the bargain through Parliament. But he has not even that attenuated excuse. The measure is not certain of passing the United States Senate, and it is not improbable that, should it do so, such additions will be made to the list of articles which are to be made free as will render it impossible for Canada to adopt it.

That it is in the highest degree desirable that Canada should be represented at the conference is beyond question. That great council is to consider matters of the greatest moment with regard to the strengthening of British interests the world over, and it is to be expected that the fostering of reciprocal trade in many lines within the Empire by means of preferential tariffs will be brought up for discussion. If, however, Canada were to go into this conference with her hands tied by reciprocity with the United States, the whole grand project would have to be abandoned. And that is exactly what President Taft and the Americans are aiming at; for, as the Buffalo Express says, the President "made a point in favor of reciprocity which has been completely overlooked when he said, in his speech in New York on Thursday night: 'I have said that this was a critical time in the solution of the question of reciprocity. It is critical because unless it is now decided favorably to reciprocity, it is exceedingly probable that no such opportunity will ever again come to the United States. The forces which are at work in England and in Canada to separate her by a Chinese wall from the United States and to make her part of an imperial commercial band reaching from England around the world to England again, by a system of preferential tariffs, will derive an impetus from the rejection of this treaty, and if we would have reciprocity, with all the advantages that I have described and that I earnestly and sincerely believe will follow its adoption, we must take it now or give it up forever.'"

The foregoing extract from President Taft's speech was given in yesterday's issue, but it is so important that no apology is necessary for its reproduction in this connection.

The Express, we may remark, is mistaken in stating that President Taft's "point" had been overlooked, for James J. Hill spoke some time ago in Minneapolis and in New York to precisely the same effect.

Under the circumstances, then, there is no occasion for hurry on the part of the Canadian Government in pressing their reciprocity proposals, and if Sir Wilfrid Laurier fails to attend the Imperial Conference he will incur the odium of playing into the hands of a foreign and commercially hostile nation in preference to forwarding the interests of the Empire.

Editorial Notes

LAURIER'S FEAR.

The Hon. Sydney Fisher gives as a reason why Sir Wilfrid is not going to the Imperial conference, the conduct of the Opposition in opposing the tariff compact. Are we to understand that he has not talent enough in his Cabinet to run his Government during his absence for a few weeks? Yet such is the inference to be drawn from his conduct. What a brainless lot he must have around him. When Sir John Thompson's services were required in Paris upon business affecting the whole Empire, he was not afraid to leave the country in the hands of his colleagues. But now and then are not synonymous.

TO A FINISH.

The determination of the Liberal-Conservatives in Parliament to fight the reciprocity proposals to a finish will be applauded by all who oppose the Government in their attempt to rush this great national question through Parliament as a mere matter of party difference. The result will be that the verdict of the people will have to be taken by means of a general election.

CANADA'S SHARE.

The Toronto Telegram has a cartoon in which the situation as to reciprocity is very happily hit off. A cow (reciprocity) is depicted standing on the boundary line, with her forequarters on the Canadian side. Uncle Sam, who is busily milking, while Jack Canuck is bringing forward a big fork load of hay (Canadian trade), exclaims, "Yep, me and Jack Canuck shares in the animal. He feeds his half and I milk mine."

THE MARKETS.

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Higher—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

CHICAGO, May 1.—New buying of wheat was given impetus to-day because the monthly deliveries here went into strong hands. A liberal portion of the advance failed to outlast the session, but the market closed steady at prices varying from Saturday night's level to 3-4 above. Corn finished 1-8 to 3-4 up, oats with a gain of 1-8, 1-4 to 3-4, and hog products irregular, strung out from 3 1-2c to 5c decline to 5c higher.

The Liverpool market closed to-day unchanged to ¼d higher on wheat, and ¼d to ⅜d higher on corn, compared with Saturday. Antwerp closed unchanged on wheat; Buda Pest, ½c higher.

LIVERPOOL, May 1.—Closing—Wheat, spot, dull; No. 2 red western winter, no stock. Futures, firm; May, 6s 10⅝d; July, 6s 10⅛d; Oct., 6s 9d. Flour, Winter patents, quiet, 27s 6d. Hops in London, Pacific coast, firm, £4 15s to £5 15s.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, May 1.—The foreign demand for Manitoba spring wheat shows no improvement, in fact there was not a single firm bid in the market. The enquiry for oats was good, but bids in most cases were ½c per bushel out of line and only a few loads were sold. The local market is firm with a steady demand. Flour is quiet. Demand for bran and shorts is good.

Oats—Canadian western, No. 2, 40½c to 40¾c, car lots, ex-store; extra No. 1 feed, 39¾c to 40c; No. 3 C.W., 39¼c to 39½c; No. 2 local white, 38¾c to 38½c; No. 3 local white, 37¾c to 38c; No. 4 local white, 36½c to 37c. CATTLE MARKETS.

Union Stock Yards.

TORONTO, May 1.—Receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 66 carloads, consisting of 1345 cattle, 40 hogs, 84 sheep and lambs, 44 calves and 40 horses.

Exporters.

There were 620 cattle bought for the British markets, as follows: For London, 477 steers, at an average of $5.83; for Liverpool, 143 steers, at an average of $5.63.

Butchers.

Prime picked lots, $5.90; loads of good, $5.50 to $5.75; medium, $5.20 to $5.45; common, $4.90 to $5.15; cows were firm, at $3.50 to $5.25; bulls, $4.25 to $4.75.

Stockers and Feeders.

C. Zeagman & Sons bought one load of feeders, 800 to 1000 lbs. each, at $4.80 to $5.25.

Milkers and Springers.

Fred Rowntree bought six milkers and springers, all that were on the market, at $45 to $55 each.

Veal Calves.

Veal calves sold at $3 to $6.50 per cwt., or an average of about $5.50.

Sheep and Lambs.

Sheep, ewes, sold at $4.75 to $5.25; rams, $3.50 to $4; yearling Ontario lambs, $4 to $6.50 per cwt.; spring lambs, $4 to $6.50 each.

Hogs.

Dealers report another drop of 20c per cwt. Selects, fed and watered, at $6.20, and $6 to drovers for hogs f.o.b. cars at country points.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, May 1.—At the Montreal Stock Yards, West End Market, the receipts of live stock for the week ending April 29, were 1550 cattle, 475 sheep and lambs, 2000 hogs and 2170 calves. The offerings on the market this morning consisted of 1000 cattle, 200 sheep and lambs, 1000 hogs and 200 calves.

A rather easier feeling prevailed in the market for cattle on account of the increased supply, but as this was offset to some extent by the exceptionally good quality of the stock in many cases, no actual change in prices took place. The gathering of buyers was large and the demand was good and a fairly active trade was done, which resulted in a good clearance being made. Choice steers sold at 6½c, good at 6c to 6¼c, fairly good at 5½c to 5¾c, fair at 5c to 5¼c, common at 4½c to 4¾c per lb. There were a number of choice cows, which brought 5¼c to 5½c, and the lower grades from that down to 3½c per lb. A few good to choice heavy bulls sold at 5c to 5½c per lb.

A steady feeling prevailed in the market for hogs, owing to the fact that the offerings were smaller, and this, coupled with the improved demand from packers, as some of them were short of stock, tended to make the competition between buyers keener, and a more active trade was done, sales of selected lots being made at $6.75 per cwt., weighed off the cars. The trade in small meats was quiet, owing to the limited supply and the tone of the market for all lines was steady. A few old sheep sold at from $4 to $6 each; spring lambs, $5 to $7, and calves, $3 to $6 each, as to size and quality.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, N.Y., May 1.—Cattle—Receipts, 5000 head; market, slow and lower; prime steers, $5 to $6.15; shipping steers, $5.50 to $5.85; butcher grades, $5.35 to $6; heifers, $4.50 to $5.75; cows, $3.50 to $5; bulls, $3.50 to $5.25; milch cows and springers, $30 to $65.

Calves—Receipts, 250 head; market active and firm; cull to choice, $4.50 to $6.40.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 17,000 head; market, active and higher; choice lambs, $5.75 to $5.90; cull to fair, $4.50 to $5.60; yearlings, $4.50 to $4.75; sheep, $3 to $4.25.

Hogs—Receipts, 17,000 head; market, active and lower; yorkers, $6.20 to $6.25; pigs, $6.40; mixed, $6.25 to $6.30; heavy, $6.15 to $6.20; rough, $5 to $5.25; stags, $4 to $4.50.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Ill., May 1.—Union Stock Yards—Hogs—Receipts, 65,000 head; market weak, 15c lower. Mixed and butchers, $5.70 to $6; good heavy, $5.75 to $5.95; rough heavy, $5.55 to $5.70; light, $5.70 to $6.06; pigs, $5.50 to $6; bulk, $5.85 to $6.

Cattle—Receipts, 22,000 head; market, steady. Beeves, $4.90 to $6.20; cows and heifers, $2.40 to $5.85; stockers and feeders, $4.10 to $5.40; Texans, $4.75 to $5.50; calves, $5 to $6.75.

Rexall Eczema Ointment is a grayish-white, pleasant smelling, antiseptic, cooling, healing salve, that is strongly germicidal. It destroys the germs that penetrate the skin and cause eczema and other tormenting skin aiments. A remedy must do that to be effective, for in no other way can such diseases be overcome.

It is positively the best remedy we know of, and we urge you to try it at our risk. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00—The Rexall Store. J. S. McKeown

Limit to Use of Photos.

Washington, May 2.—The Supreme Court of the United States yesterday upheld the constitutionality of the New York statute forbidding the use of a photograph or name of another for trade or advertising purposes without the permission of the subject.

SINS OF THE ...CITY...

"Very, and if you could spare me a few minutes, Olcott, there's a matter I want your advice on—a very curious affair. I think it may be something in your line, and I meant looking you up, but—"

"My dear fellow, there is no time like the present. I'm quite at your disposal now. I don't want to see the show here; know it by heart."

"Then I'll leave you fellows," said Mildmay, rising and giving up his seat to Olcott. "I shall see you again Vipan. Don't go flying off without looking me up—"

"No, no, I won't, I promise. Good-night!" And then, turning to the baronet, he said, "Now, Olcott order what you like and then, if I don't bore you, listen to me."

"First of all, is there money in it?"

"I think so."

"Then I take my oath you won't; so fire away," the baronet replied with the usual chuckle.

"Very well. As you know I've recently been wandering through the Cordilleras of Peru, a spot as rich in metallic trasure as any in the world. Some parts are quite riddled with mines."

"Ah, this sounsd promising. Go on, my boy, go on!"

"These mines are not all of them recent discoveries. Some of them are hundreds of years old, worked for a time and then abandoned, and now lying in exactly the same condition in which the original miners left them."

"But all those worth anything have long since been taken in hand again. Don't tell me, Vipan. The Peruvian is no fool, you know."

"Where they are known, no doubt, Olcott, but there are others, the very existence of which has been lost sight of."

"There are very few of those, I fancy."

"Still, there are some. And, supposing I knew of one chock full of copper, do you think it would be possible to form a company to work it?"

"Form a company!" The baronet's little eyes positively twinkled and danced. "My dear boy, you could not have come to a better person than yours truly. Only show me the copper and the title deeds of the property, and we'll have a company out in no time. 'The Queen of the Cordilleras'—a big capital, flaring prospectus, with big names on the directorate and a glowing report from a couple of good mining engineers, then the public would be after it like flies round a honey-pot. They love a mine; there are so many possibilities about it. In their eyes, the 'face' is always glittering with ore or diamonds which only require digging out and selling. Oh! there's nothing like a mine to scoop the dollars in with. Country people go for it—parsons, widows with their little all, and so on."

"Well, you think you could manage that part?"

"I should think I could—"

"Then look at this;" and Vipan took from his breast-pocket a leather case from which he extracted a thick envelope bearing a Peruvian stamp. "I must tell you first of all," he went on, "that when I was out among the mountains I was able by chance to render a slight service to an old Italian, named Piero Balbi, who had long been settled there, working in the mines, for which he was absurdly grateful, valuing my efforts far above their proper worth. Since my return he has written me this letter. I don't know, Olcott, if you know Italian. At any rate, I have made a translation, a free one, omitting the foreign embroidery, but sticking to main facts. Here's the original and here's the translation."

"Thanks, let me see the translation first; we can examine the original later," and picking up one of the sheets the baronet read as follows:

"4 Strada Regia,
Mollendo, Peru.

"Most Illustrious Signor Padrone—Time does not lessen the feeling of gratitude with which my heart throbs and I now enjoin that I may be able to give some proof of what I feel Since I parted from you that morning on the sierra I have wandered over much country, and in one of my expeditions I chanced upon the entry of an old mine, the very existence of which is unknown in the neighborhood, though I have since found certain records of it among the archives at Lima. Keeping my knowledge to myself, I explored such of the workings as were practicable, and discovered that copper exists in astounding quantities. From records come across I should say that the mine, when in full working order, was abandoned during the Civil War, of which that Diavolo Pizarro took the opportunity to decimate and almost destroy the old inhabitants. It is perfectly clear that the mine has never been worked since. There are fortunes in it which only require taking out. But money is needed and money I do not possess. Indeed, I have spent what little I had in partially purchasing the land under which the mine lies. That much I have made safe, at any rate, for a time.

"If you, most illustrious Signor, would again come out here and meet me, I would show you the mine and convince you that my words are true. Then in London, where money is so plentiful, a company might be formed and the treasure secured.

"But it may be that the illustrious Signor cannot come and, in that case if he should send anyone to represent him, I have enclosed the half of a leaf of the vichaya tree, retaining the other half myself, and anyone bringing with him that half will be treated by me as though he were the Signor himself. I—"

HEBERT MARRIAGE WILL BE FOUGHT

It Will be Taken from Court to Court Till Finally Decided

"Opposition," reports the Montreal Star of the 25th of April, "to the judgment annulling the Hebert marriage was received by Mr. Justice Weir yesterday afternoon and was allowed to be filed in court, which means that the case will be re-opened in the Superior Court, and may be fought through court after court to the Privy Council.

The main point in the opposition entered by Mr. George V. Cousins, on behalf of the woman whose marriage was annulled is that the marriage of two Catholics can be solemnized by a Protestant clergyman and that an ecclesiastical tribunal's decision in annulling such a marriage is of no effect.

It is also claimed that the woman did not appear and enter a defence in the original action, because she had been told that her child would be taken away from her if she did. The status of the two-year-old child now declared illegitimate is also emphasized in the plea, which concludes by asking that the original judgment annulling the marriage be declared void

Marie Emma Clouatre, formerly Mrs. Hebert is at present boarding at 580 St. Lawrence street, while she explains that her child is being cared for by the little girl's grandmother at Henriville, near St. John's Que.

The oposition to the judgment annulling the marriage was based on the following allegations the opposant in the case being Marie Clouatre:

1 That the said judgment is unfounded and is contrary to law, and that opposant has a good defence to plaintiff's action.

2 That the opposant was prevented from appearing and filing her defence in the above action by fraud, undue influence and fear, and by threats and coercion of plaintiff and others.

3 That the child named Katherine Blanche Eva, was born of a marriage of plaintiff and defendant, the opposant herein.

4 That the plaintiff falsely and fraudulently represented to the opposant that he was entitled to the custody of the minor child and threatened to deprive the opposant of said minor child in the event of her appearing in and contesting plaintiff's action.

5 That opposant was prevented from appearing in and contesting the said action by her desire to keep custody of the said minor child and by her fear because of said false and fraudulent representations and threats that plaintiff would deprive her of said minor child.

6 That according to law, the marriage of two Catholics can be validly solemnized by a Protestant Minister

7 That according to law the sentence of an ecclesiastical tribunal alleged in the declaration is null and of no effect in so far as it pretends to annul the said marriage.

8 That according to law, no ecclesiastical tribunal or organization has competence or jurisdiction to pronounce the annulment of a marriage

9 That the marriage between plaintiff and opposant always was valid and a binding marriage entered into and solemnized according to law.

"Wherefore the conclusions of the oposition are that the judgment be declared unfounded, irregular, and contrary to law, and that same be anulled and set aside and that opposant's plea be maintained and that the aforesaid action be dismissed."

This plea must be answered inside of six days by Eugene Hebert, the plaintiff in the original action, after which there may be a further plea entered by the opposant Then the case will be inscribed on the rolls for trial on the merits of the original action and also on the merits of the opposition.

The present course had to be taken instead of an appeal because Mr. Hebert did not contest the original action. Mr. George V. Cousins will act for the oposant with Mr. Arnold [illegible] Wainwright as Counsel.

SITUATION IN CANTON

Desperate Crisis Has Arisen in Chinese City.

Disloyalty In the Garrison Is Feared If Those Who Are In Revolt Against the Manchu Dynasty Should Prove Victorious—Property Destroyed By the Revolutionaries and Several Officials Killed.

Hong Kong, May 1.—All advices reaching here from Canton indicate a desperate condition of affairs in that city. There are 30,000 soldiers within the walls, and there is great fear that many of these would prove disloyal if it appeared that the rebels were about to gain the upper hand.

The rebels are strong in numbers, and have carried on their work of destruction with fanatical bravery. They made an attack upon the provincial arsenal, but were repulsed by the troops under loyal officers. Many of the revolutionists were killed, while some of them fled to an unoccupied rice store and built a barricade with hundreds of bags of rice. The troops found great difficulty in assaulting the barricade, owing to bombs, which the rebels threw with great accuracy. Finally the store was set on fire, while the troops remained at some distance, to pick off those who might seek to escape the flames. Thirty or more of the rebels were burned to death, while others committed suicide with their revolvers rather than be taken.

There has been a gathering at Canton lately of those opposed to the Manchu dynasty. A few days ago several hundred arrived from Hong Kong. The plot to overturn the Government was betrayed and the leaders of the movement urged the viceroy's bodyguard to join forces and kill the Manchus. This the bodyguard refused to do, with the result that when the attack was made upon the official residence of the viceroy a few days ago the revolutionists were routed.

There are certain bodies of troops which may be depended on not to abandon the rulers to their fate, and all attempts by rebels to induce them to join in the movement have been futile. But the rebels, working together in a well-devised plan, have succeeded in doing much damage to property, in addition to killing some of the officials. The family of the viceroy is now living on a gunboat.

Wu Sum, a Chinese, who was educated in Japan, and wears European clothes, is the leader of the movement. Both he and his confederates came to Canton from Singapore. While the authorities have not been able to capture these, a number of suspects have been arrested and promptly put to death. It is feared, however, that some of these were entirely innocent. The American gunboat Wilmington is now at Shamien, the foreign concession, which is on the point above the city southward of the western suburb and facing Macao fort.

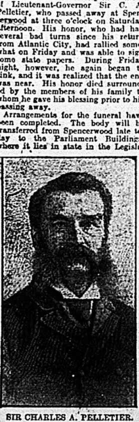
PELLETIER DEAD.

Sir Alphonse Dies After a Prolonged Illness.

Quebec, May 1.—Flags are flying at half-mast all over the city in memory of Lieutenant-Governor Sir C. A. Pelletier, who passed away at Spencerwood at three o'clock on Saturday afternoon. His honor, who had had several bad turns since his return from Atlantic City, had rallied somewhat on Friday and was able to sign some state papers. During Friday night, however, he again began to sink, and it was realized that the end was near. His honor died surrounded by the members of his family to whom he gave his blessing prior to his passing away.

Arrangements for the funeral have been completed. The body will be transferred from Spencerwood late today to the Parliament Buildings, where it lies in state in the Legislative Assembly chamber from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Tuesday. The funeral service will take place at the Basilica at 10 o'clock on Wednesday morning, after which the body will be taken by special train over the Intercolonial Railway to Riviere Quelle, his native parish, where another service will be held and the interment take place. The funeral will likely be military in its character and will be a most imposing one. Telegrams of condolence have been received from Earl Grey, Sir Wilfrid and Lady Laurier, Mgr. Stagni, Hon. R. Lemieux, Mayor Guerin of Montreal, and a cablegram from Sir Lomer Gouin, who is in Paris. Numerous floral tributes are also arriving.



SIR CHARLES A. PELLETIER.

GETTING TOGETHER.

Unionists In Great Britain Are Talking of Concessions.

London, May 1.—The King's influence is beginning to calm the troubled waters of politics. The two front benches of the House of Commons are reaching an understanding by which the Parliament bill can be carried to a second reading in the House of Lords before the coronation and discussed in committee during July. The Ministers admit that they will be satisfied with this result.

Amiable Radicals assert that Lord Lansdowne's reform scheme may be substituted for the preamble of the Government bill if opposition to the main clauses be withdrawn, but this is hazy conjecture.

When the results of the peers' reconstruction policy are known, certainly the House of Lords will make a vigorous attack upon the Government bill in committee stage, concentrating its efforts on amendments for securing a minimum majority of considerable size in the House of Commons and for providing a referendum for home rule. The Ministers, having guarantees for the creation of peers, are willing to compromise on the main clauses of the measure, and, indeed, the only chance of compromise lies in the acceptance of the House of Lords' reform scheme after the relations of the two Houses have been regulated by a Parliament bill.

The House of Lords may be allowed to save its face after submitting to changes by which an absolute veto on radical legislation is converted into a suspensive veto. The bare suggestion of this method of conciliation sends the Tory squires into a frenzy passion.

The imperial educations conference, which has been holding drowsy sessions during the past week, has been like an ordinary English schoolmasters' conference. The same subjects have been discussed by the same people, and the colonial delegates have been brilliant by flashes of silence.

The Ministers have been forced to admit that the Imperial Conference must have a program which will interest colonial Premiers vitally, especially when Canada is pre-occupied with reciprocity. Hence the number of imperial projects in incubation is steadily increasing.

The Imperial Council now takes the form of a permanent committee. The Premiers are in constant communication with one another by cable. State-owned cables will also be discussed, and the construction of land lines across Canada will be favored as a necessary imperial link.

FASHIONS ETIQUETTE RECIPES CHIT-CHAT

FOR THE BATH ROOM.

The simple bath which is made by slicing a lemon into the water ten minutes before using is excellent for the woman whose skin is inclined to be oily. Lemon in the bath is refreshing at the close of a hot, dusty day. A jar of borax should stand in the cupboard of evry bathroom where the water is hard, as it is an excellent water softener. Muslin bags a few inches square, filled with equal parts of bran and oatmeal, will also make a tub of hard water into a soothing and cleansing bath.

A more elaborate bath which will soften the skin and whiten it, is made by mixing oatmeal into a paste with rose-water. Add to this some shavings of a good soap and a little benzoin. This is an excellent skin tonic when stirred into a bath of hot water.

A home-made toilet vinegar consists of four ounces of alcohol, half an ounce of ammonia, and one drachm of oil of lavender. This should be bottled and used in the proportions of a teaspoonful to a basin of water.

FAVORITE GEMS OF QUEENS

The individual taste in jewels of Queen Victoria, Queen Alexandra and Queen Mary have been somewhat divergent. Queen Victorias 'fancy in personal jewellery was characterized by that curious mixture of magnificence and homeliness which was so distinctive a trait of Her late Majesty. Sdie by side with the exquisite little diamond crown especially designed for her, and than which no more perfect head ornament exists, is the Scotch jewellery for which she had so great an admiration—cairngorms, pebbles, river pearls, which commend themselves but little to the taste of those born south of the Tweed.

Queen Alexandra has a great liking for amethysts and possesses some of the most beautiful in the world. Her Majesty is also fond of pearls and was seldom seen on State occasions without the splendid ropes, whose soft sheen tempered the cold lustre of her diamonds. An accident once befell the famous six-strand necklace which hangs almost to the Royal wearer's knees. It caught in the handle of the gilded coach as the Sovereigns were entering the vehicle on their way to a State opening of Parliament, and the pearls fell in a shower on the crimson carpet, many rolling into the mud. The present Duke of Devonshire, then Mr. Victor Cavendish, was among the most active in collecting the scattered treasures, sacrificing his gloves, as Sir Walter Raleigh did his cloak.

Queen Mary's favorite stones are said to be diamonds, and since coming to the throne Her Majesty has appeared to indicate her preference by rarely wearing any other gem.

FOOD FOR THE SICK.

Junket or whey is borne by the most delicate stomachs, and is nourishing. Sweeten one quart of sweet milk, warm it, add one tablespoonful of liquid rennet and a tablespoon of lemon juice. Stand in a warm place till it thickens, then place in a refrigerator. Do not shake, but pour off the whey and give it to the patient to drink. The thick part is also palatable.

Milk seasoned with oyster juice may be given when the patient is tired of milk. Cut up a half dozen oysters with the liquor. Strain through cheesecloth, add one cup of hot milk poured through the cheesecloth.

To make beef tea, take one pound of lean round steak, cut into small pieces, one-half teaspoonful salt. Put into a glass can or covered double saucepan, boil five hours and strain. If the patient can digest it grind up the meat and add it to the juice; it is more nutritious.

Chicken broth can be made from an old hen. Remove the meat from the bones; cut up into small pieces; clean and chop the giblets. Chop or pound up the bones; boil till all is tender; skim frequently while cooking; strain and cool; season with celery. Remove the fat.

Barley water can be given to babies with weak digestion, or to the very old and feeble. Wash two ounces of pearled barley in cold water and boil five minutes. Pour off the water. Add two quarts of boiling water and boil down to one quart. Do not strain; season with salt and a little lemon juice and sugar.

The Four Maries.

The scheme for a coronation gift from the Maries recalls, but in a happier strain, the old ballad of "the Queen Maries" the Queen in that case being Mary Queen of Scots. The ballad begins:

'Last nicht there were four Maries,
This nicht there'll be but three;
There was Mary Beeton and Mary Seton,
An' Mary Carmichael and Me.'

The fourth was Mary Hamilton.

This quartette of Maries was chosen for her as playmates by the Queen Mother, when Mary was quite a child Most likely the Queen Mother was actuated by a notion of having companions for her daughter all bearing the same name as the daughter herself. These four Maries all went with the future Queen to France in the happy early days before the dark shadows had begun to stretch themselves by her side. They returned with hre to Scotland in 1561, and one of them, Mary Seton, remained with her until near the tragic close at Fotheringay. All were daughters of the Scottish aristocracy, and it is interesting to note, adds the Weekly Scotsman,' that it was a Mary—Mary Livingstone—who arranged the midnight flight to Seton after the murder of Rizzio, at Holyrood.

Women as Bank Clerks.

The dignified Bank of England has for some time past employed quite a small army of lady clerks, and now comes the news that a branch of the London Joint Stock Bank is following in the footsteps of the Old Lady of Threadneedle Street.

The duties which the newly enrolled lady bank clerks are called upon to fulfil consist for the main part of checking work, and are carried on under much the same conditions as prevail in the Bank of England.

A prominent London banker with twenty years' experience says that the male clerk need not fear the feminine invasion. For simple work the lady clerk is quite satisfactory, but for the more complicated forms of banking she would not do, he thinks. In the event of a sudden rush of business during the day the girl clerk is apt to lose her head. Of course some of the men do now and then, but more seldom.

A Daily Cookery Recipe.

Veal Cutlets—Remove the bone and any tough mebranous portions from the cutlets, sprinkle with salt and peper, roll in fine bread or cracker crumbs, and fry in hot fat from slices of fat salt pork. When the cutlets are browned put them in a stew-pan and pour over them a brown gravy made as follows—Cook a tablespoonful of butter with two tablespoons of flour pour on gradually a cup of hot water or of meat stock, stir smooth, season with Worcestershire sauce or tomato sauce. Simmer the cutlets in the gravy until they are tender. Arrange them on a platter, strain the gravy over them after skimming off the fat from it, and garnish with lemon and parsley.

BRONCHITIS

COUGHS, COLDS, CATARRH AND THROAT TROUBLE.

Every sufferer from coughs, colds bronchitis and all throat and chest ailments need a soothing, healing medicine, which goes direct to the breathing organs in the chest and lungs, attacks the trouble at its source, disperses the germs of disease and cures the ailment thoroughly And this medicine is "Catarrhozone."

This germ-killing balsamic vapor mixes with the breath, descends through the throat, down the bronchial tubes, and finally reaches the deepest air cells in the lungs. All parts are soothed with rich, pure medicinal essences, whereas if a liquid or tablet remedy were used, the affected parts would not be reached and harm would result through benumbing the stomach with drugs.

"CATARRHOZONE"

A Breathable, 'Direct' Medicine.

No medicine brings such prompt relief, exerts such an invigorating influence, or so thoroughly and speedily cures throat troubles as "Catarrhozone." Doctors, hospitals, sanitariums—all say that for those who suffer from changeable weather, for those who are predisposed to Catarrh, lung trouble, deafness, or bronchitis, no treatment is so indispensable as "Catarrhozone."

For certain cure, for relief in an hour use Catarrhozone the only direct breathable medicine. Two months' treatment, guaranteed, $1; smaller size, 50c.; at all druggists, or the Catarrhozone Company, Kingston, Ont

SPOILED THE PLOT.

A Display of Juvenile Affection That Saved the Mongrel.

About three weeks ago there strolled into a Ridley Park house a dirty, disreputable looking dog. He was of no particular breed, but a general mixture of all there are. Out of the kindness of her heart the cook gave him a few bites to eat, and from that time on, try as they would, the family could not get rid of the canine. The small children took a great fancy to the dog and named him Bluie. Their father and mother grew tired of seeing Bluie around and secretly plotted to get him out of the way. They feared to kidnap him openly by day, for there would surely follow much protest and distress on the part of the children. Accordingly plans were made for losing Bluie some place far from Ridley Park by night. The evening that the plot was to be carried out, just after supper, father, mother and a five-year-old boy were in the parlor. The little fellow was fondling the dog as if he were his best friend in the world. Finally he seized the dog firmly under the shoulders and, looking straight into his eyes, lisped out, "Bwoole, do you wove me?" and then after a moment with joy in his voice, "Bwoole woves me and the world is mine." After that touching display neither father nor mother had the heart to deprive the little fellow of "Bwoole's" company, and the little mongrel dog seems sure of a comfortable home for life.—Philadelphia Record.

GREATEST BRITISH CRUISER LAUNCHED

BARROW-IN-FURNESS, England. April 29.—The Princess Royal, the largest cruiser-battleship ever built for the British navy, was launched today and christened by Princess Royal Louise, after whom the vessel was named.

The cruiser has a displacement of 26,360 tons and turbine engines affording 70,000 horse-power. Her contract calls for a speed of 28 knots an hour. She will carry eight 13.5 inch guns in four turrets, so disposed that all can be discharged on either broadside, or four ahead and four astern. These great weapons discharge a shell weighing 1,200 pounds and can pierce the best existing armor plate at a distance of six miles. The fire control system is of latest type and so arranged that the guns can be directed from an armored position.

Besides these monster guns the Princess Royal will carry 20 or 24 four-inch weapons, firing 31 pound shells for defence against torpedo craft, and will be fitted with at least three new 21-inch torpedo tubes for the discharge of the Hardcastle torpedo, which has a range of 7,000 yds.

NEW SHORT ROUTE OVER THE ATLANTIC

MONTREAL, April 29.—A syndicate has been formed in London to construct a railway from the Saguenay River to Cape St. Charles Bay, on the east coast of Labrador, a point 650 miles from Quebec. Montreal people, including Rodolphe Forget, are interested in the enterprise, which will connect with the Quebec and Saguenay line, which M. J. O'Brien will build during the next 18 months to Murray Bay, 90 miles from the ancient capital.

Jim Hill had his eye on this route several years ago, but it remains for English and Canadian capitalists to test the practicability of the scheme.

Cape St. Charles Bay is on the Labrador side of the entrance to the Straits of Belle Isle, and some 25 miles from Belle Isle. The promoters of the route say that the bay is open all the year round, and from that port fast steamers will make Liverpool in 52 hours, or land mails in Chicago 30 hours before they could reach New York or any of the other routes.

The country through which the railway would run is for the most part wild and barren.

MARK TWAIN ONCE SAID

"It is Spring Fever that causes the general unrest, lack of ambition and run-down condition which pervades the human system in the Spring of the year."

The sudden change from frigid to torrid weather occurs within a few weeks, especially in our northern states.

If people in this vicinity only knew the value of Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic (without oil) at this season of the year, we would not be able to get enough to supply the demand.

Old people, delicate children, rundown, overworked and tired women those suffering from bronchitis, chronic coughs and colds, all derive great benefit from its use.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. J S. McKeown, Belleville.

NOT THE ONLY THING

More Pressing Needs in the West Beside Reciprocity.

W. H. Sharpe of Lisgar, Man., In Able Speech on Tariff, Says Hudson Bay Railway, Terminal Elevators and Cold Storage Are the Real Wants of the Prairies — Exodus From Canada to U. S.

Ottawa, May 2.—One of the most effective speeches of the reciprocity debate was delivered in the Commons yesterday by W. H. Sharpe of Lisgar, Man., a brother of Major Sharpe of North Ontario.

He voiced the needs of the west. Terminal elevators, a railway to Hudson Bay, chilled meat facilities, these things he demanded in the interests of the farmers. With these things to aid them, the question of tariff wall against farm products would be of no moment to the farmers. He showed that the fruit growers of British Columbia and the east, for instance, would have to assist the western farmers to get these facilities, yet the agreement would ruin the fruit industry of Canada. He was present, he said, when 1,500 fruit growers came to Ottawa and told the Premier that if the agreement went into effect, they would be ruined. Sir Wilfrid Laurier had replied to them that they were too late in coming. The member for Lisgar believed, however, that the people of the west were manly enough to pay a little more for their fruit for a little while longer and so save their brethren of British Columbia and the east.

Before the House rose Mr. Lennox intimated that the Farmers' Bank case would be reopened to-day.

When the House met yesterday Hon. Frank Oliver said: "I desire, Mr. Speaker, to call your attention to a matter which was brought to the attention of the House on Friday last by the Prime Minister, who referred to an article which had appeared in a Toronto paper, in which no names were mentioned. Since that time articles have appeared in other papers in which my name has been mentioned. I have not yet had an opportunity to consider these articles, but I hope to be able to make some observations on the matter to-morrow."

George H. Bradbury (Selkirk), after referring to the appointment of a royal commissioner by the Manitoba Government to discover if the titles to the property of the St. Peter's Indians, recently sold, were good, said that to enable the commision to arrive at a decision it was necessary to have the original documents, and asked if the Government would place these at the disposal of the commission.

Mr. Oliver said he was not desirous of impeding the work of the commission, but he had a certain responsibility regarding the documents. He promised a statement to-day.

On the motion to go into committee of ways and means R. L. Borden discussed the question of statistics of emigration from Canada to the United States, and from the United States to Canada. He quoted American statistics to show that during the year 1910, 94,006 Canadians entered the United States as emigrants. He said that if these figures were correct the balance in favor of Canada was a little less than 22,000. This was hardly what he would have expected.

Mr. Borden enquired if it was so that no statistics were available in Canada as to the number of departures to the United States.

Mr. Oliver nodded his assent.

Mr. Borden expressed his belief that it would be advisable to have comprehensive statistics as to the number of Canadians who went over to the United States. The people had been led to believe that this emigration had almost ceased, but evidently their belief was not based on a sure foundation.

Mr. Oliver said no doubt there was a considerable reciprocity in population. There had been in the past, and it would doubtless continue in the future. Nevertheless the Department considered the Canadian statistics of arrivals to be fairly accurate. To adopt the proposal suggested by Mr. Borden would mean a considerable increase in the cost of the service, which might not produce commensurate results. If authorized to do so by Parliament, the Department would be willing to undertake the work, but as no policy had been proposed which would prevent this immigration he doubted the expediency of the proposal.

Mr. Foster said that if the statistics of the emigration from Canada to the United States were given there would be a different tale to tell. It would be shown that there was only a small net gain. We were pluming ourselves on a basis which was not substantial. In the interests of true knowledge we should have the information.

Hon. Wm. Paterson suggested that household effects would provide a rough test. He found that household effects to the value of $2,760,137 had been taken into the United States by Canadians last year, whereas the value of household effects brought into Canada was $7,613,553. While not conclusive, he considered that these figures might indicate that the figures quoted by Mr. Borden were not wanted.

Richard Blain (Peel) said that this was a serious matter, the figures showing that we were sending as many people to the United States as that country was sending to Canada.

Dr. Schaffner said that the figures quoted by Mr. Paterson could be explained by the fact that the new arrivals in Western Canada were prosperous American farmers, with many effects, while on the other hand the movement from the Maritime Provinces to the United States was made up largely of young people. He said there was plenty of room for these people in the west.

C. A. Magrath said this was the most important of all questions, because it affected the life blood of the nation. It was highly desirable, he said, that we should have more complete and accurate statistics so that we would know the exact condition of affairs.

ANARCHY IN CANTON.

Rebellion and Lawlessness Are Growing In Chinese Province.

Hong Kong, May 2.—Rebellion, brigandage, and anarchy are stalking through the western half of Kwang Tung Province, murdering, pillaging, and burning. The loyal troops are fighting desperately to crush the uprising, the seriousness of which is revealed in further despatches from Canton yesterday.

While the fighting was progressing in the streets Chinese gunboats patrolling the west river fired upon several parties of rebels, slaughtering 200 of them.

Retreating to the countryside the revolutionaries attacked and captured Sam Shui, thirty miles west of Canton, and murdered the prefect. The troops were put to flight, and the rebels moved on to Wen Chow and Woo Chow, both of which towns they took after slight resistance.

The viceroy of Canton, who took refuge on a gunboat after his palace was burned Wednesday night, has ordered troops to pursue the rebels in the country. The authorities appear from the latest advices to be in control at Canton. The gates of the city are closed, and no one is allowed to enter. A vigorous round-up of suspects is being made. Seven gunboats are anchored off the city.

The uprising began with a plot against the throne by anti-Manchus, who went to Canton in great numbers from Hong Kong. Their object was betrayed and the revolutionary movement was prematurely begun following an attempt to arrest the leaders. Successfully coped with in Canton, the revolutionaries appear to be abandoning that city and concentrating their attacks on the towns to the north and west. There are 30,000 troops in the capital of the province, and upon the loyalty of these the hope of the Government depends. Many of the troops have proved their faithfulness, and this appears to have influenced the greater body, suspected of disloyalty, to still obey the commands of their officers.

Germany's Antarctic Expedition.

Hamburg, May 2.—The German Antarctic expedition will set sail on Wednesday on the steamer Deutschland. Yesterday Prince Henry of Prussia, made a final inspection of the vessel, and later gave a farewell luncheon for Commander Filchner.

MAY DAY VERY QUIET

Paris Is the Only City That Has Any Real Riots.

French Capital Is Scene of Some Brisk Encounters Between Troops and Labor Men and Hard Fighting Occurs Toward Night — British Leader Scores Workmen For Their Poor Attendance at London.

Paris, May 2.—During the daylight hours the extra troops and those from the Paris garrison and the police had little trouble with the crowds of workingmen who gathered to celebrate May Day with great demonstrations, but late in the evening things took on a livelier aspect, and there were many collisions in the streets. About 7 o'clock in the evening hundreds of thousands of persons, for the most part spectators, gathered in the Place de la Concorde and the adjacent streets. The troops and police finally succeeded in dispersing them, and this district and the Champs Elysees took on their habitual aspect.

M. Lepine, prefect of Paris, announced that the disturbances had nowhere assumed a serious character, and that this May 1 had passed more quietly than ever before known.

About nine o'clock, however, several thousand manifestants reassembled before the big St. Paul Riding School, near the Bastile, and listened to internationalist and anti-militarist speeches by the revolutionary leaders Large forces of police and troops held the surrounding streets. A German workman, wearing a tri-color rosette in his buttonhole, declared amidst thunders of applause, in the name of his comrades, that in case of war the German workers would refuse to raise their weapons against their French comrades. The close of the meeting was marked by serious disturbances. The manifestations fought the police tooth and nail in the narrow streets of the old quarter for an hour before they were finally dispersed.

Many of the rioters were knocked down and trampled on by the chargers. A score of police were injured and many of the rioters were arrested.

Despatches from the provinces say that the customary labor celebration was held everywhere. They were practically without incident, except at St. Etienne, where the manifestants solemnly burned a copy of the Workmen's Pension Law in front of the City Hall. The troops had some trouble in dispersing them, and a number of the workmen were hurt or arrested.

Quiet Day In London

London, May 2.—No disorder accompanied the May Day demonstration here yesterday. A procession bearing red banners, bands playing the Marseillaise, marched from Victoria Embankment to Hyde Park. About 15,000 persons, more than half of them aliens, gathered there. Tom Mann, vice-president of the Workers' Union, who was the principal speaker, said it was shameful that the attendance of the workers was so small.

American Railway Men Out.

Chicago, May 2.—Maintenace of way employes of six railroads, numbering 2,500 men, struck last night when their demands for recognition of the union and a wage increase were refused.

The total number of men involved in strikes and lockouts in and near Chicago, as a result of May Day labor troubles, is estimated at 12,000.

END RUSH-BAGOT TREATY.

Unionist Member Says U. S. Violations on Lakes Are Dangerous.

London, May 2.—A question asked in the House of Commons yesterday based on the campaign now being engineered by The London Morning Post, representative of the ultra tariff reform circles had reference to the Rush-Bagot treaty concerning war vessels on the Great Lakes.

Henry Page Croft, Unionist member for Christchurch, alleged that the treaty had been broken persistently as regards the number of ships and their tonnage, making the situation one of danger, because it must cause misunderstandings between Canada and the United States. He urged that the Government recommend that Canada abrogate the treaty.

Colonial Secretary Harcourt staved off the question by asking that the usual notice be given.

King Favors Earlier Hours.

London, May 2.—Folowing the ban on the hobble skirt by the Lord Chamberlain, inspired by the Queen, society is eagerly discussing King George's direction that future courts are to be held one hour earlier. The guests will begin to arrive at half-past eight, instead of half-past nine. The King and Queen will enter the throne room at half-past nine, instead of at half-past ten, which will permit the courts to be brought to a close at midnight instead of in the small hours.

King George is a firm believer in early hours. He told a friend recently that a man cannot expect to succeed in business if he does not being work till the day is half over, and he cannot begin early if he is up half the night.

The ruling will have a far-reaching result, leading to 7 o'clock dinners, and theatre performances beginning at 8 o'clock sharp.

Put Loss at $3,500,000.

Bangor, Me., May 2.—One of the assessors said yesterday that he is of the opinion that the fire loss does not exceed $3,500,000. Other estimates, however, place the loss much higher.

Nearly all those who lost their houses are business men, and there is practically no suffering.

Mayor Mullen said: "I have received offers of help from other cities, but we shall not accept any aid until we find out that it is absolutely necessary."

Rush to B. C. Fruit Lands.

Montreal, May 2.—Private despatches from Vancouver state that the rush has already commenced to the fertile fruit lands of the Columbia Valley in the Windermere district, south of Golden. This is where the C.P.R. has under construction the Kootenay Central Railway, and it is expected that this line will be a great influence in the opening up of the country. Fruit, vegetables, poultry, etc., can be placed on the train at night, and reach Calgary next morning.

Three steamers will ply on the Columbia River this year from Golden to the Windermere district, carrying passengers and freight, and it is not improbable that the C.P.R. will erect a new hotel in the near future overlooking Windermere Lake.

Anglo-German Friendship.

London, May 2.—"The Anglo-German Friendship Society" was formally launched at a meeting in the Mansion House yesterday.

The object of the organization is to dissipate any ill-will and suspicion that may exist between the two nations, and the speaker referred to the movement as a fitting compliment to the great Anglo-American meeting at Guild Hall.

The Lord Mayor presided and the presence of such men as the Duke of Argyll, Sir Frederick C. Lascelles, formerly British ambassador at Berlin, and the Earl of Aberdeen, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, all of whom are office holders in the new society, guarantees an earnest effort to promote more cordial popular relations between the two powers.

Morgan After Telephones.

Cincinnati, O., May 2.—With the buying of the Bowling Green Home Telephone Co., in Kentucky, the first of a series of large purchases, which will entail an expenditure of $25,000,000, has just been completed. The lines, which have practically been secured, are in the south and west.

J. Pierpont Morgan is said to be back of this project. Certain telephone officials in Cincinnati say he intends eventually to secure every independent company in this country and that he is now in control of a majority of the stock of the Bell Telephone C.o

Given Nurse's Kit.

Toronto, May 2.—Officers and teachers of North Parkdale Methodist Church Sunday School presented Miss Maud Hewitson of 104 Wright avenue, with a nurse's kit yesterday afternoon.

Miss Hewitson has been a teacher in the Sunday school for the past six years and has resigned, intending to train at the Nursing At Home Mission, which has "the Ward" for its field of operations.

Ottawa's New Health Officer.

Ottawa, May 2.—The Board of Health has declined to make a selection from the list of almost a dozen applicants for medical health officer. The choice was left to the City Council last night, but the board recommends that the salary be $4,000. The appointee must hold an Ontario medical certificate, which puts out of the running about half of the candidates.

Alfonso Gravely Ill.

Paris, May 2.—L'Intransigeant claims that King Alfonso is gravely ill with tuberculosis, and that at a recent consultation of his physicians it was decided that urgent measures of treatment were necessary, and also that the Spanish monarch should pass the coming winter at Lezins, Switzerland, where the climate is better adapted to his condition.

Russo-Chinese War Prospects.

New York, May 2.—A St. Petersburg cable says: The Russo-Chinese question is again to the front here and is causing anxiety. Gen. M. Matianoff yesterday said:

"War with China is in no way desirable, for it would be profitable to the powers who will not shed a drop of blood.

"But I believe this war will come, since the Chinese are mistaken as to their situation from a military point of view."

St. John Carpenters Want More.

St. John, N.B., May 2.—The union carpenters put into effect yesterday a $3 day rate. Some employers are paying it; others are not.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

A fierce gale raged on Lake Huron yesterday.

The twentieth British Dreadnought was launched on the Clyde.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has purchased six lots in the west end of Montreal.

His Excellency Earl Grey, the Countess Grey and the Ladies Sybil and Evelyn Grey returned to Ottawa from Winnipeg yesterday afternoon.

The Liberal caucus at Ottawa discussed the question of taking over branch lines by the Intercolonial. Only a passing reference was made to reciprocity.

The Lachine Canal was thrown open yesterday and within a few minutes afterwards there had been no less than forty passes issued to vessels to pass through.

A tragedy occurred at Cambridge, P.E.I., on Saturday, when Ben Irving in a fit of rage, is alleged to have caught his aged sister by the throat and strangled her to death. Irving is said to have been insane.

$500,000 Worth of Jewels.

New York, May 2.—Customs officers, private detectives and the police department here, were all busy yesterday working on information from Scotland Yard that jewelry worth $500,000 and upwards, stolen in great part from Americans in England and on the continent is being marketed here piecemeal by an international band of crooks.

Some of the band are said to be women, and the understanding was that New York is supposed to be the clearing house for their operations. The arrest of the man believed to be the head "fence" is momentarily expected.

Mustn't Smuggle Furs.

Washington, May 2.—Chief Wilkie, acting head of the special customs bureau, warns all Americans who intend to buy furs in Canada this summer to make sure that their purchases will be delivered in a legitimate manner and not smuggled in.

Many Americans who bought furs in good faith last year in Toronto, Montreal and Quebec, expecting them to be delivered duty free, have been obliged to pay heavy penalties.

Chief Wilkie says all who make purchases abroad to be delivered duty paid, should take receipts showing that fact.

Some months ago we ordered for the Hotel Quinte a quantity of sheeting, of a quality in keeping with the Quinte's reputation for the best furnished hotel in Canada. Either we, or the manufacturer in England made a mistake, and we received over five hundred yards of 8-4 sheeting instead of 10-4 as our order called for. Now the result is we have the sheeting on our hands, and in order to clear it quickly, we place the lot on sale, Wednesday and Thursday, the best Bleeched Sheeting we have ever offered for sale in our store, price only 35c. yd.

And Now for Wall Paper

We are making preparations in our Wall Paper Department for a vast business

That 1911 will lead all previous years we are amply assured.

We feel it in our bones It is the grip we have on the Wall Paper and Decorating trade, that tells us so much

Receipt of charming new goods,

—lines before never equalled,

By inquiries regarding spring work,

The unusual busy winter in the line of decorating forecasts a good year. A recent call from Toronto for our decorative advice, and the execution of the work advised on, all tell the trend of business, and assure us that we are in line for a busy year.

We recently decorated for a manufacturing firm a suite of offices, (out of the city), that critics say is not paralleled for artistic workmanship in Ontario. If you are a doubter we would gladly show you the offices. It would be to our credit to show same.

BAPTIST Y. P. A. MET LAST NIGHT

The B. Y. P. U. was held last evening. Mr. Hess delivered a very instructive address on the North-West missions and during the evening called on Misses Rowland, Nurse and Embury, and Messrs. Kelley and Mowry to read papers on different phases of the subject, and in conclusion urged each one to read the book entitled 'Strangers Within Our Gates.'

During the evening Miss Brown sang a solo, accompanied by Miss Wanda Riggs, "There is a Green Hill Far Away." The meeting was closed with prayer by Mr. P. C. McLaurin There was a larger attendance than usual, including a number of strangers.

AFTER 7 YEARS SUFFERING

I Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Waurika, Okla.—"I had female troubles for seven years, was all run down, and so nervous I could not do anything. The doctors treated me for different things but did me no good. I got so bad that I could not sleep day or night. While in this condition I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and began its use and wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice. In a short time I had gained my average weight and am now strong and well."—Mrs. SALLIE STEVENS, R. F. D. No. 3, Box 31, Waurika, Okla.

Another Grateful Woman

London, Ont.—I feel as if I could not tell others enough about the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was so weak and tired that I could not rest nights. A friend recommended your Compound and I soon gained health and strength and could not wish to sleep better. I know other women who have taken it for the same purpose and they join me in praising it.—Mrs. WM. A. BUFFY, 905 Dame St., London, Ont.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has surely cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, and nervous prostration.

EASTER VESTRY AT PARHAM

The annual Easter vestry meetings in the mission of Parham, resulted in the wardens in St. James, Parham; St. John's, Olden; and St. Paul's Arden, being re-elected:—

Parham—George Ayerst and Andrew B. Herves.

Olden—John Drew and A. Fraser.

Arden—George Kirk and M. Williams.

Arrangements were made to build the fence between the church property at Parham and John Lowery's.

DEAF MUTE'S DEATH ON RAILWAY TRACK

The Canadian Mute says:—From Detroit comes news that Ariel Sutherland, aged 43, a pupil of our School about 25 years ago, was run down and killed by a Wabash Railway engine on the evening of April 14th. Both his legs were cut off and he died from the shock and hemorrhage. Ariel was an exceptionally bright student while at school here, and he will be remembered by many of our old pupils, who will much regret his untimely death

The Toronto correspondent of The Mute writes:—Mr. Percy Allen was in Detroit for the holidays and was an eye-witness of the terrible death that befell our friend, Mr. Ariel Sutherland, at a crossing of the Wabash Railroad in that city on the night of Good Friday and that ghastly sight on which he gazed will be a perpetual memory to him. Percy almost risked his life for his friend but was prevented by a curious ruse.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

DID NOT DISAPPOINT.

Don't become discouraged simply because your hair falls and is thin weak and wispy until you have tried Herpicide. "I first began to use Newbro's Herpicide three years ago, after a spell of fever, which caused me to become almost bald. Herpicide soon restored the natural quantity and color of my hair. I feel lost without a bottle of Herpicide in the house." Thus Mrs. Anna C. Layn, 821, Second Avenue, Louisville, Ky., tells in her own words how she got it back. Mrs Layn's experience has been duplicated a thousand times and can be repeated thousands more.

Newbro's Herpicide keeps the hair and scalp in a perfectly healthy condition. When the hair pailla has not been destroyed by the ravages of the dandruff germ, the hair will resume its suspended growth.

Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ and checks falling hair. The itching of the scalp stops almost instantly. Others imitate and make similar claims, but the original dandruff germ destroyer is Herpicide.

Applications of this wonderful remedy may be obtained at any good barber shop.

Send ten cents in postage or silver for sample and booklet to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich.

THE HIGH SCHOOL WOMEN'S INSTITUTE

Pleasant and Profitable Meeting Last Night—Officers Elected For the Year

The annual meeting of the Women's Institute was full of interest. Pleasure was expressed at the improved cleanliness of the school and several profitable suggestions came from Mrs W. B. Deacon's report of the Playgrounds Committee, which will be acted upon.

Miss Libby, B. A., gave a much-appreciated address on "Beauty as a Factor in Education," in which she pointed out the immense part environment plays in the development of the child. Much could be done to lead children to a perception of the beautiful in animals, insects, flowers, the seasons, melodious sounds as that of winds and running waters, good music and so on, to the higher kinds of intellectual and moral beauty which would result in lives of beautiful service which the years would only enhance.

The following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Yeomans; Vice-presidents, Mrs. Bogart, Mrs. Howard; Secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Downey; Councillors, Mrs. Colwell, Mrs (Dr.) Marshall, Mrs. Armstrong Playgrounds Committee, Mrs. W. B Deacon, Mrs. D. V. Sinclar, Mrs. V G. Chown; Sanitation, Mrs. Armstrong; Art, Miss Libby, B. A.

BRIDGE ST. LEAGUE MEETING LAST NIGHT

The Devotional Committee had charge of the meeting of the League at Bridge Street Church last evening with the first vice-president in the chair. There was a discussion as to what it means to be a Christian, in which several took part. The passage of scripture mentioned particularly was "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and all these things shall be added unto you." Some of the definitions given of a Christian were: one who tries to live as near Christ as possible, one who is saved from his sins. The Kingdom of Heaven is within us where Christ is. If we seek to do the right things, those that God wishes us to do, then we will have more real lasting joy than those who seek after the pleasures of the world and forget the commands of God.

Mrs. Marshall was a sister of Mr. George Dame, a former resident here, but now residing in Rochester. The remains will be brought here to-morrow for interment Funeral notice later.

Conditions Unpromising.

New York, May 1.—"Many laborers are idle, and labor agencies report conditions worse than last year," said Herman Robinson, commissioner of licenses, in his report to the mayor, made public Saturday. Wages have fallen below the prevailing rate of last year, and the present spring is not nearly so good as the spring of 1910. Mr. Robinson was formerly a well-known labor leader.

The demand for domestic servants grows more acute each year, says the commissioner, and just now is more sharply felt in Canada than any other part of the country. "The dependent status of household servants is responsible," he explains, "and until employers put them on the same footing as working women in other walks of life, the scarcity will continue."

LA GRIPPE

HOW TO CURE IT.

There is only one way to cure La Grippe and that is by attacking the germs which have entered the membrane, and dislodge them. This is exactly what Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me), does. Hyomei is simply the concentrated healing and antiseptic forces of nature combined. You breathe these essences and nature does the rest. After inhaling Hyomei your head becomes clearer, the headache disappears and in a night the cold is broken up.

Hyomei is guaranteed by your druggist to cure La Grippe, Catarrh Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis and Croup, or your money back. The outfit consists of a neat hard rubber pocket inhaler and a bottle of Hyomei. This costs you $1. (Extra bottles of Hyomei, if necessary, 50c.) All druggists, or postpaid from the R. T Booth Co., Ltd., Fort Erie, Ont Sod and guaranteed in Belleville by J. V. Doyle.

A GREAT BATTLE.

The One Known In History as the "Victory of Victories."

The battle which is known in history as the "Victory of Victories" took place at Nebavend, in Ecbatana, and was fought between the new Moslem power in 637 and the empire of Persia, then one of the most powerful of the eastern monarchies. It was one of the most absolutely decisive battles in the history of war, and it was all the more amazing by reason of the fact that it was won by a people who twenty years before had been unknown barbarians, lost in the deserts of Arabia.

Arabian historians place the Persian loss in a single day at 100,000 men killed. This may be and probably is an exaggeration, but the fact remains that the Persian dynasty came to an end when the battle was over and that Zoroastrianism, which had been the religion of Persia for over a thousand years, was at once supplanted by Islam. Its modern representatives, as is well known, are now the Parsees of India.

The victory was so absolutely decisive that it extended the Arabian dominions over the whole of the region lying between the Caspian sea and the Indian ocean. With the exception perhaps of the battle of Tours, no single fight ever made such a difference to the after history of the world.

Rise up with the morning
And beat it in the race!

Never join the regiment
That loafs along the line.
Away with all your wagons
When the walking's mighty fine!
—Atlanta Constitution.

ALL HAIL!

Although our shapes are only drapes that irritate and hurt,
Although the hats you travel with are arbors that displace
The sunshine that should play upon the flower of her face,
Although you bind her graceful stride within a silken lock
And do a lot of other things the paragraphers knock,
We thank thee yet, for thou hast won, no matter what they lack,
And brought the dear, insanitary old round garter back!

Among the cherished keepsakes of the nineteenth century beaux,
Beside the satin slipper and the scentless, faded rose,
The sacredest of treasures prying eyes could bring to view
Was the little frilly silken circlet, pink or baby blue.
One smiles—or, no; one blushes—at the thought of cherishing
The modern block and tackle harness. Fie on such a thing!
Romance has had no chance of late real gallantries to win.

Gramercy for thy benison, thou style called renaissance!
And, ye that read, remember, "Honi soit qui mal y pense."
Perhaps the ancient chivalry will answer to the call
And the Order of the Garter be the noblest of them all.
And then, again, perhaps it won't; another style may come
And put our hopes and dreams and speculations on the bum.
Who cares? The present compensates for past and future lack—
—Cleveland Leader.

WANTED HIS PAY.

The Husky Jamaican Didn't Care to Work For Nothing.

An English naval officer tells of being on a war vessel which took provisions to St. Kitts, one of the British West India islands. A hurricane had left many of the inhabitants in a destitute or even starving condition. Hungry crowds gathered at the wharf, but refused to help unload the food that was to be given to them unless paid for their work.

A similar story sheds light on the Jamaican negro. Some years ago a hurricane devastated the island, and a large relief sum was raised, much of it in England and the United States. The committee having charge of this fund sent a wagon load of lumber to a husky black man whose house had been scattered over the parish. He and his family were living in a rude shack, made out of odds and ends.

"What's that fur?" he asked of the men who were unloading the material in front of his patch of ground.

"That's for your new house," was the reply. "It's from the relief fund and won't cost you anything."

"Who's goin' to build mah house?"

"You are, if anybody does."

HOPES FOR ANNEXATION

Congressman Prophesies It as a Result of Reciprocity.

Representative Madden of Illinois Says It Is Inevitable and Will Be Good For Everybody Concerned—Republicans Continue to Assail the Free List of the Democratic Party—Bag-Making Industry Threatened.

Washington, May 2.—Speeches on the farmers' free list bill in the House yesterday again sounded the note of Canadian annexation; traversed the whole range of argument concerning Canadian reciprocity, already disposed of by the House, and came back at time to specific attack upon or support of the free list bill, which has been pending for six days and gives promise of continuing for several more. At times less than a score of members were on the floor to hear the speech-making. Democratic Leader Underwood, at adjournment, expressed the hope that a vote may be reached Thursday or Friday, but many members wish to speak, and all desired time will be given.

Representative Madden of Illinois, in an hour's speech yesterday, touched the annexation issue.

"My hope is that if we can have closer commercial relations with the people of Canada," he said, "some day this relationship may blend the two peoples into one harmonious whole; and that the territory lying north of us may become a part of the United States, as it should be. I have always believed we should be one people, under one flag, and under one form of Government, and it will be better for us all when such a thing happens, if it ever does."

Messrs. Gillette of Massachusetts and Dyer of Missouri attacked the free list bill because it put jute bagging, used to bale cotton with, upon the free list, thereby threatening the bag-making industry of this country.

Mr. Cox of Indiana supported the bill and attacked opponents of the reciprocity measure recently passed.

Mr. Rucker of Colorado, Democrat, who voted against the Canadian reciprocity bill, attacked that measure in a speech favoring the free list bill. He said he had been criticized for not abiding by the action of the Democratic caucus in favor of reciprocity, but explained that he opposed the measure because he believed it unfair to the farmer.

In a speech lasting more than three hours, Senator Stone of Missouri, in the Senate yesterday, denounced what he declared to be an unjust propaganda to defeat the Canadian reciprocity bill. The attempt, he said, was being made to alarm the American people by painting the ruin that would follow the free importation of Canadian goods, the products of cheap labor. This contention, he declared, was absolutely untrue, as he submitted statistics gathered by both governments, designed to show that both labor and live stock were higher across the border than in the United States.

When Mr. Stone concluded Senator Gallinger asserted that the Missouri Senator had proved conclusively that there would not be the reduction in the cost of living which it had been contended, reciprocity would bring to the United States. Mr. Stone replied that he had not contended that in and of itself reciprocity would be of great benefit, but had undertaken to show that it would not produce great injury.

Indian Burned to Death.

Montreal, May 2.—Mrs. Saiswenre Stacey, the 65-year-old wife of Tarongata Stacey, a venerable Indian resident of Caughnawaga, was burned to death in the destruction of her home by fire yesterday morning between two and three o'clock. Her husband, a man of 72, escaped with his life only by leaping from a second storey window. He is suffering from a badly contused shoulder and internal injuries.

Senator Gets $8,000 Job.

Ottawa, May 2.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the House yesterday afternoon announced the appointment of Senator Roy, of Edmonton, as Canadian representative in Paris. The appointment was foreshadowed some time ago. The salary is $8,000.

McGill Students Arrested.

Montreal, May 2.—Dan Gilmore, son of Senator Gilmore, and "Buster" Matheson, were arrested Saturday on a charge of burning the carriage occupied by Hon. Clifford Sifton at the anti-reciprocity demonstration in Montreal on March 20 last. "Bunny" Prise was also charged, but he will not be in town till the hearing on Friday.

All three are McGill men, Liberals, and interrupted the procession of McGill students to the Windsor Hall the night of the Sifton meeting. They pleaded not guilty.

MISERABLE WITH STOMACH TROUBLE

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" BRINGS THE HAPPINESS OF HEALTH

"Fruit-a-tives" cures Stomach Troubles because it cures the Liver, Kidneys, Bowels and Skin.

Indigestion etc. is not usually the fault of the stomach itself. The bowels are irregular—the kidneys are weak or strained—the skin is inactive—and consequently the blood is impure. It is the impure blood that really makes bad digestion

"Fruit-a-tives" purifies the blood by making all the vital organs active and healthy—which in turn relieves the stomach. Take "Fruit-a-tives" if you want to get rid of all Stomach Troubles and faults of Digestion.

FORECAST OF TREATY.

London Telegraph Says It Is to Continue Five Years.

London, May 2.—The Daily Telegraph claims authority to state that the new Anglo-American peace convention is not likely to be signed for at least a fortnight, but that sufficient progress has been made to warrant a forecast of its subject matter.

According to The Telegraph, it is understood the agreement is to be for five years and that it will be a great advance over the treaty of 1907 and all similar treaties heretofore negotiated between first-class powers, inasmuch as it will contain no clause excluding matters of vital interest and affecting the independence of honor of the contracting states from arbitration.

Before the reference of any dispute to The Hague Court, it will be provided that the contracting parties shall conclude a special agreement clearly defining the matter in dispute, the scope of the arbitrators' powers and the period to be fixed for the formation of the arbitral tribunal. Such agreements on the part of the United States will be made by the President, with the advice and consent of the Senate, the British Government reserving the right, before concluding such an agreement in any matter affecting the vital interests of any self-governing dominion, to obtain the Dominion Government's concurrence therein.

This Came by Wireless.

The young and brilliant editorial guide was showing the party of antiquarians through the older portions of the city of Peoria.

"The streets running parallel with the river," he said, "are named Washington, Adams, Jefferson, and so on, you see. We named them in honor of the presidents of the United States."

"I see," responded one of the antiquarians. "And what's the name of the street we are passing now?"

"Perry."

"You seem to have run out of presidents, George, when you got to this one."

"Ye-es," said George; "we had not only used up all the presidents, but we seem to have made a bad guess on the next one."—Chicago Tribune.

Puzzled.

As she picked her hobbled way down the street the observant man marked that she wore a black band about her golden hair, another about her alabaster throat. Her waist was circled by another band, while her martyred ankles were handcuffed with fashion's latest crime—the hobble skirt.

THE NEWSPAPERS ARE THE RULERS OF THE WORLD

So Mr. Northrup, M. P., Declared at the Press Banquet in New York—The Rulers are Uncrowned, but None the Less They Rule—Their Power is Derived from the People—Journalism an Ancient Institution—Journalists are Trustees of Public Men—Differences in Both Countries as to Reciprocity—The Situation in Parliament—An Able and Eloquent Review of the Position of Parties

Following is a verbatim report of the address delivered by Mr. W. B Northrup, K. C., M. P., for East Hastings, at the recent press banquet in New York, at which President Taft and other notables were present:

Mr. Chairman, Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen:—

I confess that I rise with much diffidence and embarrassment although I well know that I am in a neighboring and friendly land.

Were it only that I have to speak in the presence of the executive head of one of the great nations of the earth, a nation which has established and maintained, though at a tremendous cost, the greatest republic known in the world's annals, an executive head who holds his high position not by mere accident of birth, but because in a population of 90,000,000 of his fellow citizens recognizing in him those qualifications and virtues which should inspire and grace the occupant of the Presidential chair, have raised him to that high office; and who during his tenure of office, by his wise, philanthropic statesmanlike effort towards the banishment of war by international arbitration, has gone far to merit that loving title conferred by his grateful subjects on my late sovereign, King Edward the Peace Maker.

Were this all, my diffidence and embarrassment would be amply justified, but when I look around this festive board to seek, as is my wont, sympathy and inspiration from my peers, I find that I am surrounded by the uncrowned rulers of the world. In so speaking, Sirs, I speak not in terms of extravagance, but of soberness and truth. Did not the great Napoleon, than whom no one was better qualified to speak, say that he feared three newspapers more than 100,000 bayonets? Did not Wendell Phillips, who I believe is neither forgotten nor without honor in this country, say that the newspapers did more to govern the country than the White House at Washington? And did not rugged old Thomas Carlyle, whose whole life and works were a protest against shame, hypocrisy and lies, declare that "every able editor is a ruler of the world, being as he is a persuader of it?"

But, Sir, in the case of other rulers we look for two considerations: First, their power, and second, their title, as shown by its origin or source. Your power, I think, I have already shown, and I am sure no one here will dispute my proofs. Among the rulers of the old world ,antiquity is invariably considered the most satisfactory source of title. Now I wish to be particularly careful to speak far within the limits of certainty. Many years ago, at a banquet to an editor in my own city, I spoke of the first British newspaper, the Mercurie published in Queen Elizabeth's time, a copy of which was in the British Museum, and I thought that I displayed great erudition by giving full particulars of it. A few years later an industrious librarian proved that it was only an impudent forgery, and the discovery of the original draft, with notes and alterations, among the papers of Doctor Birch completed the proof. Warned by this unhappy experience, I shall not attempt to trace the origin of journalism or to pretend to give any idea of when it was first practiced. I shall not dwell on the traditions of your profession being one among the early Pharaohs; even though they are supported by corroborative evidence that the hieroglyphics on temples and regal tombs are merely journalistic accounts of national conquests and royal obituaries permanently preserved, nor shall I argue logically, as I might, that whenever money is found to pay for news there was certain to be a journalist to furnish the news, and that therefore we are entitled to presume that your profession was practiced in the days when the dove brought the green back to Noah.

Like the discreet though erudite Free Mason, who, scorning all legendary lore and fanciful tradition as to the origin of his great order, prefers to disarm all criticism and silence all sceptics by merely pointing to the historical proofs that, whenever first inspired, its lodges were certainly held in due, and then ancient, form under their worshipful Masters during and at the building of King Solomon's temple; so I shall content myself with resting on the sure ground of truth, and saying that your profession was practiced and appreciated in the days of Julius Caesar, nearly 2,000 years ago. When he, at the head of his legions, had conquered Gaul, and, crossing the channel, had repulsed the barbarians who strove to defend their native soil, now known as England, the ancestors of the haughtiest lines of European monarchs were living in huts and caves and fighting for the mere lust of blood or for the necessities of life, while your journalistic ancestors were instructing and edifying the cultured classes of the imperial city.

We know that Julius Caesar directed the "Acta Diurna," the daily doings to be published, and copies to be hung in his galleries where they might be read, and when we find that these Acta Diurna, the daily doings, of which I presume the Times is the lineal descendant, not only gave political news and executive orders, but also such interesting information as there being a brawl at a certain well-known tavern in which the keeper was severely hurt, and that Titinius the Aedile had fined certain butchers for selling meat before it had been approved by the overseers of the people, we can fairly conclude that journalism had then long ago parted from its early days.

You have, therefore, both power and the title, and the highest flight of imagination can hardly conceive of a successful usurper interfering with your vested rights.

But pardon me if I remind you that with such almost illimitable power necessarily come tremendous responsibilities. You are the trustees of the reputation of every public man, for although public men have ere this come through the fiery furnace of persecution and calumny triumphant, probably none have emerged wholly unscathed, and every one recognizes that if the whole press of this or any other country should combine to attack any public man, his total destruction would be as speedy as it would be inevitable. Everyone would read your criticism of him, while his criticism of you would not be heard beyond the compass of his natural voice.

You, too, are the trustees of our language. In olden times the preservation of our language depended on its use by the best educated classes and the classical writers. To-day, however, 100,000 people read the newspapers for every one who reads a classical work. It is indeed a subject of congratulation that the purity of the language has so far been preserved by the press of the motherland, the United States and Canada.

Indeed, Sir, I have no hesitancy in expressing my candid opinion that the English daily appearing in the editorials of the papers of these three countries is far superior to that found in the pages of the average work found to-day. As I said before, Napoleon said he feared three newspapers more than 100,000 bayonets. Soldiers fight with bullets, you fight with words, and, though strange, it is true that many words, apparently destined to die at the moment of their birth, have endured and will forever endure. The most tremendous monuments raised by human skill will crumble and pass away; the bullet can only sting, wound or kill; a word can also sting, wound and kill, but it can console, cheer and ennoble, and, like the quality of mercy, can bless both him who speaks and him who hears.

Does any one believe that all the words of "Bobby" Burns will die and be forgotten as long as a Scotchman, or the descendant of a Scotchman, remains on this terrestial sphere? Does any one believe that all the lyrics of Moore will pass into oblivion while an Irishman, or the son of an Irishman, lives to carol them forth; and would not the French nation be relieved from all possible fears of trouble with their great neighbor on the east on the day that the "Watch On the Rhine" and Luther's hymn are no longer heard on German soil.

We live, perhaps, in the age of the greatest unrest and uncertainty. Men are striving for something better than they have, and no one can tell what illimitable potentialities may find their birth any morning in the leading editorial of any one of our great daly papers.

You, too, are the trustees of the history of the country, for, as Lord Macaulay said, the best history of a country is found in its newspapers, and if that were so in his day it is a thousandfold more true to-day. The American press has the distinction of being the first free and unfettered press in the world. In 1776 Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland and North Carolina passed the first legislative enactment to insure the freedom of the press, and by the amended Constitution of the United States it is provided that Congress shall not infringe upon the freedom of speech of the press. For over a century and a quarter you have enjoyed that liberty, which in those early days was certainly not enjoyed in other lands, and no one will to-day deny that you have proved your worthiness of the confidence the public reposes in you.

Now perhaps it is expected that I shall say a word about Canada, my native land, particularly as reference has been made to the pending trade negotiations between the two countries. Apart from what I have read in the public press, I feel justified in assuming, from the remarks of our toastmaster, that there is not absolute unanimity of opinion in the United States about this great measure, and although the most modest of men and the most reluctant to venture an opinion, I will venture to say that a similar condition of affairs prevails in Canada.

Our political system, as you know, is entirely different from yours. If the measure proposed by your President were repudiated by both Houses his tenure of office would in no way be affected. Our Premier, on the other hand, cannot hold office one hour longer than he has a majority of the representatives of the people joined in his support. The Government of to-day in Canada has introduced the measure into Parliament. It, therefore, stands pledged to carry it, and if it fails it loses the reins of power, which will be taken up by its opponents. You can, therefore, easily understand how strong is the disposition of the supporters of the Government, even though they disapprove of the measure, to consider it a lesser of two evils and to vote for it rather than vote the Government out.

It is, therefore, altogether probable that if the Government can force the measure to a vote, it will be carried. On the other hand, the Opposition can, if it sees fit, probably prevent a vote. There are 300 items which will give opportunity for illimitable discussion. We have already granted supplies up to the first of June; but, as you know, money cannot be spent for public purposes unless first voted by Parliament. If we would decline to pass further estimates the public treasury would be empty on the first of June. Public officials would have to borrow instead of receiving salaries, and public works would be at a standstill. This, of course, in any event, would be only a dernier ressort not to be adopted unless considered absolutely necessary; but at the same time every one will admit that if the Opposition felt that any measure was of such tremendous importance as to seriously affect, perhaps directly, the future history of our country, it would then be justified in refusing to grant any supplies or pass the measure until there has been an appeal to the people.

If, therefore, you should hear, and I do not for a moment predict that you will hear, but if you should hear that the Opposition at Ottawa has refused to allow the bill to come to a vote or to grant further supplies, you will understand that the whole object was to compel an appeal to the people.

When the people have spoken they are supreme and both sides must obey their mandate. But until they have spoken, which they can only do at the polls, no one can say what the voice of the people of Canada in this matter really is.

A few days ago, in conversation with an ex-Minister of the Crown, one who was honored by her late Majesty and has held the highest position in the gift of the people of Canada and who on several occasions was one of the Canadian representatives to negotiate with your Government on matters of international interest, he said that on all these occasions the deepest impression made on him by the American representatives was their absolute loyalty and devotion to the interests of the United States.

I am sure you will not blame them for that. You would have been surprised and disappointed at anything else, but I am also sure that you will as readily recognize the same duty on the part of the representatives of the Canadian people in considering so important a measure as that now before Parliament.

GERMANY DEMANDS FULL CONCESSIONS

Claims Reciprocity Entitles Her to Share in the Benefits

FRANKFORT-ON-THE-MAIN, Germany, May 1.—German pretensions to the benefits of the reciprocity agreement between the United States and Canada, on which the commercial bodies are insisting and which are now the subject of diplomatic negotiations, are reviewed editorially by the Franfurter Zeitung, leading financial organ here.

The Zeitung holds that Germany is undoubtedly entitled to such benefits under the Washington note of February, 1910, promising the most-favored nation treatment. The United States in the negotiations then definitely abandoned the old American interpretation under which the most-favored-nation clause does not apply to concessions granted third nations for reciprocal concessions, and demanded and received the benefits of the German minimum tariffs with corresponding concessions, the minimum Payne tariffs being more unfavorable than the Dingley rates. The American Customs Court, says the Zeitung, now wishes to revive the former interpretation, but this is not acceptable.

THOUSANDS OF YOUNG TROUT FOR THE BAY

Fine Young Fish From the Newcastle Hatchery Were Liberated This Morning

Mr. J. M. Hurley of the Dominion Fisheries Department, met Mr. William Armstrong, of the Newcastle Hatchery at the eleven o'clock train this morning, to assist in placing one thousand two-year-old lake trout in the bay. The young trout are about 9 inches long. This is the third consignment placed in the bay. Last year trout were caught as far down as Deseronto, and now that the bay is clear from sawdust from the mills on the rivers which flow into it, there is good reason for hoping that trout may once more abound in the waters hereabouts, as they did in the "long ago."

CONFESSED MURDER

Wealthy Farmer Murdered One of His Employees—Others Had Disappeared

(Intelligencer Special.)

FOWLER, Ind., May 3.—John Poole, a wealthy farmer, has confessed to killing Joseph Kemper, a farm hand, whose body was dug up in a cornfield yesterday. He claims that he shot Kemper accidentally. Two other former employees disappeared mysteriously, and the police suspect a duplication of the Belle Guinness farm murder case. A search is being made for other bodies.

SEVERAL RELICS DISCOVERED

CURRENT COMMENT

Mayor Geary, of Toronto, is entitled to "flock by himself." He opposed an increase of $2500 per year in his salary.

Now is the time when the trout which escapes from the hook learns wisdom from experience—painful in most cases.

Four degrees of frost on the night of May 2-3 evidences a remarkable degree of vitality on the part of old Boreas.

A million dollars for paving and grading streets this year will be spent by Calgary. If Belleville had a few Calgary boosters perhaps Front and Dundas streets might be put in decent shape.

The Hamilton Herald, although a supporter of the pact, remarks:—"But the simple fact is that Wilfrid need not drop reciprocity if he attends the imperial conference. Mr. Borden's very fair offer is being unfairly described as an attempt to dictate."

Whatever may be the final outcome of the reciprocity agreement—whether it is adopted or rejected, or whether if adopted it develops well or ill for the country—there must be this said in its favor at the moment: that it has given parliament something to talk about that is worth discussing.—Hamilton Spectator.

Since January 1908, there have been 52 dynamite outrages in various cities of the United States, with over 100 resultant deaths, all of which are attributed to members of the gang which destroyed the Los Angeles Times building and twenty-one human lives. The men guilty of the diabolical crime of dynamiting deserve the limit of punishment for such an appalling crime, a crime which will be repudiated by every union man worthy of the name.

A very—very few—Liberal newspapers have the courage to speak out frankly about that Lanctot "whitewash." Amongst these are the Montreal Herald and the Brantford Expositor, the latter of which remarks is that he made use of Government labor and Government materials in the construction of a residence for himself. Of these account was kept and payment subsequently made in accordance therewith. This payment, Judge Doherty declared to be "restitution." Whatever the motive may have been the entire transaction was both irregular and regrettable. Members of Parliament should avoid the very appearance of evil in dealing with Government property.

We Canadians have admired the Americans on many grounds, and perhaps that which has appealed to us most strongly is your love for and devotion to your flag. Will you blame us if we entertain the same feeling towards ours? We feel, as British subjects, that we are as well entitled to be warmed and cheered by every ray of glory that glints from the folds of the Union Jack, as any Englishman living within the sound of Bow Bells. We know that the old flag has floated in every quarter of the globe and has always been a harbinger of mercantile enterprise, industrial activity, missionary zeal, liberty to the oppressed and freedom to the bondsmen and slaves.

"It is only an old bit of bunting,
It is only a tattered old rag,
Yet thousands have died for its honor,
And time has ennobled the flag."

We believe, too, that Providence has intervened many a time to point out and secure the destiny it has designed for Canada. When this North America was first discovered and settled, not only the English but the French, Spanish, Dutch and Swede immigrants settled in various places. Your ancestors eliminated all those on the Atlantic coast. Canada was settled by the French; the only people among them all who could hold what they had seized. Quebec was taken by Phipps in 1629. It is true it was not then much of a place, but probably even New York of to-day differs in some, not altogether, trifling respects from the New York of 1629. At the conclusion of the war Canada was handed back to the French; apparently a stupid move Yet had it been retained there is no doubt that the enterprising British colonists on the Atlantic seaboard would have overrun and settled Canada so that in the war of the Revolution it would have taken part with you and formed a portion of the new republic. Again, when Quebec was captured in 1759 all probabilities were against the success of the invasion.

The British fleet had manoeuvred all through the summer months in vain and when the fall had come and navigation would shortly be closed, a last desperate effort was made by Wolfe, when, at the head of his Highlanders, he scaled the heights of Quebec to reach the Plains of Abraham The French are supposed to have committed a great mistake in coming forth from their fortifications. The battle raged all day. Wolfe fell mortally wounded, while Montcalm, general of the French, was unharmed and when the fight was practically over and the French were retiring behind the walls of Quebec a chance shot laid him low. He left no one to take his place and the fall of Quebec, which followed, would in all probability have been prevented had Montcalm lived.

Again, the following spring the French were prepared to take Quebec, which must have fallen had the arrival of the British fleet been delayed only a few days longer. At the close of the war it was proposed that Canada should be restored to the French, and England be given in exchange the island of Gaudeloupe Almost every one in England favored this plan, except the great William Pitt, who, seeing far into the future determined to retain Canada with its paltry trade of £14,000 a year in furs and give up Gaudeloupe with a trade of over £600,000, and which raised sugar, cotton and tobacco, all commodities much desired in England. As to the wisdom of this there can be little doubt to-day.

Again, had Canada been captured even a few years before 1759 the colonists from the adjoining states would no doubt have poured in and settled in the land, it would have become one of the revolting states, and had Canada been captured a few years later than 1759, this republic flushed with victory, would then have discovered the Monroe doctrine and refused to allow a foreign power to take possession of so great a portion of North America; and England worn out with her struggles, would no doubt have abandoned the country.

When you cancelled the last reciprocity treaty of 1854 there were four isolated British provinces: Upper and Lower Canada, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, without means of communication, community of interest or even acquaintance. These four colonies combined, formed the Dominion of Canada and induced Prince Edward Island and British Columbia to enter therein, and by purchasing the great prairie lands lying between Ontario and British Columbia, formed the Dominion of Canada stretching from ocean to ocean.

I need not dwell on our subsequent prosperity, which is a matter of history; and while struggling at home to extend and consolidate Canada we have been neither unable nor unwilling to assist the Empire.

When the great Napoleon had assembled a mighty fleet for the invasion of England, and the stoutest hearts on the little island trembled at the thought of the veteran French legions fighting on English soil, the English fleet attacked and destroyed their opponents and forever put an end to the fears of French invasion. It must not be forgotten that the Admiral of that fleet was Sir Cuneliffe Owens, himself a Canadian. In the record of historic sieges, no one is more famous or more striking than the siege of Kars, whose commander was Sir Fenwick Williams, again a Canadian.

In the dark days of the Indian mutiny, among the few gleams of sunshine that broke through the clouds, was the noble defence of Lucknow. Havelock told General Ingles to hold Lucknow for fifteen days, when help would come. He held it for eighty-seven days before help arrived, and he too was a Canadian. In the annals of war what charge is more glorious or better known than that of Balaklava, and it must not be forgotten that the Colonel riding at the head of his men was Colonel Dunn, again a Canadian. On the Northwest frontier of India the two furthermost forts erected for the protection of that frontier were planned and constructed by Lieutenants Dunn and Nanton, Canadian graduates of our military college. When your Henry Morton Stanley pierced into darkest Africa in search of Livingston, his lieutenant was Lieutenant Stairs, again a Canadian.

We have given the motherland an Edward Blake to grace her halls of justice; William Osler, whom we loaned to you for a season to preside at the head of the medical profession; Sir William Dawson and Grant Allen in the paths of science; Gilbert Parker among the novelists; Carman, Roberts and Drummond among the poets, and we have sent a Parker, a Bonar Law, a McMaster, a Hamar Greenwood, a Max Aitken, and others to the mother of Parliaments, and also a Strathcona and a Mount Stephen to the highest legislative body in the world.

We have passed through various forms of government. We have been governed from Downing Street. We have had quasi-responsible government, and we have had responsible government which we now enjoy. Our constitution was as long ago as the days of Lord Durham considered to be a transcript of that of the motherland, and even as tradition, usage and custom have made the unwritten law which forms her constitution, save in so far as it has been added to or subtracted from by statute law, so usage, precedent and unwritten law have affected our constitution. So that, while theoretically and strictly speaking, legally the Imperial Parliament can legislate for Canada, it has been declared again and again by the leading public men in England and frequently within the last year or two by the most prominent members of the Imperial Government that Canada is no longer only a colony, but is a sister kingdom, bound to the motherland simply by the fact that we are sister kingdoms under a common sovereign.

Our most popular and most martial poet has recognized the same evolution in his poem referred to by your eloquent toastmaster:—

A nation spoke to a nation,
A queen sent word to a throne,
Daughter am I in my mother's house
But mistress in my own.
The gates are mine to open
As the gates are mine to close,
And I set my house in order
Said our lady of the snows.

We of Canada indulge in the hope that when our vast territories have been settled and our untold riches developed these ties may still continue and that in the sisterhood of kingdoms, on the African veldt, under the Southern Cross, in North America, and in the British Isles we will become a most important factor.

Can you blame us, gentlemen, if, with visions of such a future, we carefully scan any trade proposition which may be felt to run counter to our hopes and ambitions?

One word in conclusion:—While it is dangerous to speak of international questions, all must admit that in the great continent to the west of us there is a giant awakening from his long sleep, and no one can foretell what the outcome will be if the hordes of Asia are hurled on Europe. It would not be the first time in the world's history, but never before was Europe so prepared, with every nation armed to the teeth, while a comparatively small and comparatively poor equipment for war is found on the other side of the Pacific. History is philosophy teaching by experience. We know that Asia once held the sceptre of power, but it fell from her nerveless grasp. Africa in turn took up the sceptre, but was unable to hold it, and for centuries Europe, the smallest, poorest and weakest of the continents, has governed the world.

There are but four great continents, since Australia by its geographical position and climatic conditions can never be one.

Is it more likely, then, that the sceptre of power shall remain in Europe or that, having passed in succession through the hands of the other three great continents, it should pass to America, the greatest and largest and richest of all, and if so, can there be even a passing doubt whether it will be North or South America? Or, if the unhappy day should come when we on this side of the Pacific are obliged to fight for our homes and national existence, the greatest war the world has ever seen will be waged. Does it seem to you, gentlemen, that America's fight would be stronger and more successful if one country, stretching from the Pacific to the Atlantic, composed of a number of people trained to the arts of peace rather than the glories of war, should resist the attack, or that Canada, as one of a sisterhood of nations, standing side by side with the United States and supported with all the wealth and treasure, the men, and navies of her sisterhood nations, under the Imperial flag should oppose invasion?

On behalf of my country, Canada, I thank you for your kind invitation to be present this evening, and I trust that whatever the result of the pending trade negotiations, that peace and good will shall for all time continue between your great country and all parts of our Empire, and that a hundred years hence the United States and Canada may again unite in celebrating a century of unbroken peace and good will between these two great countries.

An Appeal to Reason

In its issue of Monday last the Montreal Star, in a powerful article dealing with the necessity which exists for the attendance at the Imperial conference of the Premier of Canada, sums up the reasons in support of that proposition and in opposition to the expressed determination of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to remain in Canada if the Opposition refuse to allow his reciprocity proposals to pass, and concludes as follows:

These being the elements of the situation, what would the "man in the street" suggest? Surely he would say at once—Adjourn Parliament for a couple of months or more, and permit everybody to go to London for the Conference and the Coronation!

Let us have a Truce of the King!

Nothing will suffer. Everything will gain. Even the tempers of the members at Ottawa will be the better for a few months' recess. The facts of the case will be better known by the time Parliament reassembles; and both the members and the country will be in a better position to decide this grave issue.

The American offer will still be before us, if it is ever to be officially presented at all. We can still take it or leave it. We will know better whether the Democratic low tariff policy has any chance in this Congress, and what it really means in any event.

Mr. Borden's offer to the Prime Minister was a statesmanlike utterance; and it should be accepted in like spirit, and then carried out with a generous interpretation on both sides. We are faced by a proposal which both parties will admit demands a revolutionary change in the policy of Canada; and such a problem is surely grave enough to sober any partizan intoxication which Parliamentary strife may have engendered and to impress upon us all the high duty of approaching its final solution in a spirit of calmness, of confidence in the essential loyalty of every public man, and of conciliation on all points which do not affect the vital issue.

This is a time for Canadians to get together. We should try to find points of agreement and not of difference. We should forget party and act under the impulses of patriotism. We should realize that it matters very little what colored ribbon is worn by the men in office; but that it matters very greatly what road Canada takes at this critical juncture when even President Taft feels compelled to say that we are "at the parting of the ways."

It is above all things no time for haste, for partizan pig-headedness, for a determination to "get our way." It is far better to consider an important step along the path of destiny before we take it and while it is still fully under our own control, than to attempt to retrace it when such action may lead to international friction and imperil relations which the statesmen of the Empire regard as of supreme value.

To legislate a revolution on a time-schedule would be an act of colossal stupidity. It is unnecessary—it might be fatal. We have said that it would be unfair to ask Sir Wilfrid Laurier to go to the Conference and leave Parliament still sitting. Let us say—in the same spirit—that it would be asking the Opposition to stultify itself to demand that it should hastily swallow a policy, which it believes will lead to commercial loss and national disaster, in order to permit the Premier to perform his Imperial duties.

There is no need to ask either sacrifice. The adjournment of Parliament for a short time will obviate both surrenders. Politically, we shall have a compromise—if it be worth while to bother about such things at this crucial time. Nationally, we shall secure a fuller opportunity to study the question at issue; and we shall have the great advantage of being represented in London by the man who has expressed the majority of Canadian opinion for well-nigh a decade and a half.

"Dou you think Canada ought to be represented by Sir Wilfrid over at the Imperial conference?" the Hon. Robt. Rogers was asked, and he replied: "Well, if Canada isn't to be represented any better than she was represented at the last Imperial conference, I think perhaps it would be as well if she weren't represented at all, regardless altogether of other considerations." Rogers, you are right. Laurier at the last conference did more to keep the outlying portions of the Empire from forming a closed alliance with the mother land than had ever been before. The fact is, he does not want to go, fearing he might be compelled to do that which would mitigate against his "day dream" of independence.

MEANS ANNEXATION.

Mr. Prince, an Illinois Republican, gives utterance to Yankee sentiments when he said as follows: "I say to our neighbors on the north, be not deceived. When we go into a country and get control of it, we take it. It is our history, and it is right that we should take it if we want it, and you might as well understand it. The Speaker has so said; the party back of him has so said, and it does not deny that that is its desire."

* * * *

FIELDING'S MISTAKE.

In attacking Sir Charles Tupper, Finance Minister Fielding made one of the greatest mistakes of his life. The veteran statesman not only repelled, with all his old-time vigor, the attack of his opponent, but carried the war into the enemy's territory and beat him, horse, foot and artillery. Certainly Mr. Fielding woke up the wrong passenger.

SIGNIFICANT.

The Indians, in their naming of places and persons, were always happy in the significance of their appellations. Take, for instance, the name Thayendanega, now corrupted into its present form "Tyendinaga," which was bestowed upon Joseph Brant, the great leader of the Five Nations, who fought for Britain during the revolutionary war. The meaning of the name, which is known to few of the present generation at least, is "He who holds many peoples together." Could anything be more significant or appropriate? For certainly Brant held his peoples together in loyalty to British sovereignty.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, May 2.—There was an increased demand from foreign buyers for Manitoba spring wheat and bids for May—June shipments were 3d higher, which prices were out of line with values on this side at the close. The principal demand was for nearby shipment, for which bids showed a premium of 3d to 4½d per quarter over the above, and sales of several loads were made. The foreign demand for oats is brisk, there being bids in the market for over fifty loads, but on account of further advance in prices in Winnipeg sales of only a few loads were made. The demand from the Maritime Provinces for spot oats was good, and especially for Ontario grades, which are in limited supply here, and in consequence prices have advanced ½c to 1c per bushel and a sale of one lot of 10,000 bushels of No. 2 Canadian western was made at 40½c. American No. 3 yellow corn for May delivery sold at 60c to 61c. There was considerable enquiry from European sources for spring wheat flour, but on account of the sharp advance in wheat millers were not disposed to accept the bids and have advanced their prices 9d to 1s per sack. The local trade was fairly good and the undertone to the market firmer. Baled hay is stronger at an advance of 50c per ton.

Oats—Canadian western No. 2, 40¼c to 40½c car lots ex-store; extra No. 1 feed, 39¾c to 40c; No. 3 C.W., 39¼c to 39½c; No. 2 local white, 39¼c to 39½c; No. 3 local white, 38¼c to 38½c; No. 4 local white, 37¼c to 37½c.

Stockers and Feeders.

There was a fair inquiry for feeders and stockers. Feeders, 900 to 1050 lbs. each, sold at $5.25 to $5.45; feeders, 800 to 900 lbs., $5 to $5.25; stockers, 500 to 800 lbs., $4.75 to $5; cows for feeding on grass, $3.75 to $4.25.

Milkers and Springers.

There was an active market for good to choice milkers and springers, at $50 to $75 each, while common to medium cows sold at from $37 to $45 each.

Veal Calves.

The market for veal calves was a trifle firmer, prices ranging at from $4 to $6.50, or an average of $5.50 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Wesley Dunn reported prices as follows: Sheep, ewes, $4.50 to $5.25; rams, $3.50 to $4 per cwt.; Ontario yearling lambs, $5.50 to $6.25, unclipped; while American clipped lambs, after duty being paid upon them, sold at $6.25 to $6.50 per cwt. McDonald & Halligan sold 201 American clipped yearling lambs, 90 to 105 lbs. each, at $6.60 to $6.90 per cwt. Spring lambs sold at $4 to $6.75 each.

Hogs.

Prices for hogs were quoted at $6.30 for selects, fed and watered at the market, and $6 to drovers for hogs f.o.b. cars at country points, but $6.10 was reported as being paid in some instances. Heavy hogs, over 220 lbs., are still being culled out at 50c per cwt. lower than the above quotations.

SINS OF THE ...CITY...

"I wouldn't read it aloud, Olcott," interrupted Vipan, glancing round at several men and women who were seated near them. "We don't want this little matter to become public property."

"Quite right!—quite right! I'm a fool. Never mind. No one can have learnt much so far. But it's best to be careful." And the baronet finished the perusal in silence, and then handed back the sheet to Vipan; saying, "And that's the mysterious half leaf I suppose."

"That's it," replied Vipan, displaying a portion of a faded, green olive leaf with very curious markings on it.

Olcott held out his hand for it, but Vipan drew it back, saying, "No, better not handle it more than necessary; I don't want it damaged, so that it would not fit its fellow half, in case I have to make use of it. There may be thousands hanging to it."

"Now tell me what you think of it all."

"Well, it may be all right, and, you may be in for a good thing. It all depends whether the ore is really there.

"Oh, the copper is there. Balbi would not say it was if it wasn't. He is truth itself."

"In that case the money's there, too. We've only got to ask for it. The British public will shell out readily enough. Look here! Are you busy to-morrow morning?"

"Not particularly."

"Then meet me at eleven, at Henry Ellis's office, 23 Coleman Street. He's just the man for us. If it takes his fancy, he can make it go."

"Is he perfectly straight?"

"Oh, yes, very fairly so. In the meantime, I'll think the matter over. Bring all your papers with you and any maps or things you may have, and we'll go thoroughly into the affair."

And after a final smoke, the two men sauntered out into Leicester Square, Vipan entering a hansom to be driven to his chambers in Ducie Street, while Olcott made his way thoughtfully to his club.

"I've got hold of a soft thing this time," muttered Olcott to himself as he walked along.

"If I only had that half leaf and Balbi's letter," soliloquised a man who, unnoticed, was walking a few paces behind him.

CHAPTER II.

In the City.

The following morning Wallace Vipan, punctual to his appointment, called at 203, Coleman Street where he found Sir Charles Olcott and Mr. Henry Ellis awaiting him.

"Very proud and glad to make the acquaintance of so distinguished a travellers, I'm sure," said the latter, as Vipan was ushered in. "It is not often we get men of your calibre in the City, Mr. Vipan, and we appreciate them when they do come."

"No, I suppose the City has very few attractions for globe-trotters—except Americans to see St. Paul's—and yet we have to come to you at times, you see," replied Vipan cheerily. "But now, let us get to business."

"Certainly, certainly. Our mutual friend, Sir Charles, has given me some little idea of the matter, but I should like to hear your own version and see your maps and documents."

"Of course. I've brought everything with me, I think!" and taking out a bundle of papers and notes, Vipan drew a chair up to the table in the centre of the big, gorgeously furnished room which served as Ellis's office. For the next hour and a half the three men were deep in conversation, referring occasionally to the section-sheets of the map of Peru which Vipan had brought with him At length they simultaneously drew back their chairs and Ellis said:—

"Well, Mr. Vipan, as far as we have been able to go this morning, the idea seems quite feasible, but, of course, it all depends on the bona fides of this Italian, Balbi."

"You need have no misgiving on that score," replied Vipan. "I have had plenty of opportunities of judging the man, and I would trust him thoroughly. I can guarantee his honesty."

"That's good; in fact in a certain sense, that is everything. Balbi seems to have put this matter in your way out of pure gratitude, for, of course he might have gone to a hundred other people who would have made his fortune; but I cannot see that he makes any stipulation as to his own share in the discovery."

"He does not, but you may be certain I shall see he loses nothing by his generosity and his faith in me."

"Oh, of course! Very right and proper," said Olcott with a wink at Ellis, which, fortunately, escaped Vipan's notice.

"The first thing to be done is to form a small syndicate, then for one or two of us to go out to Peru, obtain absolute possession of the mine and such concessions as we find necessary from the Government, arrange for a good report from some sound mining engineer, and rake in the shekels By-the-bye, do you know Guelfo—Guiseppe Guelfo?" said Ellis rising and pacing up and down the room.

"No, I can't say I do," replied Vipan.

"Ah, then you must."

"Is he interested in these matters?"

"He's interested in everything in which there is money. A grand man! Get him on your side and you can do anything. I must introduce you to him. We must have him in the syndicate. Will you come round to his office now?"

"I'm afraid I can't," replied the traveller, looking at his watch, "I'm late already for an appointment. But I'll tell you what—Will you dine with me to-night at my club, the Devonshire, and bring Mr. Guelfo with you? We can then have a chat there or go back to my chambers afterwards."

"Thanks, that would suit me, and I think I can answer for Guelfo. He's not a man to let things stand in his way when there is anything good on the tapis," said Ellis. "What time did you say?"

"Oh, eight o'clock, I should think You'll come too, Olcott?"

"Sorry, but I can't. I have to dine with some friends. You must excuse me. You can then talk it over, and whatever you settle on I shall fall in with."

"Very well. Then till this evening good-bye Mr. Ellis. Are you coming west, Olcott?" said Vipan, putting on his hat and gloves.

"No, not just at present. I have something else I must see to in the City first. I'll look you up very shortly, though."

"All right; so long!" And, Vipan ran down the stairs, and, hailing a hansom, directed the man to drive to Mount Street.

Women's Secrets

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half-a-million women, in a practice of over 40 years, it is phenomenal, and entitles Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women, as the first of specialists in the treatment of women's diseases.

Every sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, absolutely without charge. All replies are mailed, sealed in perfectly plain envelopes, without any printing or advertising whatever, upon them. BRITAIN'S LATEST LITTLE WAR ON THE ASSAM FRONTIER

Punitive Expedition Already Under Way to Punish Murderers of Small English Expedition

LONDON, May 1.—England has another "little war" on her hands in the furthest north-eastern region of her Indian Empre, on thei Assam frontier. It begins with the not unusual tragedy of the white man's rash confidence and savage treachery Judging from the character of the enemy and the nature of the country the struggle, if not extensive, may be prolonged, and assuredly be peturesque.

The trouble begins with the massacre of two Englishmen, Assistant Political Officer Noel Williamson and Dr Gregonson and all but four of their native escort by Abors out in a borderland of unexplored forest clad hills beyond Sadiyah, the extreme northeast frontier station of British India on a smal ltributary of the Brahmaputra. The Abors ore a Thibeto-Burman tribe of utter savages. The word Abor means, "unknown savage."

These turbulent people moved down into the borderland recently and settled among peaceful tribes known as the Miris. The Miris have repeatedly complained of their violence, so Williamson, who was the agent in charge at Sadiyah, set out with the doctor and 5 coolies to hold a parley and adjust the dispute.

As one of the natives who escaped tells the story, Dr. Gregonson was left in camp on the bank of the Dihong River with some sick men. Williamson and the rest went on. Presently they met a party of Abors with presents from their village of Riu. The party went on to Riu and met with a friendly reception. They went into camp there at 10 o'clock in the forenoon. At noon the Abors gathered with spears, daos and bows and arrows. There were about 1,000 of them

Suddenly they discharged a volley of arrows and rushed in on Williamson's party. He was overpowered bound and mutilated. The coolies fought desparately. One of those who ecaped aid he cut down three men But the odd were overwhelming Those who got away did so by dodging away from the combat among the village houses. They made the journey to safety singly. One of them in passing saw Dr. Gregonson's camp in the hands of Abors and no sign of the doctor or his companions. The date of the massacre is not given in the despatches, but it must have been about April 4 or 5. Punitive measures have already been started.

She Would Do the Work.

"See here, Jim, I want to speak to you."

But see what faults are to be found,
What trouble he can spring.
I like it even better still Hallucinations of Henbane.

Henbane bears a remarkable reputation for creating the most extraordinary hallucinations. Dr. Houlton relates that some monks who ate the roots by mistake for parsnips transformed their monastery into a lunatic asylum. One monk rang the bell for matins at midnight, and of those of the community who attended some could not read, others "fancied the letters were running about like ants," and some read what was not in their books. Even the exhalations from these pretty but very poisonous flowers produce these weird effects.—Westminster Gazette.

London to Have Mosque.

It is proposed to erect a mosque in the capital of the greatest Mohammedan power in the world, and the only surprising feature of the project is that it has not been executed before. The building is to cost $500,000, to which the Agra Khan has already contributed $25,000. The committee in control of the scheme is presided over by Amir Ali and includes the Turkish and Persian Ministers, as well as three members of the Council of India.—London Globe.

Thunderstorms and Milk.

The popular belief that thunderstorms sour milk seems to be pretty thoroughly exploded. Experiment has shown that milk deprived of lactic organisms is not affected by climactic conditions, and if milk is kept cold it does not sour in thundery weather. The apparent connection between thunderstorms and sour milk is probably due to the sultry conditions preceding the storm.

Successful Women.

Miss Catherine M. Cook, state superintendent of public instruction for Colorado, and Mrs. Sarah Platt Decker took the leading parts in the laying of the cornerstone of the first building erected in Colorado to be devoted exclusively to the development of household art and women's work. The building is the gift of Senator Guggenheim to the Colorado Agricultural college.

Fun on a Liner.

The Pacific liner "Orcoma," which arrived in the Mersey recently from Rio de Janeiro, had on board the largest number of passengers ever carried on a South American liner. After the Orcoma left Rio a parliament was elected on board, and an act granting votes for women was passed. The first thing the ladies did was to issue cards on which was printed in English, Spanish and Portuguese the query: "Who do you think is the handsomest man on board?" On the following day the result of the voting caused immense excitement. The winner was a well-known Englishman on a pleasure trip from Buenos Ayres.

Compensation.

Poetic justice, raw and strong,
That is the kind you draw
When you are guilty of a wrong
That is not against the law.
Suppose your temper you mislay
And rave and throw a fit
About the food, that very day
The hired girl may quit.

You take advantage of a chap
Who isn't over bright,
And coax him gently in a trap
And as you lead him to the deep
To push him o'er the brim,
He gives his arm a careless sweep
And drags you in with him.

You scold a boy who by mistake
May step upon your corn;
His little heart begins to ache
As he receives your scorn.
When something rough to him you do
At almost nothing riled,
He may, when you are out of view,
Make faces at your child.

Evict the widow from her cot
Because the rent is due;
Doubt not that fate at once will plot
To get it back on you.
It may take years to right the wrong,
But later, by and by,
As swift the seasons roll along,
Your cat or dog may die.

VETO PASSES COMMONS

Important Clause of British Bill Has Majority of 104.

It Says That a Measure Three Times Refused By the Lords Becomes Law on Receiving the Royal Assent—Liberals Will Still Be Under a Great Disadvantage In England, Says Winston Churchill.

London, May 3.—After the application of closure, clause two of the Parliament bill, which is the most important clause of the Government's measure for the curtailment of the powers of the House of Lords, was carried in the House of Commons last night, 299 to 195. Later clause three of the bill, providing that "any certificate of the Speaker of the House shall not be questioned in any court of law," was carried after closure, 255 to 132.

Clause two relates to any bill other than a money bill, and provides that if any such bill is passed by the House of Commons in three successive sessions and is rejected by the House of Lords at each of these sessions it shall become an act of Parliament on the royal assent. In amended form it provides that the two years delay shall be calculated from the date of the passing of the second reading of the bill in the House of Commons.

Before the vote was taken, Winston Spencer Churchill, the Home Secretary, said that the adoption of the clause was imperative, because there had come about a complete paralysis of the working constitution and denial of all form of redress to those who did not belong to the Conservative party. The safeguards which the clause left the House of Lords for delay and revision, he said, would still place the Liberals under great disabilities as compared with the Conservatives. That was the reason why reform of the House of Lords should follow as the complement of the Parliament bill.

Mr. Balfour, leader of the Opposition, declared that the real purpose of the bill was not improvement of the constitution, but the carrying of home rule. The Government had succumbed to the threats and cajoleries of the Nationalists and Laborites.

Again, by the aid of the closure, the remaining clauses, four, five and six, were adopted without amendment by large majorities.

Clause four provides "that nothing in this act shall diminish or qualify the existing rights and privileges of the House of Commons."

Clause five reads: "Five years shall be substituted for seven years as the time fixed for the maximum duration of Parliament under the Septennial Act, 1715.

Landed In Lifeboat.

Brockville, May 3.—Coming from Alexandra Bay Monday in the dense fog, the steamer Island Belle ran high and dry on the washout near the five-mile lighthouse in American waters. The mail and two passengers landed in a lifeboat on the Canadian shore at Shoal Ferry, and proceeding to Brockville secured the services of the steamer Bigelow, which released the Belle, which sustained no damage. The shoal is one of the dangerous spots in the American channel, usually marked by a black buoy, which had not yet been placed in position.

Schooner Wrecked.

Halifax, May 3.—Job Bros. received a cablegram from Newfoundland stating that their schooner Cardinal had gone ashore at Lamaline Island, in a dense fog, and is a total wreck. The crew of eight were saved. No further particulars were given.

The Cardinal left here with 100 tons of coal for St. John's, Nfld., on April 26. She was partly covered by insurance. The cargo was also insured.

Schooner Burned.

San Juan, P.R., May 3.—An explosion on a Standard Oil lighter in Mayaguez harbor Monday night, set fire to the schooner Mary Bradford Pierce of Thomaston, Me. Capt. Lane and his crew escaped, but the fire in the vessel was still burning to-day and will cause a total loss. The schooner is valued at $30,000.

Schooner In Collision.

City Island, N.Y., May 3.—The schooner Palmetto (Br.) Guttendenburg of Lunenburg, N.S., while sailing through Hell Gate yesterday, was in collision with a New York, New Haven and Hartford car float, stove in her bow and broke her windlass, bowsprit and all head gear attached.

Toronto Inaugurates Hydro.

Toronto, May 3.—Striving vainly to make his voice heard above the thundering roar of thousands upon thousands of people, punctuated by piercing shrieks as women here and there in the surging crowd collapsed in fainting fits, Sir James Whitney last night officially inaugurated Hydro-Electric power in Toronto.

The inauguration provided a spectacle that challenges description. It was not carried off according to the program so carefully mapped out; Mayor Geary shouted a few sentences that not even those standing a few feet away could hear, Sir James fared little better, and in the excitement of the crowd's charge the civic officials threw their program to the winds and not a word was heard then from the man whose splendid optimism, courage and tireless energy made the whole thing possible — Hon. Adam Beck. The address of the "Power Minister" was made inside the City Hall some time later.

Debt must be a delightful place, for people rush wildly into it and come out very slowly.

SHE WAS SURPRISED

When Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Cured her Chronic Liver Complaint

Mrs. R. Smith, of Winnipeg, Man., tells an interesting story of relief from almost intolerable sufferings:

"I can hardly tell you how great my sufferings have been. Chronic liver complaint accompanied by biliousness were a daily source of trial to me. Every day I experienced the sickening effects of these ailments. I longed for some medicine that should permanently drive them away.

Hearing of Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, I thought they were worthy of a trial. My surprise was indeed great. From the very first I experienced relief. Continuing with them I found my troubles were slowly but surely leaving me, and before long I once more knew what it was to be free from the harassing effects of the ailments that had long sickened and weakened me. So great is my faith in Dr. Morse's Indian Pills that I shall never on any account be without them."

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cure Bowel and Kidney as well as Liver troubles, and keep you healthy. 25c a box at your dealer's. 14

Killed by a Stone.

Peterboro, May 3.—Walter Head, caretaker of the Peterboro Golf Links, was accidentally killed at the golf links yesterday afternoon. Mr. Head was endeavoring to remove a large stone out of the ground and after digging around the stone, got down in to the cave to pry it loose. The stone slipped over on his chest and pinned him fast.

Prominent Kingston Lawyer Dead.

Kingston, May 3.—Robert Rogers, K.C., LL.D., died at four o'clock yesterday morning after an illness extending over three months. He was 68 years of age, and one of the city's oldest lawyers. He was the youngest son of the late Rev. R. V. Rogers, head master of the old Kingston Grammer School, and was a lecturer in law at Queen's and a member of the firm of Kirkpatrick, Rogers & Nicle. For many years he was lay secretary of the Ontario Synod.

The Hammo-Couch

HERE'S the very thing you'll want this summer—the "IDEAL" Hammo-Couch. You can tell to look at it how much more comfortable and serviceable it is than the saggy, skimpy, shifty "half-moon" kind. Has springs, and a soft, substantial mattress on a steel frame base. Covered with heavy tan drill. Strong and roomy. Built for real comfort and good service. Supported by steel frame, or sold separately to hang from porch ceiling.

Write to-day for FREE Hammo-Couch booklet and names of stores where you can see it, sit in it and realize what a treasure it is. Address our office nearest you. Ask for Booklet No. 159

Turner's Little Afterthought.

Casserole Cooking.

There is no doubt that cooking in earthenware has come to stay, and it is hardly a matter for surprise when the advantages of this form of cookery are really understood, whether it be casserole cookery, so called, or cookery in fireproof dishes.

Of late years the prices of these utensils have been reduced so greatly that they are within the reach of all modest housewives' purses, and yet at the same time the actual pots and fire-proof dishes have been improved enormously in quality.

Every kind of utensil can be had in this ware nowadays, and people are realizing how delicious is food cooked in this way. It must also be borne in mind that it is both cheaper and involves less time and labor, for these utensils, being glazed inside, can be cleaned very simply, and the food cooked can be sent direct from the range to the dining room without the bother of dishing it. In this way it is served piping hot, as the earthenware retains heat for a very long period.

The ordinary casserole, so called, is well known to most, but the many variations of this pot are not familiar The roasting dish is particularly to be commended where it is not already known. Bacon cooked in this and sent direct to the dining room is delicious, while anything can be broiled or roasted in it, the dish itself being most attractive in appearance, with its rich brown glaze outside and the yellow glaze in.

Then another form is the oval casserole with side handles and a chicken cooked in one of these, with simply the addition of a little butter or clarified dripping is a revelation. Again too, there are stew pots, frying pans potato steamers, milk boilers, etc., to mention only a few of the different forms in which these pots are to be had.

The Quiet Girl.

"Julia is so quiet and retiring, she hardly ever cares to go out anywhere so I just let the child alone." a mother remarked the other day about her sixteen-year-old daughter.

It is a great mistake to let a girl grow up in this way.

No girl should be alloewd to get to the stage where she is content to stay at home and sit in the background in apparently stupid silence, while other people take the burden of the conversation. It is but a habit that quickly grows on a girl unless she is encouraged to go out and talk. It may be the means of spoiling what would have been a happy life.

Talk to her and get her to talk to you and encourage her to talk to other people and she will soon get over her self consciousness, for it generally is self consciousness that brings about such a state of things.

The Royal Taste.

Queen Alexandra is fond of soft subdued colors, and pale shades of rose green and blue have largely been used in the redecoration of Marlborough House, which is now being prepared for her majesty's occupation. Queen Alexandra very much dislikes changes in her rooms, and it is said she is so particular about everything being always put in exactly the same place that plans of her rooms have been made, showing exactly where each object is meant to be, so that when anything is moved it can be placed in its original position.

Cleaning House.

Some time before you propose starting your cleaning you should go carefully over the house and note down exactly what has to be done in the way of calcimining and repapering Next examine all your chairs, especially those with stuffed seats, observing which require repairs also inspect the casters on all heavy furniture, such as pianos, wardrobes, beds etc., for if any should happen to be broken or twisted very serious damage will be done to your carpets and oilcloth when you have to move the furniture to and fro at cleaning time Then your tables and other flat topped furniture should receive attention If scratched, dented, discolored with hot dishes or worm eaten make a note of the damages. When your list is completed begin at once to repair scoring off each as completed.

Caring for the Eyes.

If the eyes grow tired easily, if they pain in the morning when you awake if you have headaches, for which you can find no special cause, an oculist should be consulted. But there are a few general rules that apply to almost every eye, and observance of which can hardly fail to be beneficial.

Give the eyes a rest occasionally by closing them, or directing the gaze away from the book or the work in hand for a moment or two.

Do not read in bed. Of course the foolishness of lying down and looking upward at a book is not to be confounded with the luxury of reclining on one's couch, well propped up with pillows, and light shining over the shoulder upon the book.

Try to sleep in a room that is really dark. This is hard, for nothing can be much more important than air and how are you to admit air and exclude light? Venetian blinds will partially solve the problem, and if these cannot be procured, the only thing to be done is to try to make a dark corner for your head by means of a screen.

The wearing of blue or smoked glasses in the days of glaring sunshine has brought relief to many.

See to it that all your reading and fancy work, and letter-writing—all that is, that must be done by the aid of artificial light—is accomplished under a shaded lamp, whether gas or electric. Working by the rays of a light some way above the head which beats down upon the upper eyelid is very trying.

A simple wash for the eyes when they feel in need of such soothing is made from a teaspoonful of boracic acid in a pint of water. A good way to prepare this wash is to put a little funnel in the neck of a bottle—put some absorbent cotton in the funnel then the boracic acid on the top of the cotton and pour boiling water through the funnel. The slightest grain of foreign matter in the powdered acid is thus prevented from going through to the eye wash, which filters into the bottle beneath. To give the eye bath use a little glass eye cup, which costs only a few cents

It is important for the appearance and the health of the eye to get enough sleep.

The Latest Beauty Tip.

One of the very latest fads in the beauty making line, a bath of salt sea sand, has been adapted from the French. The sand is rubbed and scrubbed over the one who would retain her youthful looks by her maid, if she has not the strength or inclination to do it herself. The bath is taken on a rubber sheet on the bathroom floor, and the sand, which must first be heated, is rubbed in in handfuls. After the rubbing the patient, if she may be so called, rolls from side to side in the sand for the good of her hips. Next the sand is blown over her with a huge spray puff, cream is rubbed in, she is massaged and finally left to sleep. It is said that this treatment makes rosy cheeks and banishes wrinkles and superfluous weight.

LATE TELEGRAPHIC NEWS

INQUIRY IS LIMITED

Charges Against Hon. Mr. Oliver Will Be Investigated.

Sir Wilfrid Moves For a Committee But Gives No Power to Exact Evidence on Oath—Government Votes Down a Motion to Censure Hon. Mr. Fielding For His Share In the Farmers' Bank Catastrophe.

Ottawa, May 3.—No enquiry into the charges made against Hon. Frank Oliver by Dan McGillicuddy, formerly editor of The Calgary News, is intended by the Government. A motion made by Sir Wilfrid Laurier in the Commons yesterday would seem to imply that there would be an enquiry, but a close observation of the question of privilege raised by the Minister of the Interior, taken in conjunction with the Premier's motion, shows that nothing of the kind is meditated. Mr. Oliver did not pay any attention to the McGillicuddy charges published in The Toronto Telegram, but instead, on a question of privilege, read an Ottawa despatch in The Toronto World, which stated that the Minister referred to anonymously by The Toronto Telegram, was Hon. Frank Oliver, asked that a special committee be appointed to enquire into any charge which might be made "in connection with this transaction."

There is no mention of the usual power to examine upon oath.

"Before the orders of the day are called," said Hon. Mr. Oliver, "I desire to read a despatch from Ottawa, which appeared in The Toronto World of Friday morning last."

The despatch set forth two distinct statements. One was to the effect that an order-in-council, dated May, 1908, gave the Canadian Northern Railway the privilege of transferring their choice of 600,000 acres of land earned through a railway subsidy grant, from Manitoba to the wheat lands of Saskatchewan. The other was that subsequently two amounts, one for $50,000 and the other for $19,000, had been deposited to the credit of Hon. Mr. Oliver in the Imperial Bank, Edmonton, this money having come from the Manhattan Bank of New York City.

After reading this newspaper statement, Mr. Oliver noted that no direct statement of any charge against him had been made. No connection was alleged or inferred between the transfer of the land and the alleged deposit of the money to his credit, but the statements were placed side by side for the purpose of creating connection.

Mr. Oliver declared that there was no foundation for such insinuation. The order-in-council had been passed on his recommendation and he had made that recommendation in the public interest. No money had been paid to him or anyone, in connection with the order-in-council.

No special charge had been made, declared Mr. Oliver, nevertheless he would ask that a special committee of the House be named to enquire into any charge which might be made in connection with this matter.

Sir Wilfrid then moved for the appointment of a select committee of five members of the House, to enquire into the matter to which the Minister of the Interior had referred.

R. L. Borden enquired as to the scope of the committee.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said the committee would enquire under oath into all the circumstances surrounding the issue of this order-in-council.

Mr. Borden suggested the advisability of allowing the formal motion to stand over till to-day. To this the Prime Minister agreed. The matter there ended.

By 97 to 63, or a majority of 34, the Government yesterday voted down a motion by Haughton Lennox to pass a vote of censure on Hon. W. S. Fielding and the Treasury Board in connection with the Farmers' Bank failure. The motion read as follows: "The House regrets that in permitting the Farmers' Bank of Canada to commence and to continue business, the Minister of Finance and the Treasury Board failed to exercise such proper care and to take such reasonable precautions as were necessary, to prevent evasion of the law and to protect the public interest."

The arguments brought forward were somewhat similar to those used when the Opposition recently moved for the appointment of a royal commission to enquire into the affairs of the defunct institution, which motion was also defeated. Mr. Lennox said that without imputing to the Minister of Finance any wilful wrong or misconduct or want of good faith, he did deserve in his pubic capacity the censure of the House for inflicting a great wrong on a deserving class of people in this country. Mr. Fielding had been repeatedly warned that the promoters of the bank were not the best class of people to whom to grant a certificate, and he was also warned that there was an evasion of the Bank Act.

Mr. Fielding replied that it was much easier to be wise at a later stage than at the beginning. After all that had occurred, however, they must come to the conclusion that it was not the only step that was unfortunate, and for others Parliament was responsible. Four and a half years ago Travers was a reputable citizen. Accordingly, when Travers swore the affidavit regarding the deposit money of the Farmers' Bank, it was accepted. If Travers was known to be a criminal, was it conceivable that the Province of Ontario would have deposited $25,000 in the Farmers' Bank? he asked. However, nobody had suffered any loss through the notes being irregular.

Senate on Grain Bill.

Ottawa, May 3.—The Senate spent the whole of yesterday's sitting in committee on the grain bill. Sir Richard Cartwright proposed several amendments, the principal one providing that the Grain Commission should license as hospitals for the treatment of damaged or rejected grain, such a number of elevators at terminal points as they chose.

Six Months For Manslaughter.

Toronto, May 3.—Norman Henry, better known upon the streets which he frequented as "Moon-Eye," pleaded guilty before Chief Justice Sir William Meredith in the criminal assizes yesterday morning to the crime of manslaughter. He was sent to the Central Prison for six months. He had killed Nicola Saramana, an Italian, by striking him in a brawl in West Queen street. The Italian fell and was later arrested as a drunk. Later it was found that his skull was fractured, and he was taken to St. Michael's Hospital from police court, where he died.

The chief justice, in pronouncing sentence, told the young man that had it not been patent that there was no intention to inflict serious injury, he would have made the sentence much more severe.

Tried to Get In Again.

Niagara Falls, Ont., May 3.—Charged with assisting his brother, who has been rejected at Windsor, to re-enter Canada, Christopher Calopisie of St. Thomas was yesterday fined $50 and costs by Magistrate Fraser, and his brother was ordered to be deported.

Pleading guilty to the double charge of attempting to re-enter Canada after having been deported, and carrying a loaded revolver, Hendrick Sacco was fined $25 on each charge by the magistrate yesterday.

Mrs. Woodruff, widow of the late Walter M. Woodruff, a former postmaster, died at her home here yesterday.

Millions of Matches Burned.

Ottawa, May 3.—Fire in the stock room of the E. B. Eddy Co., at Hull, yesterday, destroyed three million matches. The blaze is supposed to have originated from spontaneous combustion. The room is constructed of cement, and being absolutely fireproof the matches were allowed to burn themselves out.

Carpenters Return to Work.

Kingston, May 3.—The carpenters were given an increase to 35 cents a day and returned to work, but the masons' helpers are still out. The stonecutters and masons have not yet settled their disagreement and work on Queen's new building is still held up.

Appointed Lieutenant-Governor.

Quebec, May 3.—Sir Francois Langelier, acting chief justice of the Supreme Court, wired yesterday morning to Ottawa his final acceptance of the position of Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, to succeed Sir Alphonse Pelletier.

CLARK IS NEW BISHOP

Result In Hamilton Election Is Arrived at on the Fifth Ballot—Rev. Dr. Patterson Smythe of Montreal Stands Second on the List—Bishop-Elect Is Sixty Years of Age and Was Born in Russell County, Ont.

Hamilton, May 3.—Venerable Archdeacon W. R. Clark of this city was last night elected Bishop of Niagara to succeed the late Bishop DuMoulin. This result was attained at 10.30 p.m. on the fifth ballot. He had 49 clergy and 35 votes, 38 clergy and 32 lay being required to elect. Rev. Dr. Patterson Smythe of Montreal was second in the balloting, with 20 clerical and 25 lay votes. None of other candidates whose name had been mentioned for the office received enough support to make them serious factors in the election.

Venerable Archdeacon William Reid Clark, the bishop-elect of Niagara, was born in Russell County in 1851, and is therefore 60 years of age. The early years of his life were spent on his father's farm. His education was received at Bishop's College, Lennoxville, Que., and in Trinity College, Toronto. In the latter institution he took his M.A. and B.A. He was ordained deacon in the cathedral at Ottawa in 1874, and two years later was priested in the cathedral at Hamilton. Afterwards he was principal and mathematical instructor in the Uxbridge High School. For 18 months he was missionary at Palmerston, and for two years curate-in-charge at Burlington, while for the next three years he served as rector of Barton and Glanford. Then for the long term of twenty-one years he lived at Ancaster as incumbent and rector. He then came to Hamilton and has been archdeacon of the diocese for the last eight years. For three years he acted as secretary of the Provincial Synod. He is at present secretary of General Synod of Canada. Archdeacon Clark's natural qualities and long experience eminently fit him for the high office to which he was elected last night. His humble piety combined with zeal for the best interests of the church, have distinguished him among his fellowmen, while his administrative and executive ability have been placed beyond question by the manner in which he has discharged his duties since he has been in charge of the Synod of Niagara. It is the general feeling among all classes that a better man could not have been chosen.

BISHOP-ELECT CLARK.

HYDE STEPS DOWN.

Canadian In New York Resigns From High Office.

New York, May 3.—Chas. H. Hyde, a native of Truro, N.S., will resign as city chamberlain at once. Under indictments and under the fire of practically every newspaper in New York, he announced last night that, although he is the victim of "one of the most wicked conspiracies in the history of the city," he will relinquish his position as custodian of the city's millions in order not to embarrass the Gaynor administration.

Indicted secretly late Monday on two counts, one charging him with bribery, the other with taking an unlawful fee, the city chamberlain pleaded guilty in the criminal branch of the Supreme Court yesterday afternoon, with permission to change or withdraw the plea up to May 16, and was released under $7,500 bail, furnished by Daniel S. McElroy, commissioner of taxes.

Cheaper Power For Galt.

Galt, May 3.—Galt Council has adopted a method of charging for Hydro-Electric power similar to those of other towns in the Power Union. This will give Galt power a great deal cheaper than the present rates from the company. A bylaw to raise $25,000 to extend the lighting system, so that all may benefit, will be voted on on May 26.

Given Long Sentences.

Berlin, Ont., May 3.—Ernie Hamil and William Southwell, who pleaded guilty to the charges of theft and of receiving stolen goods, respectively, in connection with the robbery of the local G.T.R. ticket office, were yesterday sentenced by Magistrate Wier. Hamil gets four years and Southwell three in the penitentiary.

Auto Factory for Palmerston.

Palmerston, May 3.—This town voted Monday on a bylaw to raise $10,000 to buy and remodel the old carriage factory building, for use as an automobile factory. There were six adverse votes in a total of 352, leaving about 90 over the three-fifths required to carry the bylaw.

New Treaty of Commerce.

Berlin, May 3.—A new treaty of commerce between Germany and Sweden, under the new Swedish tariff, has been signed.

OMIT QUESTION?

Presbyterian Says Westminster Confession Keeps Out Ministers.

St. Catharines, May 3.—Yesterday afternoon Hamilton presbytery gave an attentive ear to the motion by Rev. John Young, to recommend to the general assembly the entire removal or radical moderation of the question, "Do you believe in the Westminster Confession of Faith?" now put to applicants for ordination. It was argued that the demand for an affirmative answer is driving men from the ministry. The question was forwarded to the general assembly without local discussion.

The calls of Rev. R. Young of Packenham, and Rev. R. M. Fee of Dunnville, to Pettypiece, Man., were sustained, but that of St. Andrew's Church, Toronto, to Rev. Dr. Gray of Dundas, was deferred until a special meeting in Hamilton on the 16th. The presbytery recommended that in future the minimum stipend be $1,200.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

The situation in Canton, China, is very grave.

Berlin waterworks made $14,000 profit last year.

Mrs. Sullivan of Parry Sound was committed for trial on a charge of arson.

The King has expressed himself as gratified with the resolutions passed at the peace meeting in London.

A bylaw to raise $25,000 for a new and more sanitary public school was carried at Tillsonburg by a majority of eleven.

Further details of the work planned by the Grand Trunk Railway in Montreal show that $2,346,000 will be spent on the new passenger station.

Tenders for the construction of four cruisers and six destroyers for the new Canadian navy have been received by the Department at Ottawa.

In an official statement issued yesterday at the G.T.R. headquarters, the cost of last year's big strike on that road is made public. It totalled a million.

The Portuguese Government Commission has decided in favor of the British tenders for rebuilding the Portuguese navy. All others, including the American, have been rejected.

Miss Ethel B. Barwick of Toronto was painfully injured by being struck by an automobile while crossing the street at Guilford avenue and North avenue, Baltimore, early yesterday.

Just as he was preparing to retire for the night, Albert Victor Jones, 29 years, an Englishman living with his brother at 77 Tate street, Toronto, fell to the floor dead. He was just out from England a few weeks.

Viscountess Harberton, who died in London yesterday, aged 67, was the pioneer of the divided skirt, whose latest development, the harem skirt, appears to have met no better fate than the "rational dress," which Lady Harberton advocated.

Patrick Guiney, Irish Nationalist, M.P. for Cork County, addressing an "All for Ireland" meeting yesterday said that within the preceding twenty-four hours he had been offered $5,000 to resign his seat and permit its capture by the Redmondites.

After a lengthy inquiry into the explosion at the Blasters' Friend Works at Sand Point, the jury advised greater precautions for the safety of employes, recommending that the plant be prohibited until better protection of human life was inaugurated.

Passed Three Bylaws.

Whitby, May 3.—The Town Council made a record session by sitting until an early hour yesterday morning, during which they passed three bylaws of extraordinary interest. Two of them will be voted upon by the electors on Monday, June 5, next. One is for the ratification of the agreement with the Seymour Power & Electric Co., by which cheap power from the Trent River is assured for delivery this summer. The maximum charge for current is $25 per horse power per year.

The other bylaw requiring the approval of the electors is one accepting from Mr. Andrew Carnegie a free public library building.

The third bylaw authorizes an agreement with the Markham and Pickering Independent Telephone Co., under which immediate construction of lines coupling up the system with the county town will be begun.

FIVE LIVES LOST.

Edmundston, N.B., May 3.—The saddest accident in the history of Edmundston happened here on Monday night, by which five lives were lost. The wire used in running the ferry between this place and Madawaska, Maine, broke, when the boat was in the middle of the river, and the boat upset and all but one of the occupants drowned. The river is running high and is icy cold, so that those who were thrown into the river had little chance to help themselves. Those drowned are: Solomon Herbert, aged 22; Calixte Dufour, aged 40, both of St. David, Maine; Allen Phillips, aged 15, son of H. W. Phillips, C.P.R. station agent here; Isidore Moscovic, 14 years old, son of Joseph Moscovic, merchant, and a middle-aged man whose name cannot be learned.

Zepherin Dagle, who was in charge of the boat, was saved, but was unconscious when brought ashore. A boat with several men started out as soon as the accident was noticed, but the current was too swift for them to overtake those struggling in the water.

Mrs. Phillips was watching the boat in which her son was coming across the river, and the boy had waved a signal to her just before the wire rope broke.

Trial of Directors.

Toronto, May 3.—To-day is set for the first shot in the prosecution of the Farmers' Bank cases, before Chief Justice Meredith, in the criminal assizes.

The court will take up the charge of conspiracy to fraudulently secure the certificate of the Treasury Board of Canada, which allowed the Farmers' Bank to commence business. Upon this charge the grand jury yesterday indicted John Watson, John Ferguson, Alex. Fraser and A. S. Lown, the provisional directors of the bank; Clark H. Smith, secretary; Dr. Beattie Nesbitt and J. J. Warren and J. R. Stratton, M.P.

Detained at Quarantine.

Montreal, May 3.—The Dominion Liner Dominion, from Liverpool, which arrived at Quebec last night, was delayed for some time at the quarantine station at Gros Isle, owing to there being two suspected smallpox cases aboard. Two hundred and twenty-eight of the passengers who had been traveling in the same division as the suspects were landed at the quarantine station with two weeks' supplies before the steamer could come on to Quebec.

Suffer More Than Men

Man Returns Home to Rest, While a Woman's Work Is Never Done—the Kidneys Give Out and She is a Martyr to Backache—Booth's Kidney Pills Her Best Friend.

What woman does not know what tired nervous backache days mean? But how many realize that the kidneys are the chief cause? Yet this is so.

Many a wife endures patiently the daily miseries of backache, pains, or blue nervous spells and urinary disorders, expecting no relief, because she doesn't know that Booth's Kidney Pills are guaranteed to give relief.

It is not true that every pain in the region of the hips and lower abdomen is "female trouble." When the kidneys get congested or inflamed there is constant backache, headache, dizzy spells, bearing-down pain, urinary disorders and other pains which are easily mistaken for sex ailments but which are due to the swollen, sick kidneys.

Such sufferers will find Booth's Kidney Pils a great boon. They strengthen sick kidneys, cure backache, drive uric acid out of the system and bring bright, happy days in place of a mere existence.

MISERABLE FEELING OF DEPRESSION DISPELLED.

Mrs. Martin Truax, of Marlborough Street, Leamington, Ont., says:—"For a long time I suffered with a miserable feeling of depression across my chest. Pains would catch me in the sides and extend around the small of my back. I was weak and languid and lost much of each night's sleep. My condition, through the inactive state of kidneys, had left me unable to get around. Several doctors had told me I had Bright's disease, but none of them helped me. Booth's Kidney Pills were recommended and I procured a box. The relief was quick, and continuing Booth's Kidney Pills the depressive feeling had soon gone. My back has strengthened and I can now sleep right through the night and awake refreshed and strong I feel grateful in recommending Booth's Kidney Pills."

Booth's Kidney Pills are guaranteed to relieve or your money refunded Free trial sent on application to the R. T. Booth Co., Ltd., Fort Erie, Ont All druggists, sell at 50c. a box or post-paid from the proprietors. Address as above.

STR. ALETHA WAS ADRIFT ON LAKE

Steampipe Burst and She Was Helpless--An Exciting Night--A. Ryder, of Verona, Seriously Scalded—Boat is Not Greatly Damaged

There was a wildly exciting time among the passengers and crew of the steamer Aletha Tuesday morning at two o'clock. The steamer was making her trip up the bay, and when passing the malt house her steam pipe broke, scalding one of the passengers, A. Ryder, manager of the feldspar mine at Verona.

Losing her controlling power, the steamer drifted before the west wind. The anchor was cast over the side, but failed to grip the bottom. The steamer finally grounded in Navy Bay near the Royal Military College. In order to save the steamer from pounding and doing herself injury a sea cock was opened and some water allowed to run into her.

The Aletha had been delayed by the heavy fog yesterday, and did not get into port till eleven o'clock last night. Between one and two o'clock she cleared on her route to Belleville.

When the steam pipe broke, Mr. Ryder was standing in the passage way looking into the engine room and got the full blast of the steam on his face and right side. He was taken to Dr. Hanley's surgery and had his injuries attended to at the Hotel Dieu. He was seen at the British American Hotel next morning by a Standard reporter, and stated that his injuries were not as bad as the bandages made him appear. He was unstinting in his praise of Captain Palmatier and the crew of the steamer, who did all in their power for the passengers.

The Donnelly Wrecking and Salvage Co. are looking after the steamer. E. Horsey, manager of the Lake Ontario & Bay of Qunite Navigation Co., reported that the steamer was resting comfortably and would be all right.—Kingston Standard.

FRENCHMAN ACQUITTED ON BIGAMY CHARGE

Grounds on Which the Police Magistrate Based His Decision

Antoine LaRose, who, it was alleged, had committed bigamy and who was arrested on that charge, was this morning acquitted by Magistrate Masson. It appears that some years ago the accused married Ida May Sangster, of whom it is not known at present whether she is living or dead. On June 19th, 1899, LaRose married at Trenton a widow named Mrs. Pickard. Shortly after his second marriage LaRose was convicted of bigamy and served a sentence. After serving his term LaRose lived for some time with wife No. 2, when she went to Kingston and was away at intervals of one year and for two years. In June of last year LaRose married Ida Emsley, of this city, and wife No. 2, returning to the city, caused his arrest on the charge of bigamy. It was held that the second marriage ceremony was not legal and that LaRose was punished for his act. This being the case, and as it could not be proven that wife No. 1 was alive, the accused was acquitted. Mr. Anderson for the Crown, and Mr Carnew for the accused.

FIRE AT CANNIFTON LAST NIGHT

Wm. Watts' Dwelling Completely Destroyed--Losses and Insurance

At about 11.30 last night fire broke out in a frame dwelling situated in the village of Cannifton, owned and occupied by Mr. Wm. Watts. The structure was destroyed together with considerable of the contents. How the fire originated is not known, but apparently started in the rear part of the premises. Mr. Watts had $1,000 insurance on the building and contents, which will by no means cover the loss sustained. Owing to the high wind which prevailed at the time, the villagers had considerable difficulty in preventing the further spread of the flames.

THE UNDERFED
How Children of the Ignorant Are Robbed of Oatmeal

A canvass made among the intelligent shows that seven homes in eight serve oatmeal. Among the ignorant another canvass shows that not one home in twelve serves oats. The children grow up incapable because bodies and brains are starved.

Nature stores in oats more energy food, more brain food, more nerve food than in any other grain that grows. That's why children crave oatmeal. There is nothing to take its place.

This is a food on which it doesn't pay to be careless. There is a very wide difference in oat foods—a difference in richness and food value. Don't serve the common kind.

Only the richest, plumpest grains are used in Quaker Oats. They are selected by 62 siftings. Only ten pounds are obtained from a bushel. The result is a food rich in all the oat elements—the utmost in oatmeal. Yet the cost to you is but one-half cent per dish.

FOR CONSTIPATION

A Medicine That Does Not Cost Anything Unless it Cures.

The active medicinal ingredients of Rexall Orderlies, which is colorless, tasteless and odorless, is an entirely new discovery. Combined with other extremely valuable ingredients it forms a perfect bowel regulator, intestinal invigorator and strengthener Rexall orderlies are eaten like candy and are notable for their agreeableness to the palate and gentleness of action. They do not cause griping or any disagreeable effect or inconvenience.

Unlike other preparations for a like purpose, they do not create a habit but instead they overcome the cause of habit acquired through the use of ordinary laxatives, cathartics and harsh physics, and permanently remove the cause of constipation or irregular bowel action.

We will refund your money without argument if they do not do as we say they will. Two sizes, 25c. and 10c.. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store. J. S. McKeown.

RHEUMATISM AND COMMON SENSE

Father Morriscy's No. 7 Eliminates the Uric Acid.

Many treatments will relieve the aches and pains of rheumatism, but there is only one way to cure that dread disease. The common sense method is to remove the cause, and the effects will soon disappear.

Rheumatism is caused, as is well known, by the failure of the kidneys to perform their intended work of filtering the uric acid out of the blood and eliminating it from the body through the bladder. When the kidneys go on strike, the uric acid is carried to the joints and tissues, where it causes stiffening of the muscles, and the excrutiating pains of rheumatism.

Father Morriscy, the learned priest-physician, after much research devised a prescription which would act directly on the kidneys, and by toning them up to vigorous action, cause them to clear the system of the uric acid. This remedy, known as No. 7, has been used successfully in thousands of cases.

Father Morriscy's Liniment will bring relief from the effects of rheumatism, while his No. 7 Tablets will get to work on the cause and in due time cure the disease.

Why suffer from this painful and troublesome affliction, when by using the common sense methods originated by Father Morriscy and successfully followed for years, it is possible to aid Nature to restore you to health?

If you are not yourself rheumatic, you doubtless know of some one who is, and who would be glad to learn of a treatment which has such a consistent record of cures. It is easy to take and sure to benefit and ultimately cure rheumatism. 50c. a box, at your dealer's, or from Father Morriscy Medicine Co., Ltd., Chatham, N.B. 99

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on Varicose Veins. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skillful. I wrote them and got THE NEW METHOD TREATMENT. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $12 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $21 and never loose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

A PUNGENT REPLY TO FIELDING'S CRITICISMS

The Finance Minister's Attack on Sir Charles Tupper Calls Forth a Reply from the Aged Statesman—With all the Vigor of Youth the "War Horse of Cumberland" Retorts Upon His Assailant—He Accuses Fielding of Misstatement and Proves it - A Review of the History of the Reciprocity Movement.-Attitude of the Liberals Toward Protection

An important open letter has been addressed to the Hon. W. S. Fielding by the Rt. Hon. Sir Charles Tupper having reference to the reciprocity controversy. The text is as follows

"The Mount," Bexley Heath,
April 20, 1911

To the Honorable W. S. Fielding:

Sir,—Now nearly ninety years of age, I had hoped that I was done with political controversy; but as you found it easier to misrepresent and disparage a man three thousand miles away than to reply to the unanswerable speech of Mr. Sifton—your former colleague—I am compelled to notice some of your remarks at Montreal on March 27th.

I cannot accuse you of want of courage, I had hoped that I was done with you had "advanced or advocated annexation to the United States, and that that statement was without the shadow or the ghost of a shadow of foundation in truth."

When I was fighting the battle for Confederation, you were in the employ of Mr. William Annand on the Halifax Morning Chronicle, denouncing Canada and holding it up to public execration.

In 1868, when Joseph Howe, after exhausting in vain every means to defeat Confederation, decided to abandon hostility and make the best of it Mr. Annand proposed to apply to the United States. Mr. Howe rejected his proposal with scorn, but you remained with Mr. Annand and supported those who hounded Howe to his death and drove him into an untimely end

You say that you represent Nova Scotia but you forget that in the election of 1872 the opponents of Confederation were unable to elect a single member to oppose the Government, of which Mr. Howe and I were members and that when in 1886 you carried the province in a desperate attempt to break up the Union, I went out to Canada the following year and cured you of your folly by obtaining the support of 16 out of 21 members for the Government of Sir John A. Macdonald. So much for your loyalty.

What 1888 Treaty Secured For Canada

You say: "Sir Charles Tupper in 1888 went to Washington to seek reciprocity. I find at that time so anxious was Sir Charles Tupper for reciprocity that he offered to give the Americans, in addition to their ordinary exchanges of trade, free access to the fishing privileges of Canada We give an arrangement which gives everything that Sir Charles Tupper wanted, but we have not given the fisheries of the Dominion of Canada We have maintained the rights of the people of Canada as owners of the fishing grounds, and the Americans must have a license when they come in, and not have free rights to fish in the waters of Canada."

These are the depreciatory terms in which you refer to the great services rendered to Canada by Mr. Chamberlain and myself as plenipotentiaries of Her Majesty in 1887-8.

At that time it is well known that the press of the United States, both Republican and Democratic, were denouncing Canada for the alleged brutal treatment of American fishermen in Canadian waters, and, as they said in violation of the treaty of 1818.

We obtained a treaty which was sent to the Senate by President Cleveland with the declaration that it was a fair and just settlement, and he urged its adoption.

That treaty provided that when American fishermen were allowed to purchase fishing supplies, and enjoy trans-shipment of catch and shipment of crews in Canadian ports, Canadians should be allowed to sell their cargoes of fish in the United States free of any duty.

It also settled the contention as to bays on the terms contended for by Canada. It was accompanied by a modus vivendi providing for a license to American vessels pending the adoption of the treaty, to enjoy these commercial privileges upon payment of $1.50 per ton, and neither under the treaty or the modus vivendi could a fish be caught in Canadian waters by Americans, as Mr. Chamberlain and I refused the urgent appeal for that privilege by the American plenipotentiaries.

The treaty was carried in the Canadian Parliament by a unanimous vote, and the modus vivendi has been continuously re-enacted down to the present day. President Cleveland was not re-elected, but Mr. Harrison, who defeated him, said in his inaugural address that under the modus vivendi given by Canada all irritation had been removed between the two countries.

If you wish to learn the value of the treaty of 1888, read the handsome reference to it by your colleague, Sir Allen Aylesworth, in the House of Commons, where he stated that our settlement of the bays question had been adopted and made permanent by The Hague arbitration.

Sir John Macdonald's Fight in 1891.

You say that Sir J. A. Macdonald was in favor of reciprocity in 1891; but you do not explain that he was fighting a desperate battle to prevent Laurier and Cartwright, who were co-operating with Wiman and Farrer—avowed annexationists—from carrying unrestricted reciprocity with the United States, which involved Canada taking the tariff made at Washington, with its discrimination against Great Britain.

Have you forgotten that the Hon Edward Blake left his party on the ground that that policy would end in annexation to the United States which, at that important crisis, you supported? The policy for which Laurier and Cartwright and Wiman and Farrar were struggling.

It is true that in that struggle which cost Sir John A. Macdonald his life, in maintaining British institutions for Canada, we succeeded. But before that election Mr. Laurier made the following solemn declaration:

"I have read the history of unrestricted reciprocity in this way—that every reform has cost to the reformer years of labor, and those years of labor, I, for one, am ready to give; and though the Democrats may be defeated in the States, and though Canadians may grow faint-hearted in Canada, the Liberal party, as long as I have anything to do with it, will remain true to the cause until that cause is successful. I will not expect to win in a day, but I am prepared to remain in the cool shade of opposition until the cause has triumphed and you shall never hear a complaint from me. I tell you the Liberal party will never cease from the agitation until they triumph and obtain continental free trade. We are asked sometimes, gentlemen, what is the programme of the Liberal party. This is the programme of the Liberal party to obtain a continental freedom of trade. Success will certainly crown our efforts at no distant day. Fixing our eyes steadily until we reach it—unrestricted continental reciprocity.

Direct Charge of Wilful Untruth.

I regret that I must now charge you with a wilful mis-statement. You said: "If we continued the National Policy, what did the Conservative leader at that time mean by saying 'the result of this tariff (that is, the Laurier Government's tariff), goes into operation, when the hon. gentleman knows that the interests of the country are paralyzed in consequence.'"

Now, sir, you know that statement was untrue. What are the facts? You brought down a tariff I declared unconstitutional and illegal. I told you that the Governor-General would be obliged to reserve his assent and that you had no power to give a preference to England, as she was bound by treaties to prevent its acceptance and that your proposal in that regard was delusive. Your answer was that it was already done. I replied that you were only making yourself ridiculous, and would have to refund the duties paid by any other countries in excess of those paid by England. I quoted the Montreal Gazette to show you the disaster already caused What was the result? That tariff never went into operation.

My remarks were made on the 26th April. On the 25th day of May you moved the House into committee of ways and means, saying:—"Mr Speaker, I desire to place on the table of the House when I conclude, the Amended Tariff Resolutions. I may say, we are proposing a number of changes in these resolutions. . . we have desired to meet the views of manufacturers who complained that they were severely affected by our tariff resolutions." You also made this notable announcement: "We provide by subsection B of section 16 as follows:—'That the Governor-in-Council may extend the benefits of such reciprocal tariff to any country which may be entitled thereto by virtue of any treaty with Her Majesty."

Well, sir, after making changes on more than fifty articles in the tariff after what I said on April 26, do you think you are justified in interpolating in my remarks the words (that is the Laurier Government tariff) which had been so fundamentally changed a month after I had spoken?

You know that the Hon. Minister of Customs had, in consequence of your ignorance or folly, to spend a great deal of time in refunding the duties paid in excess of those on British goods, and that Mr. Chamberlain told you I was right and you were wrong and that at the Sheffield banquet you were obliged to confess that Great Britain had no preference in Canada

Compelled to Grant Preference.

You were, therefore, obliged to grant a preference to Great Britain but have seized every opportunity since to destroy it, as will be seen by the following extracts from the speech of Lord Selborne, as reported in the Times of April 8th, 1911. "

. . . He then went on to remind the audience of the reciprocity movements with Canada, recalling the fact that the members of the 1907 conference (with the exception of His Majesty's Government) re-affirmed the resolutions in favor of mutual preferential trade in the Empire. Then followed separate treaties with France Holland, Belgium and Italy, and a provisional arrangement with Germany the result of which had seriously whittled away the preference we enjoyed. The effect of the agreement with the United States upon the trade of the United Kingdom was the entire removal of the preference on British goods of which Canada imported nearly £700,000 worth in 1909-10.

Thirdly, there was the extension to the "most favored nations" of the reduced Canadian rates on United States products, thereby whittling still further the advantage of our preference. Finally, there was the preference which Canadian products would enjoy over United Kingdom products in the United States markets. Imports of this class from the United Kingdom amounted in 1908-9 to nearly £3,000,000. This was the first time that any part of the British Empire would enjoy preferential treatment in a foreign country to the rest of the Empire,—and it was impossible to regard this precedent with satisfaction."

After deriding mutual preferential trade between Great Britain and her colonies in the most contemptuous terms, you were begging for it at the conference, and threatening that Canada might withdraw her preference if not granted; and now you make an arrangement with the United States which practically destroys it.

What Confederation Did For the Dominion.

I am opposed to your agreement with the United States, because Mr Bayard in 1888 assured Mr. Chamberlain and me that the policy of the Democratic party was to remove, as soon as they were able, the duties on all the articles in your agreement and President Taft now sees that he can only secure his re-election by the same policy.

We party, and would gain everything without any entangling alliance which will, I fear, end in the destruction of British institutions in Canada.

You ventured to claim the prosperity of Canada as due to the Laurier Government. You cannot deny that without Confederation and the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Canada could not have attained the great position that she has

Sir Wilfrid Laurier had no lot or part in the Confederation of 1867 The Rouge party, to which he belonged in Quebec, opposed it bitterly, and you did all in your power to prevent the union of the provinces. When Sir J. A. Macdonald completed the task of uniting all the provinces of British North America from the Pacific to the Atlantic Ocean, on the only terms by which British Columbia could be induced to join—giving them railway communication—a hue and cry was raised that he had ruined the country, which reduced his majority and enabled the Liberal party to obtain power by purchasing six seats of his supporters by giving them seats in the Cabinet and others governorships and contracts.

You gave all your support to that Government, which appealed to the country before the facts could be placed before it, and obtained a large majority, only to be hurled from office at the first opportunity by an immense majority, which demanded the recall of Sir John A. Macdonald

When we proceeded with the vigorous prosecution of the Canadian Pacific Railway, you supported Mr Blake's motion in 1880 to compel us to suspend operations on the eastern side of the Rocky Mountains and Mr Laurier and all your party joined in his appeal "not to ruin all Canada for the sake of 12,000 white people in British Columbia."

Liberals' Attitude Toward Protection

When the contract was made with the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. you all declared that it could not be carried out, and did your best to accomplish that object. Laurier and you for eighteen years fiercely denounced the protective policy, which gave new life to Canada and enabled us to secure the construction of the C. P. R. in 1886, five years before the contract required which has been the means of opening up the great granary of the British Empire and bringing a vast population and much capital into Canada.

Mr. Laurier (now Sir Wilfrid) pledged to tear up protection and triumph on its head and body, succeeded in obtaining power by a Janus-faced policy on the question of race and religion, but not until he had secretly assured the manufacturers that they would be safe in his hands, and then called you to his aid as Finance Minister, and you, having failed in your first effort, which I denounced succeeded, I am happy to say, in producing a tariff which Mr. Foster, the ex-Minister of Finance, after a careful investigation, showed that the duties levied by your tariff differed by less than one cent from his own. I fail to find much cause for jubilation the career of your leader or yourself marked as they have been by the violation of every principle previously propounded.

CURRENT COMMENT

Don't brood too much over the things that you may imagine to be wrong in social or political conditions, or you may have a fate similar to that of John Shellenburg, of Kane, Pennsylvania, who was taken the other day to a lunatic asylum. Shellenburg, it appears, is an ardent Socialist, and, it is said, has lost his mind by brooding over the alleged wrongs of the country.

It is remarked by a western paper that the mistake of six Conservatives who technically voted for the reciprocity agreement minus fruit and vegetable schedules when they thought they were only voting disapproval of the schedules in question is hardly worth the attention which the House of Commons has devoted to it. The matter has been over-much dwelt upon. Talking about it, people have neglected to note that in the division some twenty Liberals technically voted that the reciprocity measure should not pass.—Montreal Gazette.

That Old Winter Cough

The Cough Syrup You've Taken Has Sickened But Not Cured You.

You'll Never Be Well Till You Heal the Lungs With "Catarrhozone."

Nothing pulls down strength, makes you wretched, miserable and despondent like a chronic cough. The old-fashioned liquid mixtures slip down the throat, enter the stomach and do little else but ruin digestion.

Catarrhozone is the only breathable cold, catarrh and cough medicine. Instead of taking drowsy drugs, chloral, morphine and opium mixtures, you simply inhale the richest pine balsams, soothing vapor of a scientific remedy that commands the admiration of all good physicians.

The extraordinary efficacy of Catarrhozone is without a parallel. A sneezing cold is cured in ten minutes a harsh cough is eased in an hour the most offensive catarrh is thoughly drawn from the system. In case of asthma and bronchitis the relief and certain cure that comes from the healing balsamic extracts in Catarrhozone is simply wonderful.

"For more than twenty years, I suffered with a cough, bronchitis, asthma and nasal catarrh," writes J. E. Fenwick, of Staunton, P.O. "Every attack I had seemed to grow worse and I could hardly breathe on account of an accumulation of phlegm in the nose and throat. One day I tried Catarrhozone and in ten minutes was wonderfully relieved. I could breathe freely and naturally through the nose, and blood spitting was stopped—the phlegm was cleared away and my regular breathing restored. No remedy can do more than 'Catarrhozone."

There is no remedy so certain and safe as Catarrhozone, but being a good remedy it is imitated. Beware of the substitutor. Large Catarrhozone lasts two months, price $1.00 Smaller sizes 25c. and 50c. All reliable dealers or the Catarrhozone Co Kingston, Ont.

SINS OF THE CITY...

For a few moments the two financiers he had left stood perfectly silent listening to his departing footteps. Then Olcott said, rubbing his hands,

"Well, my boy, what do you think of it."

"I think we've got hold of as nice a little bit of 'all right' as they make, suposing this Italian Johnny is square But, between you and me, I should have liked it better if Vipan had been out of it."

"Just my sentiments. He's troubled with a conscience, an infernally sensitive one. He'd never do in the City. But we can jockey him somehow, or get him so deeply in with us that he must go on."

"Humph! I suppose he'll want to go to Peru to see this Balbi?"

"I should think so, though Balbi has very fortunately prepared for his sending a substitute."

"Yes, and I think a substitute will have to go. But, I'll talk it over with Guelfo and see what he thinks. Why didn't you accept for this evening?"

"Though it better that we should not all appear too hot on it, or he might think he'd got hold of too big a plum."

"Right you are, Olcott! You're a careful man."

While the two financiers were chatting, Vipan had arrived at Lord Oxendale's home in Mount Street, just in time to join her ladyship and the Hon, Pauline Spencer, her daughter, at luncheon. To these ladies Vipan's visits were always a pleasure. For years he had been kown to them. After leaving Eaton he had spent some time with the clergyman of the next village to Oxendale, who coached him for Cambridge, and Lady Oxendale, a frail, delicate, kindly-hearted little woman had taken pity upon the solitary young man and had asked him to the Hall for any amusements which were going on. And, what he appreciated more perhaps than anything else, she had given him the run of the library, well stocked with books of travel and discovery, in which, even at that time, he revelled far more in those which would have appealed to most young fellows.

Pauline was then only a child, but a great chum of Vipan's, and together they would sit in one of the great window-seats of the old library while he read to her accounts of adventures and discoveries in "new" quarters of the globe. But now the old feeling of camaraderie had given place to something far deeper and stronger. Vipan and the fair-haired, blue-eyed, beautiful daughter of Count Oxendale were lovers in the true sense of the word. Unacknowledged, it might be, save by Pauline's mother, who had long since recognized the sterling worth and character of the man who was content, nay, even happy, that her darling had so firm a stay and support to which to turn in case of need, for, loving woman as she was, she recognized the untrustworthy, selfish and by no means immaculate character of the father of her child.

Luncheon was over, and as Lady Oxendale rose, she said, with a smile:

"Now, Wallace, I am going to have a rest for an hour or two. I don't feel very well to-day. So I shall leave Pauline in your charge. You can either have the carriage and go for a drive, or sit in the drawing-room, whichever you like, but I shall expect to find you here at tea-time."

"Thank you very much, Lady Oxendale, but if Pauline has nothing particularly she wishes to do, I should prefer staying quietly here."

"So should I," said the girl. "I haven't heard half I want to about Wallace's last trip."

"Then, off you go. I shall tell Briggs to say I am not at home, so you need fear no interruption," and with a kindly smile the delicate woman left the young couple alone.

Seated beside his darling on the roomy, comfortable Chesterfield in the drawing-room, Vipan drew glowing pictures of the glory of the Cordilleras, the desolation of lonely, uninhabited "punas," and the luxuriance of the tropical forests, through which he forced his way by sheer pluck and endurance, and then went on to mention the letter he had received from Balbi and the steps he had taken in connection with it.

"I'm sorry, Wallace," said the girl when he had finished.

"Sorry! Why, dear?"

"I'm sorry you mentioned the matter to Sir Charles Olcott and his friends. I don't like him. I don't trust him."

"Do you know anything against him, dear?"

"No, I can't say I do. He comes here very often with father, but I have never liked him."

"Well, you see, I don't know very many of these City men, and I am a perfect fool in company matters. I thought he would be able to help me. Certainly. I might have spoken to your father; he's chairman of—"

OBITUARY

MRS. LUCY MARSHALL.

The following extracts from a lengthy obituary of the late Mrs. Lucy Marshall by Rev. Dr. W. D. Marsh, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Little Falls, N.Y., and published in the Evening Times of that city on May 1st, will be read with interest:—

Sunday evening at 8 o'clock, from the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Gillette, No. 42 Lansing Street, in this city, Mrs. Lucy Marshall entered into her heavenly reward. She was one of the strongest and most beautiful characters ever developed by the discipline of this earthly life. For 86 years and one month she had been learning in God's school and she was ready for graduation into the university above. In many ways she was a remarkable woman. Endowed with a strong intellect, original in her thinking and in her manner of expression, intense in her emotional nature, deeply religious and at the same time appreciating all the joy and humor of living, unselfish and kind-hearted, she was ever seeking to become more like her master, Jesus Christ. There was a contagious cheerfulness and faith in her that inspired all who met her. She was so dignified and beautiful in her manner that often she was likened to Queen Victoria, whom she strikingly resembled. It is no extravagance to characterize her as a queenly woman.

Thirteen years ago her husband, Richard Marshall, died at Fargo, North Dakota. She was married to him in 1847, at Belleville, Canada. Two children have died and two survive: Mrs. H. M. Snyder, of Belleville, and Mrs. John Gillette, of Little Falls. One brother survives, George Dame, of Rochester.

Mrs. Marshall, who was a daughter of the late Aaron Dame, a pioneer settler of Belleville, was born here and lived in this city util her marriage, afterwards living in Tweed for thirty years. She moved back to Belleville, and after residing here for about eight years, moved to Fargo N. D. For the past thirteen years she has lived mostly in Little Falls While resident here she was a member of Holloway street church.

The Fruit Industry

That the fruit industry will be menaced and almost destroyed if reciprocity is adopted has been announced to the House by no less a person than Mr. Sealey, the Liberal member for Wentworth, Ont. He was speaking, of course, of the Niagara Peninsula, which is much better situated than the newer fruit-growing districts of British Columbia to withstand the fierce American competition. Nevertheless his remarks will be of interest all over the country. He is a strong Grit, and will likely support the Government and although he tried to square himself with his constituents by eliminating from the proposed agreement the clause respecting fruits, his speech will make strong campaign material for the Opposition. The following extract will be of interest to Canadian fruit-growers everywhere: The latest Trade & Commerce report for the year ending March 31, 1910, shows that we imported during that year to Canada from the United States, fruit to the value in round figures, of $6,500,000, while during the same period we only exported from Canada to the United States, fruit to the value of $500,000, or one-thirteenth of the imports. True, it may be said, $3,500,000 worth of our fruit imports were bananas, oranges, pine apples, and other varieties of fruit which we do not produce in Canada, and which therefore come in duty free; but $3,000,000 of it, or six times more than we exported to the United States, was dutiable, and of exactly the same class of fruit as we produce in Canada.

Now, the Canadian tariff on peaches is one cent per pound, while the United States tariff on the same is only one half cent per pound. The Canadian tariff on strawberries is two cents per quart, while the U. S. tariff on them is only one cent per quart. Our tariff on much of the fruit is twice as high as theirs; and if, under these conditions, they have been able to invade our markets to the extent of $3,500,000, a year, and we have been able to invade their market to the extent of only half a million, or one-sixth that amount, during the same time, with only half as much duty against us as we have against them, the result under free trade in these articles would seem to be apparent to all—they would swamp us in our own market, while we would be unable to meet them in their own market.

Climatic and labor conditions in the United States are so varied that they were able to begin the production of fruits and vegetables in Florida, California, &c., with colored labor in February, Georgia in March, Maryland in April, Delaware and New Jersey in May, &c., so when our fruit comes in during the summer, their Michigan, Wisconsin, New York and Washington Territory fields afford as northerly a climate and production as ours, while the great Michigan and Wisconsin fields are 100 miles further north, so that they can not only lead our season in the spring, equal it in the summer, but follow it in the fall, and in that way meet us on more favorableg ground all the way through the year.

Then this United States' 92,000,000 market is usually spoken of as though they were all consumers of agricultural and horticultural products, while, as a matter of fact, 25,000,000 of them are producing the same kind of products as we are. The argument that the proposed agreement provides two markets, where we have now only one, must be supplemented by the explanation that it also provides two sources of supply, instead of one as now.

Editorial Notes

Idle Threats

Mr. Turriff, a Western M. P., has been threatening all who are opposed to reciprocity, and particularly the dissident Liberals, with the vengeance of the Western farmers By whom was that bumptious partizan given authority to speak for the farmers of the West? His threats are as idle as the proclamation of the three tailors of Tooley street. The people of the Western provinces, as is testified by Mr. Shepard, and other residents of that portion of the Dominion, are rapidly turning against the proposals of the Government, which fact is testified to by Mr. Sharpe, the member for one of the southern constituencies in Manitoba, who stated in Parliament that he had at first been inclined to support the pact, but that, having changed his mind, he had held a meeting of his constituents, and after discussing the subject before them, had asked a division on the subject, when only one man opposed him. And that is the direction in which public opinion is turning in the West. Mr. Turriff to the contrary, notwithstanding.

Twaddle

"Let well enough alone," shouts the federal opposition. It means with those people stagnation, dry rot, the sleeping sickness. It is very becoming to some men.—Whig.

Is there any dry rot or sleeping sickness in the trade, commerce, or finances of Canada? Have not the Whig and other Grit newspapers been "shouting" that Canada has of late years been making more substantial progress than any other country in the world? How then, do the remarks of our contemporary apply? Try again, Whig!

Taft's Object.

Mr. Taft has certainly let the cat out of the bag now, remarks the Mail and Empire. He admits that the reciprocity scheme is designed to prevent the strengthening of the British Empire. The man who stands for British connection, the citizen who wishes the flag to continue to wave over Canada, will not permit this attempt to chock the Empire, and to squeeze Canada into the Union to pass without protest. Mr. Taft, Champ Clarke and Jim Hill are all working for the same object.

DOCTOR ADVISED HOSPITAL

But Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Her.

Upper Sandusky, Ohio.—"Three years ago I was married and went to housekeeping. I was not feeling well and could hardly drag myself along. I had such tired feelings, my back hurt, my sides ached, I had bladder trouble awfully bad, and I could not eat or sleep. I had headaches too, and became almost a nervous wreck. My doctor told me to go to a hospital. I did not like that idea very well, so, when I saw your advertisement in a paper, I wrote to you for advice. I have done as you told me.

"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, and now I have my health.

"If sick and ailing women would only know enough to take your medicine, they would get relief."—MRS. BENJ. H. STANSBERY, Route 6, Box 18, Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

If you have mysterious pains, irregularity, backache, extreme nervousness, inflammation, ulceration or displacement, don't wait too late, but try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and such unquestionable testimony as the above proves the value of this famous remedy, and should give everyone confidence.

LAURIER YIELDS.

He Decides to Go to Imperial Conference After All.

Ottawa, May 4.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier has changed his mind! Yesterday morning, when he called to see Mr. Borden in the latter's office, he made the definite suggestion that he would go to the Imperial Conference and that the House would adjourn until July 15.

After that the reciprocity proposals were to be pressed and the Premier even wanted to exact a promies that the matter would be disposed of befor the Duke of Connaught came in September. After receiving this proposal, Mr. Borden called a caucus of the Opposition members for 10 o'clock this morning.

Last night, however, Sir Wilfrid asked Mr. Borden to come to his room and there the whole matter was gone over again. The Premier was not so certain that it would be wise to adjourn, and it is now a toss-up whether this will be done or Parliament be left in the leadership of Mr. Fielding, to go on with the debate on the general question of reciprocity, in the meantime dealing with the other Government measures with which the order paper is blocked.

The situation to-day, therefore, is somewhat different from that at noon yesterday. Then Sir Wilfrid was fully of the opinion that adjournment would be necessary. As a result of his interview with the Opposition leader last night, it is now almost certain that the answer he will give to Mr. Borden this afternoon is that Parliament will continue to sit and transact other business such as the revision of the Bank Act, the railway policy of Mr. Graham, Mr. Fisher's copyright bill and the voting of supply.

Last of the Pioneers.

Cornwall, May 4.—The last of the original pioneers of the northern portion of Mountain Township, Mrs. Eleanor Knox Kerr, has passed away, aged 93 years. She was born in County Antrim, Ireland, in 1818, and with her parents came to Canada in 1822. After a short residence in Montreal, they moved to Kingston, and afterwards to Cornwall. She was a passenger on the first boat from Kingston through the Rideau Canal.

One of the pioneers of the rear of Kenyon Township, Farquhar Dewar, is dead, aged 82 years. Mr. Dewar was born at Glen Elg, Inverness, Scotland, and came to Canada in 1833 with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ewen Dewar. They located on lot 19, concession 8, Kenyon, where the deceased spent all his days.

Recorder's Denial.

Montreal, May 4.—Judge Greenshield, in allowing an appeal against the quashing of a liquor license, scored Recorder Weir for having, he said, acted upon representations made to him in street conversations and not having been present when witnesses were examined.

The recorder declares he heard the greater part of the evidence and satisfied himself as to the authority of the allegations against the license holders.

Claims Shooting Was Accidental.

Fowler, Ind., May 4.—John Poole, the wealthy farmer in jail here, admits the shooting of his farm hand, Joseph Kemper, whose body was found on the Poole farm Tuesday. He said he killed Kemper on Dec. 12, 1910, while rabbit hunting. They were climbing over a fence when the shot gun was accidentally discharged. Then he cut the body into pieces and buried it with the refuse from the killing of hogs.

LATE TELEGRAPHIC NEWS

WILL NOT TELL SOURCE

Oliver Says Inquiry Into Bank Account Is Not Needed.

He Declares That It Is Enough For Committee to Find Whether or Not There Is a Connection Between Sums and the Deals Mentioned—Laurier's Motion For a Partial Enquiry Prevails—Two Amendments.

Ottawa, May 4.—Just as anticipated, there will be no inquiry into the charges laid by Dan McGillicuddy, former editor of The Calgary News, against Hon. Frank Oliver. Instead of dealing with the main issue the Government has decided that an alleged insinuation contained in an Ottawa despatch to The Toronto World will be on the ground work of the inquiry by a committee to be appointed, and that Mr. Oliver will show there is no connection between deposits to his account in an Edmonton bank and the granting to the Canadian Northern the right to choose six hundred acres of the rich lands of Saskatchewan instead of the swamp lands of Manitoba.

The Government voted down yesterday the proposal of Mr. Borden that the inquiry should be into the charge named by the Premier himself last week in the House, and the proposal of Mr. Lennox that there should be a royal commission.

R. L. Borden said that the motion, while different in form was to the same effect as the one to which he took exception on Tuesday. He remarked that this was very much of a family quarrel between the supporters of the Prime Minister.

In the opinion of Mr. Borden the matter to be inquired into was whether the money came from a tainted or untainted source. "Let us," he said, "be satisfied that Mr. Oliver is free from any suspicion of unworthy motives, but let it be an investigation that will satisfy Parliament and the country."

The matter could be settled by a committee in five minutes, if the Minister would state that the money was from private sources.

Mr. Borden then moved the following amendment, and in doing so said that his object was to make the scope of the enquiry just as wide as the Premier had made it when he spoke, "That a special committee of five members be appointed to enquire into and investigate the charges and allegations set forth and referred to in the statement of the Prime Minister, made in this House on Friday, April 21 last, and the charges and allegations set forth and referred to in the statements of Hon. Mr. Oliver, Minister of the Interior, and of the Prime Minister, made in this House on Tuesday, May 2, inst."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in refusing to accept the amendment, said that Mr. Borden's proposal would not be fain to Mr. Oliver.

Mr. Borden had said there was a suspicion as to the source of the funds placed in the bank, but he would ask the House to judge whether it would be just to investigate the matter in the way he proposed. He admitted that it might possibly come from one hundred legitimate sources, and yet would enquire into the matter in the manner proposed. What Mr. Borden desired was authority to fix evidence. He would ask Mr. Oliver to prove a negative. He would ask the Minister of Justice to go into the box and prove his own innocence in the face of the well-known rule that a man was innocent until it was proved that he was guilty.

Hon. Mr. Foster said there was no authority for the statement that The Toronto World had made an insinuation. Two statements had been placed side by side, but that did not constitute a direct allegation. The charge which the Premier asked the House to investigate was therefore one which Mr. Oliver had framed himself. The only charge in which the country was really interested was that made by Mr. McGillicuddy to the Premier, in which he stated that Mr. Oliver was a boodler and a grafter. The charge had been made by a friend and a former beneficiary of the Government.

Mr. Foster asked the Premier to say if the committee of enquiry would be allowed to examine the evidence of McGillicuddy. The Premier made no comment, and Mr. Foster said he would take it that he refused.

Hon. Frank Oliver began his statement with the remark that the question of interest to the House and the country was the question as to how those who were charged with public responsibilities discharged those responsibilities.

He declared he was not trying to shirk investigation. The article in The Toronto Telegram did not allude to him specifically, therefore it was not for him to act. There had been an allusion to the Prime Minister, therefore it was the duty of the Prime Minister to take cognizance of it. But The Toronto World had specifically connected his name with an insinuation, a serious insinuation, which related to an important administrative act, for which he was primarily responsible, and he thought it was only right that the country should know, and have the earliest opportunity of knowing what foundation there was for that insinuation.

"Now, my honorable friend said that I might clear the whole matter up as to my bank account by a simple statement as to the source as to which this money came, and the direction in which it was diverted, I have no doubt that is a fact, that I could take action and clear this whole matter up. But I conceive my duty to be this: I do not think that it is in the interest of Canada, I do not think it is in the interest of public life of Canada that upon an insinuation, based upon theft and put forward as blackmail, a man in public or private life in Canada should be compelled to expose his private business. I do not think that it would add to the dignity of Parliament or the standard of public life in Canada to say that Parliament should be the assistant of thugs and blackmailers by the requiring of the exposure of a bank account on such a statement as has been placed before the public."

On the vote being taken there voted for the Premier's motion 102 and for Mr. Borden's amendment 69, a Government majority of 33.

After recess Haughton Lennox moved for the appointment of a royal commission.

Mr. Lennox said they were not without experience of farcial investigations, and he mentioned the Hodgins and Lumsden investigations as instances.

The vote on Mr. Lennox's amendment was: Against 99 for 65. It was thus defeated by a Government majority of 34.

Will Work Interchangeably.

London, May 4.—In a statement issued last night, Theo. N. Vail, president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., and the Western Union Telegraph Co., says that as understanding has been reached between the Western Union and the Anglo-American Companies by which the cables of the two companies will be worked interchangeably, but that the details of the arrangement will not be made public until they have been submitted to the shareholders for ratification. He declares that the ownership of the Anglo-American Co. will not be affected.

The conditions of the agreement, adds Mr. Vail, provide that the British Postmaster-General will practically control the rates charged by the company, thereby assuring that they will be reasonable, and that the post-office has under consideration a scheme for deferred service at modified rates.

To Control Cable Rates.

London, May 4.—The Government is taking steps to obtain certain powers of control over rates for transatlantic cable messages and by other means to secure British interests from any possible disadvantage resulting from the working arrangements between the Anglo-American cable companies and the Western Union Telegraph Co., which was concluded yesterday. Postmaster-General Samuel, replying to a series of questions in the House of Commons yesterday, said that the agreement would not result in cable communication between America and England depending entirely upon the operations of an American combine.

STEAMER ALETHA IS STILL ON THE ROCKS

Wreckers Working on Her, but High Sea Interferes

KINGSTON, May 3.—The steamer Aletha at noon to-day was still on the rocks in Navy Bay, just off the pump house at the Royal Military College, where she struck early Tuesday morning, after drifting down the harbor, helpless, after her main steam pipe had burst. The Donnelly wrecking company is still working there, and hopes are entertained that she will be released soon. The rough sea this morning hindered the work somewhat although every possible means are being used to assist in the work.

APPRECIATES PASTOR RUSSELL'S SERMONS

To the Editor of The Intelligencer.

Dear Sir,—Some time ago our attention was called to a sermon, printed in your paper, by a Brooklyn preacher. At first we were disposed to criticize, as some of the ideas presented seemed somewhat novel, but our interest was at last thoroughly awakened.

We investigated enough to find the unusual thoughts well supported by the Scriptures, and we also began to notice that they were the most reasonable that we had ever heard.

There has also been considerable interest aroused in this vicinity by the sermons, and we predict a popularity for them that has not often, if ever, been reached before.

We are writing you because we believe a good work such as this deserves encouragement, and we shall certainly recommend your paper as you continue to publish them.

Respectfully yours,
JEREMIAH MARSHALL.

CHEESE BOARD

At the Cheese Board this afternoon the number of cheese boarded was by far the largest this season, namely 1,157 boxes of white and 50 boxes of colored. Thirty-two factories were represented. Nearly all the cheese boarded was sold at 11 5-8c. and 11 11-16c. Other bids were 11 1-2c. and 11 9-16c.

During the meeting the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Mr. Holgate moved, seconded by Mr. Sprague, that a committee be appointed to interview the Warden of the county with a view of securing a suitable place to hold the Cheese Board, as it is quite evident some members of the City Council are not in sympathy with the meetings being held in the city building.

The committee appointed was composed of Messrs. T. Thompson, J. A Holgate, Chas. Meyers and D. J Fairfield.

HAD A CONFERENCE WITH MR. MARSH

The Industrial Committee of the City Council yesterday had a conference with Mr. Marsh at his place of business. Nothing definite was settled upon, but another meeting will be held to-morrow afternoon at three o'clock, when, it is anticipated, that something definite will be accomplished.

WHAT SEYMOUR POWER COMPANY

Have Done and Are Doing—Generous Gifts to their Municipal Customers

The Seymour Power Company have inaugurated a policy which will be of vast benefit to the towns along the water front, in the district served by their power lines. This Company, to show its belief in the future of Canada, and to show its interest in the cities operating on their power lines, have agree to the following:

They will give free of charge, current sufficient to light one electric lamp for every fifty inhabitants, for three years, up to 5000 people; for over 5,000, they will give one lamp for every hundred inhabitants. This will mean for the City of Belleville, at least 150 lamps, in addition to what they already have, and will be the means of advertising Belleville extensively.

The company is glad to say that, through the efforts of its industrial department, they have secured for Belleville a new industry, which will be in operation on May 15th, 1911 The product manufactured by this company is now on exhibition in the window of the Trenton Electric & Water Co. While this industry is not of vast proportion in Canada yet, on the other side of the line it is one of the oldest manufacturing companies of its kind, having been in existence for the last eighteen years; a pioneer company in its line of work, and in its works in Cambridge, Mass. there are some hundreds of employees engaged in manufacturing the numerous articles which are put on the market by it.

Taking this as a start, there ought to be a most hearty co-operation between the Board of Trade, City Council and the Industrial Department of the Seymour Power Co., in the line of booming Belleville and showing to the manufacturers of the United States and Great Britain that, without doubt, from the standpoint of Railway facilities, cheap power and natural resources, Belleville's natural position is unsurpassed. With the valuable information, which is being collected and systematized by the Industrial Department of the Seymour Power Co., it will be a great help in the securing of new industries for Belleville, and this department, we are assured, will always be at the command of the above mentioned bodies.

MASONIC FUNERAL IN THURLOW

The Late Jay R. Denyes Was Buried By His Brethren

Under the auspices of the Masonic Lodge of Stirling the remains of the late Mr. Jay R. Denyes were yesterday afternoon buried. The cortege left the family residence, 8th concession, of Thurlow, and proceeded to Bethel church, which building was filled to the doors with relatives and friends. An impressive service was held, in which Rev. Messrs. Ward, Craig and Kemp took part. At the grave Bro. Shaw, of Stirling, conducted the Masonic burial services. The bearers were members of the fraternity, namely, Bros. Cook, Laycock, Matthews, Algers, Solmes, and Shaw. The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

FALLING HAIR

Stop It in Two Weeks, Ask J. V. Doyle About Parisian Sage.

Hair falls out because the dandruff germs dig into the hair roots and sap them to their vitality. They appropriate the natural nourishment that supplies life and lustre to the hair.

To stop falling hair you must kill the germs. Parisian Sage is guaranteed by J. V. Doyle to kill dandruff germs, banish dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp or money back. If your hair is thinning out Parisian Sage will promote a new growth. Clever women use it because it makes the hair brilliant and beautiful and is not sticky or greasy. Large bottle 50 cents.

TAX LOT INVESTIGATION WAS RESUMED TODAY

More Counsel in the Case—Several Witnesses Gave Their Testimony—Another Adjournment—Investigation to be Resumed on Saturday, 13th inst

The tax lot sale investigation was resumed this morning before Judge Deroche. Mr. Shorey appeared on behalf of Mr. Marsh in the absence of Mr. W. S. Morden, K. C. Mr. W. Carnew appeared on behalf of Sir M. Bowell and The Intelligencer Publishing Co. Mr. F. E. O'Flynn for Mr. Price and Mr. E. J. Butler looked after Mr. Burrell's interests.

Mr. Carnew said he appeared on behalf of Sir M. Bowell and The Intelligencer Publishing Company. His presence was for that purpose only.

Judge Deroche said that it was proper that Mr. Carnew should be present, and he might also ask questions if he so desired.

MR. S. R. RUSSELL.

Mr. S. Russell, County Registrar, being sworn produced documents from the registry office. The first was a power of attorney from H. A. Davidson to David Price. The date it was drawn was Sept. 27th, 1910. The date of registration was Oct. 12, 1910. The date sworn to was Sept 27th. Power of attorney from Elizabeth Smith to Euretta Marsh. It was drawn on October 14th and registered on Oct. 22. A quit claim deed from the corporation to Mrs. Price dated 9th of Sept. and registered the same day. A quit claim deed from the corporation to H. A. Davidson, dated 16th Sept, 1910, registered 17th of Sept., 1910. The documents also showed the following transfer of properties:

City to H. A. Price—Lots 6,7,8,9,10—west side of Alice St., Bleecker ward, 11-10 acres, consideration, $80.

City to H. A. Davidson—Lots 4,5, 6, east side of Alice St., 3-5 acre, consideration, $15.

City to H. A. Davidson—Lots 1 and 2, north Meyers St., consideration, $40.

City to H. A. Davidson—Lots 1,2, 3,4,5,6, west side McDonald Avenue, 11-5 acres, consideration, $85.

To H. A. Davidson—Lots 7 and 8, south Russell and lots 5 and 6, north side of Russell St., consideration $100.

To Mrs. B. E. Smith—Lot 16, east side Bleecker Avenue, 16-100 acre, lot 117, east side Bleecker Ave., also part of lot 18, east side of Bleecker Avenue, consideration, $400.

To Mrs. B. E. Smith—lots 6 and 7 north Russell St., and 5 and 6 south Russell St., consideration, $100.

Mrs. H. A. Price to Rainbird—Lot 1, north Pine St., 1-5 acre, consideration, $75.

Helen A. Price to Alfred Skinner—Lot No. 6, north side Alice St., consideration, $75.

Helen A. Price to Alfred Calcutt—lots 7 and 8, east side of Alice St., 1-5 acre each, consideration $150.

H. A. Davidson to R. H. Ford,—lots 4,5, and 6, east side Alice St., lots 1,2,3,4,5,6, on west side of McDonald, lots 7 and 8, south Russell, lots 4 and 5, north Russell St.; lot 2, north Meyers street— consideration, $950.

In answer to an enquiry from Mr. Carnew, Mr. Russell said the latter document was executed at Moose Jaw Sask.

Mrs. B. E. Smith to Matthew A. Willbee, lot 6, east side Bleecker Ave consideration, $300.

Mrs. B. E. Smith, represented by Euretta Marsh, to R. H. Ford, lots 6 and 7 north side Russell St., and lots 5 and 6 south Russell St., consideration, $300.

Mrs. B. E. Smith to Alexander Patterson, lot 7, east side Bleecker Ave. consideration, $300, signed by Euretta Marsh.

Mrs. B. E. Smith to Robert Acton, lot 8, east side Bleecker Ave., consideration $275, signed by Euretta Marsh.

ALD. CALDWELL.

Ald. Caldwell, sworn, said he was a member of the City Council. He knew nothing of the sale of lots under investigation, only what he had seen in the newspapers.

To Mr. O'Flynn—He knew Mr. J. P. C. Phillips. He had found Mr. Phillips had a short memory.

ALD. THOMPSON.

Ald. Thompson, sworn, said he was a member of the City Council last year and is this year. He had no personal knowledge about the sale of the lots in this investigation.

To Mr. O'Flynn—He went into the Treasurer's office quite often. Mr. Price often spoke to witness to induce him to buy city lots, had also asked witness to purchase lots.

SIR M. BOWELL.

Mr. Mikel read a telegram from Sir M. Bowell, who stated that he knew nothing personally of the matter, that he would be in Belleville on Saturday, and would leave on Monday for Ottawa. Mr. Mikel stated that Mr. Corby would be in Belleville on Sunday next and that he would then consult him in reference to his testimony.

R. S. BELL.

Richard S. Bell, sworn, testified that he is editor of The Intelligencer. He had no personal knowledge of the transaction of the sale of lots, but that he had conversed with Mr Price about the sale of lots. It was in the Ontario office, and it was the day after a meeting had benn held of the Property Owners' Association. He asked Mr. Price if he would give him (witness) a statement over his own signature, as to how it came that his son-in-law in Saskatchewan and Mayor Marsh's mother-in-law, in the eastern part of the province, had made speculative investments in Belleville tax lots, which statement he would at once telegraph to The Globe. Mr. Price replied after considering a moment in the negative.

Witness in that connection asked Mr. Price what induced him to do as he had done in the matter. Mr. Price replied that he hoped to put some money in his daughter's pocket, and incidentally, or indirectly in his own. Witness told Mr. Price that he thought his action and that of Mr. Marsh was not proper under the circumstances. Witness said to Mr. Price that if he were in their positions he would not have done what they (Mr. Marsh and Mr. Price) had done. He never spoke to Mr. Marsh about the matter.

To Mr. Carnew—Could not tell the date of the interview with Mr. Price, but thought it was on a Saturday late in the month of December. Could not tell when the first letter regarding the sales of lots was published. Ald. Robinson and Mr. Price wrote letters to the Ontario, but he could not tell the dates; it was some time in December. So far as he could remember Ald. Robinson's letter was the first in reference to the matter, although it might have been preceded by Mr. Price's communication. The conversation he had with Mr. Price was after some communications had been published. Any letter written by Mr. Price would not be on file now. The conversation took place in the editorial room of The Ontario. He approached Mr. Price about the matter of an interview for The Globe newspaper.

To Mr. O'Flynn—Sir M. Bowell wrote some of the editorials about this matter and witness wrote some. He saw the letter written to Mr Corby by Mr. Burrell and the Intelligencer's comments based on that letter and other information. The criticisms were not based on the letter alone. Their criticisms would be based on the letter and matter arising out of the whole affair.

To Mr. Shorey—He had nothing to do about supplying information to The Globe on which to found an editorial in reference to graft in Belleville.

To Mr. O'Flynn—He had no personal knowledge about the matter, but based any comments he might make on information from various sources, including the registry office.

To Judge Deroche—The result of the search made in the registry office was one of the bases of comments made in the paper, a resolution passed at the Property Owners' Association, also on Mr. Price's request for an investigation, also Mr. Price's statement that he made in the Council recently, that he had indirectly benefitted by the sales.

MR. H. PRINGLE.

Mr. Hy. Pringle, sworn, said that personally he knew nothing about the sale of tax lots with which Messrs. Marsh and Price's names had been identified. From Mr. Price he had purchased lots some years ago. During 1910 Mr. Price had spoken to him about the purchase of lots, as he (Mr. Price) seemed anxious to have them disposed of to citizens, so that the city could get taxes upon them.

To Mr. Carnew—Could not tell when Mr. Price approached him re. purchasing lots. Some 4 or 5 years ago they bought some 4 lots on N. Front St. The lot sales did not interest him. The only reason Mr. Price assigned about the sale of lots was to get them in the hands of citizens. Mr. Price spoke to witness a number of times during 1910 about buying lots. The proposition did not appeal to him.

The investigation was adjourned until 1.30 p. m. on Saturday, 13th, inst.

AT DEATH'S DOOR FROM KIDNEY DISEASE

SAVED ONLY BY "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

CLANBRASSIE, ONT.

"Two years ago, the doctor made forty-four calls on me, and then said he had done all he could for me. I was suffering with intense Kidney Trouble and Inflammation had set in. Two other doctors were consulted and agreed that nothing could be done to help me.

On the recommendation of a neighbor, I took "Fruit-a-tives" and they cured me. To-day, I take "Fruit-a-tives" as my only medicine. I am in excellent health, and "Fruit-a-tives" is the medicine that cured me after I had been at Death's Door for months.

I am glad to be able to give you this testimonial. It may benefit some other woman suffering as I suffered, as I believe that I would not be alive to-day had I not used "Fruit-a-tives".

MRS. P. E. WEBBER.

"Fruit-a-tives" — by its marvellous action on the kidneys — completely restores these vital organs to their normal strength and vigor—and cures every trace of Kidney Trouble. "Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made of fruit.

WISHED MAC GOOD LUCK IN HIS NEW HOME

Last evening the employees of McIntosh Bros. met together to say good-bye to Mr. Duncan McDonald who is leaving the city to accept a position in the Mounted Police at Prince Albert, Sask. Mr. Graham, in a few well chosen remarks, spoke of the high esteem in which he was held by all, while Mr. Thos. Bowie handed him a beautiful cased pipe, along with the necessary fuel which it consumes. The recipient replied in a most suitable way, thanking them for the beautiful token, which would always remind him of the happy days while in their midst and in Belleville. All sorts of good luck follows "Mac" in his new home.

AFTER EFFECTS OF THE GRIP

It is fortunate that the Grip epidemic this year is milder in its action than in previous years. This does not mean that it is less dangerous.

The after results of the Grip are apt to be exceeding serious. Do not take any chances—for the general weakness, and to allay all bronchial irritation after the fever has passed nothing equals Vinol, which is a delicious combination of the health-giving properties of the cod's liver with the grease eliminated and tonic iron added.

A lady from Long Branch, N. J. writes:—"The Grip left me in a nervous, weakened, run-down condition After Grip or any severe illness try am better and stronger than I have been for years, and I cheerfully recommend Vinol to all who have been ill and need strength." (Name furnished on request.)

After Grip or any severe illness try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not restore your vitality and strength. J. S. McKeown, Druggist Belleville.

SHOCKING FATALITY IN RAWDON TOWNSHIP

Two Women were Suffocated in Farm House Fire—Mrs. Patrich Cain and Her Step-Daughter Miss Ellen Maloney Were the Victims—They were Alone at the Time--The Unfortunate Women Were Much Respected

One of the most shocking fatalities that ever occurred in this part of the country took place Tuesday morning about 10 o'clock when two women lost their lives in a conflagration in Rawdon. The names of the victims are Mrs. Patrick Cain and her stepdaughter, Miss Ellen Maloney.

Their home was on lot 2, in the 5th concession of Rawdon, north of the Kingston cheese factory. The farm is only three miles from Ivanhoe.

Mrs. Cain had been ill in bed of late, and in the morning her husband went to the postoffice at Minto to get the mail. The disaster occurred during his absence.

Miss Maloney apparently had been waiting on Mrs. Cain when fire originated in the kitchen. She was found at the foot of the stairs leading from the parlor above.

One report says that the victims were not dead when found, but that they died shortly after being removed without recovering consciousness Others say the women were dead when found.

The house was practically destroyed.

The whole neighborhood is greatly shocked with the news of the tragedy as the deceased were well and favorably known.

HIS FOOT UNDER AXE

ZAM-BUK PROVED VERY USEFUL

Mrs. H. Sawyer, of Keene, Ont says—"I must write to you in praise of Zam-Buk, a proof of the merits of which we have just had. My husband is engaged on a farm, and one day while chopping wood, the top of the axe broke and feel upon his foot, cutting a nasty gash. The wound was so bad that we first thought we would have to get a doctor, but we finally decided to dress the cut with Zam-Buk. Well, the Zam-Buk treatment proved a success. It not only eased the pain, but it prevented any inflammation; and right from first applying it, the cut began to heal. It is now completely healed, and my husband says he will never be without a box of Zam-Buk in the house, for we are sure it saved us a great deal of expense."

Over and over again Zam-Buk has been proved to be the worker's best remedy. As soon as applied to a cut a burn, a scald, or any skin injury it relieves the pain and it sets up healing. It also sterilizes the wound and prevents blood-poisoning or inflammation.

It is a sure cure, too, for eczema piles, ulcers, old wounds, bad leg ringworm, scalp sores, festering, running sores, boils, eruptions, chafings, insect stings, sore feet, etc. It's absolute purity, also, makes it the ideal balm for babies. Zam-Buk Soap should be used along with the balm for washing all sore places. This soap will be found excellent for baby's bath, even where the balm is not being used.

All druggists and stores sell Zam-Buk at 50c. box, and Soap at 25c. tablet, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price. Refuse substitutes and imitations.

A FORMER NORFOLK TEACHER'S SUCCESS

The Simcoe Reformer says:— The many friends of Mr. Thos. J. Hicks Principal of Selkirk Public School formerly of Vittoria, will be pleased to learn that he has been successful in obtaining his B. A. degree from Queen's University.

Mr. Hicks has taken his entire course as an extra mural student, and has completed his course in record time, having registered for the first time in 1908. When it is remembered that Queen's sets a very high standard for this degree, and that this work has all been completed during spare hours, one can form some opinion of the student's ability who thus performs the task. Perhaps few in this country have ever obtained a degree under similar circumstances.

Mr. Hicks is the second son of Mr H. Hicks, Corbyville, and attended High School in Belleville for some time previous to beginning his career

IRON MINES SOLD TO A SYNDICATE

Blairton Properties in Peterboro, Change Hands for Sum of $75,000

The Blairton Iron Mines Limited of Toronto, have purchased from the Pearce Company, Limited, of Marmora, for $75,000 cash the old Blairton Iron mine in the Township of Belmont, together with the railway road bed from Blairton to Trent Bridge on the River Trent. The full amount of the purchase money was paid into the Union Bank of Canada on Monday to the credit of the Pearce Company, Limited, of which Mr. J B. Pearce of Norwood is president and the deed of the property passed into the hands of the purchasing company, composed of Toronto Chicago and Cleveland capitalists, who have also purchased two of the largest North Hastings iron mines.

The same interests have also purchased the old Gilmour Company property at Trenton, where they will erect a large concentration plant Trenton is submitting a by-law at an early date giving a fixed assessment on the plant.

The purchasers have had on option on the Blairton Mine for the past three years, and during the past year have been paying a royalty of twenty five cents a ton on 25,000 tons, whether mixed or not. No actual mining has been done during this period, but a thorough test of the property has been made by diamond drilling. The mine was operated many years ago but owing to the great expense of transportating the ore to the concentrator it was abandoned. It is rumored that Mackenzie and Mann are interested with the American capitalists.

Y.M.C.A. NOTES

PROGRESS AT THE CEMENT WORKS

Belleville Mill is Being Transformed—Heavy Shipments by Rail and Water

Work on the transformation of the "Belleville" mill of the Canada Cement Company at Point Ann was commenced this morning under the direction of Mr. Thomas McGinnis, Superintendent of Construction. The plant will be electrified, which will necessitate the erection of a large transformer station, and it is expected that the work will be completed in about four months.

The season will be a very busy one, and large shipments by rail and by water are being made. The steamer Westmount, which is now at the Lehigh wharf, is loading 40,000 bags. The Port Colborne, which is expected to-morrow, will take 42,000 bags.

OXFORD GRAFT CASES

CURRENT COMMENT

The expenditure of $9,000,000 is "contemplated" for the New York capitol; what will the uncontemplated expenditures be?

In future all British court functions will end at midnight. King George doesn't propose to lose his regular sleep over mere trifles, apparently.

The condensation of the Ten Commandments may be ordered for the Church of England prayer book, but the condensation used in ordinary business and social life will be continued.

Miss Gertrude May Davis, weight 639 pounds, eighteen years of age, was married at Wayne, Indiana, on Saturday to M. C. McCorry, who tips the scales at 119. The bride wore a hobble skirt and picture hat.

Belleville's Board of Trade is exhibiting gratifying signs of activity. Its membership has been largely added to of late, and it promises to be one of the most powerful influences in the advancement of the city's interests With capable and progressive men at the head, as there now are, it is certain to increase its sphere of usefulness in a marked degree in the near future.

People at Windsor, N. S., are much disturbed because a cotton mill in their town is to be closed down. They see the act will injuriously affect the business of the locality. It is possible also, that half of them are advocates of reciprocity or free traders, and hurrah for a fiscal policy or changes that might close down many mills in Canada. People of other places may learn industrial wisdom from their case.—Montreal Gazette.

$60,000 IN PRIZES.

The prize list for the Canadian National Exhibition, August 26th to September 11, which is being distributed shows that the prizes have been increased in nearly every department till the grand total reaches $60,000.

As no prizes are given for manufactures, the whole of this amount goes to live stock, dairy products, horticulture, woman's work, educational exhibits, and similar lines of Canadian Industry.

The increase in the amount given to live stock is particularly noticeable Nearly $5,000 has been added to the horses alone, while special prizes of $500 each for the best animal in the Holstein and Shorthorn classes, show that the cattle have not been neglected. Poultry also gets an additional $1,000.

In women's and children's work and educational exhibit, new classes have been added, and in short every department shows the exhibition is keeping pace with its wonderful attendance.

That the management fully expect to reach the million mark this year is evidenced by the announcement that the spectacular attraction will be The Festival of Empire, a reproduction of the glories of the coronation ceremonies, in which 1,500 performers will take part, while the famous Coldstream Gurads Band, musicians to the Royal Household, will be the musical feature.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.

WHAT THEY ARE NOW SAYING IN ENGLAND

The London Press Points Out the Significance of Taft's Utterances—They Prove the Case of the British Opponents of Canadian American Reciprocity

LONDON, May 4.—What s characterized here as President Taft's indiscretion is causing no little embarrassment to the Government here. By his advocacy of the reciprocity arrangement, as the surest means of killing the movement for closer Empire unity President Taft proves the case of those here who deplore the agreement for broad Empre reasons.

The Obsever, whose editor is a leading Unionist Journalist and whose proprietor is now Mr. William Waldorf Astor, says:—"No blazinz indiscretion of which President Roosevelt or Kaiser William have ever been accused, could rival the discourtesy and unwisdom of President Taft's attack on the Tariff Reform party, which after all, represent a good half of the English people." The Observer says what almost the whole Unionist press could say: namely, that it has refrained in difficult circumstances from writing one word upon the Canadian American reciprocity dealings that could prejudce the movement for Anglo-American arbitration and adds:—"This is the right policy for both nations, but if it is to be continued with any chance of success, there must be equal respect on both sides of the Atlantic for the ordinary amenities of international tradition.

Times Reproves Taft.

The Times to-day, in its first editorial, reproves President Taft in its most approved paternal way. It reminds President Taft of those more than Chinese walls, the Dingley and McKinley tariffs, and of the long-continued United States' attempts to coerce or cajole Canada into sacrificing its national birthright to immediate material gain. The Times goes on to argue that under President Taft's present policy, the commercial relations of the Mitherland and the most powerful of the Empire's self-governing nations is to be governed by the actions and reactions of American politics, in which the tariff must always play a central part. Canada might in that event, desire to give better treatment in some respects to her sister states within the Empire, but her ability to do so would depend upon her power to persuade the framers of the American tariff to do the same."

Appeals to Conservatives.

The Ministerialist Morning Leader speaks of immeasureable loss if the agreement fails. It terms the reciprocal agreement the last and most fatal blow to Imperial Preference, and adds "When the agreement once goes through the ground will be forever irrecoverable."

The Standard, on the other hand says that it has watched with admiration the stern, relentless opposition to the agreement in the Canadian House of Commons. It surmises that President Taft's "now or never" speech will cause Sir Wilfrid Laurier to revise his opinion that the agreement will not be detrimental to Imperial interests.

HOME WEDDING AT HILTON

A Young Lady From Belleville Attended the Bride

At Hilton, Northumberland County at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. O. Morrow, their daughter, Miss Annie Muriel, was married to Mr. William A. Davern, of Deseronto, formerly of Brighton. Rev. W. H. Buchler conducted the ceremony. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr R. Y. Moorow, wore an Empire gown of ivory charmeuse, veil of embroidered tulle, and carried a shower of roses and lily-of-the-valley. She wore also the groom's gift, a pearl necklace and sunburst. Miss Annie Thorne, of Belleville, wearing an Empire gown of buttercup silk veiled with ninon, black picture hat, and carrying pink roses, was bridesmaid The best man was the bride's brother Mr. O. B. Morrow, of Maynooth. Dejeuner was served by a number of girl friends of the bride.

TO SPEND $10,000,000

Estimated Cost of the Proposed Improvements to London Port

The first instalment of the gigantic scheme for the improvement of the Port of London is about to be taken in hand. The scheme which has been adopted in principle is for the construction of the South Albert Dock; and it is for the purpose of this project that the Port of London is now making an issue of $10,000,000 stock The proposed new dock, the cost of which is estimated at nearly $12,000,000, will be designed to accommodate the largest ships afloat or projected The entrance lock will have a maximum length of 1,000 feet, a width of 110 feet, and a depth of water over the sill of 48 feet. The entrance will be 850 feet long, but will be capable of being extended by a caisson. The water area of the dock will be 65 acres, affording a quayage of 9,200 lineal feet, with a depth of 44½ feet. There will be a new dry dock 1,000 feet long, 110 feet wide, and 38 feet deep on the blocks, corresponding practically in accommodation to the entrance lock. It is expected that the accommodation in this dock will rapidly be taken up, as one-third of that provided was actually being negotiated for by a great shipping line at the time the improvement scheme was published.

The Hon. Sydney Fisher

The Hon. Sydney Fisher, the talking member of the Laurier Administration, will never die if boasting will keep him alive. The honorable gentleman was in Toronto last week, and, when interviewed by a reporter of the News upon the question of reciprocity, exclaimed:

> "When it comes to a vote on reciprocity we're going to wipe The News and its anti-reciprocity friends right out of existence."

Your boast, Mr. Fisher, is not in accord with your, or your colleagues', actions. If the vote of the people will "wipe The News and its anti-reciprocity friends right out of existence," why, Mr. Fisher, do you not appeal to the people? The truth is you fear the vote of the people. Were it not so, you would make such an appeal. That is what the Opposition is urging you to do. Fearing the result, you and your chief content yourselves with a little loud talk, and no little boasting.

The interviewer then asked:

> "Will Canada be represented by her Prime Minister and other Ministers of the Crown at the Imperial Conference and the Coronation?" Mr. Fisher was asked.
>
> "That all depends on the Opposition," was the Minister's reply.
>
> "The Opposition seem to be in an obstructive mood just now, and under our system of government the Opposition has the power of obstruction. But the business of the country must be carried on, and, of course, our first duty is toward Canada and the carrying on of Canada's business."

"Duty towards Canada," forsooth! Is not Canada part of the Empire, and does not her Premier owe a greater duty to the Empire, whose interests are of paramount importance to Canada, than he does to President Taft and the United States?

The Imperial Conferences were organized for the purpose of gradually binding the out-lying portions of the Empire more closely to the mother land by making their individual interests as nearly identical as possible. Is it not a fact that Sir Wilfrid sought an excuse for absenting himself from the conference, fearing he might have to commit himself to a policy of closer relations with the Empire, which would effectually prevent the fulfilment of his declared "day dream" of Canada's severance from the parent stem, as the ripe fruit falls from the tree, and is therefore preparing for the fulfilment of that dream by joining hands with President Taft in his desire to prevent by a ratification of the present reciprocity compact, the project of closer Imperial connection? This is no "day dream." The President has already frankly so declared in his New York speech, an extract from which we have already laid before our readers, which will bear repeating, it being the duty of every loyal Canadian to commit to memory the President's utterances, which were as follows:

> "I have said that this was a critical time in the solution of the question of reciprocity. It is critical because unless it is now decided favorably to reciprocity it is exceedingly probable that no such opportunity will ever again come to the United States. The forces which are at work in England and in Canada to separate her by a Chinese wall from the United States and to make her part of an Imperial commercial band reaching from England around the world to England again, by a system of preferential tariffs, will derive an impetus from the rejection of this treaty, and if we would have reciprocity, with all the advantages that I have described and that I earnestly and sincerely believe will follow its adoption, we must take it now or give it up forever."

What does this language mean? It is not difficulty to fathom. The President's policy is as plain as noonday. He understands it, and so do those who are in league with him, both in the United States and preferential trade between Great Britain and the outlying portions of the Empire, and Sir Wilfrid, his admirers and supporters are playing into his hands to accomplish this nefarious end. Blind partizanship is leading otherwise honest men into a slough of political despond, which they will deeply regret when too late to remedy the evil.

The coon, however, has come down. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, having found public opinion too strong for him to resist, has finally decided to attend the Imperial Conference. Let us hope that, as the result of his visit to the centre of empire, he may come back with eyes fully opened to the insidious attempt of our neighbors to accomplish the double object of disjointing the British Empire commercially and of getting from Canada much more than she receives.

Editorial Notes

HIS MEANING.

It is now known what President Taft meant when he said that Canada "stands at the parting of the ways," for he himself has given a very clear explanation. That explanation is that Canada must now cast in her lot, commercially, either with the Empire or with the United States by means of reciprocity. Of course, Mr. Taft favors the latter alternative; and so do Messrs. Laurier, Fielding, Paterson et al. But there are a large number of Liberals who are not to be "bought with a price" or coerced into subordinating their convictions to party exigencies or yielding to partizan terrorism.

GROUNDLESS FEARS.

A few years ago, when the Conservatives in the Legislature were striving to uproot the gigantic system of electoral corruption, the Grits declared that there was not talent enough in the Conservative ranks, from which to form a capable administration. The hydro-electric policy, the cheaper school book policy and other policies of great public benefit form a sufficient answer to the calumny.

FINANCIAL NEUTRALITY

That Is Banker Speyer's Remedy For Warfare.

New York Man at Peace Conference Says That In the Same Way That Foreign Loans Are Not Allowed In Times of International Amity the Powers Should Prevent Bankers Lending Money In Time of War.

Baltimore, May 5.—"Financial neutrality" as a preventive of war between nations was the interesting suggestion offered at the third national peace congress here yesterday, by Jas. Speyer, of the New York and European banking house of Speyer & Co. Mr. Speyer spoke as a delegate from the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York. He followed Assistant Secretary of State Huntingdon Wilson, presiding officer of the forenoon session, who gave his interpretation of what has been called "dollar diplomacy," the newly coined phrase applied to the expansion of business interest. This term, according to Mr. Wilson, means the substitution of dollars for bullets; the creation of a prosperity which will be preferred to predatory strife, and "a practical mode of pursuing the ideal of world peace."

Mr. Speyer, who spoke on "International Finance as a Power for Peace," dealt first with the influence of international investments in times of peace. Taking up the question of what should and could be done in time of war by first-class powers, he said we find to-day in Europe that in times of peace certain Governments will not allow their bankers to take and place foreign loans in the home market, unless the purposes for which the loan is to be used are known and approved, and at least part of the proceeds are used by the borrowing nation for expenditures in such home markets for the benefit of the loaning nation.

"Now," said Mr. Speyer, "if such supervision and control of the bankers already exists in time of peace, it does not seem a wide flight of imagination to suggest that the great powers might agree to exercise such control in times of war between third parties, and to maintain, in future, what for want of a better term, might be called 'financial neutrality.' In case two nations went to war without first submitting their grievances and differences to arbitration or judicial settlement at The Hague, why should the other neutral powers not bind themselves not to assist either of the belligerents financially, but to see to it that real neutrality was observed by their banks and bankers. There is little doubt that this could be done. If no financial assistance could be obtained from the outside, few nations would, in the face of this most effective neutrality of the other powers, incur the peril of bankruptcy. Some would certainly last a much shorter time."

Attack Free List.

Washington, May 5.—Not since the Republicans guns were unlimbered against the Democrat free list bill by Minority Leader Mann, over a week ago, has the debate in the House developed such an attack on the measure as was made yesterday by Representative Hill of Connecticut, a Republican member of the ways and means committee, one of the leading Republican advocates of the Canadian reciprocity bill. He declared that instead of $10,000,000 reduction in revenue, as the Democrats expected, the "farmers' free list" might make a reduction of $50,000,000, and that its effect upon business would be to transfer many flourishing industries to Europe.

"You intend to hit the trusts," said Mr. Hill to the Democrats.

Want Farmers to Protest.

Concord, N.H., May 5.—Farmers throughout the country are urged to send representatives to Washington to attend the hearings before the Senate committee on finance on the Canadian reciprocity, beginning week of May 8. Mr. Bachelder's communication says:

"The farmers are practically unanimous in opposing what they consider a most unfair discrimination against their interests and if they make their wishes known to their Senators, the reciprocity bill cannot become a law. Delegations of farmers from at least fifteen state granges will attend the hearings to present the views of their members on this important question.

The Adoration of the Wig.

Wigs were never so popular as in the reign of Charles II. The author of "The Beaux and the Dandies" tells us that "when Cibber played Sir Fopling Flutter his wig was so much admired that he had it carried to the footlights every evening in a sedan chair, from which it was handed to him that he might put it on his head."

Superior Judgment.

"He is always boasting about his superior judgment."

"Brown?"

"Yes."

"Superior judgment nothing! Why, his wife makes every decision in that family!"

"Well, Brown selected her, didn't he?"

Strong Desires.

"There is only one person who desires a thing more strongly than a fat woman desires to be thin."

"Is that so?"

"It is."

"And who is that?"

"The thin woman who desires to be fat."

SINS OF THE ...CITY...

"No, Wallace, no! Please don't mention the matter to father. Promise me," said Pauline, decidedly.

"Of course I won't, if you don't wish it. But why?"

"I'd much rather you didn't. I have a feeling I can't describe. I don't know exactly what it is myself beyond a sensation of some impending evil over this project. Reading this old Italian's letter—what a nice old man he must be, Wallace! I'm sure I should like him—has conjured up a vision of a ghostly race, murdered for the sake of their property, who will rise from their graves, as it were in defence of what they gave their lives to protect. There are dangers and difficulties in your path, I am sure; you may laugh, but I feel it."

"My dear, I don't laugh, but I think your nerves are a little unstrung. There may be difficulties, but I am ready to face them for think what this means to you and me. If all goes well I shall be a rich man,—and then—"

"Yes, yes! But is it worth it? I can wait, dearest, I will wait. But, oh, I wish you had not undertaken this."

"Darling, you must not give way. I have something here I have shown to no one; a private letter from Balbi which I have kept for your eyes alone. Read it when you are alone, and take care of it for me. It might prove useful. And always remember I shall do nothing rash."

"I know it, Wallace, but I can't help the feeling which has taken possession of me. I'll keep this for you, dear, you may be sure. But, oh, how glad I shall be when all is settled."

"And so shall I for then there shall be no more separation, my darling, and if there is any more exploring to be done, we will do it together. I'll let you know how things progress. And now we've talked enough about this matter. Life is not all money-making is it?"

That evening Vipan's little dinner at the Devonshire was a great success. Ellis had, so he said, with difficulty succeeded in inducing Guiseppe Guelfo to postpone or ignore some other engagements in order to accompany him. The great man—for he was a big man in the financial world of London and the Continent—made himself extremely pleasant. An Italian by birth, a cosmopolitan by education and up-bringing, he spoke most of the Continental languages with equal facility, and, at the same time, his conversation was well worth listening to. His offices in Throgmorton Avenue were thronged daily by those who were giving their lives in the race for wealth. He had a similar establishment in the Rue Scribe in Paris, and though there were those who designated both offices as "bucket shops," yet the amount of gold they poured into the pockets of their owner was beyond credence. He was an unmarried man residing in chambers in the Albany, while in summer he lived principally on board the Ena, his house-boat, on the river. A hulking man, of dark complexion, rapidly growing bald, with a short, pointed black beard and moustache, loud of voice and laughter, with an almost ceaseless flow of conversation, there was no subject he could not talk upon, and at the same time talk well; so the dinner passed off pleasantly and Vipan was rather agreeably impressed than otherwise with his guest. No word of business had been mentioned, and it was only when they were finishing their coffee and liqueur in the smoking-room that the host said,—

"Now, what shall we do? Shall we go into this business here, or will you come round to my chambers in Ducie Street and talk there? I think the latter would be best. We shall be quite free from any interruption, and I could show you some curiosities. I brought back the other day from Peru, which might interest you—but just as you like."

"Let's go to Ducie Street, by all means, if convenient to you, Mr. Vipan," said Guelfo. "I'm always interested in that strange and little-known land, Peru."

"Come along, then," replied Vipan, and a move was made.

Of the details of the conversation that followed, when, with their cigars alight and their tumblers filled, they occupied comfortable armchairs in Vipan's rooms, little need be said. The story of Balbi's discovery and letter was again told, for the benefit of Guelfo who read the original letter in Italian, and the half of the leaf which was to act as credentials, in case Vipan could not go himself, was shown. Guelfo's questions were numerous and pertinent, but the answers they elicited seemed to produce a favorable impression, for at length Guelfo said,—

"Well, Vipan—I shall drop the 'mister' now—the thing sounds right, and if you have faith enough in this compatriot of mine to go out and clinch matters, I've confidence enough in you to accompany you. Of course, it's taking me away from business, but I want a holiday, and we may, after all, be able to put a few thousands in our pockets over the job. So if you'll go, I'll go with you, and the sooner the better."

"I shall certainly go," replied Vipan, rising and ringing the bell, "and if you will accompany me it might hasten matters." Then as the door opened and the man-servant appeared: "Oh, Hunter, I sha'n't want anything more to-night; I'll see these gentlemen out. You need not sit up."

"Very well, sir."

For some time longer the three men sat talking and smoking, and it was arranged that Vipan should call the following morning at Throgmorton Avenue, by which time Guelfo would have ascertained the date of the sailing of the next boat and particulars of berths, etc.

"You leave all that to me, Vipan," he said; "I'll take the trouble off your hands. All you will have to do will be to stuff your things in a bag and come. And now, good-night. We've kept you up an unconscionable time. No, don't trouble to come downstairs; I think both Ellis and myself are quite capable of letting ourselves out. No, I won't hear of it. Eh, Ellis?"

"Very well, as you like. I certainly am rather tired. Good-night, Mr. Guelfo. Good-night, Mr. Ellis." And shaking hands with his guests, Vipan stood on the landing until he heard their footsteps cross the hall, and the closing of the door. Then, returning to his room, he locked up the various papers and letters with the half of the leaf in his leather despatch-box, and, throwing his bunch of keys into a drawer of the writing table, he switched off the electric lights and entered his bedroom on the other side of the landing.

The following morning when Hunter entered his master's rooms with his hot water he found there was no occasion for it.

Toned It Down.

"King Edward," said an English visitor in New York, "hated snobbishness. To show how ridiculous snobbishness was he used often to tell about an alphabet book of his childhood.

"This book had alliterative sentences arranged under each letter, thus:

"'Callous Caroline caned a cur cruelly.'

"'Henry hated the heat of heavy hats.'

"Under the letter V, came the facetious sentence:

"'Villiam Vilkins viped his veskit.'

"But the young prince's snobbish tutors thought this sentence too vulgar and low for their charge and accordingly they substituted for it the more refined and genteel line:

"'Vincent Vining viewed a vacant villa.'"

PREAMBLE IS PASSED

Balfour Does Not Oppose Critical Part of Veto Bill.

The Measure Has Now Gone Through the Committee Stage With Very Little Amendment and Government Supporters Show Wild Enthusiasm —Unionist Amendments Are Mostly in Favor of Joint Sittings.

London, May 4.—The Parliament bill, known also as the veto bill, for the curtailment of the powers of the House of Lords, passed yesterday the committee stage in the House of Commons practically without amendment, amidst scenes of great enthusiasm.

The refusal of A. J. Balfour, leader of the Opposition, to vote against the preamble to the veto bill, removed any danger that might have been apprehended from the revolt of the Laborites against the preamble, and this portion of the measure, the consideration of which was regarded as the most critical test for the Government, proved easiest to carry. The Unionist opposition to the bill almost vanished. In place of hundreds of amendments which threatened to delay proceedings in the committee stage, only a few important ones, mainly in the direction of urging joint sittings, or a conference of the two Houses in cases of disagreement will be moved in the report stage of the bill, which is expected to occupy only two or three days next week.

The consideration of the preamble was the most critical stage of the discussion from the Government viewpoint, because of the diversity of opinion between the factions making up the coalition majority.

The Labor party is composed of single chamber men, who have repeatedly declared their intention of opposing any plan to reform the House of Lords.

Barnes moved that the preamble be eliminated. He said that he would rather have voted with the Government to further the progress of the measure as a whole, but the Laborites had to part company with the Government at this point.

A. J. Balfour, leader of the Opposition, opposed the preamble on the ground that it would lead to the constitution of a wholly and directly representative second chamber. If the two chambers drew their authority from the electors, they would claim and possess equal authority, and he did not wish co-equal bodies. The second chamber, he said, should be empowered in case of controversy between the two Houses, to refer the question to the electorate.

After the application of closure and the rejection of another amendment without division, Mr. Balfour said that he regarded the preamble as "indefinite and illusory," but he wished to see the Government carry it out. He hated some of it, but liked another part of it, and therefore would not vote against it.

Amid loud Ministerial cheers, the preamble was then agreed to without division. On motion that the bill as amended be reported, division was challenged and the motion was carried 265 to 147. The House then adjourned, the Government supporters giving vent to the wildest enthusiasm.

Restrictions.

"This," said the enthusiastic patriot, "is the land of liberty, where each may pursue happiness"—

"Excuse me," interrupted Mr. Wallus Barker, "but did you ever read the paper they make you sign before they will rent you a flat?"

New Senators.

Ottawa, May 4.—J. M. Wilson, of Montreal, has been called to the Senate in place of the late Senator Forget. He is a millionaire wine merchant.

Hon. A. E. Forget, former Lieutenant-Governor of Saskatchewan, has been appointed a Senator, in succession to Senator Roy of Edmonton, who goes to Paris as Canadian commissioner.

Premier Haszard of Prince Edward Island has been appointed to the vacancy on the Supreme Court Bench of the Island, while Benjamin Prowse, a brother of the member of Parliament of the name, has been elevated to the Senate, in succession to the late Senator Ferguson.

Case 27 Years In Courts.

Montreal, May 4.—Judgment was given yesterday in a case which has already been decided by the Privy Council and has been twenty-seven years before the courts.

In 1884 Andrew Rough bought a piece of land through the Eastern Townships Bank, but refused to take it because he could not get a clear title to it. The bank sued him and won. The Privy Council decided in his favor seven years ago. Next the lawyers for the bank found a flaw in the proceedings and appealed to the Superior Court. The case was recalled and judgment given in favor of the bank. It will go again to the Privy Council.

Willing to Lower Rates.

Montreal, May 4.—The first meeting between the management of the Street Railway Co., and the Board of Control in regard to the question of an extension of the franchise to the company, was held at the City Hall yesterday. The company's representatives said they did not object to giving more tickets for 25 cents, but there might be some difficulty in regard to giving lower fares to connecting lines.

It was further explained that the company had about perfected all arrangements in regard to an amalgamation of the four companies.

Men who always went to the custom tailors are now wearing Fit-Reform

The reason is simple and logical.

FIT-REFORM

Fit-Reform Suits show the same careful tailoring—the same graceful lines—the same perfect fitting qualities—as the finest of the custom work, because they are the highest class of hand tailoring.

With these advantages—

The suit is ready, the day you select it—and the cost is anywhere from 25% to 50% less.

This may sound unreasonable to the man who does not know that the greatest designers and the most skilled tailors in Canada, are employed by Fit-Reform.

It is equally true that Fit-Reform commands the choicest fabrics that come from the looms.

TRAVELLING GERMAN SCHOOLS

The Government of the Duchy of Saxe-Meiningen has been for some time past experimenting with a plan for teaching girls in small country villages the art of cooking.

At the present time ther three teachers in the employ of the Government, each one of whom has a prescribed district. The course in cooking in a village last six weeks, and each teacher visits seven villages thus keeping her employed forty-two weeks in the year, the remaining ten weeks being her vacation. No school is opened in a village unless at least twelve pupils are guaranteed in advance, because fewer than that number would not warrant the expense of starting it.

Every article used in these schools is portable, capable of being easily transported to the next village with very little trouble or expense. The hours are from 9 a.m., to 5 p.m.

The Saxe-Meiningen Government supplies everything except the cups and plates which the pupils like to bring themselves, because each pupil usually has her favorite china cup, saucer and plate at home. In most of the villages of Thuringia, the only kind of vegetable known is cabbage, or, inanother form, sauerkraut.

It is said that the German farmer will eat only what he has been used to from childhood, and great difficulty is therefore experienced by teachers of the school in inducing their pupils to partake of any dish that is cooked for the first time.

A number of the principal citizens in the duchy contribute sums of money towards defraying the incidental expences of the school as a sort of upkeep, but any and every dficit is met by the Government. At the end of the six weeks' course a large dinner is given, to which the mayor, parents of the scholars, and principal people of the village are invited.

WALLPAPER COMMONPLACE

The choice of new wallpapers is now engaging the attention of man housewives. When it is remembered that we have to live in close intimacy with wallpapers, and that the aspect of our rooms is dependent upon the paper covering the walls, selection will be made with great judgment. The paper ought to be pleasing to the eye, and not disagreeing with color of the curtains, upholstery, etc., with which it will eventually be associated. It is safe to choose self-colored paper relieved by friezes, crowns or panels, suitably patterned. Bedrooms are safest hung with self-colored paper. Many know how some designs on the wall paper get on the nerves, and how tiresomely insistent they become to a patient who has to face them so many hours each succeeding day, and no means of escape. Pictures appear to better advantage if suspended against a plain background. It is never possible to tell from a pattern book what the effect of the paper will be when hung. The design becomes insistent, and the colors are more pronounced when massed together. It is safer to choose from rolls, pinning two or three strips together on the wall, and before making definite decision be sure that the carpet and the hangings are in agreement. Particularly restful is a self-colored paper completed by a suitable design at the top, and a rug in the same tone as the paper correspondingly bordered. Flowered chair curtains and chair covers make an agreeable contrast. A mistake in the choice of wall paper is disastrous, few persons being prepared to strip off that which when once hung proves unsatisfactory. If a patterned paper and flowery carpet are chosen the curtains should be self colored, and the chairs, etc., upholstered also in self-colored material.

A REVIVAL OF MOHAIR.

In planning the summer wardrobe, a mohair coat and skirt may with advantage have a place. Evidently there is to be a revival of mohair which for summer suits will to some considerable extent replace linen, over which it possesses the obvious advantage of being non-crushable, not needing frequent washing, and being somewhat lighter in weight than the weave of linen usually made into coat suits.

HAVE DOMAIN ENOUGH

U. S. Not Bent on Territorial Expansion, Says Taft.

President, In Speech at Peace Conference In Baltimore, Declares That United States Is Trying Hard to Do Its Share For World's Good and Does Not Deserve the Suspicion Which Is Cast Upon Its Motives.

Baltimore, Md., May 4.—President Taft, in his speech at the opening of the third national peace conference here yesterday, declared that the United States would keep hands off and not seek to extend its domain or to acquire foreign territory. The President made no mention specifically of Mexico, but to those who heard him, it was evident that the troubled situation there and the suspicion in the South American republics as to the intention of this nation, in regard to its southern neighbors, had inspired him. The President had been speaking of the recurrence of internal disturbances in countries not so well able as the United States to maintain order and peace, and had said that it was incumbent upon the great nations of "this hemisphere to exercise their kindly and peaceful influences as much as possible."

One of the difficulties that the United States finds is the natural suspicion that the countries engaged have of the motives which the U. S. has in tendering its good offices," continued the President. "Asseveration of good faith helps but little where the suspicion is real, and yet I like to avail myself of an opportunity in such presence as this to assert that there is not in the whole length and breadth of the United States among its people any desire for territorial aggrandizement, and that its people, as a whole, will not permit its Government, if it would, to take any step in respect to foreign peoples, looking to a forcible extension of our political power.

"We have had wars and we know what they are. We know what responsibilities they entail, the burdens and losses and horrors, and we would have none of them. We have a magnificent domain of our own in which we are attempting to work out and show to the world success in popular government, and we need no more territory in which to show this. But we have attained great prosperity and great power. We have become a powerful member of the community of nations in which we live, and there is, therefore, thrown upon us necessarily, a care and responsibility for the peace of the world in our neighborhood, and a burden of helping those nations that cannot help themselves, if we may do that peacefully and effectively.

"An arbitration treaty between two great nations of the world," said the President, "would be a very important step in securing the peace of the world. I don't claim any patent for a new discovery in that suggestion, because I have no doubt that it has often been made before. If such an arbitration treaty can be concluded, I have no doubt that an important step will have been taken, but it will not bring an end of war. It is a step only; and we must not defeat our purposes by enlarging the expectation of the world as to what is to happen and by then disappointing it. I think we are likely to make more progress if we express our hope with moderation and realize the difficulties that are to be overcome, than if we proclaim that we have opened the gate to eternal peace with one key and within one year."

The President was particularly interested in a speech by Rev. Dr. J. A. Macdonald, editor of The Toronto Globe, a warm advocate of reciprocity. "If that arbitration treaty between your country and England is ratified," said Dr. Macdonald, "the name of William Howard Taft will be remembered in world history so long as man lives in peace.

"Above all other nations Canada has the greatest stake in the proposed treaty; she has the most to gain by peace; the most to lose by war.

"Canada desires the pact, not for herself alone, but for the sake of the whole world. The time to do it is at hand. The hour is trembling, ready to strike; the tide is swelling to the flood and if I ever had the right to speak for my country or for the Empire to which I belong, it is now, and I ask that the Parliament of Great Britain and the Congress of the United States join to insure the peace of the whole world."

Boy Saved Train.

Kingston, May 4.—A twelve-year-old lad named Sey, prevented a wreck on the Kingston & Pembroke Railway, four miles south of Sharbot Lake. He found five big boulders on the track, which had fallen down an embankment, walked into Sharbot Lake, notified the company, and thus saved the express from running into them.

Man With Broken Neck Fined.

New York, May 4.—Teddy Peters, said to be the only man living with a broken neck, was fined $10 in the Police Court yesterday for intoxication. Peters went down with the collapse of the Quebec bridge, in which 90 men were killed, when almost every bone in his body was broken.

Clifford Sifton's Fall.

Ottawa, May 4.—Hon. Clifford Sifton, at the Horse Show yesterday morning, when leaping over hurdles, fell off his horse, but managed to save himself by holding to the reins.

Officials rushed up fearing he was hurt, but he intimated that he was all right; and showed this to be the case by immediately, amid applause, clearing three hurdles in succession.

WHY SHOULD YOU KEEP POOR COWS

It has been stated on good authority that the average yield of 17,000 cows in the famous Belleville section for the factory season of 1910 was 3,480 pounds of milk. There are sections in Quebec where it is doubtful if the average is much over 2,500 lbs The average income per cow in connection with one Quebec creamery was only $19.60. As some patrons obtained as much as $34.00 per cow, it necessarily means that some some cows earned scarcely $15.00. Some primary principles of dairy farming seem to need attention here. Records of each cow's production will soon show which cows should be beefed because unprofitable.

During 1910 the average yield of 1,100 cows in Quebec cow testing associations for the full period of lactation was 179 pounds of fat,— double the above creamery average.

Two good reports from near Winchester, Ont., for January, February and March are 5,725 and 6,570 pounds of milk from two cows that freshened in December. Such cows, sources of keen pleasure and good profit, are found in increasing numbers where cow testing is practised. Plenty of individual cows in Canada are giving 10,000 and 12,000 pounds of milk and from 300 to 400 pounds of fat in one season. Why keep poor cows?

Hunting Treasure.

London, May 4.—The head of the expedition excavating in Jerusalem is Capt. Montague Brownlow Park, brother of the Earl of Morley.

The syndicate, which is financing the enterprise, received letters from Park describing the progress of the excavations in the neighborhood of the Pool of Siloam, at regular intervals up to a month ago, since no word has come from him.

They were after treasure supposedly buried by Jewish kings.

Frost In Fruit Belt.

St. Catharines, May 4.—All small tomato plants which were not protected were frozen Tuesday night. Ice was found here to a depth of half an inch. Some early peach trees are in blossom, but the great majority of the trees suffered no damage whatever. Most of the tomatoes are still unplanted.

Knew What They Deserved.

"Did the story end happily?"

"Sure. Everybody killed himself in the last chapter."

"Horrible!"

"You would say they got their just deserts if you had read the book."

Appropriate.

"Why do you bury yourself here?"

"Because I like it."

"Oh, I see."

"See what?"

"You are a dead one."

Sanford Juvenile Clothes Hamilton Ont.
That Boy of Yours
The mother who realizes the importance of giving her boy the "right start" will not request the clothing salesman to show her "something dark and cheap," saying "he is so careless with his clothes—most anything will do him." She knows that one of the first principles in home training is to teach the youngster self-respect and the important part that good clothes play in engendering this quality. This does not necessarily mean paying more for his clothes. But it does mean that his clothes will reflect the discriminating taste of a mother who considers "most anything" will not do for her boy.
Sanford Juvenile Clothes are necessary because they are an indispensable part of your boy's education in teaching him to esteem those virtues which promote true refinement and manly self-respect.
The foremost clothing or dry goods merchant in your town knows the value of Sanford Juvenile Clothes. Ask him to show you the new Spring models; they will do the rest.

WILL INSURE WORKERS

Lloyd-George's Bill Introduced in British Commons.

British Chancellor Proposes That All Workers Who Get Less Than $800 a Year Shall Be Compulsorily Insured to Such an Amount as to Give Five Shillings a Week During Incapacity—Tuberculosis Crusade.

London, May 5.—David Lloyd-George, in the House of Commons yesterday, introduced the long-promised plan of state insurance against unemployment, sickness and invalidity.

Every worker whose annual earnings fall below the income tax level of £160 (approximately $800) will be compulsorily insured against illness, so as to assure him the receipt of five shillings per week during his incapacity. Toward this the worker would contribute about one-half, the same being deducted from his wages, while the balance would be paid jointly by his employers and the state.

The weekly assessment against the insured would be eights cents in the case of a man and six cents for a woman.

Every one in the class mentioned between the ages of 16 and 65 is included in the plan. The employers would pay six cents weekly for every employe and the Government contributes four cents for each of the insured.

Lloyd-George estimated that his plan would affect 14,700,000 men and women. Provision is made whereby women will receive 30 shillings in maternity cases on condition that they do not work for a month following child-birth, and for free medical attendance for every contributor.

The state would also help in the crusade against consumption providing $7,500,000 to aid local authorities in building sanitariums and $5,000,000 towards their maintenance.

Although in cases of permanent disability the sick allowance would be five shillings weekly, ten shillings would be allowed for the first three months in the case of men and seven shillings and sixpence in the case of women.

Those who can be shown to have invited incapacity would receive no insurance, though any necessary medical treatment would be provided.

Lloyd-George estimated that the expenditure incurred would be $35,000,000 in 1912-13, rising to $100,000,000 in 1915-16.

Dealing with the unemployed insurance, the Chancellor said that it would at first apply only to the engineering, shipbuilding and house-building trades, involving 2,500,000 workers. Both the workers and the employers would pay five cents weekly each, the state contributing $3,750,000 a year, or about one-fourth of the total cost. The contributors, when unemployed, would receive a maximum of 15 shillings and a minimum of seven shillings weekly. No payments would be made in the case of strikes or lockouts.

J. Austen Chamberlain supported the bill, saying that the Opposition desired to co-operate in the legislation.

SIR JOHN CARLING ILL.

London, May 5.—Sir John Carling, Minister of Agriculture in Sir John Macdonald's Government, and head of the big brewing firm of this city, was overcome by a sinking spell yesterday morning and is not expected to recover. The family have been summoned to the bedside. Sir John had been around as usual until a few days ago.

Last night Dr. Eccles, who has worked with the patient all day, announced that he is stronger. Yet neither the physician nor the members of the family are sanguine. "Sir John is over 83 years old, you know," said the doctor. "He is living on borrowed time. We hope he will rally, but we cannot feel any degree of certainty."

McLetchie Goes to Ireland.

Toronto, May 5.—When Herbert McLetchie was arraigned in the assizes yesterday, the jury having disagreed as to his guilt of the killing of Edward Jacobs, by running him down on Bloor street, with his employer's automobile, he was remanded to jail. He will be admitted to bail in his own surety of $1,000, when the crown is assured that he is about to go back to his home in Ireland. There are still charges of wounding and furious driving standing against him in the Police Court.

Crossing Protection.

Newcastle, May 5.—The clerk of Hope Township has received word from the Board of Railway Commissioners that they have instructed the G.T.R. to install an electric bell on the gravel road crossing between Garden Hill and Millbrook. The Government is to pay 20 per cent. of the cost of installation, and the railway the balance. The bell is to be in operation within 30 days.

Restored Higher Rates.

Duluth, Minn., May 5.—Passenger fares generally in Minnesota will be three cents a mile on and after July 1, this year, according to information obtained yesterday. On that date also, class freight rates will be restored to the basis existing before the order of the railroad and warehouse commission on Sept. 6, 1906, reduced them 20 to 25 per cent.

M.P.'s In Hospital.

Ottawa, May 5.—A. C. Boyce, Conservative member for West Algoma, and Dr. Cash, Liberal member for Mackenzie, are both confined to the hospital. Mr. Boyce has bronchitis, while Dr. Cash is also suffering from an illness brought on by a cold.

Mob Threw Coal Overboard.

Seattle, Wn., May 5.—Private cable advices received last night from Cordova, Alaska, report a mob boarded an Alaska Steamship Co.'s vessel when it arrived with a cargo of Canadian coal and began dumping the coal over board.

The action of the mob is said to be the result of agitation against the importation of foreign fuel.

It is asserted that the steamship company has appealed to President Taft to send troops to suppress rioting.

Several days ago agitators began urging the formation of a mob to emulate the "Boston Tea Party" of colonial days.

The trouble started as soon as it was announced that the Supreme Court would not take up until October the judgment quashing the suits against the English coal syndicate.

Fastest Funeral on Record.

Parrsboro, N.S., May 5.—Archibald McCaleny, who died at Green Hill on Monday, had the fastest funeral on record. The hearse left the house yesterday to go to the cemetery and when at the foot of the hill the driver got down to fasten the hearse door, the horses started before he could regain his seat and ran all the way to town, about two miles. The hearse was badly damaged.

Strike In Kingston.

Kingston, May 5.—The strike of the mason helpers is not yet settled. Seventy-five men are out. The bosses declare they will not pay the increase. The masons and stonecutters have been unable to settle their trouble over who shall cut cornices and work is being delayed.

Hurt In Runaway.

Woodstock, May 5.—William Smith, county road superintendent and well-known in municipal circles in Ontario, was seriously hurt yesterday afternoon in a runaway accident. He was thrown out of the rig and sustained numerous bruises on the head and arms.

Found Dead.

Ingersoll, May 5.—Mrs. James Levens was found dead on the floor of her home at six o'clock last evening by her husband on his return from work. Heart failure was the cause.

Trains Running Soon.

Cobourg, May 5.—The steel on the Canadian Northern Ontario Railway from Port Hope to Toronto is now down. As soon as the viaduct at Port Hope is completed, trains will ge able to operate between Cobourg and the city.

HOUSE WILL ADJOURN

Session Will Be Suspended From May 23 Till July 18.

Sir Wilfrid Holds a Conference With Mr. Borden and Accepts Suggestion—Government Supporters Are Not Pleased Because They Had Hoped For Prorogation—Hon. Mr. Graham Explains Amendment.

Ottawa, May 5.—A day of suspense as to the decision which would be reached by Sir Wilfrid Laurier regarding the Parliamentary session while he is in England at the Imperial Conference and the coronation ended late last evening, when it was announced that the Premier had finally made up his mind that the House will be adjourned for two months, from Tuesday, May 23, to Tuesday, July 18. Sir Wilfrid will sail for England on May 12.

He remained with the Opposition leader for about twenty minutes, and informed him that he had definitely accepted this one of the suggestions which Mr. Borden made in the House last week.

The Premier will make the announcement of the adjournment of the House to a caucus of the Liberal members, which has been called for to-day. It is learned that this action of the Premier will be very unpopular with the rank and file of his party, for the reason that they had hoped for a prorogation.

While it is true that there is great diversity of opinion as to the course which he should pursue, it is also certain that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has made up his mind definitely on the subject.

There is much jubilation amongst the Conservatives at the victory which the Opposition leader has gained over the Premier, who stated some time ago that he would not go to the Imperial Conference or the coronation unless the reciprocity agreement passed the House.

There are several details to be arranged, such as the passing of supply sufficient to carry on the work of the Government during the period of adjournment, but this will be done later.

Hon. Mr. Graham, Minister of Railways, explained to the Commons yesterday the provisions of his bill to amend the Railway Act.

The most important and radical change contemplated is one which provides that when a railway becomes dilapidated and unsafe for traffic, the Government subsidy given that railway can be regarded as a lien on the road, coming in even before a first mortgage, and the Government can sell out the company under this provision and put the road in safe condition. Mr. Graham explained that this provision might seldom, if ever, be exercised, but it was well to have some provision whereby the Government could compel an unsafe road to put its right of way and rolling stock in proper condition. To Mr. Northrup, Mr. Graham explained that this provision would be retroactive and include all roads which had received Government subsidies in the past, as well as all still to receive subsidies.

Among the other clauses were those providing that telephone, telegraph and express companies should report annually to the Government, just as railways do; providing for the appointment of forest fire patrols and apparatus preventing railways setting forests on fire; providing that railway lands not used for actual railway purposes may be expropriated the same as any other lands, providing that railways under construction must be fenced unless excused by the Railway Commission, the present law being that the railways need not fence unless the commission so orders; providing damages to owners of land by a highway down which a railway is allowed to run; providing for annual reports of accidents, as well as reports at any other time the Minister may request.

The bill also contains a provision abolishing the law that cattle must not be allowed to run in unfenced land within a half mile of railway; this was for the benefit of stock-raisers in the west where there are great stretches of unfenced lands, Mr. Graham explained, but he looked to local and provincial regulations to protect the farmers of that province.

Two Drowned.

Halifax, May 5.—Two brothers, Jos. and Bernard Duggan, aged 35 and 17, of Upper Prospect, lost their lives off Prospect Wednesday. They left their home in an auxiliary boat to attend to their trawls. The men did not return and a small steamer which arrived at Prospect at evening reported having seen an upturned boat and a man's cap floating on the surface of the water in the vicinity of the place where the Duggan brothers were last seen before a heavy squall came on.

Hamilton, May 5.—Mrs. Nichols, 29 Summit street, was perhaps fatally injured about nine o'clock yesterday morning by being struck by a G.T.R. passenger train at the Wentworth street level crossing. It is supposed that Mrs. Nichol, who is an elderly woman, failed to hear the train as it approached the crossing. The unfortunate woman had both legs broken and two ribs fractured, besides sustaining numerous cuts and bruises. Her recovery is doubtful.

His Skull Fractured.

Cobourg, May 5.—A sad fatality occurred in Hamilton Township late yesterday afternoon, when a young man named Roland Lonaberry undertook to go down a hill, having completed his work in the field, with a team of horses hitched to a field roller. The horses became unmanageable and he was thrown off, fracturing his skull and dying almost instantly. The young man's father resides at Warsaw.

Sold Whisky In Hay Loft.

Galt, May 5.—George Grey, a porter in a local hotel, was fined $100 yesterday for selling liquor in a local option district. He bought supplies in Preston and hid them in a hayloft. He sold only to farmers and outsiders and was doing a good business. Chief Gorman found about one and a half gallons of Scotch whisky in the hayloft.

AIRSHIP SMASHED.

London, May 5.—The Government has had the worst of luck with its dirigible airships. The Leabaudy dirigible, which was damaged while being put into its shed at Aldershot after a successful flight from Paris last summer, was totally wrecked at Farnborough on its first trial trip yesterday. A great naval airship, the construction of which has been surrounded by secrecy, and which was planned to take a spectacular part in the coronation naval review, was so badly damaged at Barrow Wednesday, that it cannot be taken out for months. The Leabaudy met disaster against a clump of trees and is a mass of ruins. Major Sir A. Bannerman, commandant of the air battalion at South Farnborough, and head of the Government's aeronauts, took the airship out of her shed last evening with a crew of seven. The Leabaudy ascended gracefully and traveled smoothly for some time. Finally the airship began to descend, and drifting almost helplessly, struck the trees. There was a great cracking and rending, and the bag exploded with a loud report. One of the crew was badly injured.

The Leabaudy was 337 feet long, and the naval airship 510 feet. The Clement-Bayard, 300 feet, which also sailed to England from France, is the only dirigible belonging to the Government which remains intact. This craft has not been tried since her arrival last fall.

Panic-Stricken at Small Fire.

New York, May 5.—Six hundred and fifty girls, employed in two shirt waist factories at 548 Broadway, in the downtown distsict, rushed screaming for the stairs from the third and fourth floors late yesterday afternoon at sight of a trifling awning fire below them. The congestion between floors became terrific, and a hand rail snapped, and thirty or more girls fell in a shrieking heap in a hallway below. Fourteen of them were injured, but none fatally, and only three were taken to hospitals.

Sandbagged and Robbed.

Montreal, May 5.—G. E. Smart, accountant in the offices of the harbor commissioners' office, was found drugged and stunned in the hall of the building yesterday morning. Thugs sandbagged and robbed him on the harbor front on his way home from work Wednesday evening and got away with a fine gold watch and some $30 in bills. Mr. Smart came to in a lane near the commissioners' office early yesterday morning and was just able to struggle to the offices, where he collapsed again.

Tuberculosis In Montreal.

Montreal, May 5.—The alarming spread of tuberculosis in Montreal was made the subject of a report to the Board of Control yesterday by Dr. J. E. Labarge. The doctor states that 64 per cent. of the deaths registered are from tuberculosis in the city at present.

Steamer and Schooner In Collision.

Boston, May 5.—The British steamer Bencliff and the four-masted schooner J. R. Teel, came together near Quarantine yesterday, both sustaining considerable damage above the water line.

Armin Czech of Hamilton was arraigned before Police Magistrate Rathvon yesterday at Bridgeburg and fined $50 and costs for landing in Canada a prohibited immigrant by the name of Stanislaw Kurdzil. The latter was fined $75 and costs.

Rev. L. G. Parker, a Methodist minister of Sterling, Neb., was driven out of town with stale eggs by irate citizens, following an investigation of his conduct with the daughter of a leading citizen. Parker is 57 years old, married, and has a daughter.

ITALYAN RUNS AMUCK.

Albertan Kills Demented Foreigner Who Attacked Women.

Nanton, Alta., May 5.—Wednesday afternoon a demented Italian was shot and instantly killed about sixteen miles east of Nanton by William Carrigan, a settler in that district. Carrigan has given himself up. According to witnesses, the tragedy was the result of an accident. The Italian, whose name is at present unknown, and who body lay all night and part of yesterday on the prairie, where he was shot, became violently deranged and attempted to attack some women living near. He armed himself with a razor, and endeavored to pull three women from a passing rig, his evident intention being to cut their throats, for he tried to reach them with the weapon. The women gave the alarm, and a half dozen men went in pursuit of the crazy foreigner, three on horseback and three in a buggy. Their intention was to catch and bind him. When they came in sight of the Italian he was chasing Mrs. Colerick, wife of a settler. Mrs. Colerick's husband is working in Calgary at present and she was alone.

When the Italian saw the pursuing men he turned to meet them. They stopped their horses when they came up to him, and he reached for the head of the horse that was drawing te rig. He was waving a razor, and in the bright sunlight it flashed like a revolver. The men in the rig thought it was a revolver, and Carrigan was evidently nervous, for the gun exploded; but the Italian was not hit.

Carrigan lowered his rifle and it went off again. Carrigan thought he had hit one of his friends, but when he looked the Italian was down, shot through the mouth. Death was instantaneous.

George Knott, alias Young, was yesterday sentenced at Montreal to four years in the penitentiary by Judge Loet for a series of hotel burglaries within the last two months.

The steamer Glenwort of the Montreal Transportation Co. went hard aground on a shoal near Nine Mile Light yesterday, with 80,000 bushels of wheat for Montreal in her hold.

One young woman is dead, and one man is missing as the result of a fire, starting with an explosion, which destroyed the works of the National Fireworks Co. in Belleville, N.J., yesterday.

The Dreadnaught cruiser Invincible was seriously damaged while being docked at Portsmouth on Tuesday for overhauling. She has given continual trouble ever since she was put in commission.

M. K. Everitts of Smith's Falls had a dispute with Mr. Bryce of Montreal at the Brockville Cheese Board regarding reciprocity, and to show his faith in the measure Mr. Everitts sold his holdings at the United States market price of July 15.

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF

CURES ASTHMA

The specifics for this disease are the Ready Relief, the Resolvent and Radway's Pills. The Relief must be rubbed on the chest and throat until a burning sensation is produced, and the Pills must be taken frequently, to keep the bowels thoroughly open. The Resolvent must be given at short intervals, in small doses, and a dessertspoonful on retiring to rest. Give a teaspoonful of the Resolvent whenever a paroxysm occurs. Extraordinary cures of Asthma have been accomplished by these means.

Ask for Radway's and Take No Substitutes.

WORK HAS BEGUN ON RAILWAY BRIDGE

Necessary Preparations Are Being Made—Raising The Grade

Work was commenced yesterday on a coffer dam to be used in connection with the construction of the C. N. G. R. bridge across the river Moira at a point just below No. 1 fire station.

The masonry in the piers to be placed in the river will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible.

This portion of the bridge construction is to be done by the firm of Henderson Bros. Who has the contract for the superstructure has not been learned.

A number of workmen are engaged on the west side of the river in raising the grade to the approach to the bridge some two feet. This was rendered necessary by some changes which were made to the first plan for the bridge.

A representative of The Intelligencer, in conversation with Mr. McInnis, contractor, who has a gang of men at work on the filling in over Jones' Creek, about 2 1-2 miles west of the city limits, learned that some 20,000 yeards of material were used in filling in, and some tons of cement were used in building a large culvert.

HIGHLY ESTEEMED CITIZEN DEAD

Mr. James Wallace Gone to His Reward—His Useful Career

In the death of Mr. James Wallace, which occurred at 6 o'clock last evening at the family residence, Front Street, a well-known and highly respected business man has passed away to his reward. Deceased had been in failing health for some time, and for two days his demise had been anticipated. In the year 1854 Mr. Wallace was born in the Emerald Isle, and for the past 37 years he had been a resident of this city. For a number of years deceased conducted successfully a confectionary business on Front Street. Although bound up, as it were, in his business, Mr. Wallace found time to attend to other matters. He was a useful member of the Board of Education, having been a few years ago appointed a High School trustee. In fraternal matters he was a member of the Masonic order. Deceased had been for some years a member of Bridge Street Methodist Church, being a trustee and a member of the Quarterly Official Board. In all these various official positions Mr. Wallace displayed executive ability. He was a man whom to know was to admire, and his demise is sincerely regretted by a host of friends.

In addition to the widow, a family of four sons and two daughters survive. The sons are Irwin, of Montreal, Claude, William and Russell at home. The daughters are Misses Mabel and May, at home. In addition to these, two brothers and two sisters survive, namely Messrs. Archie and Robert, of this city, and Mrs. J. Earle, of Picton, and Miss Mary A. Wallace, of this city. The funeral to-morrow afternoon will be under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity, and a public service will be held in Bridge Street Church.

STEAMER ALETHA STILL ASHORE

Strong Winds Stop Wreckers—Planks Are Separating

The steamer Aletha was still on the rocks near Fort Henry, in Navy Bay, Kingston, yesterday. She is lying on the right side, within a boat length of the shore, just where she struck. The Donnelly Wrecking Company is trying to release her, but she drove very hard on the rocks, and the sea which was rolling did not have much effect on her one way or another. The planks in her hull have separated, and let the water in. In the afternoon the wrecking crew endeavored to fill the cracks, but the sea which was rolling would not permit it.

As far as the crew is concerned the boat could not have struck in a better place. As far as the boat is concerned, no doubt, if she had struck in any other place than the one in which she did, the chances are that by this time she would have been pounded to pieces.

PARROT'S CRY, AT FIRE, STIRS CROWD

Firemen Expect to Rescue Human Being but Find Bird; Loss is $45,000

DETROIT, Mich., May 5—"Come ahead! Here I am!"

Thinking a human being was within the firemen renewed their energies, and a number of them forced their way through the ground floor of the building.

The cry again pierced the darkness of the interior, and the renewed energies of the firemen resulted in locating the spot from which the voice came.

It was coming from a parrot in the rear of a bird store that was being destroyed.

The bird and many others were saved. The fire caused a loss of $45,000.

ALLEGED FIRE-BUG WAS ACQUITTED

Magistrate Held John Lockwood Innocent, but Gave Him a Lecture

Before Magistrate Masson this morning John Lockwood was charged that he did, on the evening of April 26th 1911, set fire to a shed in the rear of the International Hotel.

To the charge he pleaded not guilty and elected to be tried by His Worship. Mr. Anderson represented the Crown and Mr. Carnew, the accused.

John Burke, sworn, testified that he was the proprietor of the International Hotel. On the evening of April 26 there was a slight fire at the hotel. Lockwood was about the place that evening but witness did not believe that he started the fire as when the alarm was sounded Lockwood ran into the yard with other parties. Witness heard a remark made by some one that the barns would be set on fire but he was unable to tell who made that remark.

Robert Burke, sworn, said he was a bartender for his father. On the afternoon of April 26, Lockwood and others were in the hotel and were drinking. There was some loud talking and quarrelling, but the parties were separated before any blows were struck. Lockwood again visited the hotel with three or four persons. Witness heard a remark about the barn being set on fire. When witness gave the alarm of fire Lockwood was on Front street. He never heard Lockwood make the threat. He had no idea how the fire originated. The fire started in a cutter which was hung up in a shed. The shed was supposed to be locked up at night. Witness did not detect any smell of oil. After the alarm was given Lockwood ran into the barn after water. Witness heard Lockwood make a remark about a fire saying the Haslip and Wardhaugh barns had gone and others would go. Lockwood was much under the influence of liquor at the time and witness did not pay any attention to the remark, believing it was made as a joke.

Maitland Sprague testified that he heard Lockwood say that the fire at Burke's was not much of a fire, but there might be another further down the street.

After some further evidence and remarks by counsel for and against the accused, the Magistrate acquitted Lockwood, intimating that his remarks were made whilst he was not altogether in his right mind, but under the influence of liquor. He caution Lockwood to be careful in the future about making statements of a nature that might be used as evidence against him.

Zam-Buk Healed Baby's Sores

Mrs. C. Pardy, of 479 Seigneurs St. Montreal, writes:—"I cannot tell you how thankful I am for the cure Zam-Buk has worked in the case of my baby son. He was troubled with scalp disease and I tried everything I could think of, but in vain. Finally I tried Zam-Buk. I could see an improvement after two applications! After persevering with the Zam-Buk treatment he is now completely cured. Zam-Buk is certainly a wonderful balm, and I shall always keep it on hand."

Mothers should use Zam-Buk for all children's skin sores, ringworm, scalp sores, cuts, chafings, bruises, etc., because of its great purity. Also cures piles, eczema, bad leg, varicose sores, etc. 50c. box, all druggists and stores.

Zam-Buk Soap, 25c. tablet is best for baby's bath and for delicate skins.

LIVELY RUNAWAY THIS MORNING

The Vehicle was Badly Damaged, but Nobody Was Hurt

A lively runaway occurred on Front Street this morning, but fortunately no person was injured. A horse belonging to the Seymour Power Company and attached to a buggy became frightened near Victoria Avenue, and off it started down the street at a good pace. It was thought the animal would plunge into an excavation on the thoroughfare just south of Campbell Street, but it swerved off to one side, and the animal escaped injury, but the vehicle was considerably damaged. The horse was stopped before reaching Bridge Street.

The Fountain Head of Life Is The Stomach

A man who has a weak and impaired stomach and who does not properly digest his food will soon find that his blood has become weak and impoverished, and that his whole body is improperly and insufficiently nourished.

Dr. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY makes the stomach strong, promotes the flow of digestive juices, restores the lost appetite, makes assimilation perfect, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and restorative nerve tonic. It makes men strong in body, active in mind and cool in judgement.

This "Discovery" is a pure, glyceric extract of American medical roots, absolutely free from alcohol and all injurious, habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients are printed on its wrappers. It has no relationship with secret nostrums. Its every ingredient is endorsed by the leaders in all the schools of medicine. Don't accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this time-proven remedy of KNOWN COMPOSITION. ASK YOUR NEIGHBORS. They must know of many cures made by it during past 40 years, right in your own neighborhood. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

BETTING MACHINES.

It has been decided by the O.J.C. to have eleven machines at the Woodbine during the coming meeting for handling bets for first place, and five each for second and third. So that everybody wishing to do so may make a wager, three of the machines will handle $10 tickets, four $5 and four $2. Of course it is understood that it will be impossible to in any way limit a man as to how many tickets he may purchase on any one race, but there is no doubt that the machines will stop a lot of plugging usually seen at race tracks and at any rate a certain undesirable element who usually follow bookmakers will be eliminated by the presence of the machines.

LONG DISTANCE CHAMPIONSHIP.

The four mile race which will be run in Kentucky this fall is attracting the attention of horsemen all over the continent, and already two Canadian owners have the intention of being represented in this interesting event. Mr. Dyment, with Chief Kee, and Mr. Davies, with Fair Annie, have an eye on the gold cup and the distinction that will accrue to the winner. The estimated cash value of the race is $10,000, and a $1,000 gold cup will be presented to the owner of the champion. The race is for three-year-olds and up, weight for age. Subscription of $100 must be made not later than June 1, which entitles the subscriber to nominating one, two or three horses by July 15, only one of which may start. The starting fee is $250. The Kentucky State Racing Commission has taken charge of the race, which is the suggestion of Major Daingerfield, one of its members. It will be run on a track to be chosen by the commission, which will be named prior to the opening of the fall season. Manager Winn of the Louisville Jockey Club says that if the class of entry is good his club will give $10,000 to have the race run at Churchill Downs. Entry blanks for the Endurance Stakes can be had at The Globe sporting department.

BOXING.

CHICAGO IS OPEN.

CHICAGO, May 4.—Mayor Carter H Harrison and Chief of Police McWeeney yesterday put the stamp of approval on boxing in Chicago, provided the bouts were "on the square." Mayor Harrison said:—"If the promoters can avoid scandals, I will permit boxing if the bouts are legalized at Springfield. If boxing is allowed there would be no reason to suppress pictures of six-round contests or more pretentious bouts." Chief McWeeney said:—"I like boxing, and I like to see boxing, provided it is on the level. I think all boxing matches should be under the supervision of city officials."

BARRY BEAT SMITH.

OAKLAND, Cal., May 4.—Jim Barry won a popular decision here last night over Gunboat Smith at the end of a six-round bout.

BAR KIDNEY BLOW.

After a verdict had been given in the trial of Dick Knock at the Liverpool Assizes, Mr. Justice Avory cautioned boxers generally upon the practice of boxing with one arm free and the use of the kidney punch. His Lordship said the use of the kidney punch would inevitably lead other boxers into similar trouble.

WELLS AND HAGUE.

The London Sporting Life says of the Wells-Hague fight:—"It was obvious right at the start that the bout was going to be fought out on the anticipated lines. Wells was going to box, and Hague was going to fight. Using his beautiful long left, Wells stabbed Hague again and again in the face on the nose, but with little apparent effect. Hague lashed out viciously left and right, and the body was his objective. Twice Wells blocked vicious right swings with his elbow. Once he beat him to it with a straight left that sent Hague's head back with a jerk."

And it was on this jabbing that Wells won, though in bad condition a couple of times.

MORRIS SHOWED WELL.

Moving pictures of the fight between Carl Morris, the Oklahoma giant, and Mike Schreck were shown in New York the other day, and a select crowd of ring followers inspected them with interest. Morris towered over Schreck in such a manner that the latter looked like the fat boy in Pickwick. The big locomotive engineer who hopes to be Jack Johnson's conqueror some day, seemed to play with Schreck, refraining from administering excessive punishment until he was sure of his ground. But when Morris started to unload his tremendous hooks and swings it was all over. Schreck, according to the pictures, took an unmerciful beating and was subjected to a terrific knockout. The films showed that Morris is a wonderful man physically, a trifle slow and inexperienced in science but a natural fighter. His appearance on the screen prompted much favorable comment. Morris has agreed to fight Tom O'Rourke's big pupil, Albert Palzer, at Tulsa, Okla., on July 4. Palzer is 6 feet, 2 inches tall and weighs 212 pounds in fighting trim.

A Consul for Regina.

Even the city states in German Europe have diplomatic corps—gentlemen with Vandyke beards and monocles, whose main function is to dance and dine and, on the side, keep the ice to the heated brows of rambunctious nationalists. Regina has gone in for a consulate—quite a new sign of progressiveness indeed. Dr. Jones, American Consul-General for Canada, has told Washington to despatch a diplomat instantly to Saskatchewan's capital. As yet, the name of this diplomat of the plains has not been announced. He will have at least one distinction — he will be first in the [illegible] west of Winnipeg.

THE MARKETS.

Liverpool Wheat Futures Close Lower, Chicago Higher—Live Stock —Latest Quotations.

CHICAGO, May 4.—Higher prices for wheat were scored to-day than at any time since February. Dry weather northwest and congestion in the May option here brought about the advance. The close was at nearly the top level reached, ⅛c to 1⅛c to 2c above last night. Corn gained ⅜c to ¼c to ⅜c net, and oats ⅛c to ⅜c to ⅝c. The end of the day left hog products irregular, strung out from 2½c rise to 15c decline.

The Liverpool market closed to-day unchanged to ¼d lower on wheat and ⅜d lower on corn, compared with yesterday. Paris wheat closed ¼c to ½c lower; Antwerp, ⅜c lower; Buda Pest, 2c lower, and Berlin, ½c lower.

LIVERPOOL, May 4.—Closing—Wheat—Spot, dull; No. 2 red western winter, no stock; futures, steady; May, 6s 10⅛d; July, 6s 10⅝d; Oct., 6s 9⅜d. Flour, winter patents, 27s 6d. Hops in London, Pacific coast, £4 15s to £5 15s.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, May 4.—The foreign demand for wheat was poor, with bids 1½c to 2c per bushel out of line. There continues to be considerable enquiry for oats, and bids in some cases were 1½c higher, but the majority of them were ½c to ¾c per bushel below sellers' views. The local market is strong at an advance of ½c per bushel for Canadian western, with sales of round lots of No. 2 ex-store at 40½c. Some millers report a fairly active trade in spring wheat flour for export account, while others state that the bids coming forward are 20c to 30c per barrel below their views. The local and country demand is increasing and the undertone to the market is firm.

Oats—Canadian western, No. 2, 40½c to 41c, car lots ex-store; extra No. 1 feed, 40¼c to 40½c; No. 3 C.W., 39½c to 40c; No. local white, 39c to 39½c; No. 3 local white, 38½c to 39c; No. 4 local white, 37½c to 38c. Flour—Manitoba spring wheat patents, firsts, $5.30; seconds, $4.80; winter wheat patents, $4.50; strong bakers, $4.60; straight rollers, $4 to $4.10; in bags, $1.80 to $1.90. Rolled oats—Per barrel, $4.25; bag of 90 lbs., $2.05. Corn, American, No. 3 yellow, 60c to 61c. Millfeed—Bran, Ontario, $23 to $24; Manitoba, $22 to $23; middlings, Ontario, $24 to $25; shorts, Manitoba, $23 to $24; moullie, $25 to $30.

Cheese—Westerns, 11½c to 11¾c.

Butter—Choicest, 21c to 21½c.

BELLEVILLE IS TAKING A LONG STEP FORWARD

Building Operations on an Extensive Scale—Biggest in the City's History—Activity in All Parts—Several Extensive Jobs Undertaken and More in Prospect—Small Dwellings in Great Demand—Rents and Real Estate Have Greatly Advanced—City's Prospects Never so Bright as Now—Belleville is Booming

That building operations in the city this year will be much more extensive than for years past, in fact more than in any previous year, there can be no doubt. There never was such a demand for bricklayers, stonemasons and their helpers as this spring. Not only will many private residences be built, but other buildings of a more pretentious character

Already the Deacon Shirt Company have about completed the rebuilding of their factory building on Coleman street, which was destroyed by fire on the 7th of January of this year.

A large addition to the City Hospital, costing upwards of $30,000, was commenced some weeks ago, and is being rushed to completion.

Excavation for the foundation of the new Y.M.C.A. building to be erected on Campbell St. is about completed. This will be a substantial and attractive structure, provided in every respect with the needs of such an institution.

Within a few days ground will be broken on the Lingham property facing Dundas, William and Ann Sts for the erection of a ten-room school house. This school will be up to date in every respect and will cost upwards of $20,000.

Plans have been prepared which show extensive alterations and improvements to Holloway Street Methodist church. It is estimated that the cost will be in the neighborhood of $5,000. The plans show an alteration to the main entrance of the sacred edifice, also a change in the seating arrangements. It is confidently expected that the work will be under taken this season.

West Belleville.

In this section of the city there are a number of dwellings in the course of construction and others may be bult beforie the season closes.

On Yeomans Street Mr. Wm Schryver is erecting a brick dwelling

Mr. James Malyea is building a residence on Cedar Street.

Mr. W. J. Andrews will build a double house adjoining his residence at the foot bridge.

Dr. Platt is building a brick house on the lot adjoining the footbridge.

Mr. R. Andrews is erecting a house on the west side of Coleman street between Catherine and Henry Sts.

Mr. Bert Backus will have a house erected on the north side of West Bridge St., upon a vacant lot east of St. John's Church, between Isabel and Cedar Sts.

Mr. Joshua Lang has commenced the erection of a brick house on the north side of Catherine St., just west of Dunbar St.

Mr. A. Brown will erect a residence an the north side of Holloway street facing Holloway St. church.

Mr. A. Ostrom is making decided improvements to his residence on Cedar St. by building an addition to it.

East Belleville.

Many residences, some of them being fine buildings, are already in course of consturction in the eastern part of the city and the prospects are that more will be erected before the snow flies again.

Mr. Clifford Walker will, we are informed, erect an up to date residence on Bridge St.

Mr. W. R. Deeton is building a brick house on Victoria Avenue, just east of Dr. Tracy's residence.

Mr. H. F. Forward is erecting a brick house on George street.

Mr. French, a G. T. R. employee is having built a bungalow residence on Alexander St.

Mr. Thomas Givens is having erected a brick residence on Alexander St

Ald. Sills contemplates the erection of a brick residence on William St.

Mr. A. Stapley will have built on Chatham St. a frame dwelling at a cost of about $1,600.

Mr. John Fitzgerald's new residence on Bleecker Avenue will cost in the vicinity of $3,000.

On Bleecker Avenue Mr. Matthew Willoughby is building a fine brick residence at a cost of about $3,500.

Ald. Flagler has built on the corner of Bleecker Avenue, a brick residence with store attached, costing $3,500.

Mr. John Donovan is erecting a residence on Pine St.

Mr. James Patricks will erect a brick dwelling on Chatham St. at an estimated cost of $2,500.

A frame dwelling is being built on Church St. for Mr. Wm. Lynch.

Mr. Wm. Jenkins purchased a frame dwelling on Front St. and has had it removed to a vacant lot on Ann St. and will remodel and greatly improve the same, putting in modern conveniences and a cellar.

Mr. Charles Blaylock, a G.T.R. employee, is having erected on the north end of Albert St., a fine brick residence.

C.N.O.R. Purchases.

The location of the C.N.O.R. through the city has had the effect of having a number of buildings and residences bought by that company at good figures. The Isolation Hospital on the Kingston Road, was bought by the company from the city, the consideration being $16,000. The sum of $14,000 was paid for the skating rink, and $6,000 for the curling rink. The company also paid the city $1,000 for the right of way required through the city property near the pump house.

Mr. Joseph Ferdinand is expending about $2,000 in making improvements to his premises on the corner of Dundas and Pinnacle Sts..

Mr. F. E. O'Flynn is making improvements to his residence on Bridge St., which will cost about $1,500.

Mr. W. J. Brown, who resides on Ann St., is having extensive improvements made to his residence.

Mr. W. Rodbourne has removed a double house to a site on Turnbull street and three single dwellings to sites on Church St.

Ald. Parks, who purchased the Dowsey residence on Church St., between Bridge and Dundas Sts., had it transformed into a double house at cost of several hundred dollars.

This list is extensive, but by no means is it exhaustive. There are many other new buildings yet to be noted.

METHODIST CHURCH WILL BAR WOMEN

Women will not be allowed to represent the Methodist churches throughout the Dominion at the annual conferences. This momentous question for Methodism, brought up by the British Columbia Conference was unanimously decided at the annual meeting of the Court of Appeal of the Methodist church yesterday.

At the present time the district meetings, annual and general conferences are composed entirely of men The lay members are appointed by the quarterly official board of different churches on which women may act.

The Court also confirmed the power of the quarterly and trustee boards of the individual congregations as to delegating their financial functions to a special finance board, but the business of the quarterly and trustee boards must be transacted separately

HOME RULE BILL HAS BEEN PREPARED

LONDON, May 5.—The Times this morning says that differences of opinion exist in the Cabinet concerning the Home Rule Bill which has been some time in preparation. It is intended to establish a separate Irish exchequer. Nationalists demand that England at the outset pay thereinto fifteen millions of pounds sterling as the nest-egg, apart from the annual subsidy. This question is found difficult.

There is also a divergence of views as to the number of representatives to be retained at Westminster, and as to the conditions of their retention.

SHORT-WEIGHT CHEESE SENT TO SCOTLAND

J. A. Findland, Inspector at Glasgow, Reports Serious Losses

OTTAWA, May 5—Dealing with the question of cheese imported into Scotland, James A. Findland, inspector at Glasgow reports:— "There is still a depressing feature of the Canadian cheese trade, in respect that the accuracy of marked weights cannot be relied on, and importers find it essential to test thoroughly the weights of each shipment for shortage, particularly during the summer months. It is a serious matter to importers, who have contracted to take a factory's weekly output, to find the cheese arrive showing from one-half to two or three pounds short weight per box, not to speak of odd boxes turning up five to ten pounds lighter than the marked weight, which, viewed in the most favorable light, can only be considered gross carelessness Importations into Glasgow of Canadian cheese last year fell off 35,000 boxes. It is attributable to a heavier output of Scotch cheese, and also to the strike making many idle. Butter importations from Canada to Glasgow are also decreasing on account of the high price of the Canadian article."

FUNERAL OF THE LATE JAS. WALLACE

The funeral of the late Mr. James Wallace took place this afternoon, being under the auspices of the Masonic fraternity. There was a large turnout of the brethren. At 2.30 the cortege was formed and proceeded to the Bridge street Methodist church, where an impresive service was held, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Bishop The bearers were members of the Masonic Society, and were Bros. H Pringle, H. J. Clarke, J. H. P. Young R. Arnott, S. Burrows and Mayor Ackerman.

ILLUSTRATED LECTURE AT BRIDGE STREET

Under the auspices of the Home Circle a stereopticon lecture was given in Bridge Street church last evening by Miss Imogene Palen. The subject was "Strangers within our Gates" The subject was superbly illustrated and was ably handled by the speaker. A large number were present and were much impressed with the views and by the speaker. Rev. Dr. Bishop was chairman of the gathering.

A FINE PROGRAMME OF SCHOOL SPORTS

Pupils of Queen Victoria and High Schools Competed in Athletic Sports—Boys and Girls Made a Good Showing of their Skill—Names of the Prize Winners—A Series of Similiar Contests Arranged for—Prizes to be Awarded at End of Season

Yesterday afternoon, at the close of school, a programme of sports was carried out on the playground in front of Queen Victoria School, the contestants in which were pupils of that school and the High School, which not only attracted all the scholars of those schools, but also many spectators. The scholars entered heartily into the spirit of the sports, and in each event there were many competitors. It is proposed to have a similar programme at all the schools during the season. A record of the winners will be kept, and in the fall the competitors having the greatest number of points to their credit will receive prizes, which they will no doubt appreciate.

The programme yesterday was arranged by Mr. Sovereign, Physical Director of the Y.M.C.A., who was ably assisted by some members of the teaching staff of the school. The events and the successful competitors were as follows:

Girls' race, under 11 years, 25 yards—Henrietta Fenn, 1st; Helen Clarke and Audrey Mikel, tie for 2nd and 3rd.

Boys' race, 11 to 14 years, 40 yards—Kelso Roberts, 1st; Austin Bowyer, 2nd; Arthur Rogers, 3rd.

Potato race for boys, 11 to 14 years—Geo. Clapper, 1st; Harry Sills, 2nd; Arthur Rogers, 3rd.

Throwing baseball by girls—Kathleen Moxam, 1st, 94 1-2 feet; Helen Thompson, 2nd, 92 feet 7 inches; Gussie Taylor, 3rd, 75 feet 5 inches

Standing broad jump for boys under 11 years—Geo. Clapper, 1st, 5 feet 8 inches; Arthur Blackburn, 2nd, 4 feet 4 3-4 inches; Harry Sills, 3rd, 4 feet 11 inches.

Running broad jump, boys, 11 to 14 years—Bid Bunting, 1st, 11 feet 9 1-2 inches; Arthur Bowyer, 2nd 10 feet 7 inches.

Running high jump, boys, 14 years and over—Walter Roblin, 1st, 4 feet 4 inches; Geo. Gulliver, 2nd, 4 feet 2 inches; Harold Bateman, 3rd, 4 feet.

Putting shot, boys, 14 years and over—Reuben Cooper, 1st, 34 feet 1 inch; Walter Roblin, 2nd, 27 feet 2 inches; Geo. Gulliver, 3rd, 27 feet 1 inch;

CURRENT COMMENT

Twenty-three years ago Thursday namely, May 4th, 1888, Belleville was covered with three inches of snow so Mr. D. V. Sinclair informs us.

The French population of Ontario is steadily growing. There are now over 200,000 French speaking people in this province, out of a total population of approximately two millions or a ratio of one to ten.

St. Catharines, like Guelph, which latter place has been boasting of its low tax rate, hasn't been laying up for a rainy day, in providing interest and sinking fund for its debentures, and now finds itself behind to the extent of $210,000. Its a sorry way to finance.

The United States has not all the uncrowned kings. Great Britain is to the front in this, as in many other matters. King George is yet uncrowned although he became a king just a year ago to-day, on the death of his father King Edward VII. And he is not only a king but an emperor as well.

Settlers in unorganized portions of the province no longer have the right to kill two deer for their own use. By an Order-in-Council just passed this privilege, granted in 1900, has been revoked. But the settlers, "actually living upon and tilling their own land," in the unorganzed districts are alloiwed to kill one deer in season for their own use without having to secure a license. The one deer cannot be 'sold or bartered..'

The "Conqueror," Great Britain's twentieth Dreadnought, was launched on the Clyde this week. The vessel is the third "contingent" battleship ordered in December, 1909, when the admiralty came to the concluion that Germany was accelerating her programme for the same type of warship. The "Conqueror" is a duplicate of the "Thunderer" which was launched on February 1. She has a displacement of 22,680 tons, and will be equipped with turbines of a total of 27,000 horse power permitting a contract speed of 21 knots an hour. The vessel is 584 feet in length and will be armed with ten 13.5 inch guns and twenty-four 4-inch guns.

Over in the United States the slogan against the germ disseminating fly is everywhere meeting with response says the Toronto World. The boy scouts and the school children are being enlisted in the cause of public health, and the campaign so instituted should become universal. The house fly and the mosquito brethren in arms against humanity have been tried and proven guilty in the one court whose judgments are not only final, but unappealable. Science has traced some diseases at least to their origin, or at least to their efficient cause. The slogan 'swat the fly,' on its first emergence into the light of day and the home should be in every household, but of even greater importance is the elimination of its breeding places. Here the scouts and the school children can be enlisted as fly-fighters. They can do no better service.

BIG MARKET TODAY BUT FEW CHANGES

Live Hogs Much Lower—Chickens and Potatoes Way Up

To-day's market was one of the largest which has been held here for some time, and in consequence a large quantity of farm produce was offered for sale. Prices, as a rule, were about the same as last week, there being but one or two changes.

Butter was plentiful and the ruling price was 21c. and 22c. per pound. In some instances 23c. was obtained.

Fresh eggs were also offered for sale in abundance and were sold at 17c. and 18c. per dozen.

A scarce article which is natural at this season of the year is dressed poultry. Chickens sold at $1.00 to $1.50 per pair, and there was not an abundant supply at these quotations.

Potatoes are rather scarce and sell readily at $1.00 per bag and in some cases $1.10 was asked.

During the week the hog market has taken a further drop and the price paid now is but $5.75 for live weight, being the lowest price reached here for some time. Dressed pork sells at $8.50 to $8.75 per hundred weight.

Many small pigs were offered for sale and in nearly every case $5 per pair was the price asked and obtained

There is no change to note in the hide market.

Fall Wheat—90c. to $1.00.
Spring wheat—95 to $1.00.
Oats, new—40c. to 42c.
Barley—55c to 60c.
Rye—65c
Peas—65c to 70c.
Buckwheat—60c. to 65c.
Timothy—$2.75 to $3.00.
Clover, red—$9 to $10.
Alsike—$8 to $10.
Hay—$10 to $12 per ton.
Straw—$2.50 to $3.50 per load.
Butter—21c. to 23c.
Apples—35c. to 45c. per peck.
Potatoes—$1.00.
Fresh eggs—17c. to 18c.
Packed eggs—16c. to 18c.
Live Hogs—5.75.
Dressed Hogs—$8.50 to $8.75.
Dressed Beef—$8.75 to $9.25.
Spring Lamb—15c to 18c.
Mutton—9c. to 11c.
Ducks—$1.50 to $2.00 per pair.
Chickens—$1.10 to $1.60.
Geese—$1.50 to $2.50
Turkeys—$2 to $5.50.
Veal Hides—11c. per lb.
Lamb skins, No.1.—$1.10.
City hides, trimmed—7½c.
Country hides, trimmed—7c.
Horse hides—$2.60 to $2.75.

LEADERS IN SESSION

Borden, Hazen, McBride and Others Dine Together.

They All Declare Unalterable Opposition to Present Reciprocity Treaty With the United States—Mr. Borden Will Make a Western Tour This Summer — Bowser Refers to McBride Going to Ottawa.

Ottawa, May 6.—R. L. Borden, the Opposition leader, entertained at dinner last night in the Parliamentary restaurant, Premier McBride of British Columbia, Premier Hazen of New Brunswick, Hon. Robert Rogers of Manitoba, Hon. Mr. Bowser of British Columbia, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Senator Lougheed, Senator Poirier, the Conservative members of Parliament and several other prominent Conservatives from the provinces.

Noting that there were present representatives of every province in Canada, Mr. Borden said:

"Canada to-day is confronted with the greatest issue which this country has ever witnessed since 1867. I will not weary you with a discussion of that question, but I ask you to remember that in 1902 and again in 1907, the Government of this country, in the Imperial Conference at London pledged itself to the policy of preferential trade between the United Kingdom and the great dominions of the Empire, and affirmed by resolution that such a policy would stimulate mutual commercial intercourse and strengthen the Empire. Consider the proposed agreement with the United States to which our Government claims to have pledged the honor of Canada, and tell me whether it does not absolutely destroy any prospect of consummating that policy of reciprocity within the Empire.

"If there is any doubt upon this question, let the answer given by a very great statesman, the President of the United States, on the 26th of January last in his message to Congress. He emphasized the statement that Canada is at the parting of the ways. As Mr. Foster has well asked, what are the two ways to which the President alludes? One is the path of closer relation with the great Empire whose flag floats over us, and the other, is the path which leads to closer and closer relations with the United States by means of a trade agreement from which that country excludes the rest of the Empire.

He quoted at length from the President's speeches.

Premier McBride declared his Government and the Province of British Columbia opposed reciprocity. He said that such an agreement must draw the people of Canada and the United States closer together, and the only result of that could be that the Empire and Canada would be drawn further away from one another.

Mr. McBride announced that Mr. Borden would make a western tour this summer.

Hon. J. D. Hazen said that reciprocity struck no answering chord in New Brunswick. He urged Mr. McBride and Mr. Rogers to stand for Federal constituencies at the next general elections as lieutenants to Mr. Borden.

Hon. Robert Rogers condemned reciprocity.

Hon. Mr. Bowser pointedly referred to the fact that Mr. McBride was about to enter the Federal arena. He said he could see the heads of the trimmers and the McGillicuddys coming up over the fence now that the Conservatives were near power.

The Widow Was Comforted.

"There is no accounting for the construction which some people will put upon certain passages of Scripture," remarked a clergyman. "I remember the story of one clergyman who went to call on a woman whose husband had recently died. He had expected, quite naturally, to find her heartbroken with the burden of her sorrow and was greatly surprised when she greeted him with a very happy smile and ushered him into the parlor.

"'Well—er—sister,' he said at length, 'you have my warmest sympathy.'

"'Thank you, doctor,' replied the widow casually. 'I did feel very bad, very bad indeed. But I came across a verse of Scripture which comforted me very much indeed.'

"'And what was the verse, sister?' inquired the clergyman.

"'I don't remember just where to find it,' replied the widow, 'but it was made up of only four words—four helpful words—"Why need I care?"'"

No Shirking.

YOU CAN DEFY HEADACHE!

Yes you can, with a box of ZUTOO Tablets in your pocket or home.

Taken when you feel a headache coming on, one little tablet will ward it off—nip it in the bud. Taken later it will cure the headache in twenty minutes.

Why then continue to suffer when a box of ZUTOO will make you headache proof. You would be suprised to know how many people, who never before used a headache remedy, are now using ZUTOO Tablets. Why not you?

SOLD CHEESE AT PRICE RULING U. S.

BROCKVILLE, May 5.—At the opening meeting of the Cheese Board to-day, Andrew Henderson was elected president, and M. K. Everitts, of Smith's Falls, auctioneer. Mr. A. J. Bryce, of Montreal, was present and addressed the Board, arguing that reciprocity would be of no benefit to the farmer. Mr. Everitts took exception to this, holding that the United States market would be a good one for the cheesemakers, and offering to sell his combination to Mr. Bryce for the price that would rule in the United States market by July 15. Mr. Bryce promptly accepted the offer, and the incident closed.

Why So Anxious?

In a previous article The Intelligencer noted the fact that President Taft, Mr. J. J. Hill and certain of the United States newspapers are anxious for reciprocity with Canada as a means of heading off the movement which is making great headway in the mother country for strengthening the Empire by means of preferential tariffs between the various Dominions under the British flag.

It can hardly fail to be within the recollection of the reader that President Taft, in the first message with which he transmitted the proposed agreement to Congress, held forth, as inducements for its adoption, the exploitation of the natural resources of Canada to furnish material for U. S. manufacturers, and a reduction of the cost of living in his country by the importation of food products from Canada. These inducements have, through the logic of facts, been proved illusory, as the legislation of the Provincial Legislatures will prevent the intended raid on our natural resources, and it has been found that the prices of food products are a little higher in Canada than they are on the other side of the line. This is particularly the case with regard to live stock, eggs and cheese—so decidedly so, indeed, that were it not for the customs duties which were adopted as part of the National Policy under Conservative rule for the protection of the farmers the Canadian market would be flooded with the cheaper products of the United States, to the great detriment of the agriculturists of the Dominion. Even under the existing tariff, lambs and cattle have been imported from Chicago to Toronto and after the duty had been paid, sold at a lower price than the native products.

It is no matter for wonder, then, that the American dealers in live stock are pressing for the opening to them of the Canadian market.

In spite, however, of the facts given above the Americans are still clamoring for reciprocity as a means of providing raw materials for their manufacturers, as evidence of the correctness of which statement we present the following, copied from a recent issue of the Buffalo Express:

> A business enterprise must of necessity consider all phases of general conditions and haste is made slowly when large sums of money are to be invested in a business which must pay a certain percentage of profit from the start. This business sentiment is to-day feeling the deadweight of uncertainty that is hanging over the general financial situation on account of the long delay in getting Supreme Court decisions on the trust cases and, in Buffalo, more particularly, the uncertainty as to what the Senate will do with the reciprocity agreement.
>
> It is estimated that 25 per cent. of the orders for raw materials from established industries in Buffalo are contingent upon the adoption of the trade pact between the two countries, and at least one big realty deal will be declared off if the measure fails of passage by the extra session of Congress and the Dominion Parliament.
>
> The Real Estate Association is alive to the situation and will be represented on the Chamber of Commerce delegation which will go to Washington when Senate committee hearings on the measure begin.

And that is one of the great objects of the Americans in proposing reciprocity with Canada—to provide, from our natural resources, material for their manufacturing establishments.

Is not it the duty of Canadians—a duty dictated by an enlightened self-interest—to retain our present tariff and thereby derive the advantage and profit of working up at home those raw materials which are so coveted on the other side of the line? It would be a suicidal policy to do otherwise; and yet that is just what Messrs. Laurier, Fielding, Paterson & Co. ask the people of Canada to sanction.

In a future article The Intelligencer will deal further with other phases of the proposed agreement.

TOO CLEVER. Viscount Milner says that the tariff relief agreement between Canada and the United States would disintegrate the Empire, which goes to show that there are some things which he knows not of.—Globe.

In attempting to be smart, our contemporary has only succeeded in being inaccurate. Lord Milner did not say what the Globe attributes to him, but "I am not sure that the Canadian negotiators realize what they are letting themselves into, for political annexation is undoubtedly contemplated by a large portion of U. S. A. people. The present agreement is only a beginning." That is quite different from the language which the Globe attributes to him.

Ireland England's Pantry.

A recent report of the Department of Agriculture and Technical Instruction of Ireland make a significant showing of the increasing material importance of that country to the British Empire.

It appears that Ireland rapidly is becoming the granary of the United Kingdom. During 1909 Ireland shipped more cattle into the mainland than all other countries combined. Irish farmers sold their customers across the United Kingdom $17,641,602 worth of butter and $13,933,846 worth of eggs. Poultry to the value of $4,171,933 and bacon and hams to the aggregate of $16,870,730 went to swell the trade account.

When England discovers that her people must depend on Ireland for the bread they eat, the grievances of the island will acquire more than political importance.

AT THE BEEHIVE

Chas. N. Sulman.

Kingston, Too.

Kingston, May 6.—Hon. Adam Beck has consented to address a meeting here next week on the power question. He has a proposition to offer the city in the way of cheap power, and wishes to give it before leaving for England. He says he has closed arrangements with a Waddington, N.Y., company to deliver 60,000 horse-power to eastern Ontario. The report that the Seymour Co. made another offer to the city has made the Hydro-Electric Commission look keenly after its interests.

In discussing the power question The Whig says that the city should put the offer of the Hydro-Electric Commission before an expert and see if it is better than that of the Seymour Co.

A Generous Offer.

Brantford, May 6.—The Massey-Harris Co. has come to the fore with an offer of $10,000 toward the Y.M.C.A. $100,000 fund campaign, which will open next week. In case the full amount is not realized the company will donate one-tenth of the total amount.

To Freshen a Lace Waist.

A tight cut lingerie waist of white lace and embroidery gains wonderfully in elaborateness by the addition of the latest French fancy. This is a broad band of net in a pastel shade, embroidered in soutache braid of the same color and applied just over the bust. With this is worn one of the new neck scarfs of chiffon, in a color that exactly matches and with the ends embroidered in the soutache. Both of these are easily made up at home by any clever needlewoman and will go a long way toward hiding the deficiencies of a pretty but aging lingerie waist. The chiffon scarf is especially charming when embroidered its entire length with large coin dots in satin stitch.

Burglars at Brockville.

LATE TELEGRAPHIC NEWS

EXPECTED TO RESIGN

Diaz Is Said to Be Determined on Stepping Out.

President of Mexico Summons Chief Members of His Cabinet to His Office and Long Conference Occurs—Belief In Capital Is That He Has Realized the Gravity of the Situation and Will Yield.

Mexico City, May 6.—The resignation of Porfirio Diaz as President of Mexico within a very short time is regarded here as certain. Should the announcement of his intention to resign be made to-day, it would cause no surprise to the members of the Cabinet.

No authoritative confirmation of this could be secured, but there appears little doubt that President Diaz, recognizing the seriousness of the situation and responding to the popular demand, will retire when order is restored.

At the President's office yesterday no statement could be secured, and the members of the Cabinet, realizing that Diaz was the only man who could give a direct answer to the demands of Francisco I. Madero, jr., the revolutionary leader, that Diaz should make known publicly his intention to retire from office, were silent.

At one o'clock yesterday, Minister of Foreign Affairs De la Bara, was peremptorily summoned to the office of the President. On arriving there, he found Senor Limantour, Minister of Finance, who likewise had been summoned. The three officials were in conference for hours. Immediately afterwards typewritten statements were issued by the Foreign Office to all the newspapers saying that the reception to the Chilean Minister set for to-day, and the banquet for the same official, scheduled for to-night, had been postponed until May 12. The reason for this change in the plans was given as "the slight illness of the President." The President's indisposition is known to be slight, but on orders from his physician, he must remain indoors.

PRESIDENT DIAZ.

Since the statement was issued, Gen. Diaz is known to have been out riding in his automobile. Yesterday morning he was apparently in his usual health. This, in connection with the fact that the conference was held, gives rise to the belief that the announcement of his intention to resign will not be made before to-night at the earliest.

In the event of his abdication, there will be no opposition on the part of the present Government to De la Bara assuming the Presidency.

The question of Vice-President Corrals is not so simple. It is known that before leaving for Europe, he refused to resign and that since arriving there he has reiterated this statement. But this is regarded as merely incidental. The officials consider the resignation of Diaz the only solution to the trouble. Reluctantly they admit the growing strength of the rebels and realize that peace is improbable should he antagonize them further.

Railroad traffic continues demoralized. A train arriving yesterday from the north, brought a story of a hold-up by 500 rebels at Lulu, a station 90 miles south of Saltillo. The rebels searched the train but did not molest the passengers. From the express car they took some thousands of pesos, however.

The War Department is silent on the subject of Torreon, Saltillo and Durango, which are reported to have been captured by the rebels.

Canon Starr Accepts.

Kingston, May 6.—Canon George L. Starr, M.A., assistant rector of St. George's Cathedral, yesterday announced he would accept the call to the rectorship of Grace Church, Toronto. He will be indicted early in June. Canon Starr has been connected with St. George's for fourteen years, is beloved by the entire congregation, and his loss will be keenly felt. He is a native of Brockville, and a graduate of Trinity College.

Passed Second Reading.

London, May 6.—The limited woman's suffrage bill introduced yesterday, was supported by Chancellor Lloyd George, Foreign Secretary Grey, Attorney-General Isaacs, Keir Hardie and the Laborites.

The bill passed the second reading stage by a vote of 255 to 88, and was referred to a committee of the whole House.

Patrolmen Dismissed.

Cleveland, O., May 6.—Four more patrolmen were dismissed late yesterday, leaving only one of fifteen, who headed a revolt against "Golden Rule" Chief Frederick Kohler, two weeks ago, to be tried on a charge of insubordination.

TRIAL ON JUNE 1.

MacNamara Brothers Are Arraigned on Nineteen Counts.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 6.—John J. MacNamara, secretary and treasurer of the International Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' Association, and his brother, James B. MacNamara, were arraigned late yesterday before Superior Judge Bordwell on nineteen indictments, charging murder in causing a dynamite explosion in The Los Angeles Times building, and the consequent death of 21 men. Attorney Rappaport of Indianapolis for the MacNamaras, asked for thirty days' time in which to enter pleas for the men. District Attorney Fredericks consented to a postponement till June 1, and that time was fixed by Judge Bordwell.

Expressed No Opinion.

Washington, May 6.—A telegram from San Francisco saying placards were being distributed throughout the state quoting Dr. J. A. Holmes, director of the bureau of mines, as declaring that the wreck of The Los Angeles Times plant was due to gas explosion, and not dynamite, evoked quick response last night. Director Holmes made the following statement:

"Neither the bureau of mines nor the director of the bureau possess any information that would demonstrate the cause of the explosion in The Los Angeles Times building. The director of the bureau of mines has neither given out any opinion as to the cause of that explosion nor has he authorized any person to express an opinion for him on that subject."

FIRED FROM WINDOW.

Drunken Freak of Young Montrealler Two Are Hurt.

Montreal, May 6.—Crazed by constant drinking, Jos. Belleau, a young French-Canadian residing at 287 Delisle street, seized a revolver yesterday afternoon and opened fire from a front window at passers-by on the street. Mr. D. Mallette, a neighbor, was wounded in the back, and Constable Mailleux in the arm in attempting to arrest him. Neither victim is seriously injured.

When the police finally forced their way into the house by a rear entrance they found Belleau had collapsed, and was dying in a drunken stupor on the floor. His mother, with whom he had been living, said that he had been drinking heavily, and had the idea that he was being persecuted by humanity in general.

Found the Knife.

Goderich, May 6.—The knife with which Edward Jardine is alleged to have murdered Lizzie Anderson, is now in the hands of the authorities. Shortly after Jardine's trial it was learned that a knife had been found near the spot where Jardine said he threw the weapon. It has been forwarded to Toronto for minute examination. A boy found the knife on the lake shore shortly after Jardine's arrest. It is a medium-sized, black-handled one, with two blades, and there were bloodstains on the hilts of the blades. The finding of the knife goes to corroborate the evidence of those witnesses who said Jardine had such a knife in his possession.

Power for Montreal.

Montreal, May 6.—The incorporation of the National Hydro-Electric Co. with a capital of $1,000,000, makes one more electrical company which will seek a market in Montreal.

Henry Miles is the president of the new corporation, and Mr. Louis Gosselin the secretary. The Carillion Falls on the Ottawa River, 35 miles from Montreal, will be the source of the power. This point is a strategic one in the rush for power development, was noticed in the report of the surveyors for the Georgian Bay Canal, who considered that 148,000 horse-power could be developed, of great value, owing to its proximity to the city of Montreal.

P.E.I.'s New Premier.

Halifax, May 6.—H. J. A. Palmer, K.C., member for the district of Fort Augustus in the Provincial Legislature, has been made Premier of Prince Edward Island in succession to Hon. Mr. Haszard, appointed to the Supreme Court Bench this week.

Mr. Palmer is 60 years of age, and was born in Charlottetown, his father being a former chief justice of the province. He was educated in Charlottetown and at King's College, Nova Scotia. In 1876 he was admitted to the Bar. Hon. Mr. Palmer has represented Fort Augustus in the Provincial Legislature for eleven years.

New Issue of Commerce Stock.

Montreal, May 6—The Bank of Commerce officially announced yesterday afternoon that it will issue 40,000 shares of new stock at 180 to shareholders of record of May 17th. As the shares are $50 par, this will mean $2,000,000 of new stock, bringing the paid up capital to $12,000,000.

The directors announced that $1,000,000 had been added to the rest account, which will amount to $8,000,000.

Commerce stock has recently gone up 10 points and sold yesterday afternoon at 230.

An Aeronautic School.

Montreal, May 6.—H. A. Somerville, an old member of the staff of The Daily Witness hopes to have his aeronautic school in operation by July 1. It will be situated at King Edward Park, and will include a factory for building the machines, and a garage to accommodate their own and any outside machines. Those who care to undertake this fascinating, but expensive sport will also be given tuition.

Telegraphers to Meet.

Toronto, May 6.—The convention of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, which comes to Toronto next week, is to be well entertained by the city and local membership. Among the chief events will be a reception at Massey Hall on Monday evening, at which Sir James Whitney will tender the order an address of welcome. Mayor Geary will also address the convention.

PLAYING WITH BRODEUR

Taylor Says U. S. Is Film-Flamming the Minister.

Discussing Fisheries Treaty, New Westminster Man Says That Instead of Small Changes the American Senate Has Made Drastic Changes—American Standpoint Is Wrong, Says Minister.

Ottawa, May 6.—J. D. Taylor (New Westminster), in the Commons yesterday discussed the fisheries treaty with the United States. He said the Congressional records at Washington showed that so far, from the size of the meshes of the nets being the limit of the proposed alterations, as Hon. Mr. Brodeur had stated to Parliament, the American Senate had made the most drastic alterations in the regulations. Indeed the fate of the treaty was problematical.

Mr. Taylor declared that the Minister, was being played with by the other parties to the agreement. There had been a breach of international honor. There had been a gross breach of the written pledge of honor in striking out clauses of the agreement. One of the most valuable considerations Canada had received was the agreement to regulate fishing on Puget Sound, where Canadian salmon were being wantonly destroyed with traps without any regulations whatever to control the destruction. This regulation had been stricken out. He had no doubt the same was going on in Lake Erie.

Mr. Taylor said the Minister of Marine and Fisheries was confronted with the most serious duty, namely, to see that in an affair of this kind honor was observed. The time had passed, he said, when sharp practice should be allowed to continue.

Hon. L. P. Brodeur explained that the delay in bringing the regulations into effect was due to the fact that in the United States the treaty making power was vested in the Senate, which had not yet seen fit to pass upon them.

President Taft had sent a message to the Senate recommending the ratification of the regulations, with the exception of certain provisions relating to Lake Huron, and not Lake Erie, as had been stated.

Hon. Mr. Foster argued that the treaty itself, having been ratified by both Great Britain and the United States, it was therefore, binding and neither country had a right to vary the terms of the treaty, except by joint revision. Mr. Foster declared that the Minister had defended the attitude of the American Government. At any rate, he had not entered a protest on behalf of Canada. Mr. Brodeur denied this.

Mr. Brodeur could not see what right the American Senate had to revise the regulations under its treaty making powers, although it might have the right under its legislative. The American contention, he said, was wrong, from the standpoint of common sense.

In the House yesterday, preceeding the consideration of the estimates of the Militia Department, Sir Frederick Borden submitted an explanatory statement. He pointed out that the increase in the ordinary vote were: Annual drill, $150,000; clothing, $100,000; Royal Military College, $25,000, and cadet corps (new vote), $50,000. The first increase was due to provision for 4,000 additional troops, and a larger camp at Petawawa. The training establishment of the ensuing year would total 60,000 men and 13,000 horses. The new vote for the cadet corps included $15,000 for permanent force instructors, $14,000 for expense of school teachers at military schools of instruction, $10,000 as allowances to school teachers who have qualified as instructors at the rate of $1 each cadet instructed, and $11,000 for equipment of cadets instructed. The only additional cost in the pay of the staff will be for six general staff officers, for which $20,000 is asked. Four of these are to fill positions in the new divisional organizations in eastern Canada, which are to take the place of commands and districts, one at headquarters and one for the west—namely, the three districts west of Port Arthur.

Substantial increases of certain officials in the Customs and Postoffice Department, are given notice of by Messrs. Paterson and Lemieux. Mr. Lemieux gives notice that it is expedient to amend the Postoffice Act by providing for increase of salaries of superintendents of city postoffices, until a maximum of $2,500 is reached. The present maximum is $1,800. Also to raise the minimum and maximum salaries of railway mail clerks to $500 and $1,400 respectively. The present minimum is $400 and the maximum $1,400. An amendment to the Civil Service Act will change the classification of the clerks in the city postoffices, offices of the postoffice inspectors, offices of the superintendent of railway mail service, and in the money order exchange offices, by abolishing the stampers and sorters class and fourth-class clerkships, and substituting third-class clerkships, ranging from $500 to $1,000, and divided into two classes to be known as third-class "A" and "B."

It is also proposed to abolish junior and second-class clerkships and substitute classes "A" and "B" of the second-class, and increasing the number of the class formerly known as junior second, to $1,200, and increasing the maximum of the former senior second-class to $1,400. First-class clerkships will be divided into divisions "A" and "B," with salaries of $1,800 and $1,000 respectively. The minimum salaries of first-class clerkships will be increased from $1,200 to $1,400, and a new class of clerks, to be known as chief clerks, will be created in city postoffices, subject to certain restrictions.

Carling Out of Danger.

London, May 6.—Senator Sir John Carling, who was Thursday seized with a fainting spell, spent a restful night. At 11 o'clock he was sleeping well, and is reported out of danger.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

The Liberal caucus at Ottawa decided in favor of the two months' adjournment.

Thomas W. McCluskey, who was shot by William Bragdon at the latter's house at Woodstock, N.B., is dead.

Duncan J. Robertson, a prominent and highly esteemed resident of the north branch, near Cornwall, died Thursday night from the effects of a fall in one of his barns.

Gerald McDonald and Alfred Housey were convicted of burglary and theft of furs from A. A. Allen & Co., Toronto, yesterday. They were sent to the Central Prison for a year.

In connection with their program of improvements that the C.P.R. has mapped out for their western lines a new bridge has been built over the Kaministiquia River at Fort William.

Vincent Abel, the six-year-old son of L. Abel of Dunnville, was drowned yesterday in Sulphur Creek, a branch of the Grand River. He had been given permission to go fishing along with some other boys.

The swearing-in of Chief Justice Langelier as Lieutenant-Governor of the Province of Quebec took place to-day. The appointment of Judge F. X. Lemieux as Chief Justice was announced yesterday.

John Lockwood, accused of incendiarism at Burke's Hotel, was yesterday acquitted at Belleville by the police magistrate. The evidence showed that the accused had no connection with the matter.

While on her knees in prayer at the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Windsor, Ont., yesterday Mrs. Christine Janisse, aged 85, was seized with a cerebral hemorrhage and died within a few minutes. She was one of the oldest of the settlers in Sandwich East.

Free List Bill.

Washington, May 6.—Representative Warburton of Washington, a newly elected Republican member of the House of Representatives, announced his intention of supporting the Democratic free list bill, in a speech in the House yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Warburton said many of the Republican criticisms of the bill were undoubtedly well founded, but others overdrawn. He believed the bill would not do all its Democratic sponsors expected of it, but it was a step in the right direction. He urged taking off the duty on sugar.

Mr. Bartlett attacked the so-called "cotton bagging trust." He declared the southern farmers were discriminated against, in that cotton bagging which dutiable, while binding twine was free of duty, and that southern planters had paid $5,000,000 to the alleged "bagging trust," in five years.

Must Not Discriminate.

Toronto, May 6.—At a sitting of the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board yesterday afternoon it was decided not to approve of any contract between any local telephone company and the Bell Telephone Co., which prevents a local telephone company from taking or transmitting messages from any other local telephone company with which it now connects or with which it may in future connect.

"The board will not approve of any agreement which will have the effect of preventing or restricting intercommunication, joint operation or reciprocal rights between telephone companies under its jurisdiction," stated Chairman Leitch.

Too Peaceable?

London, May 6.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The Morning Post, anent American warships on the great lakes, says:

"It is easy to understand that Laurier is handicapped by the anti-militarism of sections whose electoral support is indispensable to his Government and may prefer to let the Americans continue their violation of the treaty rather than take the necessary measures counteracting this palpable menace. If this policy eventually leads to trouble, the British taxpayer has to face the responsibility of restoring the balance of power on the lakes by sending warships, since Canada will not have any ready to send."

Well-Known Character Dead.

Woodstock, May 6.—John O'Hanley, a well-known character here, who spent most of his days in jail, was found dead on the street in Elmwood, Bruce County, Thursday night. O'Hanley started on a tramp to Owen Sound a few weeks ago, to see some friends. He had fallen by the wayside and expired many miles from his journey's end. He was 70 years old, and lately had been an inmate of the Oxford House of Refuge. It was the old man's boast that he was the only prisoner in the jail who was allowed the privilege of going down town in his prison garb unattended.

Constables Killed In Duel.

Pennington Gap, Virginia, May 6.—Constable John Hax, who came down from St. Charles to help town marshal George Hinkle keep order while a circus was in town, arrested an unknown man for a trivial offence. Hinkle interfered, saying he would do the arresting himself. While the prisoner got away, Hax and Hinkle exchanged shots. Both are dead.

National Peace Congress.

Baltimore, Md., May 6.—The National Peace Congress has adopted resolutions approving the Anglo-American arbitration treaty; calling on the Government to make each state responsible for outrages on foreigners within its borders, and pledging support to the Centennial of Peace with Canada celebration.

Earl Grey Competition.

Ottawa, May 6.—The judgments are in for the Earl Grey musical and dramatic competitions at Winnipeg, and are in the hands of the permanent committee here, who have also under consideration with them some protests which have been entered. It will be a day or so before the latter are decided.

A Probable Suicide.

St. Catharines, Ont., May 6.—Robt. Wheeler, a Hamilton man who had been working at the Reo motor-car works here, is believed to have committed suicide.

He was boarding at the Grand Central Hotel. One day about two weeks ago he left, saying he was going for a walk.

Yesterday the wife of the proprietor found a letter to the effect that he intended to do away with himself.

"Joy Ride" May Claim Three Lives.

Newgurgh, N.Y., May 6.—As the result of a "joy ride" early yesterday morning Mrs. Anna Tomer, aged 44, is dead and Mrs. Pearl Grant, aged 21, and the chauffeur, John Campbell, fatally hurt. A fourth party disappeared.

The car ran into a ditch, struck a wall and turned over.

Calculating.

"She realizes how much more of his income he would have left after paying alimony than she now allows him for car fare and lunches."—Washington Star.

MINISTERS PRAISE CATARRHOZONE

Rev. D. K. Smith, of White Head, N. S., was Cured of Catarrh by Catarrhozone.

"For years I tried all the advertised remedies for Catarrh, but was unable to get relief until I used Catarrhozone. Before I had used the inhaler half an hour my nostrils became so free and clear that I could breathe easily through them. In one day Catarrhozone helped me immensely, stopping my coughing and hawking and cured a dull pain that was continually over the eyes. I have great pleasure in recommending Catarrhozone and diseases of the throat lungs and bronchial tubes."

There is certainly no remedy so well spoken of by the clergy as Catarrhozone, and this can be accounted for by the fact that it gives perfect satisfaction.

It is the only remedy that reaches all diseased parts and gives quick relief without bad after effects. Catarrhozone contains no cocaine nor morphine. It is Nature's own remedy soothing, healing, and pleases everybody that uses it.

Catarrhozone is a local and constitutional treatment. The Inhaler clears the air passages, stops the headache, and Ferrozone tablets that are included with every complete Catarrhozone outfit, never fail to drive impurities from the blood. This builds up and strengthens the system so that Catarrhal conditions cannot exist.

The speediest cure for Coughs, Colds, Catarrh, Bronchitis, Asthma, is Catarrhozone. Two months' treatment, price $1.00; small size, 50c., at druggists.

EXPECTED TO RESIGN

Diaz Is Said to Be Determined on Stepping Out.

President of Mexico Summons Chief Members of His Cabinet to His Office and Long Conference Occurs—Belief in Capital Is That He Has Realized the Gravity of the Situation and Will Yield.

Mexico City, May 6.—The resignation of Porfirio Diaz as President of Mexico within a very short time is regarded here as certain. Should the announcement of his intention to resign be made to-day, it would cause no surprise to the members of the Cabinet.

No authoritative confirmation of this could be secured, but there appears little doubt that President Diaz, recognizing the seriousness of the situation and responding to the popular demand, will retire when order is restored.

At the President's office yesterday no statement could be secured, and the members of the Cabinet, realizing that Diaz was the only man who could give a direct answer to the demands of Francisco I. Madero, jr., the revolutionary leader, that Diaz should make known publicly his intention to retire from office, were silent.

PRESIDENT DIAZ.

At one o'clock yesterday, Minister of Foreign Affairs De la Bara, was peremptorily summoned to the office of the President. On arriving there, he found Senor Limantour, Minister of Finance, who likewise had been summoned. The three officials were in conference for hours. Immediately afterwards typewritten statements were issued by the Foreign Office to all the newspapers saying that the reception to the Chilean Minister set for to-day, and the banquet for the same official, scheduled for to-night, had been postponed until May 12. The reason for this change in the plans was given as "the slight illness of the President." The President's indisposition is known to be slight, but on orders from his physician, he must remain indoors.

Since the statement was issued, Gen. Diaz is known to have been out riding in his automobile. Yesterday morning he was apparently in his usual health. This, in connection with the fact that the conference was held, gives rise to the belief that the announcement of his intention to resign will not be made before to-night at the earliest.

In the event of his abdication, there will be no opposition on the part of the present Government to De la Bara assuming the Presidency.

The question of Vice-President Corrals is not so simple. It is known that before leaving for Europe, he refused to resign and that since arriving there he has reiterated this statement. But this is regarded as merely incidental. The officials consider the resignation of Diaz the only solution to the trouble. Reluctantly they admit the growing strength of the rebels and realize that peace is improbable should he antagonize them further.

Railroad traffic continues demoralized. A train arriving yesterday from the north, brought a story of a hold-up by 500 rebels at Lulu, a station 90 miles south of Saltillo. The rebels searched the train but did not molest the passengers. From the express car they took some thousands of pesos, however.

The War Department is silent on the subject of Torreon, Saltillo and Durango, which are reported to have been captured by the rebels.

Canon Starr Accepts.

Kingston, May 6.—Canon George L. Starr, M.A., assistant rector of St. George's Cathedral, yesterday announced he would accept the call to the rectorship of Grace Church, Toronto. He will be indicted early in June. Canon Starr has been connected with St. George's for fourteen years, is beloved by the entire congregation, and his loss will be keenly felt. He is a native of Brockville, and a graduate of Trinity College.

Passed Second Reading.

London, May 6.—The limited woman's suffrage bill introduced yesterday, was supported by Chancellor Lloyd George, Foreign Secretary Grey, Attorney-General Isaacs, Keir Hardie and the Laborites.

The bill passed the second reading stage by a vote of 255 to 88, and was referred to a committee of the whole House.

Patrolmen Dismissed.

Cleveland, O., May 6.—Four more patrolmen were dismissed late yesterday, leaving only one of fifteen, who headed a revolt against "Golden Rule" Chief Frederick Kohler, two weeks ago, to be tried on a charge of insubordination.

TRIAL ON JUNE 1.

MacNamara Brothers Are Arraigned on Nineteen Counts.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 6.—John J. MacNamara, secretary and treasurer of the International Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' Association, and his brother, James B. MacNamara, were arraigned late yesterday before Superior Judge Bordwell on nineteen indictments, charging murder in causing a dynamite explosion in The Los Angeles Times building, and the consequent death of 21 men. Attorney Rappaport of Indianapolis for the MacNamaras, asked for thirty days' time in which to enter pleas for the men. District Attorney Fredericks consented to a postponement till June 1, and that time was fixed by Judge Bordwell.

Expressed No Opinion.

Washington, May 6.—A telegram from San Francisco saying placards were being distributed throughout the state quoting Dr. J. A. Holmes, director of the bureau of mines, as declaring that the wreck of The Los Angeles Times plant was due to gas explosion, and not dynamite, evoked quick response last night. Director Holmes made the following statement:

"Neither the bureau of mines nor the director of the bureau possess any information that would demonstrate the cause of the explosion in The Los Angeles Times building. The director of the bureau of mines has neither given out any opinion as to the cause of that explosion nor has he authorized any person to express an opinion for him on that subject."

FIRED FROM WINDOW.

Drunken Freak of Young Montrealler Two Are Hurt.

Montreal, May 6.—Crazed by constant drinking, Jos. Belleau, a young French-Canadian residing at 287 Delisle street, seized a revolver yesterday afternoon and opened fire from a front window at passers-by on the street. Mr. D. Mallette, a neighbor, was wounded in the back, and Constable Mailleux in the arm in attempting to arrest him. Neither victim is seriously injured.

When the police finally forced their way into the house by a rear entrance they found Belleau had collapsed, and was dying in a drunken stupor on the floor. His mother, with whom he had been living, said that he had been drinking heavily, and had the idea that he was being persecuted by humanity in general.

Found the Knife.

Goderich, May 6.—The knife with which Edward Jardine is alleged to have murdered Lizzie Anderson, is now in the hands of the authorities. Shortly after Jardine's trial it was learned that a knife had been found near the spot where Jardine said he threw the weapon. It has been forwarded to Toronto for minute examination. A boy found the knife on the lake shore shortly after Jardine's arrest. It is a medium-sized, black-handled one, with two blades, and there were bloodstains on the hilts of the blades. The finding of the knife goes to corroborate the evidence of those witnesses who said Jardine had such a knife in his possession.

Power for Montreal.

Montreal, May 6.—The incorporation of the National Hydro-Electric Co. with a capital of $1,000,000, makes one more electrical company which will seek a market in Montreal.

Henry Miles is the president of the new corporation, and Mr. Louis Gosselin the secretary. The Carillion Falls on the Ottawa River, 35 miles from Montreal, will be the source of the power. This point is a strategic one in the rush for power development, was noticed in the report of the surveyors for the Georgian Bay Canal, who considered that 148,000 horse-power could be developed, of great value, owing to its proximity to the city of Montreal.

P.E.I.'s New Premier.

Halifax, May 6.—H. J. A. Palmer, K.C., member for the district of Fort Augustus in the Provincial Legislature, has been made Premier of Prince Edward Island in succession to Hon. Mr. Haszard, appointed to the Supreme Court Bench this week.

Mr. Palmer is 60 years of age, and was born in Charlottetown, his father being a former chief justice of the province. He was educated in Charlottetown and at King's College, Nova Scotia. In 1876 he was admitted to the Bar. Hon. Mr. Palmer has represented Fort Augustus in the Provincial Legislature for eleven years.

New Issue of Commerce Stock.

Montreal, May 6—The Bank of Commerce officially announced yesterday afternoon that it will issue 40,000 shares of new stock at 180 to shareholders of record of May 17th. As the shares are $50 par. this will mean $2,000,000 of new stock, bringing the paid up capital to $12,000,000.

The directors announced that $1,000,000 had been added to the rest account, which will amount to $8,000,000.

Commerce stock has recently gone up 10 points and sold yesterday afternoon at 230.

An Aeronautic School.

Montreal, May 6.—H. A. Somerville, an old member of the staff of The Daily Witness hopes to have his aeronautic school in operation by July 1. It will be situated at King Edward Park, and will include a factory for building the machines, and a garage to accommodate their own and any outside machines. Those who care to undertake this fascinating, but expensive sport will also be given tuition.

Telegraphers to Meet.

Toronto, May 6.—The convention of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, which comes to Toronto next week, is to be well entertained by the city and local membership. Among the chief events will be a reception at Massey Hall on Monday evening, at which Sir James Whitney will tender the order an address of welcome. Mayor Geary will also address the convention.

PLAYING WITH BRODEUR

Discussing Fisheries Treaty, New Westminster Man Says That Instead of Small Changes the American Senate Has Made Drastic Changes—American Standpoint Is Wrong, Says Minister.

Ottawa, May 6.—J. D. Taylor (New Westminster), in the Commons yesterday discussed the fisheries treaty with the United States. He said the Congressional records at Washington showed that so far, from the size of the meshes of the nets being the limit of the proposed alterations, as Hon. Mr. Brodeur had stated to Parliament, the American Senate had made the most drastic alterations in the regulations. Indeed the fate of the treaty was problematical.

Mr. Taylor declared that the Minister was being played with by the other parties to the agreement. There had been a breach of international honor. There had been a gross breach of the written pledge of honor in striking out clauses of the agreement. One of the most valuable considerations Canada had received was the agreement to regulate fishing on Puget Sound, where Canadian salmon were being wantonly destroyed with traps without any regulations whatever to control the destruction. This regulation had been stricken out. He had no doubt the same was going on in Lake Erie.

Mr. Taylor said the Minister of Marine and Fisheries was confronted with the most serious duty, namely, to see that in an affair of this kind honor was observed. The time had passed, he said, when sharp practice should be allowed to continue.

Hon. L. P. Brodeur explained that the delay in bringing the regulations into effect was due to the fact that in the United States the treaty making power was vested in the Senate, which had not yet seen fit to pass upon them.

President Taft had sent a message to the Senate recommending the ratification of the regulations, with the exception of certain provisions relating to Lake Huron, and not Lake Erie, as had been stated.

Hon. Mr. Foster argued that the treaty itself, having been ratified by both Great Britain and the United States, it was therefore, binding and neither country had a right to vary the terms of the treaty, except by joint revision. Mr. Foster declared that the Minister had defended the attitude of the American Government. At any rate, he had not entered a protest on behalf of Canada. Mr. Brodeur denied this.

Mr. Brodeur could not see what right the American Senate had to revise the regulations under its treaty making powers, although it might have the right under its legislative. The American contention, he said, was wrong, from the standpoint of common sense.

In the House yesterday, preceeding the consideration of the estimates of the Militia Department, Sir Frederick Borden submitted an explanatory statement. He pointed out that the increase in the ordinary vote were: Annual drill, $150,000; clothing, $100,000; Royal Military College, $25,000, and cadet corps (new vote), $50,000. The first increase was due to provision for 4,000 additional troops, and a larger camp at Petawawa. The training establishment of the ensuing year would total 60,000 men and 13,000 horses. The new vote for the cadet corps included $15,000 for permanent force instructors, $14,000 for expense of school teachers at military schools of instruction, $10,000 as allowances to school teachers who have qualified as instructors at the rate of $1 each cadet instructed, and $11,000 for equipment of cadets instructed. The only additional cost in the pay of the staff will be for six general staff officers, for which $20,000 is asked. Four of these are to fill positions in the new divisional organizations in eastern Canada, which are to take the place of commands and districts, one at headquarters and one for the west—namely, the three districts west of Port Arthur.

Substantial increases of certain officials in the Customs and Postoffice Department, are given notice of by Messrs. Paterson and Lemieux. Mr. Lemieux gives notice that it is expedient to amend the Postoffice Act by providing for increase of salaries of superintendents of city postoffices, until a maximum of $2,500 is reached. The present maximum is $1,800. Also to raise the minimum and maximum salaries of railway mail clerks to $500 and $1,400 respectively. The present minimum is $400 and the maximum $1,400. An amendment to the Civil Service Act will change the classification of the clerks in the city postoffices, offices of the postoffice inspectors, offices of the superintendent of railway mail service, and in the money order exchange offices, by abolishing the stampers and sorters class and fourth-class clerkships, and substituting third-class clerkships, ranging from $500 to $1,000, and divided into two classes to be known as third-class "A" and "B."

It is also proposed to abolish junior and second-class clerkships and substitute classes "A" and "B" of the second-class, and increasing the number of the class formerly known as junior second, to $1,200, and increasing the maximum of the former senior second-class to $1,400. First-class clerkships will be divided into divisions "A" and "B," with salaries of $1,800 and $1,600 respectively. The minimum salaries of first-class clerkships will be increased from $1,200 to $1,400, and a new class of clerks, to be known as chief clerks, will be created in city postoffices, subject to certain restrictions.

Carling Out of Danger.

London, May 6.—Senator Sir John Carling, who was Thursday seized with a fainting spell, spent a restful night. At 11 o'clock he was sleeping well, and is reported out of danger.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

The Liberal caucus at Ottawa decided in favor of the two months' adjournment.

Thomas W. McCluskey, who was shot by William Bragdon at the latter's house at Woodstock, N.B., is dead.

Duncan J. Robertson, a prominent and highly esteemed resident of the north branch, near Cornwall, died Thursday night from the effects of a fall in one of his barns.

Gerald McDonald and Alfred Housey were convicted of burglary and theft of furs from A. A. Allen & Co., Toronto, yesterday. They were sent to the Central Prison for a year.

In connection with their program of improvements that the C.P.R. has mapped out for their western lines a new bridge has been built over the Kaministiquia River at Fort William.

Vincent Abel, the six-year-old son of L. Abel of Dunnville, was drowned yesterday in Sulphur Creek, a branch of the Grand River. He had been given permission to go fishing along with some other boys.

HOLLOWAY ST. S. S. HELD ANNUAL MEETING

A Highly Successful Year in All Departments--Officers and Teachers

The annual meeting of Holloway Street Methodist Church Sunday School was held last night, when reports were received from all departments showing encouraging aspects.

The total enrolment (exclusive of Cradle Roll and Home Department) showed 370 scholars of all ages enrolled, an increase of 27 for the year, although 125 new scholars were received, showing the shifting aspect of the cause in this part of the city.

The financial report for the year showed total receipts from all sources of $461, all of which was disbursed for local needs, with generous appropriations for missions and connectional interests.

Superintendent—P. F. Canniff.
Secretary—G. S. Kerr.
Assistant—G. Brower.
Treasurer—J. G. Vandusen.
Librarians—M. Hagerman and Miss I. McCrudden.

LOCAL BALL LEAGUE NOW ORGANIZED

All Arrangements for Five Teams—Ground to be Selected

A large and enthusiastic meeting of baseball fans was held last evening in the parlors of the City Hotel, and to say that it was an interesting one would be putting it mildly. It was one of the largest gatherings in the interests of the game that ever met in Belleville to discuss the prospects of the coming season, which promises to excel anything ever previously undertaken in this direction.

After the meeting had been called to order, Mr. J. V. Truaisch took the chair and read the minutes of the previous meeting.

This was followed by the election of officers, with the following result:

Hon. President—Mayor Ackerman.
President—Mr. Wm. Carnew.
1st Vice-President—Dr. H. A. Yeomans.
2nd Vice-President—Mr. Robert Colling.
Treasurer—Mr. J. V. Truaisch.
Secretary—Mr. Bert McCoy.

It was the opinion of the members of the respective teams present that the President, 1st Vice-President and 2nd Vice-President should act as a Managing Committee.

The Secretary, after election, took his chair and the meeting proceeded with the following matters under discussion.

There will be five teams in the league, as follows:—Grand Trunks, Rolling Mills, Coleman's Flats, Ontarios and T. A. S. Their representatives were:

Grand Trunks—Mr. H. Walker and Mr. Phil. Flagler.
Rolling Mills—Messrs. Bert McCoy, Elvins, Chown and Murphy.
Coleman's Flats—Messrs. Jas. Clement and Robt. Burke.
Ontarios—Mr. Wm. Thompson.
T. A. S.—Messrs. J. V. Truaisch and Edward Lee.

Mr. Phil. Flagler, of the Grounds Committee, explained very fully the necessity of having whatever grounds were to be used as a ball park properly laid out, so as to enable the players to play the game as it should be, thus allowing the fans to witness good baseball on a smooth diamond, if the same could be accomplished.

He was followed by the genial umpire, Mr. Wm. Cochrane, who gave his opinion that the Belleville Driving Park, if put into proper shape, would be the best place to play the game.

After some discussion on this question, it was finally decided that a committee should be appointed to confer with Mr. Cochrane as to whether or not the games should be played on the driving park. This committee is to meet next Monday evening, May 8th.

The question of the schedule was the next topic.

This is to be drawn, along with a set of rules, next Tuesday evening, May 9th.

The date for the opening of the League has not yet been finally decided upon, but it is thought that in all probability it will be Saturday, June 3rd.

The meeting was a long one, occupying some two hours and a half.

Among some of the old-time players and fans present were: Messrs. Walter Gerow, Jack Connell, "Skit" Campbell, "Sun" Watkins, "Billy" Clement, "Dutch" Gorman, Jas. Clement, Tommy Smith, "Gauzie" Phillips, Jack Fitzgerald, Steve Flagler, Herb. Carter, Twirler Purtle, of Kingston, Jimmy Smith and many others. The game is now off to a good start and a record season is expected.

SEEKING A SITE FOR MARSH & HENTHORN

Big Prices Asked for Properties Which Are Assessed at A Low Figure

A meeting of the Industrial Committee of the City Council, presided over by Ald. Bogle, chairman, was held yesterday afternoon. The object of the meeting was to consider the matter of securing a site for the location of the Marsh & Henthorn industry's new premises. Nothing definite was, however, accomplished, owing to the fact that it seems almost impossible to secure the property on a site which was preferable, namely in the vicinity of the rolling mills.

A valuator of property interviewed the parties who are the owners of the property in question, and it was shown that E. T. Cherry wanted $1,000 for a lot assessed at $60. Elizabeth Lapalm wanted $1,500 for a parcel assessed at $400, and a parcel owned by a party named Goyer assessed at $360 could be procured for $1,500. Upon some other property adjoining owned by Col. Ponton a price was not obtained. In view of this fact, The Intelligencer is informed that the Assessor will be instructed to revise the assessment of these properties.

The committee have, however, in view six other properties, and the matter of a site will be further considered at a meeting to be held within a few days.

FIFTEENTH REGIMENT HAD A MARCH OUT

The Fifteenth Regiment paraded last night and the turnout was fairly creditable. Under command of Col. Stewart the regiment left the armories and proceeded up Front Street to Victoria Avenue and thence to George Street, returning to the armories, where company drill was indulged in for some time. Both regimental bands were out and the marching music furnished by the bands was good.

Mrs. Wm. Seeds, of Belleville, was in town for a few days this week.—Mr. Archie Abbott was in Belleville on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.—Trenton Advocate.

Mr. Andrew Elvins, of Toronto, who is an uncle of Mrs. John N. Pringle and Messrs. Charles, Frank and George Elvins, of this city, celebrated his eighty-eighth birthday yesterday. Mr. Elvins in early life was a Cornish miner, and he afterwards worked in Toronto in the clothing trade. He has always been deeply interested in the study of astronomy, and while working at his trade in Toronto he wrote articles for European astronomical magazines, dealing with several important problems. These articles were very highly appreciated by the leading astronomers of the world.

MAKE LIFE WORTH LIVING

SAYS ELDER CUNNINGHAM.

When pure, healthy blood courses through every vein and artery of the body, the organs are in a healthy condition, and a strenuous active life is a pleasure to man or woman.

But if the blood is impure or sluggish, the appetite poor, digestion weak and vitality not up to the standard life is a burden then you need Vinol our delicious cod liver and iron tonic without oil. Such evidence as comes from Henry Cunningham, elder of the Baptist Church, Kinston, N. C., should be convincing. He says, "I was run-down and weak from general debility and suffered from Vertigo. I took Vinol with the most gratifying results. I gained in health and strength and now feel unusually well."

Elder Cunningham's recovery was due to the combined action of the medicinal elements of cods' livers, aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron contained in Vinol.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you.

FIRE AMONG RUBBISH

At about 7.30 last evening the fire brigade was called out to extinguish a blaze which had broken out amongst a pile of wood in the rear of the Belleville Hardware & Lock Company's premises on Pinnacle Street. No particular damage was done. The fire is thought to have originated from a spark from some building adjacent.

The police, upon investigation of the fire, are of the opinion that it was caused by small boys who they have ascertained were in and about the yard a few minutes before the fire was discovered.

HOUSE ON FIRE TODAY

Shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon fire broke out in Mrs. A. J. Adams' residence on Moira Street just west of Hillside Street. The fire was soon extinguished after the arrival of the brigade, but not before considerable damage was done to the contents by fire and water. Loss sustained covered by insurance.

PREFERS DIVORCE TO BEING QUEEN

LOS ANGELES, Cal., May 5.—A little island off the coast of Chili, the Island of Pitcairn, two miles long by one wide, caused a divorce in a Los Angeles court yesterday, for it took the husband of Mrs. Nellie B. Clark away from her.

Mrs. Clark didn't fancy being queen of an island, but Lincoln Clark wanted to be king, so he sailed away and left her here.

That was two years ago. The husband has never come back, and says he never intends to. He is now the king, and his son, Roy, who went with him, is heir apparent. They have about 125 subjects.

A man may sidetrack a lot of temptation by getting himself locked up in jail.

Never judge a man's strength by the ease with which he breaks a promise.

THE WORLD OF SPORT

THE TURF

At the Ottawa horse show Mr. Fisher Wilmore's Audrey Gwen won second in saddle horses over 15.2 and up to 170 to 200 pounds.

Of the twenty nominations for the King's Plate of the year of King George's Coronation only one was declared out on May 7, leaving nineteen eligibles, from which the probable field of eight or nine starters will be made up two weeks from today. Mr. James Bovaird, of Brampton, withdrew Miss Liberty, the three-year-old filly by Martimas—Cuba Free, but there are several others that already may be counted on as unlikely to start, while the training developments of the next ten days will make other changes in the ranks.

At the Ottawa horse show on Thursday Mr. Fisher Wilmore's Diddie Van was awarded third in horses not over 15.3, harness purposes, also fourth in saddle horse over 14.1 and not to exceed 15.3.

BOXING.

There were four fine bouts on at the National Sporting Club, Toronto, last night, and over a thousand spectators were present, including Mayor Geary, Hon. Dr. Reaume and other well-known gentlemen. No decisions were given, but the results were as follows:

Billy Allen (Ottawa) v. Pat Drouillard (Windsor), 130 pounds. Ten rounds. Allen had the best of it.

Artie Edmunds (Toronto) v. "Kid" Barrish (Boston), 6 rounds, 126 lbs Edmunds had a shade the better of the bout.

"Peewee" Adams (Toronto) v. Young Barry (England), 118 pounds, six rounds. Barry, who lives in Belleville, put up a good fight, and it was very even.

Bob Day (Toronto) v. "Dummy" Burns (Buffalo), 5 rounds, heavyweight. Day, who was out of condition, was nearly out at the finish

McFARLAND AND WOLGAST.

CHICAGO, May 5.—Packy McFarland has signed an agreement to fight Ad Wolgast, lightweight champion, Ten rounds in Milwaukee on June 8 or 10, and if not in June, on Labor Day, according to Frank Mulkern, a promoter of Milwaukee.

The agreement calls for McFarland to weigh in at 133 pounds at three o'clock or 134 pounds at five o'clock.

Mulkern says he has Wolgast's word that either of the above weights will be satisfactory.

THE KING AND FOOTBALL.

His Interest In "Soccer" Is Rousing Game to Greater Activity.

Association football had its innings in Canada in the eighties and nineties. Then rugby stepped in and took the public fancy. After twenty years of obscurity association or soccer seems to be again gaining ground in this country, and a national tournament was recently held in Toronto, at which a team from Calgary won the honors.

It is interesting in this connection to note that King George is taking a great interest in association football in Great Britain. A writer in M.A.P. says:

"King George has become patron of both of the amateur and professional football associations, and there can be no doubt that the national game will benefit largely in the future from his Majesty's support and personal attendance.

"Last season King George suddenly evinced an interest in association football, and nowadays his Majesty never misses an important Service football match, whether army or navy. Whenever possible, he takes the young princes, who are all most enthusiastic footballers.

"It was amusing to watch them at a recent army and navy match at Stamford Bridge on the ground of the Chelsea Club. The Prince of Wales, who is destined for the army, applauded excitedly when the soldiers scored the first goal, and Prince Albert, who is to enter the navy, was equally delighted when the soldiers scored.

"The King has evidently taken a fancy to the association game, which he had not seen prior to his visit to the England v. Scotland International at the Crystal Palace, and there is just a possibility that he may attend the cup final this season. His visit to the "soccer" international was made in response to the representations of an ordinary correspondent, who pointed out that "soccer" followers would be delighted if he were to honor a representative match with his presence.

'In his younger days the King played football a good deal, and he has gone out of his way to encourage his sons' interest in the game. Still, he is fonder, perhaps, of cricket, to which he was very devoted at school and college."

Turner's Little Afterthought.

DOCTOR'S QUESTION

Much Sickness is due to Bowel Disorders.

A doctor's first question when consulted by a patient is, "Are your bowels regular?" He knows that ninety-eight per cent. of illness is attended with inactive bowels and torpid liver and that this condition must be removed gently and thoroughly before health can be restored.

Rexall Orderlies are a positive pleasant and safe remedy for constipation and bowel disorders in general We are so certain of their great curative value that we promise to return the purchaser's money in every case where they fail to produce entire satisfaction.

Rexall Orderlies are eaten like candy; they act quietly, and have a soothing, strengthening, healing influence on the entire intestinal tract They do not gripe, purge, cause nausea, flatulence, excessive looseness, diarrhoea, or other annoying effect They are especially good for children, weak persons or old folks. Two sizes, 25c. and 10c. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store. J. S. McKeown.

COVERED WITH ECZEMA

CURED BY TWO BOTTLES OF D. D. D.

On March 21st, 1910, Mr. Angus McMillan, of Port Hood, N. S., wrote us:

"My little boy, three years old was covered from head to foot with eczema. I tried over twenty different kinds of salves and washes but could not see any improvement—in fact it seemed to be getting worse.

I was about discouraged and had lost faith in all kinds of so-called eczema cures, when I saw an ad. telling about D.D.D. Prescription. I sent for sample bottle and the third application convinced me that I had at last got a sure cure. Two bottles effected a complete cure."

What D.D.D. did for this little boy it will do for any skin sufferer. A mild, soothing liquid made up of oil of Wintergreen, Thymol, Glycerine and other ingredients, it penetrates to the root of the trouble and washes the disease germs out.

Why not get relief? Simply write to-day to the D. D. D. Laboratories, Dept. B. I., 49 Colborne St., Toronto and they will send you a free trial bottle. For sale by J. S. McKeown

Do You Drink?

There are thousands of men in business to-day who will not be in business this day next year. They are drinking, and drink and business will not mix.

There are hundreds of thousands of men who had a good start in the business world who to-day have nothing. Their families and friends could tell what liquor did for these men.

There are a million men drinking to-day who will always be working for some other man—who will never be independent—who will never be in business for themselves, because they drink.

Come to the Gatlin Institute for three days and get out of the drinking class. Drink only shatters the nerves, weakens the brain, destroys business ability—it is deadly to the man who drinks it and deadly to the business.

THE GATLIN

"The Treatment Without Bad After-effects"

Think of it! THREE DAYS—no longer! Only seventy-two hours in which to take away all desire and appetite for drink under contract. Any business man—any man—can spare three days in which to avail himself of that great ASSET—that which makes the business go—SOBRIETY.

The Gatlin Home Treatment should be taken by those who cannot come to the institute for three days.

The greatest privacy is maintained at the Gatlin Institute for either men or women who desire seclusion while taking treatment.

Call or write for the contract to cure and free, descriptive booklet, which tells the whole story.

SPOILED THE PLOT.

A Display of Juvenile Affection That Saved the Mongrel.

About three weeks ago there strolled into a Ridley Park house a dirty, disreputable looking dog. He was of no particular breed, but a general mixture of all there are. Out of the kindness of her heart the cook gave him a few bites to eat, and from that time on, try as they would, the family could not get rid of the canine. The small children took a great fancy to the dog and named him Bluie. Their father and mother grew tired of seeing Bluie around and secretly plotted to get him out of the way. They feared to kidnap him openly by day, for there would surely follow much protest and distress on the part of the children. Accordingly plans were made for losing Bluie some place far from Ridley Park by night. The evening that the plot was to be carried out, just after supper, father, mother and a five-year-old boy were in the parlor. The little fellow was fondling the dog as if he were his best friend in the world. Finally he seized the dog firmly under the shoulders and, looking straight into his eyes, lisped out, "Bwoole, do you wove me?" and then after a moment with joy in his voice, "Bwoole woves me and the world is mine." After that touching display neither father nor mother had the heart to deprive the little fellow of "Bwoole's" company, and the little mongrel dog seems sure of a comfortable home for life.—Philadelphia Record.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

SAVES WORRY—SAVES MONEY, SAVES THE HAIR.

If you want to free your head from dandruff and stop falling hair, you must sooner or later resort to Newbro's Herpicide.

By using Herpicide first you save yourself worry, which is desirable, you save money, which is a consideration and you save your hair, which is the most important of all.

Why not profit by the experience of Mrs. A. S. Lee, of 110 South 4th St. Richmond, Va., who writes:

"Four years in India ruined my hair, until it was but two inches long and very thin. I tried everything in Europe and America without benefit until I was induced to try Herpicide. My hair is now long, soft and silky and natural color, while before it was quite gray. My friends never tire of admiring my hair."

Mrs. Lee's story is a typical history of hair troubles. After everything fails Newbro's Herpicide brings relief. It would be just as effective if used first.

Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ and prevents falling hair It stops itching of the scalp almost instantly. No matter what the claims of others, Herpicide is the only genuine original dandruff germ destroyer.

One dollar sized bottles are guaranteed.

ROYALTY UNFORTUNATE

In Italy—King and Queen Are in Numerous Accidents

Royalty seems to be unfortunate in Italy. The King is always in some kind of a scrape or another, mostly of his own seeking. Not long ago Queen Helena's automobile knocked some people down in the streets of Rome and severely injured them. Severe accidents of a like nature have happened before, and it must be said that the good Queen—she is really a good woman—is always the first to spring out of the car and help the injured, convey them to the hospital, visit them there, and attend to other matters associated with their homes. Now the Queen-Mother—Margherita—figures in a catastrophe. Scarcely had the Royal special train passed a station close to the Eternal City than the express from Turin was seen to be dashing along at full speed in the opposite direction. A sergeant in charge of a party of soldiers guarding the line at this spot, called to the men to get into places of safety, and all succeeded except two, who were struck by the train and killed.

KINGS' POPULAR NAMES

Sovereigns of England Have Had Few Names Given in Baptism

Christian names nowadays are legion; yet English Kings have been content with nine names for thirty three individuals since the Conqueror seized the sovereignty of the Realm of England at Senlac.

This remarkable fact is further emphasized when we consider that two of these nine were only used once, leaving only seven names for the other thirty-one Kings from William I. to George V. These two were Stephen and John, and it is notorious that these two unsatisfactory Kings were the only English monarchs, except the two Jameses, who bore Biblical names! You will search that storehouse of Christian names, the Scriptures, in vain for George, William, Edward, Charles, Henry, and Richard—a set which completes the names which our English Kings during a period of 845 years have borne.

Henry bears the palm as the sobriquet of the greatest number of Kings—the eighth of that name being the much-wedded monarch whom Sir Herbert Tree has been putting on the stage with much success of late. Edward comes next, for our late beloved King was the seventh of the name. It is, moreover, probably the favorite name among our Kings, not only because it represents a warrior line, but because it is a Saxon name, like Alfred and Edgar.

Seeing that the Georges come from Hanover, it is a little remarkable that they should bear the name of the patron saint of England—"St. George for Merry England!" The name of our present King is the next on the list in point of numbers, he being the fifth to bear it.

These three names, then, account for no fewer than twenty of the thirty-three Kings who have reigned since William the Conqueror, and the number is completed by four Richards, four Williams, two Charleses, two Jameses, one Stephen, and one John. Certainly one John was quite enough. He is generally considered the worst King who ever sat on the English throne, in spite of the fact that Magna Charta, the foundation of our English liberties, was a product of his reign.

It is well known that the Great Queen Victoria, who herself bore a unique name for an English Sovereign, would have liked to have initiated a line of Alberts, as all her sons had that name given to them at the baptismal font; but, although Albert preceded Edward in the late King's name, he acted wisely in preferring this latter to the former, as he evidently thought it a greater honor to be the seventh Edward than the first Albert; and, if the eldest son of George V. succeeds in due form to his father's throne, he will undoubtedly take the title of Edward VIII., and thus the Edwards will "tie" with the Henrys.

ALPINISTS' PERIL

Three Students Were Near to Death in Mont Blanc Storm

Three German-Swiss students of Geneva, who are good Alpinists, have had a terrible experience in the Mont Blanc range while attempting to ascend the Col d'Anterne (17,435 feet) from Chamonix.

The three climbers were without guides, and were overtaken by a heavy snowstorm. To preserve their lives they dug a hole in the snow and covered themselves. They were without food, and suffered intensely from the cold for 40 hours before they were found by Swiss friends, who left Geneva to search for them.

WHEELWRIGHT TO SCULPTOR

Born at Camberwell Gate in 1843, Mr. George Tinworth, the famous sculptor, first began work in his father's workshop as a wheelwright. In the intervals of work he carved models out of spare pieces of wood. Then he heard of the Lambeth School of Art, at that time under the direction of Mr. Joseph Sparks. Tinworth and a comrade arrived on one of the evenings devoted to the painting class. Tinworth was putting his ear to the door when his comrade suddenly gave him a push and precipitated him into the arms of Mr. Sparkes, who happened to be coming out. To the astonished advocate of art education, the lad, too frightened to say anything, held up a little head of Garibaldi, copied from a newspaper print and fashioned out of sandstone with a hammer and a nail. "Come in and see what we're doing!" said Mr. Sparkes, and Tinworth's foot was soon on the first rung of the ladder.

A PRETTY ROMANCE

Comes From South of France—Stranger Well Treated Returns and Woos Cafe Keeper

There is material for romance in an incident which has occurred at Marseilles in a little cafe kept by a young woman noted for her beauty and goodness of heart.

The cafe is close to the harbor, and is frequented by sailors, who gave the name of "Mother Marie" to the landlady. The young woman had to deal with the roughest of sailor men, but her kindness to her customers was her best protection. When they had no money she fed them and kept them well supplied with tobacco. The sailors never imposed on her kindness, and always paid her when they received their wages.

One day a stranger of unkempt appearance entered the cafe. "Mother Marie" immediately saw to his requirements. After eating a hearty meal he was asked by the landlady whether he would smoke a cigar. His reply was that he had not any money for a cigar, nor even for the meal he had eaten. "Never mind," said the landlady, "have a cigar all the same."

A few weeks afterwards a well-dressed man appeared in the cafe and ordered food. "Mother Marie" glanced at him and recognized in him the stranger who had not paid for his entertainment.

The elegant gentleman told "Mother Marie" that he had heard of her kindness to rough sailor men, and had resolved to put her to the test. He found that she was all that the sailors had represented her to be, and he added that he had returned to the cafe in order to improve his acquaintance with her.

Then he disclosed his identity. He was a count and a large manufacturer, and asked "Mother Marie" to become his wife. The "sailors' friend" consented, and now the little cafe on the harbor has a new tenant.

GOLD BARS FROM CHINA

Secretly Shipped to England—Part of Hoard of Dowager Empress

There are persistent reports that gold bars to the value of $30,000,000, part of the late Chinese Dowager Empress hoard, have been shipped secretly to England from Peking.

Tse Hsi, the late Dowager Empress of China, had the reputation of being the richest woman in the world, but it is impossible to estimate the millions she possessed.

Her rapacity was amazing. Her favor had to be bought by all who who sought for it. Money, exquisite gems, houses, and beautiful silks and furs were humbly offered in vast amounts and haughtily accepted.

During the occupation of Peking by the allied troops in 1900 many of her treasures were lost in the looting that took place, but the amount successfully concealed must have been very great.

THE CORONATION NEXT

For the Crown Prince of Germany—He and Princess Home from Asia

The Crown Prince and Crown Princess, of Germany, are at home again, much to Potsdam's joy, after their long five months' sojourn in Ceylon, India and Egypt. Like the ardent soldier that he is, the Crown Prince went promptly back to his military duties, as major of a battalion of the Guards at Doberitz, to be warmly welcomed by his comrades, among whom he is extremely popular. The Crown Prince's next trip abroad will be in June, when he goes to London to represent the Kaiser at the Coronation.

About three thousand boys were present at the annual demonstration of the Boys' Brigade at the Albert Hall on May 4. The brigade has 70,000 members in the United Kingdom and 40,000 in other parts of the Empire.

Pensioner's Tragic Death

Seeing his aged wife stricken down by a fit, Michael Moore, an old age pensioner, living at Adare, county Limerick, got out of bed, though infirm, to try and help her. He was unable to stand, however, and stumbled on to the fire, being burnt to death.

Record Sowing of Flax

Owing mainly to a famine in cats it is thought that this year there will be a record sowing of flax in Ulster. During the last few months spinners have been compelled to pay prices for flax which have not been equalled for half a century.

Secret of a Wireless Station

Great secrecy has been maintained as to the construction of the wireless telegraphy station at Wick, Caithness, which is on the point of being finished. It is supposed that it will be used largely to control the operations of fleets in northern waters.

Imposing on Servant Girls

Sidney Duncan, a young impostor who induced domestic servants to part with money for postage for free enlargements of their photographs, was at Highgate Police Court, on Wednesday, sentenced to three months' hard labor. The police said they had 300 complaints.

Turbans for Woman Bathers

As the result of a complaint from men who swim in the Richmond Baths that long stray hairs have got into their eyes and mouths, the local council has decreed that in future women bathers must confine their tresses in turbans or some form of cap.

Lady Locked in a Church

A lady who visited St. John's Church, Gloucester, on Easter Monday, to look around, was locked in by the rector, who did not see her, and she remained there for nineteen hours till ten o'clock on Tuesday morning, when some workmen heard her knocking.

FORBID HAREM SKIRT

Police Find Regulation they Can Apply to New Fashion, But Case Will Go to Higher Court

The timid and hesitating among the votaries of fashion in Germany are expecting soon to have their doubts as to the propriety of the harem skirt settled one way or another by a judicial decision. A publican in the town of Rendsburg, in the hope of inveigling new customers to try the quality of his liquors, persuaded his barmaid to wear the novel garment while she was on duty at the taps, and was duly rewarded by an influx of the curious thirsty. Unfortunately, the fresh fame of his establishment spread, and reached the ears of the police, whose first thought in Germany, when they are confronted by an unfamiliar phenomenon, always is, whether it can be forbidden. They were not long in unearthing a regulation which, in the interests of decorum, prohibits waitresses from wearing "conspicuous" apparel while they are at work.

On the strength of this, the police called upon the landlord to pay a fine. He, however, is of opinion that the decrees of fashion are not subject to revision by the Prussian police, and has appealed against the decision, so that the law courts will be called upon to pronounce a verdict on the moral aspects of the harem skirt.

JEWS ARE REFUSED

Settlement in Western Australia; as They Want Species of Autonomy

Although the British public hears but little of the work done by the Ito, that is the Jewish Territorial Organization, founded by Mr. Israel Zangwill, of London, it is nevertheless trying harder than ever to find a country in which Jews may settle down and call their own. Mesopotamia was high in favor as the site of a Jewish settlement on a considerable scale—the principal object of the organization. It seems, however, that this region has now fallen into the background, principally on account of the opposition of the Turkish Government. And Western Australia has come into favor. Western Australia is by no means a new region so far as the Ito is concerned. Some years ago Mr. Zangwill was both directly and indirectly in negotiation with its government on the subject of a Jewish autonomous settlement within its boundaries, and it was understood then that the negotiations had broken down, not because the West Australian Government had any objection to a Jewish immigration, even on a large scale, but because they could not consent to any species of autonomy.

CARELESS AS TO HATS

Have Eminent Men Been—Comparisons of England's Headgear

Speaking of hats, an English writer says,: It is astonishing how careless many eminent men have been about their headgear. The great Duke of Wellington is credited with wearing one hat until it was so bad that a tactful friend persuaded him to give it away to a servant. Some days afterwards, we are told, the Duke saw this same hat, newly ironed, on a chair in the hall, where the servant had that moment placed it. "A nice hat, that," observed the Duke. "Yes," replied the servant; "it's the one your Grace gave to me. I've had it done up." "What did it cost you?" inquired the Duke. "One shilling," was the answer. "Here's half a crown; I'll have it back," and Wellington is reported to have taken it, and worn it again till his friends protested against its shabbiness.

Perhaps the remaining most remarkable historical comparison in hats is between the plain, steeple-crowned, broad-brimmed hats of the Puritans and the flat, broad, feather-bedecked hats fashionable with the Cavaliers of Charles II.

Nowadays the most striking fact about fashion in hats is that while our women vie with one another in carrying the largest artificial garden-beds and beehives on their heads, our men are eager for the lightest and most easy-fitting felts. The demand for a comfortably-fitting felt has led to the invention of machinery that has numbered the days of the orthodox sizes—the 7¼ worn by the late King Edward, the 7¼ of Dickens and John Bright, the 7⅜ of Mr. Gladstone, and the enormous 8½ of Daniel O'Connell, etc.

GYRO-COMPASS NOW

Theoretically Possible to Indicate Latitude of Place, also Direction

At the meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society in London, Mr. Elphinstone, of the form of Messrs. Elliott Bros., gave a demonstration of the gyro-compass, illustrated by a working model of the apparatus, which appeared to do all that was required of it.

It transpired that, theoretically, it is possible to construct a gyrostat which would indicate the latitude of the place as well as the direction of the north and south line.

REMARKABLE CURES

Among the remarkable "cures" effected at Buxton, England, there is no more interesting case than that of a little dog. The "patient" suffered from rheumatism, but has now completely recovered, thanks to the unfailing regularity with which it "took the waters" daily. This dog is so much a creature of habit that it will not pass by St. Ann's pump now until it has taken its usual dose.

NATIONAL GALLERY HAS GREAT YEAR

Momentous Period for British Art—Some Magnificent Bequests—Number of Visitors Increased

Sir Charles Holroyd, the director, reviews in his annual report one of the most interesting years in the history of the National Gallery and the National Gallery of British Art.

The year 1910 was one of momentous happenings to the national collections of pictures. There was the bequest of 194 pictures under the will of Mr. George Salting, and a number of gifts. The latter included a Ford Madox Brown and two Frederick Walkers, two specimens of aJcob Haris, two of Josef Israels, and six Gainsboroughs.

Four purchases were made at a cost of $26,000, and they included Crame's "The Poringland Oak" and Hogarth's portrait of Dr. Hoadley, the Bishop of Winchester.

Italian school	29
Dutch school	71
Flemish school	15
Spanish school	2
German school	3
French school	34
British school	56

A daily average of 3,047 persons visited the National Gallery on the 207 free days during 1910, and the 206 free days at the Millbank Gallery showed an average of 1,340 visitors.

The Sunday visitors were: Trafalgar Square, 69,012; Millbank, 65,859. The fees for students' days at both galleries showed a marked increase on the year 1909.

GAMBLING INCREASES

In Switzerland—Petitions Against the Vice are Being Largely Signed

Gambling has increased to a serious extent during the last few years in the principal Swiss towns and summer resorts, where kursaals and casinos have sprung up in numbers, each having its "Cercle des Etrangers" and "Petits Chevaux" to attract the visitor. But experience has proved to the Swiss that the visitor does not come to Switzerland to gamble, and the greatest sufferers of the gambling mania are the Swiss themselves.

A crowded meeting against gambling has been held at Geneva, and many persons, pastors and professors included, have sent a petition to the federal authorities, asking for the enforcement of Article 35 of the Constitution, which prohibits gambling in every form.

M. G. Fatio pointed out that one kursaal made a profit of $600,000 a year from the proceeds of gambling.

Even hotel proprietors have joined the petition, stating that a very small percentage of their customers go to the kursaals and gamble there.

CHOIR AT CASTLE

Those Who Will Sing at Investiture of Heir Hold Rehearsal

In order to test the acoustics of Carnarvon Castle, the choir selected to sing at the investiture of the Prince of Wales held a rehearsal within the walls, and under the baton of Mr. Jno. Williams, sand "Harlech," "Land of my fathers," the national anthem, and the famous Welsh hymn tune "Aberystwyth." They had a small but interested audience, which included the Chancellor of the Exchequer, who is Constable of the Castle, and Mrs. Lloyd George, and the Hon. Sir Schomberg MacDonnell.

A LIVELY TIME

Omnibuses and Taxicabs Will Keep Pedestrians Moving

Visitors who anticipate having a real lively time in London this summer are quite likely to have their anticipations fulfilled if the intentions of the omnibus companies are realized. Already in certain parts of central London pedestrians have to skip about like cats on hot bricks in the main thoroughfares to avoid being run down either by motor-bus or taxicab, and there are only 900 buses on the road; by the summer there will be 1,400 of these rushing, tearing vehicles in use.

MEDALS WITHOUT CLAIMANTS

Over 30,000 King's and Queen's South African War medals and clasps are awaiting ownership at the medal branch of the Royal Ordnance Stores, Woolwich. Most of the missing claimants are members of the various Irregular Corps which existed during the war only. Each of the 30,000 medals is stamped on its rim with the name and rank of the owner, so that identification becomes practically easy.

Eggs for Worshippers

There was a large congregation at the Church of St. Mary, Woolnoth, E.C., on Easter Sunday, when the ancient custom of giving a colored Easter egg to each worshipper was observed. The custom dates back to the fifteenth century, when Sir John Spencer left a bequest for the purpose. The eggs were distributed by the daughter of the rector, the Rev. J. M. Brooke, from flower baskets lined with moss.

PIERCING THE ALPS

A New Tunnel 9½ Miles Long Has Been Completed

The colossal task of piercing the Bernese Alps between the Kander Valley on the north and the Rhone Valley on the south has been completed. The new tunnel, known as the Kotschberk tunnel, is about nine and a half miles long, entering the mountains at Kanderstek and emerging at Goppenstein, near Gampel, on the Rhone. The completion of the tunnel will greatly shorten the journey between Berne (and thus Basle, Paris and Calais), and Brigue and the Simplon tunnel, leading to Italy. The present railway between Berne and Brigue is forced by the towering Bernese Alps to make a long detour by the Rhone Valley and Montreux. The tunnel has been under construction for five years, and has cost $10,000,000. When the last dividing wall between the two borings, which was about three feet thick, was pierced, the hole was not detected until the wreckage had been removed. It was first seen by a miner from the south side, who sent a drill through the hole, and then realized the fact and stopped the boring. There was then repeated and prolonged cheering through the entire tunnel. Flowers were put through the hole for the engineer, Herr Rotpletz, to whose great energy was due the fact that the tunnel was pierced in so short a period.

A TITLE FOR A DRINK

Marquis Also Transferred His Name—Bigamist Confesses

The bogus Marquis Paul de Roquefeuil, who was charged with fraud and bigamy, has confessed that he is not a marquis, but only assumed the title, the rightful bearer of which died in Algiers.

When examined, he alleged that he only did so because Mme. la Bonomene, the wealthy widow whom he married later, objected to the German sound of his own name of Reiss. The real marquis, he said, offered to transfer his name and title for a glass of absinthe.

As he had rendered some little services to the marquis, he could not see the harm in assuming the title.

Work on Stations in German Territory Commenced—Also in Fiji

Work has been commenced at the wireless telegraph stations at Mianza and Bukoba on the Victoria Nyanza, in German East Africa. The line, which is 100 miles long, is the first to be installed by the Imperial Post Office in German Africa. The erection of three wireless stations in the Fiji Islands has recently been begun by the Marconi Company.

DESTRUCTION OF RATS

About 250,000 rats have been destroyed since the campaign against these pests commenced in Essex. Something like $5,000 per week has been saved in damage done by the rodents. The assumed rat population of England and Wales is about 88,000,000. It is estimated that each rat costs $1.85 per annum to keep.

WHERE ARE THE CATS?

Many residents of Brighton and other towns on the south coast are complaining of the mysterious disappearance of black cats. It is stated that the inhuman persons who are stealing them kill them and convert the skins into coats, boas, and ruffs. A Brighton furrier states that such is the demand for black furs that skins of every kind of animal suitable for the purpose are being used. "On the Continent," he said, "cats are used extensively, and no doubt the practice is growing in this country."

Honesty is Its Own Reward

Finding a bag containing £200 in notes and gold, and jewellery worth £400, a Dorking boy took considerable trouble in tracking the owners there and then. They were a honeymoon couple, and their relief at the recovery was so great that they rewarded the finder with the munificent sum of sixpence.

"FANCY" RISKS ARE TAKEN IN LONDON

Underwriters Charge Ten Per Cent. on Chance of Coronation Being Postponed—Election and Other Risks

Those underwriting members of Lloyd's, of London, who make a business of "fancy" risks, have been turning their attention to insurance covering the next Budget as well as the Coronation.

The last rate quoted to pay a loss in the event of the duty on sugar being abolished was 20 per cent., whilst several policies to cover reduction in the tea duty have been taken out at 25 per cent. The equivalent premium for coffee and cocoa being 35 per cent. The possibility of an increase in the cost of licenses is apparently considered remote, seeing that a policy for this risk can be got at 20 per cent.

By far the largest amount of speculation has, however, been done in connection with the income-tax, and a rate as high as 50 per cent. has been charged on a policy to pay a total loss in the event of no alteration being made in the present charges.

During the past few weeks some large insurances have been effected by traders whose interests are bound up with the Coronation, and 10 per cent. has been paid to cover a claim should the ceremony not take place before the end of the year. In one or two cases policies have been taken out on the joint lives of the King and Queen until the end of the year at the rate of 4 per cent., whilst a "Royal Family" risk has been accepted, insuring the lives of the King, the Queen, and their children for the same period, the premium in this instance being 10 per cent. A possible change of route for the Coronation processions has also come within the speculative scope, though the premiums are small.

To pay a loss if there is a general election before March 31, 1912, 25 per cent. is quoted, and 5 per cent. has been accepted to cover the payment of a claim should Mr. Lloyd George become Prime Minister on or before December 31 next. This risk has been written several times, but the amounts involved are not large.

SARNIA, ONT., Feb. 5th, 1910.

"I have been a sufferer for the past 25 years with Constipation, Indigestion and Catarrh of The Stomach. I tried many remedies and many doctors but derived no benefit whatever.

Finally I read an advertisement of "Fruit-a-tives". I decided to give "Fruit-a-tives" a trial and found they did exactly what was claimed for them.

I have now taken "Fruit-a-tives" for some months and find that they are the only remedy that does me good.

I have recommended "Fruit-a-tives" to a great many of my friends and I cannot praise these fruit tablets too highly"

FARM LANDS.

The Story of Their Rise in Value Reads Like a Romance.

The farmer, not the money king of Wall street, is the real owner of the United States. The glean of his fields is another Aladdin story, only instead of rubbing a lamp he has simply scraped the ground.

Our cereal crops last year were worth $3,000,000,000, which is sufficient to pay for all the tools, implements and machinery of the whole of American industry. While this sum seems huge as it stands alone, you have only to go back a few years in the story of our agriculture to see the miracle of the steady increase that has been achieved. Eleven years ago the value of all our farm products for a single year was reckoned at $4,417,000,000. You have already seen how that figure was doubled by 1909. During these years the sum total that the soil has yielded the farmers is $70,000,000,000. The advance is so steady and sure that you can almost calculate upon it year by year.

Compare this record with the ebb and flow of earnings in steel or any other industry and you realize as never before how agriculture keeps the even tenor of its prosperous way unmindful of panic or depression. Why? Simply because land is stable and, given proper methods of farming, the more you take out of it the more valuable it becomes. It cannot be moved away. It is in truth the very foundation of the nation's material welfare. It would take $24,000,000,000 to buy our farm lands, and their value is real and not watered, save by irrigation.—Isaac F. Marcosson in Munsey's.

A Sixth Sense.

Scientists in Denmark are greatly puzzled by a man named Emil Knudsen, aged thirty-six, a Norwegian from Christiania. He has been an object of interest to the medical faculty for some time, and lately Professor Friedenreich, one of the leading nerve specialists of Europe, suggested an experiment. Knudsen was blindfolded, placed at the wheel on a steamer and told to pilot it through the intricate channels of Copenhagen harbor. This he did without any mishap whatever. He displayed no nervousness or hesitation. He took a dozen sharp corners and followed a zigzag course throughout without any uncertainty. He explains his gift as a sixth sense, and the scientific men who have him under observation are inclined to believe that this explanation is the true one. At present, anyway, they are unable to account for the performance on any other hypothesis.

Canada's Buffalo Herd.

The largest herd of buffaloes in the world is now owned by Canada, says a writer in Canada. They form a most picturesque group as they roam over the new national reserve set apart for them near Wainwright, one of the growing towns on the Grand Trunk Pacific, 125 miles east of Edmonton. It is only within the last year that Canada has wrested from the United States the honor of having the most representative herd of this distinctive North American animal, which is rapidly disappearing. The Dominion government recognized the need of action if the bison were to be preserved and before Washington had realized it had purchased practically the entire herd of 600 or 700 from Michael Pablo

The Pajama Girl.

When cold winter nights come the small girl and her small brother, too, will be anxious to change their lingerie underwear for pajama suits of warm flannel.

PAJAMAS OF PINK FLANNEL.

Pajamas for girls are cut exactly like those the boys wear, but the materials are daintier in coloring and often in weave. The pretty suit seen in the cut is made from duckling fleece, a kind of flowered flannel which is very attractive and washes splendidly. The fleece is patterned with Mother Goose figures, and the groundwork is a fascinating shade of pink.

Mothers who approve of silk underwear and can afford such luxuries for their children as silken pajamas have a lovely selection of suits from which to choose. Many of these models are of quilted silk embroidered in oriental designs.

Woman's World

FASHIONS ETIQUETTE RECIPES CHIT-CHAT

Milady's Mirror

Here are a few rules that the girl who is determined to diet does well to observe. There is too much trifling with our digestions these days, and not the least harm is done by the notion for undereating.

Never diet on the advice of a friend. Her regime may have done wonders for her and will put you to bed or make you a sorry-looking wreck.

Don't diet to excess at any time. Girls, make sure your doctors know dietetics. Many physicians, good in other things, have little knowledge of the effect of food upon the system.

If you must diet from a cause, as from diabetes or kidney trouble, do it religiously. Almost better not begin than to do it spasmodically, letting up whenever food tempts you.

If you diet only for the sake of figure or complexion count the cost before starting. Cutting out the foods of ordinary family meals is hard. Ask yourself, "Which means most to me—the loss of a few pounds or being a nuisance at mealtime?"

Don't keep on dieting if you feel that it disagrees with you. This holds good even when your food list is carefully censored by a physician. The best of them will make mistakes. Find out in time what is wrong.

Don't diet to excess at any time. Women often go to the point of weakening their entire systems by injudiciously following a doctor's advice.

Common sense and moderation are good things to hold to in the matter of food.

Care of the Feet.

The American woman is said to rival the Chinese in the abuse of her feet. But the oriental woman has the advantage over the occidental—she waddles frankly, while the American girl cultivates grace and eloquence of carriage in the narrowest of shoes, the highest of heels or the most treacherous of pumps.

Corns on the soles of the feet are often developed by wearing shoes which are too narrow. They can be removed with a lotion composed of collodion and salicylic acid.

Callosities made by the pump which slips can be rubbed off with pumice stone, after which cold cream must be applied.

To feet which swell easily some comfort is restored by a bath containing salt and borax.

For troublesome perspiration use orris powder, alum water or a lotion consisting of four ounces of bay rum and eight grains of tannic acid.

Sweeping Good Exercise.

Sweeping exercises every muscle of the body. It is sufficiently vigorous to give good exercise, and at the same time it is not so strenuous as to overtire. A woman who sweeps does it regularly at certain hours of the day, and regularity in exercise makes for good.

Then, again, the exercise is exercise with a definite object in view. The mind is interested at the same time as the body is employed.

Sweeping movements are particularly good for the lungs. The chest muscles are exercised all the time, and this helps to establish deep breathing. This naturally tends to produce a good figure as well as a pure state of the blood and therefore a good complexion.

The old fashioned broom should be used and not the patent carpet sweeper. Tea leaves or damp bran should be used beforehand to prevent the dust from rising and getting into the lungs.

Rest Cure For the Hair.

Rest cure for the hair is being practiced by American society women. It requires that they give up their social engagements for a week, but it rewards them with lustrous healthy hair, in addition to giving them a chance to relax from the strenuous rush of social calls. Autumn is the best time for the rest cure, as the hair thins out and often gives women much alarm. During the cure vanity compels the women to remain in hiding except to their most intimate friends. Hats and hair structures are discarded. The hair is permitted to hang loose. There are no curls. No hat is worn, and the sun is permitted to shine on the hair, giving it a rich luster. It is brushed frequently, and the hair is secured in coils rather than in curls, but as few pins as possible are used to hold the coils together.

Toilet Table Necessities.

A face powder that will protect and not clog in the pores.

A soap free from all impurities—better unscented.

Cucumber or witch hazel jelly for chapped hands and lips.

Prince's Dislike of Lessons.

THE FORMER QUEEN OF PORTUGAL.

The last few years have been unhappy ones indeed for the lovely and good Amelie, the former queen of Portugal. As every one knows, her husband, King Carlos, and the crown prince were assassinated while she was driving with them in the streets of Lisbon in 1908. The expulsion recently of her son, King Manuel, and the royal family from Portugal when the monarchial government was replaced by that of a republic is another bitter blow to this much tried woman.

Queen Amelie, the daughter of the Comte de Paris, was brought up in England in the utmost simplicity. Royal unions are not always love matches, but the marriage of King Carlos and Queen Amelie was an exception. There is a pretty story about this royal courtship. It seems the then Duke of Braganza was distinctly difficult to please in the choice of a wife. One day a portrait of Princess Amelie d'Orleans was placed in his way as if by accident, and the duke was immediately fascinated. Personal acquaintance increased the attraction, and eventually the young couple were married at Lisbon in 1886. The marriage proved a happy one, for the royal pair were as devoted to each other on the day of the king's death as in the first years of their union.

Until recently Queen Amelie was much beloved by the people of her adopted country. She studied medicine so as to understand hospital work and general nursing and was untiring in her efforts to improve the public health. The higher education of women enlisted her warmest support, and she was never happier than when going about incog. among the poor of Lisbon.

Queen Amelie was considered the best gowned of royal women, and she is a born milliner. In the palace there was a room set apart where hats and bonnets were continually in course of construction, and thereby hangs a pathetic story.

Once while out driving in the streets of Lisbon she observed a large crowd surrounding some object. The queen sent the footman to see what was the matter, and when he reported that a young woman had fainted she immediately left her carriage and had the unconscious girl taken to a neighboring shop and personally attended her professionally. The queen had the young woman removed to her own home, had inquiries made about her and learned the poor girl's history. She was a milliner and, having failed to get employment, had ventured to undertake work on her own account for the support of herself and her invalid mother, but with so little success that she was nearly starved.

Queen Amelie sent at once some necessaries and commanded the girl's presence at the palace. Here she received her in the workroom and handed the poor milliner three bonnets of her own creation. "Take these as models, call them 'bonnets Amelie' and tell your customers they are made after the queen's own fashioning." Her majesty wore herself one of the identical bonnets and commanded her ladies to do likewise. Within two months the once starving girl could take larger premises and today is herself an employer of over 200 women.

What Dr. Madison Peters Says.

Our presidents were largely accidents, called from the plain people. They made good as a rule. Almost any American can be a king. Our American women so unexpectedly called to accompany the presidents to the White House acquitted themselves with a sense of fitness, showing that any American girl can be a queen.

BREAD AND BUTTER PERIOD.

It Makes a Woman an "Understanding Companion."

There is no gainsaying the fact that the broadminded man has come to appreciate the importance—to himself—of the wife of business or professional training. The world has not yet grown accustomed to the woman in business. Woman herself has not grown accustomed to it, for the world forces her into a false position. Perhaps, after all, it is nature and not the world, for of the business or professional woman only the wife or the widow who has closed the door of romance in her life regards the business or professional life as the ultimate life. Usually it merely is a bread and butter period until some man comes along to make the bread and butter for her.

But that bread and butter period makes her a more understanding companion to the man who comes and takes her back into the life for which she was intended. Oh, yes, my fair readers, that is it—the life for which she was intended. You may place at the head of your creed "I believe in the business training for a woman," and you may believe it sincerely, but you prove, every one of you, that your creed closes, "but I believe she was intended for a home," because the minute the right opportunity offers to return to the home, how long does it take you to shut down your desk and smile a farewell to the business world? The business opportunity only gives you a chance to be independent in your choice. You have the advantage over your grandmother in being self-supporting and dependent only on the man—not a man.

Will many wives who have known the exhaustion of a commercial day in a great city make the demands upon the evening of the husband which will come from the wife who has not known? Will the wife who has known the hours spent in the making of the dollar demand the dollar unreasonably as readily as the wife who has not known the effort required? Will not personal knowledge of public life and its competition and annoyances make a woman more responsive in her sympathy? If it does not, this woman indeed is hopeless and selfish, and would be so no matter what her training or lack of it.

OF ROSE MARQUISETTE OVER SHADED MAUVE SATIN.

This delightful model is charming either for a simple evening dress or for a house frock and is developed from marquisette in a lovely shade of rose hung over shaded mauve satin. The skirt is slightly gathered from a normal waist line and weighted at the bottom with an embroidered band picked out in rose, mauve shades and dull gold thread. About the low, round neck and short sleeves of the peasant waist is a like banding in a narrow width. The crushed belt is of mauve satin.

New Curtain Materials.

As colonial and mission furnishings are those approved just now, the window draperies that accompany them are of a simple nature—expensive material may be used, but the effect must be that of simplicity; otherwise there is a jarring note. For these colonial rooms the sash curtain coming even with the window ledge is used.

The designs in the cut will give the housewife seeking for curtains an excellent idea of what is new in this line. The fillet design at the top of the illustration is a decided novelty. Swans and birds are the unique features of this design. It comes in white, ivory or beige, is forty-eight inches wide and 55 cents a yard.

Another pattern in fish net simulates leaded glass, and this triangular mesh wears very well—a wonderfully good fabric for the low price of 75 cents a yard.

A touch of color and warmth is appreciated in cold weather at the window, and in no way can this touch be better used than with the colored scrim curtain. The illustration shows a floral design with gold, browns, reds, greens or blues predominating. There is a border on each side. This material may be purchased for 22 cents a yard and is good value.

Respect Your Furniture.

There is a right and a wrong way to clean furniture, and the correct method is undoubtedly the easier, which is a hopeful message to housekeepers. The flat willow abomination known as a furniture whip should never be allowed to touch stuffed furniture, no matter how cheap the covering, for the only result from its use is irreparable injury.

The dust which sifts through the covering settles in the stuffing, and the sole action of the whip is to bring this dust to the surface in ridges, which all future dusting of the outside fails to remove. Furniture which has been

EARL LEAVES WINNIPEG.

His Excellency Starts For Rideau Hall After Contests.

Winnipeg, May 1.—Contrary to the hopes of Winnipeg people, who had anticipated that the Earl and Countess Grey would spend a large part of next week in this city, the vice-regal party left for the east Saturday night. The earl was present at the play at the theatre at night, and at the close of the usual performance the members of the party bid farewell to friends in Winnipeg. It is understood that the political situation at Ottawa had had some effect on his sudden departure.

Very great regret is expressed that it has been found necessary that the Governor-General and Countess Grey should leave for Ottawa so soon. Arrangements had been made for a number of events next week, at which it was hoped that the vice-regal party might be present. One of the chief of these was the military concert, to be given by the Sheffield Choir, on Wednesday night. At this function it was hoped that there would be a very large representation of the military of the city, and it was intended that it should be made one of the greatest gatherings in the musical history of the city. Lord Lascelles had indicated his belief that the earl and countess would be present, but the plans have had to be changed, and on Wednesday night the party will be again at Rideau Hall.

An Up to Date Present.

A dozen new laid eggs may cost a pretty penny the way prices are now, and when fresh eggs are carried to the friend at the hospital or even taken, instead of cheaper fruit or flowers, to an invalid relative at home they are carefully kept, and often each one is marked so that they may not be used for cooking purposes by mistake. A pretty refrigerator stand like the one pictured makes an acceptable gift for the sickroom. Each egg rests separately in a rack, and the ice is packed in a compartment back of the racks. The cupboard closes with a brass lock and key.

Soclean

THE DUSTLESS SWEEPING COMPOUND

THE good old house-cleaning time disgruntles husbands and kills more than a few women every season. Because cleaning in the old way merely shifts dust and dirt—it does not move it. Twentieth century science has invented one remedy—the "Soclean" way. "SOCLEAN" (The Dustless Sweeping Compound) lays and absorbs dust at one and the same time. When the broom is applied it will not rise—it merely absorbs all the dust and germs that threaten to arise. "Soclean" is a faultless disinfectant and makes old carpets look like new. Ask your Grocer about it. See that it's the brown powder sold in handy pails at 25c., 50c. and $1.00.

THE WORLD OF SPORT

RECKLESS RIDING.

Though they have nothing like the amount of racing in Australia they have in America, the number of accidents with serious results in Australia is amazing. On the recognized courses in Canada and the United States during the year 1910 only two accidents to riders had fatal results. Both were at New York and one was a steeplechase. Nearly a score of riders were killed in Australia. Of the tremendous disparity as compared with England, the Melbourne Argus says:

"What the country courses are like we do not know, but all the leading tracks in the different states look as safe as it is possible to have racing tracks. In the old days when the course was marked by posts, it was a common thing for a jockey to be killed or badly hurt through being posted, as it was called. In the Melbourne Cup of 1878, J. Morrison, the rider of Chester, was driven on to a post and his leg was badly broken. After that the V. R. C. decided to rail the course. Some objected to the rail as being more dangerous than the posts. F. A. Dakin was one of the objectors. Fortunately the committee stuck to their game. Nearly all courses are railed now, and those that are not should not be licensed by the government. It is not the fault of the courses, then, that we had such a string of accidents as were reported to the Argus last Monday. We are afraid faulty or reckless riding is at the bottom of it.

"The greatest number of falls ever recorded in a race occurred in Grace Darling's Caulfield Cup. We have not the least doubt as to how that awful smash was caused. The rider of a good horse who got off badly made up his mind that the only chance to make up his ground was by going on the inside all the way. He was on a good horse, and a big horse. At the first turn he forced his mount up on the inside, and from there until the last turn he drove him along the rails until there was only one horse in front of him. The leader was also on the rails and would not pull out. The reckless rider would not wait. He pushed on and struck into the leader. Both fell and then followed a sickening sight. One after another the horses following in the wake of the leaders fell, until seventeen of the starters were down. It seems nothing less than miraculous that the fatalities were limited to one rider and one horse.

"Reckless riding is undoubtedly one of the causes of the falls which occur. Perhaps stewards might do more than they do towards stopping the practice, but the stewards are hampered by the refusal of jockeys to give them any assistance in sheeting home a charge of foul or reckless driving. Jockeys may talk to irresponsible persons about what has happened in the race, but in the hearing of a steward they are as dumb as oysters. The prefer to get even, as they put it, in some future race—which is very pleasant for the owner they may be riding for in that other race. But there is no doubt that many of the accidents are caused by plucky little incompetents with no control over their horses, allowing them to run amuck, so to speak, and interfere with others. The short leathers have something to do with it. All boys want to be Tod Sloans, but it is only a first class horseman that can control a rough horse when perched on its withers.

"It will be said that in England nearly all the jockeys ride in the Sloan style, and this is so. But the jockeys are properly trained and are not allowed to ride in public until they know their business. Trainers look after that. In Australia, we are afraid the trainers are not so particular. Apart from that they have not the same chances as their brethren in England. Any little boy who can ride here can go and earn money at unregistered meetings without going through the drudgery of an apprenticeship. They are without that kind of racing in England. The rails craze which some other riders suffer from is another cause of accidents. D. Maher and F. Wootton are said to be afflicted with this disease, and two leading jockeys in Australia have got it badly. T. Hales, the most brainy jockey we ever had, always declared that the only races he ever lost which he should have won, were lost through trying for the rails when he might just as well have kept out. 'When the pace has been very fast,' said Hales, 'you can go inside at the last turn if your horse has something left in him, but if the pace has been slow avoid the rails as you would a pestilence. Something in front is sure to have enough go in him to stop you.' Some leading jockeys who have had the luck to avoid bad falls, will risk anything for the rails, because they are in the fashion. They think their less unfortunate brothers should make way for them and give them any position they want. On the whole, however, we think bad riding is responsible for more accidents than anything else. And so far as the metropolitan racing is concerned, we must have bad riding. In these days of cheap racing and large fields there are not enough competent riders to go around and we must have the chalk variety of jockey performing.

THAT FOUR MILE RACE.

Kentucky is Greatly Interested in The Proposed Tussle.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 4.—The decision of the Kentucky racing commission to donate a $1,000 gold cup to the winner of the proposed four mile endurance race insures that race on one if the three Kentucky tracks this fall. It is more than likely that the event will be decided at Churchill Downs. Colonel M. J. Wim, of the New Louisville Jockey Club, says he will add $5,000 to such a race provided the entries are representative and Colonel Winn unquestionably would add $10,000 if the class is there.

The proposed race takes horsemen back to the long ago. Years since the California Jockey Club hung up $30,000 for a four-mile heat race race. That even drew for entries the greatest horses then in training. Several of the starters in that race were fitted for it months in advance. The famous race mare, Kate Pease, crowned her turf record by winning that race, it being her farewell to the turf. This event was run three seasons in California. The other winners were Foster and Thad Stevens.

Four-mile races, in recent years have been off the cards of most associations, save in California, which up to a year ago, maintained a stake at this distance.

In the early history of the New Louisville Jockey Club there were some stirring events over this long route of ground. It was here that the famous Ten Broeck lowered the record for this distance, and also run his famous match race with Mollie McCarthy on July 4, 1878. That event was witnessed by a crowd that has ever been cited as the largest that ever beheld a day's racing in Kentucky.

All over the country such long races have long since discontinued. The East has not had such an event for generations, or since the passing of the Bowie Stakes at Baltimore. That race was not discontinued, but it was reduced from four miles long ago.

The impression concerning the Endurance stakes is that added money must be sufficient to make it an incentive for owners to train their best horses for the race. Many believe a race of this kind would call for a much bigger field if each track on the Kentucky circuit this fall would offer a liberal purse for such a race. Of course, leaving out the track that that secured this feature, horsemen do not care to prepare a great horse for just one race, but when they can ty him out in a race before that one for a purse of value it is an inducement to make them try for this race. It is thought that under such conditions even great horses retired like Celt and Sir Huron would again be put in training, and a man like S. C. Hildreth would not hesitate to fit Fitzherbert for such a contest. Countless would be another great horse to try for the prize, and Wade McLemore would not hesitate to come to Kentucky with his sensational mare Meadow. With such a field of horses the race would be the attraction of a decade, and worth to a jockey many thousands of dollars.

Charles F. Grainger, president of the New Louisville Jockey Club, is very much interested in the Endurance Stakes. He is in favoring of offering as an inducement a purse of which in value the like has never been known on the turf in many years.

The Endurance Stakes will establish also the fallacy that long-distance racers are no longer bred and trained on the American turf. The truth is horses or to-day are fitted for short races, but if properly handled will display all of the endurance desired.

Puzzled.

As she picked her hobbled way down the street the observant man marked that she wore a black band about her golden hair, another about her alabaster throat. Her waist was circled by another band, while her martyred ankles were handcuffed with fashion's latest crime—the hobble skirt.

"I wonder," mused the man, "which one of 'em is her belt."—Kansas City Star.

The New Food.

That sharks are very good to eat
The experts are declaring,
And soon mankind their juicy meat
Will with himself be sharing.
And then upon the sandy shore
The salty, sad eyed sinner
Will dip into the wave his oar
And seize a shark for dinner.

List to the beef trust's doleful wail.
This bully of the fishes
Will be yanked shoreward by the tail
And served in dainty dishes.
The monster man, who have been living slim
Since prices went the paces,
This monster's tail and fins will trim
And feed their happy faces.

So like a fable or a screed story or a screed
From those old ancient fables
Appears this tail that man indeed
At last has turned the tables.
Instead of furnishing the meals
When sharks would stay their hunger,
He serves them up himself and feels
Thereby a few years younger.

This is what poets have declared
The law of compensation.
The shark, who man has never spared,
Will now be mankind's ration.
And won't it be revenge for fair
With carving knife to strike it
And serve each hungry one his share
If we can learn to like it?

The Tip Situation In Berlin.

Things have come to such a pass in Berlin that it is suggested the police be called upon to regulate the gratuities one shall give in a restaurant. The Berlin Waiters' association is considering a proposal to fix a scale that shall set 12 per cent as the tips for orders under 75 cents and 10 per cent on orders for more than that amount. The newspapers are in a fever of discussion, with the prevailing opinion that the public must be reconciled to present conditions. Incidents are related in which restaurant patrons who have given small tips have had the money flung in their faces or have been made the object of abusive language from the voracious waiters. The proprietors are accused of fostering the tip hungryness and of collecting a percentage of the waiters' tip receipts.

Struck by Lightning.

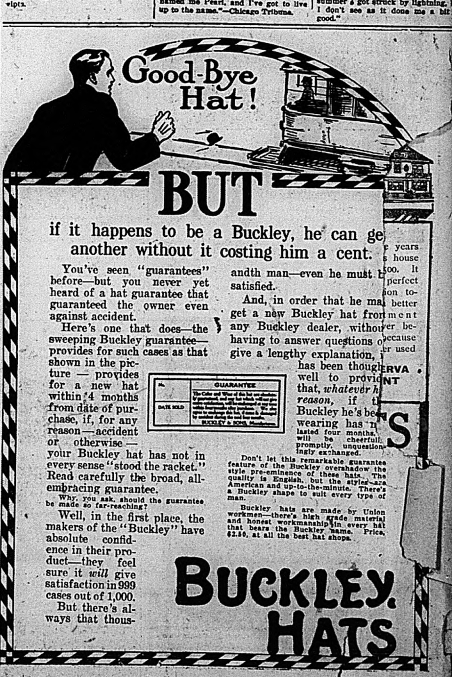
A lady riding in a train found herself seated by the side of an old matron who was exceedingly deaf.

"Ma'am," said she in a high tone, "did you ever try electricity?"

"What did you say, miss?"

"I asked if you ever tried electricity for your deafness?"

"Oh, yes, indeed, I did; it's only last summer I got struck by lightning, but I don't see as it done me a bit of good."



BUT

if it happens to be a Buckley, he can get another without it costing him a cent.

You've seen "guarantees" before—but you never yet heard of a hat guarantee that guaranteed the owner even against accident.

Here's one that does—the sweeping Buckley guarantee—provides for such cases as that shown in the picture—provides for a new hat within 4 months from date of purchase, if, for any reason—accident or otherwise—your Buckley hat has not in every sense "stood the racket." Read carefully the broad, all-embracing guarantee.

Why, you ask, should the guarantee be made so far-reaching?

Well, in the first place, the makers of the "Buckley" have absolute confidence in their product—they feel sure it will give satisfaction in 999 cases out of 1,000.

But there's always that thousandth man—even he must be satisfied.

And, in order that he may get a new Buckley hat from any Buckley dealer, without having to answer questions or give a lengthy explanation, it has been thought well to provide that, whatever his reason, if the Buckley he's been wearing has not lasted four months, it will be cheerfully, promptly, unquestioningly exchanged.

Don't let this remarkable guarantee feature of the Buckley overshadow the style pre-eminence of these hats. The quality is English, but the styles are American and up-to-the-minute. There's a Buckley shape to suit every type of man.

Buckley hats are made by Union workmen—there's high grade material and honest workmanship in every hat that bears the Buckley name. Price, $2.50, at all the best hat shops.

$3.50 Recipe Free, For Weak Kidneys

Relieves Urinary and Kidney Troubles, Backache, Straining, Swelling, Etc.

Wouldn't it be nice within a week or so to begin to say good bye forever to the scalding, dribbling, straining or too frequent passage of the urine; the forehead and the back-of-the-head aches; the stitches and pains in the back; the growing muscle weakness; spots before the eyes; yellow skin; sluggish bowels; swollen short breath; sleeplessness and the despondency?

I have a recipe for these troubles that you can depend on and if you want to make a quick recovery, you ought to write and get a copy of it. Many a doctor would charge you $3.50 just for writing this prescription, but I have it and will be glad to send it to you entirely free. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, K 1793, Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send it by return mail in a plain envelope. As you will see when you get it, this recipe contains only pure, harmless remedies but it has great healing and pain-conquering power.

It will quickly show its power once you use it so I think you had better see what it is without delay. I will send you a copy free—you can use it and cure yourself at home.

ROMAN CATHOLIC MARRIAGE DECREE.

The "Ne Temere" decree of Pope Pius, relating to the marriage laws of the Roman Catholic Church, now the subject of much discussion is different parts of the world, was issued in August, 1907. The official document explains the difficulties which beset the marriage regulations of the Council of Trent, causing some uncertainty in their enforcement and promulgates the folliwing decrees:

1. Only those matrimonial engagements are considered to be valid and to beget canonical effects which have been made in writing, signed by both parties, and either by the parish priest or the ordinary of the place, or two witnesses.

In case of one or both of the parties being unable to write, this fact is to be noted in the document, and another witness is to be secured to sign the contract as above, together with the parish priest or the ordinary of the place, or two witnesses.

2. By parish priest as used in the present decree, it is to be understood not only the priest who legitimately presides over a parish that is canonically erected, but also in localities where parishes are not canonically erected, the priest to whom the care of the souls has been legitimately entrusted in any specified district, and who is equivalent to a parish priest and also in missions where the territory has not yet been perfectly divided, every priest generally deputed for the care of souls in any station by the superior of the mission.

3. Only those marriages are valid which are contracted before the parish priest, or the ordinary of the place, or a priest delegated by either of these, and at least two witnesses in accordance with the rules laid down in the following articles, and with the exceptions mentioned under VI. and VII.

Clause IV relates to the technical conditions under which a parish priest and ordinary may validly assist at a marriage.

VII. When danger of death is imminent, and where the parish priest
V. They may assist licitly.

(i) After they have ascertained, according to the prescribed forms, that the contracting parties are free to marry, and that they have duly complied with the commandments laid down by the law;

(ii) after they have ascertained moreover, that one of the contracting parties has a domicile, or at least has lived for a month, in the place where the marriage takes place;

(iii) if this condition be lacking the parish prest and the ordinary of the place to assist licitly at a marriage require the permission of the parish priest or the ordinary, of one of the contracting parties, unless it be in a case of grave necessity, which excuses this requirement.

(iv) Except in cases of necessity it is unlawful for a parish priest to assist at the marriage of persons without fixed abode (vagos) until the matter has been duly reported to the ordinary o rto a priest delegaed by him so as to obtain permission to assist at the marriage.

(v) In every case let it be held as the rule that the marriage is to be celebrated before the parish priest of the bride, unless some just cause dispenses from this rule.

VI. The parish priest and the ordinary of the place may grant permission to another priest, specified and certain, to assist at marriages within the limits of their district.

The delegated priest, in order to assist validly and licitly, is bound to observe the limits of his mandate and the rules laid down above, in IV and V., for the parish priest and the Ordinary of the place.

or the Ordinary of the place, or a priest delegated by either of these, cannot be had, in order to provide for the relief of conscience, and (should the case require it), for the legtimation of offspring, a marriage may be contracted validly and licitly before any priest and two witnesses.

VIII. Should it happen in any district where the parish priest, or the Ordinary of the place, or a priest delegated by either of them, before whom marriage can be celebrated, is not to be had, and the condition of affairs has lasted for a month, marriage may be validly and licitly entered upon by the formal declaration of consent made by the contracting parties in the presence of two witnesses.

IX. (i) After the celebration of a marriage the parish priest, or he who takes his place, is to register at once in the book of marriages the names of the couple and of the witnesses the place and day of the celebration of the marriage, and the other details according to the method prescribed in the ritual books, or by the Ordinary This obligation holds likewise when another priest delegated either by the parish priest himself, or by the Ordinary has assisted at the marriage

(ii) Moreover the parish priest is to note in the book of baptisms the fact that the married person contracted marriage on a certain day in his parish. If the married person was baptized esewhere, the parish priest who assisted at the marriage is to send notice of the marriage, either directly or through the episcopal curia, to the parish priest of the place where the person was baptized, in order that the marriage may be inscribed in the book of baptisms.

(iii) Whenever a marriage is contracted in the manner described under VII. and VIII., the priest in the former case, the witnesses in the latter, are bound conjointly with the contracting parties themselves to provide that the marriage be entered as soon as possible in the prescribed registers.

X. Parish priests who violate the rules here laid down are to be punished by their Ordinaries according to the nature and gravity of their transgression. Moreover, if they assist at the marriage anybody in violation of the rules given under (ii) and (iii) of No. V., they are not to appropriate the stole-fees, but must remit them to the parish priest of the contracting parties.

XI. (i) The above laws are binding on all persons baptized in the Catholic Church, and on those who have been converted to it from heresy or schism (even when either when the latter or the former have fallen away afterwards from the Church), in all cases of betrothal or marriage.

(ii) The same laws are binding also on such Catholics if they contract betrothal or marriage with non-Catholics, baptized or unbaptized, even after a dispensation has been obtained from the imped'ment mixtae religionis or disparitatis cultue; unless the Holy See has decreed otherwise for some particular place or religion.

(iii) Non-Catholics, whether baptized or unbaptized, who contract among themselves, are nowhere bound to observe the Catholic form of betrothal or marriage.

Accompanying the decree is the text of a Papal Bull issued in 1906, which explains why the "Ne Temere" decree and the "Tametsi" decree of the Council of Trent are not enforced throughout the German Empire, certain modifications having been made applying to that country only.

AN EXPERT BOOKMAKER.

One In Havana That Puzzled a Chicago Betting Man.

"If you want to see expert bookmakers you should go to Havana," remarked a Chicago man. "They certainly have their business down fine. I went to a cockfight in one of the suburbs of Havana on a Sunday. Nearly everybody in that part of the town had turned out.

"With two friends I got seats close to the pit. I had never seen a cockfight, and I was interested. At the edges of the pit several natives were standing, facing the audience and yelling and waving their hands. I asked one of my friends, who had been in Havana a short time, what they were doing. He said they were taking bets. Sure enough, the spectators were shouting back at them, announcing their favorites and placing their bets. But the bookmakers were not using even a pencil. One of them, I am sure, must have taken fifty bets.

"I wanted to get in on the game, so I decided to bet $2 on a black gamecock that looked good to me. I handed over my money, but I didn't get a ticket. I felt sure I should never again see my money even if I had picked the winner. Well, the main was fought, and my bird won. I watched the bookmaker as he went among the crowd, handing money here and there. When he came to me he handed over $10. I was surprised, but he didn't notice it, as he was too busy cleaning up his slate. Finally I discovered through a spectator near by who could speak English a little that my bird had been a four to one shot.

"How that 'bookie' ever kept all those bets in his mind is more than I can understand."—Washington Post.

May Have Nine Millions.

The Census and Statistics Branch estimates that on March 31, when the fiscal year closed, Canada had a population of 7,489,781, it being estimated that there was a growth of 305,000 over the year previous. In detail the department estimates the population as follows:

Maritime Provinces, 1,060,678; Quebec, 2,124,834; Ontario, 2,687,861; Manitoba, 496,111; Saskatchewan, 477,590; Alberta, 324,862; British Columbia, 321,733; unorganized territories, 59,050. Immigration not shown by provinces, 10,862.

These calculations indicate that the 1911 census will show Canada to have a population of between eight and nine millions.

LONG A MYSTERY.

Experts Could Not Agree on Material of a Celebrated Glass Vase.

In the British Museum in London, on exhibition is the Portland vase, the masterpiece of ancient glasswork. A chance discovery led to the rescue of this magnificent urn from the grave, where it had lain for hundreds of years, hidden and unknown. The vase was found early in the seventeenth century by some laborers, who, digging on a hillock in the neighborhood of Rome, broke into a large vault.

On further examination it revealed a suite of three sepulchral chambers. In the largest room they found a finely sculptured sarcophagus, which contained the beautiful vase. It was full of ashes, but it bore no inscription as to the remains it held, nor has the mystery ever been solved which shrouds its origin.

The vase was deposited in the Barberini Palace, where it remained until 1770, when the representative of the Barberini family, a Roman princess, was forced to part with it to pay her gambling debts. The vase changed hands twice, then it was disposed of to the Duchess of Portland, but with such secrecy that her own family was not aware of the transaction until after her death.

At the sale of the Duchess of Portland's collection it was purchased by her son, the third Duke of Portland, for the sum of $5,145, and it was deposited in the museum by his successor. The vase was wantonly smashed in pieces by a drunken visitor, but the fragments were, however, joined together, but the bottom, with its mysterious figure in Phrygian cap, was not replaced.

The material of this case was long almost as great a puzzle as the story it illustrates. Breval refers to it as "the famous vase of chaledony"; Misson calls it an agate; Bartoli a sardonyx; while Caylus and others correctly decided that it was made of glass. The blue body was first formed, and, while still red hot, coated over as far as the bas reliefs were intended to reach with semiopaque white glass, the delicate figures being afterwards cut down to the blue ground in the same manner as with real cameos.

Telephone Girl's Record.

For a period of six years, which terminated only a day or two ago, Farnham, Surrey, England, possessed the paragon of telephone operators, a girl who never made mistakes or lost her temper. She was not the only operator at the Farnham Exchange, but the knowledge that she might be the one who would answer a call made the use of the telephone one of the pleasures of life instead of one of its worries to subscribers in the district, says The London Daily Mail.

But there is gloom among the telephone users of Farnham, for the girl has got married—to a young man who used to listen to her voice over the telephone wires.

Miss Lilla Patrick was the operator's name—she is Mrs. Lefevre now—and just before her wedding the Farnham telephone subscribers remembered that never once during the whole six years she had presided over the plugs and lines of the Farnham Exchange had a single complaint been made against her. This was a record not to be passed over lightly, so the Farnham subscribers subscribed again, this time for Miss Lilla Patrick, and presented her with $85 and their good wishes for a happy married life. She received in addition many other separate wedding presents from telephone users.

"We shall never see her like again," said the subscribers who headed the list, in a tone of regret. "She always spoke politely, was obliging and courteous, did her best, was quick in getting numbers, never cut you off too soon, never put you on the wrong number, never snapped at you, would ring when your number was on, and, finally, she had a charming voice."

The manager of the Farnham Exchange speaks thus in praise of Miss Patrick: "Her record in the service of the company was unsullied. Never was a mark made against her. She was a wonderful operator."

Stories of the Gravediggers.

"But, George," said the minister, "if you were to be constantly employed in the duties of the office you would soon bury the whole parish."

"That micht be, sir, but hoo am I to keep a wife and family unless I get regular work? 'Deed, sir, I havena buried a leevin' soul for the last six weeks."

Harder still was the case of another gravedigger who was asked to reduce his fee for digging a grave because, "mind ye, James, she was an auld woman and was sair spent."

CHAPTER III.

The Strangers.

Vipan's reputation as a traveller was well known and the news of the tragedy, published in the evening papers, caused a profound sensation throughout London. Te books he had published and the lectures he had delivered had caught public attention, and in the Royal and Geographical Societies he had been regarded as a coming man, and great things had been looked for from him. Yet he had been suddenly cut off in his prime— assassinated by an unknown hand.

At the inquest thousands would have been present where not a hundred could find standing room. But the coroner's court was crowded, and the expectant jury were eager for startling revelations.

James Hunter was the first witness. He stated that he was in the service of the deceased, and identified the body as that of his master, Wallace Vipan. He last sa whim alive about half-past eleven on the Wednesday evening, when he entered the sitting room in answer to the bell, and his master told him that he should require nothing further and that he would see his friends out and he (Hunter) was not to sit up.

"Did you know the gentlemen?" inquired the coroner, looking up fromthe paper whereon he was writing the deposition.

"No, sir; I am not aware that I ever saw them before."

"Are you quite sure the deceased used the word 'friends'?"

The man hesitated, then replied,—

"No, sir; on second thought I believe he said 'the gentlemen.'"

"Ah, please be careful. What next?"

"I sleep at the top of the house. The next morning I—"

"One moment. These gentlemen had never been in your master's rooms before?"

"No, sir, so far as I know, they had not."

"Very well. Go on."

"The next morning I knocked at my master's door soon after eight, with his shaving water, but he did not answer ,and, thinking he might be asleep, I entered the room." The witness, who at this point was visibly affected, went on: "The bedclothes were in great disorder and the body of my master was half on the bed and half off, the head resting on the floor. Round the neck was the waist-cord of his dressing-gown tied very tightly. I took out my knife and cut it at once, but my poor master was quite dead."

"You removed nothing?"

"Nothing except the cord. I ran downstairs and sent for a doctor and the police, and then returned upstairs to see that nothing was touched before they arrived."

"Did you enter the sitting-room?"

"Yes."

"And what did you notice there?"

"That the place had been ransacked. My master's despatch box, the cupboards and the drawers in the writing table were all open and the contents scattered."

"Can you say if anything was stolen?"

"No, sir, I don't know what papers Mr. Vipan may have had. He always kept everything locked up."

"Do you know if your master intended making a long stay in England or meditated any other expedition?"

"I don't, sir. He never mentioned the matter to me."

The coroner turned to the jury and inquired if they had any questions to put to the witness, but as they had none he was allowed to stand down.

The next witness was Horace John Peacock, Fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons, of Norris Street, Haymarket, who said he was called to the chambers of the deceased about eight-thirty on the morning in question. He found the body as described by the last witness with the exception that the silk cord of the dressing-gown had been cut and removed from the neck. The deceased had been dead for some hours. He had not the slightest doubt that death was due to strangulation, and that the cord handed to him by the last witness had been the means used. He replaced it in the mark in the neck and it fitted exactly; the indentations caused by the twists of the cord and the running knot over the windpipe tallied to a nicety.

"Could death have been self-inflicted?" asked the coroner.

"Most certainly not—this way. It would have been absolutely impossible."

"Did you find any other marks on the body?"

"Yes, a large bruise on the right side of the chest, which was probably caused by the knee of the murderer holding the body of the victim down as he strained at the cord. The pyjama jacket the deceased was wearing had a dirty patch just other this spot."

"Do you consider the last witness did right in cutting the cord?"

"Undoubtedly. He, not being a doctor, could not tell if life were absolutely extinct."

"Now comes our turn," whispered Giuseppe Guelfo to Ellis, who was standing beside him close to the space reserved for the jury. "Be careful and back me up."

The coroner had a short conversation with his clerk and then, turning to the jury, said,—

"Gentlemen, the next, and, as I am informed, the only remaining witnesses at present are two gentlemen who have volunteered to come forward and say what they know of this very unfortunate affair. Call Mr. Guelfo."

"Mr. Guelfo, you are, I believe, a financier, and have offices in Throgmorton Avenue, eh?"

Guelfo bowed, and the coroner commenced to write on the official foolscap before him.

"Were you a friend of the deceased?"

"I can hardly claim that honor, much as I should like to, as I only met him that day for the first time. It was in this way. My friend, Mr. Ellis, who is also here to give evidence, knowing I was greatly interested in the travels of the unfortunate gentleman, mentioned my name to him—so I believe—when he himsif received an invitation to dine with the deceased at his club, the Devonshire, and Mr. Vipan most kindly included me in the invitation. But Mr. Ellis will be able to explain this."

"Just so."

"Mr. Ellis and I dined with the deceased and afterward went round to his chambers to smoke and chat, and while there he showed us a number of curiosities he had collected at various times."

"Then this was a mere friendly meeting, not a business appointment?"

"Just so. I am greatly interested in the subject of exploration, and I looked on it as a high privilege to meet so eminent a traveller and to hear some of his experiences and adventures in an informal way."

"Did you remain there late?"

"I think it must have been half-past one when we left, but I cannot be quite sure. I know the time went very quickly."

"Did the deceased come down with you to the door?"

"No, my friend and I would not permit him to do so, though he wished to."

"Did you see anyone in the hall or about the pass when you left?"

"No one."

"You closed the door after you?"

"Yes, I pulled it to myself and afterwards pushed against it to ascertain whether it was secure."

"Did you see anyone in the street near the house?"

"Not that I remember."

At this point the foreman of the jury asked the question,—

"In what state, as regards spirts, did Mr. Vipan appear to you?"

"In the best."

"Not at all like a man contemplating suicide?"

"Not in the least; he was bright and animated, and very interesting and entertaining."

"I don't think there is any need to go into that question after the evidence of the doctor, who says it was impossible for the deceased to have brought about his own death," said the coroner shortly, and the jurymen relapsed into silence.

"Can you tell us anything more?" continued the coroner.

"I am afraid not. I only know I left Mr. Vipan with the hope of shortly meeting him again and hearing more of his adventures."

"Thank [illegible] then va[illegible]

"Excuse [illegible] a moment, sir," exclaimed the foreman. "You said this meeting was a purely friendly one; there was no business talked?"

"Well, mines and railway concessions cropped up in the course of conversation, but it was in quite a casual manner."

"Thank you. I merely asked because I thought that the knowledge the deceased evidently must have possessed of the comparatively unworked state of Peru might have been very valuable to you in your business capacity."

"Well, sir, if I had half the knowledge Mr. Vipan possessed I could turn it to such account that after six months there would be no need for me to spend my life in the City, as I have to."

"Yes, that is just what I thought. I don't wish to ask anything else, thank you."

This Came by Wireless.

The young and brilliant editorial guide was showing the party of antiquarians through the older portions of the city of Peoria.

"The streets running parallel with the river," he said, "are named Washington, Adams, Jefferson, and so on, you see. We named them in honor of the presidents of the United States."

"I see," responded one of the antiquarians, "And what's the name of the street we are passing now?"

"Perry."

"You seem to have run out of presidents, George, when you got to this one."

"Ye-es," said George; "we had not only used up all the presidents, but we seem to have made a bad guess on the next one."—Chicago Tribune.

Easy Deduction.

It was in the hotel dining room.

"That Boston girl at the third table is rather pretty, isn't she?" remarked the great detective.

"Yes," replied his friends, "But how do you know she is from Boston?"

An Amusing Typographical Error.

Professor McCrimmon, of McMaster University, Toronto, went to Orillia recently to address the Canadian Club in that town, and as a result of an amusing experience there, he brought home a good story to add to his already extensive repertoire. On his arrival in the northern town, he found considerable curiosity had been aroused as to the subject of his address, which had been announced as "The Butt of a Nation." What was the butt of a nation? was the question that everyone in the audience was curious to hear answered. Prof. McCrimmon had to confess that he didn't know. He thought he had written "The Birth of a Nation." The mistake was worth the laugh that followed this unexpected denouement.

TROUBLES OF A CONSUL.

A Sample of the Way These Officials Are Sometimes Badgered.

Consuls the world over are likely to have their hands full with certain types of their fellow country men or women, as in the instance about to be described. It occurred when Capt. A. F. Townshend was acting in his official capacity of British consul in a town in Asia Minor. One day, he relates in "A Military Consul In Turkey," an English lady arrived and was shown into his office. She was invited to sit down, which she did with caution after subjecting the consul to a careful scrutiny.

"You are the consul, I suppose?"

I admitted that such was the case.

"Well," she went on, "my steamer only stays here for six hours, and I want to go to Tarsus to see the place where St. Paul lived, and as I believe the train has gone I want a carriage, and you must guarantee me that I shall be back in time for my steamer, and I want an interpreter who speaks English and Turkish, and"—

"Madam," I interrupted, "I must really"—

"My name is Mrs. X.," she snapped, with a kind of don't-dare-to-madam me air.

"Very well," I replied as meekly as I could, "but as you have not shown me your passport I did not know. If I could find an interpreter who spoke English and Turkish I would buy him for myself, so I fear you can't have that, but I"—

"And you must arrange about lunch for me in Tarsus," she put in.

"But,' I continued desperately, "I shall try to get you a carriage as soon as possible. Of course we can't call a cab, you know, as if we were in Regent street, but I'll send a kavass for one."

"Rather unsatisfactory!" she growled.

"And I'll ask the Turkish Government to send a policeman on the box, so that you will be quite safe. I cannot, however, guarantee what time you may get back. It is sixteen miles to Tarsus."

"Well, I won't go at all," she declared, as if she were inflicting a crushing blow. "But I want to change a Bank of England five pound note, and as I don't know the rate of exchange I shall have to trust you to change it for me."

"Really, Mrs. X.," I said, goaded into retaliation, "you seem to have some very mistaken ideas. Let me tell you that I am neither a cab proprietor, nor a tourist agent, nor yet a money changer, and I must ask you to change your note elsewhere."

She sprang up as if she had sat on a wasps' nest.

"Young man, I shall go straight back on board my steamer; and as I have most influential friends in the Foreign Office you will hear of me again!"

"That will be a great pleasure," I murmured as the lady sailed out.

For days afterward I trembled at the arrival of every telegram, but the Foreign Office, in its leniency, must have decided to give me one more chance before dismissal without a "character."

Good Health Week! Special Sale of "Sunkist" Oranges

Begins Next Monday

"GOOD HEALTH" Week begins next Monday and, in honor of the event, the people of this city will be given the greatest opportunity ever known to buy fresh, luscious fruit at reasonable prices.

Millions of "Sunkists" Arrive

Five millions of the famous "Sunkist" oranges have just arrived from California by special fast freight. On Monday morning, when the great orange sale begins, every fruit dealer in the city will be supplied with "Sunkists."

Most Luscious Fruit Grown

Unless you have eaten a "Sunkist" orange, you do not know the delicious taste of a California orange right off the tree. "Sunkist" oranges are the fancy crop of TEN MILLION orange trees. Only the most select part of this total crop are "Sunkists"—only the perfect oranges—those which are hand-picked, tree-ripened, sound and solid. No fallen, bruised or otherwise damaged orange wears the "Sunkist" wrapper.

"Sunkist" oranges are thin-skinned, seedless and fibreless. Never pithy, sour or tasteless. There is so little waste that they are the most economical oranges one can buy.

"Sunkist" means the highest quality of oranges. Big "Sunkists" cost more than small ones, but all are sold at fair, modest prices, as you will see at your fruit dealer's.

Oranges Build Health

Physicians everywhere are pointing out the health-giving properties of oranges and the demand for fresh, ripe, luscious oranges is simply astounding. During Good Health Week fruit dealers are always on the jump from morning till night. For this is the season of the year when "spring fever" is epidemic; when nerves and blood need toning up; when the system demands a change from heavy foods to the kind that increase bodily vigor and vitality.

SUNKIST
ORANGES

Save Your "Sunkist" Wrappers!

Most people know the "Sunkist" orange at once by its ruddy, deep tint which shows that it was tree-ripened. Yet the sure mark of identification is the tissue paper wrapper labeled "Sunkist," in which each individual "Sunkist" orange is packed. An orange not packed in the "Sunkist" wrapper is not a "Sunkist" orange, but an inferior fruit. The wrapper identifies the orange and is valuable, too. Save all your "Sunkist" wrappers and get, free, as many of the beautiful Rogers Table Silver Premiums as you want. Some time ago the Leaguers chose sides. For about six weeks the members worked hard, saving up the nickels with the result that $28.15 was raised. On Tuesday night the losers entertained the winners in the basement of the church.

Friday last proved to be a moving day. Mr. Jack Aums moved back to Corbyville and the house thus vacated was immediately taken possession of by Mr. Ab. Gunsolus. Mr. Eli Vesterfelt also moved on the same day to the Fourth concession of Sidney.

Hawaii's Lepers Not Increasing.

"The leper colony of Hawaii has not grown any the last several years," said O. B. Thomas, of Honolulu. "In fact the number of lepers confined on the island of Molokai has been decreased by the discovery that some of them were not suffering from the disease. The district in which the lepers live is separated from the mainland by a high range of mountains and the lepers have a municipal government of their own. They have their schools and their amusements and pursue their daily work with as much pleasure as the inhabitants of thriving villages."

Down with the House Fly.

At an illustrated lecture in Philadelphia recently Dr. Weldman, the pathologist, said a single fly speck contained 3,000 bacilli, and as disease carriers their scope of activity was beyond estimation. As the best means of ridding the country of these pests he advised he plentiful use of lime and kerosene, together with effectual screening of windows and the burning or burying of refuse. As to shopkeepers— grocers and butchers particularly,— he believed that unless all foods were properly screened and the customer protected from the fly-specked food, a boycott should be established by housekeepers.

WORKINGMEN MAYORS.

The inability of the Aldermen of Dublin to make up their minds concerning the salary to be paid the city's Lord Mayor, who is a news vender resulting in remarkable fluctuations first from $18,000 a year to $8,000 then up to $18,000 again, and finally back to the lower figure, draws attention to the fact that the Irish metropolis is not the only city in the United Kingdom that can boast of a worki Mayor. It is a question whethe Great Britain cannot show a more democratic record in this respect than the United States, popularly supposed to be the land par excellence of unrestricted opportunity.

It happened in two cases at least that Mayors of English communities have actually risen from the workhouse, and it is impossible to imagine interesting representatives of "the other half," was born in the workhouse, and it is impossible to imabine a more humble beginning than that yet he was elected Mayor of Poplar and a member of Parliament. One of the most respected citizens of Devonport, Alderman Hornbrook, who served as Mayor with distinction, was born in the workhouse of the same town.

A former Mayor of Leeds, the greatest of Yorkshire cities, Alderman Scarr, by name, was the industrious dispenser of penny sweets from behind the counter of his modest store when he was not maintaining the dinity of the highest office in the gift of his fellow-townsmen. The contrast seems even greater when it is said that he put off his apron to don his robes of office to welcome the late King Edward and Queen Alexandra in the name of Leeds when they oper ed an extension to Leeds University.

Another workingman Mayor can boast of a similar royal assiciation The Welsh city of Cardiff chose William Crossman, a working stonemason to be its Lord Mayor during a year in which King Edward had promised to pay a visit to the city. The late King became so interested in this man of the people that he determined to show it in an unprecedented manner, and much to Crossman's surprise, tapped him on the shoulder with a sword and said: "Rise, Sir William."

Alderman Bond has several times been Mayor of Plymouth, but those who knew him years ago when he began his career as a boy in a local solicitor's office would not have predicted he would some day be the city's chief personage.

The police force in England would hardly commend itself to the casual observer as a stepping stone to the Mayoralty, yet two chief executives have reached their high position by that route. Kingston-on-Thames several years ago elected Councillor Clark Mayor. His admirers made two unsuccessful attempts before they succeeded in landing him in the Mayor's chair, largely because the proud residents of the town found it impossible to resign themsleves to the rules of their former policeman.

Blackpool, the Coney Island of England, once selected Alderman Brodle to the Mayoralty, despite the fact that he was particularly fond of telling his experience as a member of the force in Manchester.

Timothy Owen, one of the most popular residents of Aberavon, Glamorganshire, was a signalman on a railroad when his neighbors expressed their desire to invest him with the office of Mayor. On the occasion of his first visit to church after assuming the high office he had a curious body guard in 300 railway men headed by the General Secretary of the labor union to which he belonged.

THE QUEEN'S

Toronto the Queen City of Canada is the important business and tourist centre of the Dominion, its many handsome churches, artistic public buildings, imposing offices, public drives, parks and gardens, are the admiration of many thousands of visitors throughout the year.

One of the best hotels in Canada is located here, the old established "Queen's", a hostelry that is especially popular with all discriminating people, standing in its own beautiful and extensive grounds, it has an air of quiet and refinement that appeals strongly to the home-lover, its fame is far reaching, and many remember with pleasure the hours spent within its hospitable walls. 2

The "Queen's" is operated on the American and European Plan, the rates being: Rooms without Bath (American Plan) $3.00 per day up. Rooms with Bath (American Plan) $3.50 per day up. Rooms (European Plan) $1.50 per day up.

Picture Forgeries.

There are three or four times as many Corots in existence as the French painter produced in his lifetime. He lived to be nearly eighty, but at Montmartre his posthumous canvases are still being turned out to meet the demands of the market. The old masters never die. They are still working overtime in the back rooms of Florence and Rome. At Cologne the manufacture of genuine medieval metal work and antique carving is a thriving industry. These foreign forgers may be scamps, but their tireless energy also testifies to the reverence in which posterity holds the great names of bygone periods. If they are not so highly prized, what inducements would there be for anybody to waste time, paint and muscle in creating fraudulent copies and imitations and passing them off under false pretenses? Our millionaire collectors are not constantly exposed to the risk of buying high priced forgeries where the originals have no value.—New York World.

Ready For the Worst.

"A woman in a parish where I lived," said an English clergyman, "used each day to prepare herself for the worst. I was complimenting her one day on the extreme tidiness of the house even early in the morning.

"'Yes,' she said, 'I always likes to 'ave my bedrooms done hearly, for, as I allus sez, you never knows what may 'appen. 'ow soon one of the children may be brought 'ome in a fit or with a broken leg, and, as I allus sez, it don't matter what 'appens, so long as you've got a bedroom to put 'em

THE USEFUL CASSEROLE.

How to Make Cheap Dishes Pleasing to the Palate.

The casserole is a utensil which should be known in the American kitchen.

Awhile ago the casserole was an expensive imported dish. Now it is made in this country and can be bought for a small sum. Any fireproof earthenware dish, large or small, with a cover is a casserole or may serve in the place of one. The food cooked in the casserole is sent to the table in the same dish and has won by the process of cooking a savoriness it could hardly gain in any other way.

To make cheap dishes pleasing to the palate is the object of housekeepers at all times, but especially now, when the cruel rise in prices sends us all searching for ways in which to keep our bills down without letting our families feel they are being pinched in their food supply. In this effort the casserole is of distinct service.

Take, for instance, a casserole of veal. For this you may use the leg pieces or any other cheap lean portions. Cutlet is altogether too good and too expensive. You put the casserole on top of the stove and fry in it an onion in a little dripping and when this is hot lay in the slices of meat and turn them until their surfaces are lightly seared. You arrange the meat and sliced or stewed tomatoes in alternate layers, pour in a cup of weak gravy, cover your casserole and put it in the oven and leave it there for an hour and a half to two hours.

Try the meat from time to time with a fork to see if it is tender. If

Paris First In Hotels.

London has a marvelously cheap hotel for the submerged 10th—a great hall where one may sleep on a straw mattress, a board frame or the floor and have a breakfast of bread and soup, all for three cents. And this price pays the expense of the place. But Paris still stands first in hotels, if the French statement of having a guest house that provides a night's guest house that provides a night's lodging for one penny and pays a profit is true. It is a great room on the ground floor, used in the daytime as a factory, through the length of which as 9 p.m. are stretched several strong cables of hemp which are made taut by a windlass and peg in the wall. On either side of each cable is a row of chairs, and as the weary lodgers come in they take the chairs, and, sitting in them, lean forward, resting their arms on the rope and their heads on their arms, sleeping thus until at 6 a.m. an attendant with a mallet knocks out the peg in the wall. Down goes the rope with all who may be leaning upon it, and the room is ready for the work of the day. This may be a classic and familiar story to Parisians, but is not universally known to the world. As a profitable lodging house, where one who sleeps in comfort in his clothes may rest with more of comfort in half the space, the venture is certainly cleaner, cheaper and more profitable than the London plan.

WE REPAIR WEAK MEN

CONSULTATION OF DOCTORS

ONE SECRET OF OUR SUCCESS. Every case submitted to us receives the personal attention of our Medical Staff, who consider the symptoms, complications and chronicity, and then decide as to the disease and curability. Specific remedies are then prescribed for the case and are compounded by our own chemist in our own Laboratory. Such appropriate treatment cannot fail to cure, as specific medicines are selected to cure the symptoms that trouble you. We have no cure-all medicines like most specialists use who send the same medicines to all patients alike and cure none. We have treated patients throughout Canada for over twenty years and can refer to any bank as to our responsibility.

We Guarantee Cures or No Pay. We Treat all Diseases of Men and Women.

Compensation.

Poetic justice, raw and strong,
That is the kind you draw
When you are guilty of a wrong
That is not against the law.
Suppose your temper you mislay
And rave and throw a fit
About the food, that very day
The hired girl may quit.

You take advantage of a chap
Who isn't over bright,
And coax him gently in a trap
And as you lead him to the deep,
To push him o'er the brim,
He gives his arm a careless sweep
And drags you in with him.

You scold a boy who by mistake
May step upon your corn;
His little heart begins to ache
As he receives your scorn.
When something rough to him you do
At almost nothing riled,
He may, when you are out of view,
Make faces at your child.

Evict the widow from her cot
Because the rent is due;
Doubt not that fate at once will plot
To get it back on you.
It may take years to right the wrong,
But later, by and by,
As swift the seasons roll along,
Your cat or dog may die.

A Preventive Measure.

"She hugs and kisses me all the time I'm at lessons, and—ugh—I do hate Dutch!" Harriet explained.

Father, who is something of a diplomat, reasoned with her, "See here, my little girl, I have read German and French with fraulein ever since I was your age, and she has never tried to hug or kiss me."

"Father," observed the child dryly, "you had better touch wood."

Ants and the Weather.

Ants are credited with an instinctive knowledge of the general weather for a whole season. When they are observed at midsummer enlarging and strengthening their dwellings it is said to be a sign of an early and cold winter.

Very Annoying.

"It is annoying to watch for a train that's late."

"Yes, and it is even more annoying to wait for a train that was discontinued the week before."—Washington Herald.

THE OLD SYSTEM IS BEST SAY DISGRUNTLED ONES

Board of Control System of Municipal Government, Now in force Over a Year, is not Satisfactory Claim the Ward Politicians—Business Men and Good Citizens Generally Approve of It—Canadian Teachers Unexcelled Say British Experts—Vaccination for All is the Order—Eighteen Hour Day the Limit, Thinks Doctor

(From our own Correspondent.)

MONTREAL, May 8.—The Board of Control, or Galveston plan of commission government for cities, as it is called in the United States, where it originated, is a failure in so far as Montreal is concerned, according to a band of ex-aldermen, would-be contractors, ward heelers and others who have formed themselves into an organization whose aim is to recapture the City Hall for the old form of aldermanic patronage and plunder carried on so unsuccessfully until last year under the old system of civic government by aldermanic committees.

The Commissioners have held the reins of office for slightly over a year now. Anyone who takes the trouble to compare, in ever so casual a manner, the results which have been achieved in that short time in the way of civic improvement, with the results which were promised but which were never forthcoming during the many years of aldermanic sway, will agree that the new system, instead of being a failure as claimed, has been a great success. There have been short-comings, of course, but all around it may be safely said that never before has the city's money and energy been put to better use than during the last 12 months. When the Board of Control was elected the number of aldermen was cut down from two to one for each ward. This left a few gentlemen at home who had had a taste of political life, and hankered for more. Up to the present time they have kept quiet, but now, it appears, they are getting together and intend to make a concentrated effort to obtain control of the municipal purse strings once more.

"Disbelieve it if you wish," remarked an informant, "but it is a fact. The proposition is to issue a petition which the people will be asked to sign praying for a referendum on the question. The argument is that the Board of Control is not giving satisfactory results, and they contend that a referendum would put the board out of existence.

"Behind this movement are a number of the members of the old aldermanic regime and certain contractors who complain that the Controllers are not giving them a fair show.

"This petition is actually in preparation. Unless the plans of the promoters miscarry, however, the petition will be launched on the public in the near future with the beating of drums and the sound of trumpets. Watch for developments."

Training Future Citizens.

Is the Canadian child "forward?"

Members of the commission of English educational experts who are visiting Canada in the interests of education, answer the question with an emphatic negative.

"That is to say," said one of the commissioners, "the children are not "forward" in the sense of the word which is generally interpretde as rudeness. On the other hand they are bright and show an absolute absence of self-consciousness, which is really delightful. It indicates an individuality and alertness which will make them good, bright, self-reliant citizens of the future. It also speaks well for the system of instruction given in the schools and is a testimonial of the careful work of the teacher whose salary is not commensurate with the efforts that both he and she must have made in order to obtain such results.

The commission, which is composed of leading British educationalists, is making a tour of the Dominion iwth a view to reporting on the school system here.

Vaccination for All.

General compulsory vaccination has been ordered by the Provincial Board of Health of the Province of Quebec. This will mean not only the Province for those who have not been vaccinated, but revaccination for those who have not been vaccinated for the last seven years.

This stringent step has been adopted in view of the discovery that cases of smallpox exist in more than twenty counties.

Moreover the attention of the Board has been called to the fact that as lumbermen returned from the bush inspectors found many cases of smallpox.

Dr. E. Pelletier, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, declares that it is time to stamp out the contagion before it has become too general. "We are surrounded by smallpox," said he. "Ontario is infested and the neighboring States are also on the verge of an epidemic."

"We have discovered lately that hundreds of cases have been shielded even by physicians sometimes through ignorance, and sometimes quite deliberately. This is the explanation of the numerous outbreaks reported from over twenty counties of the Province.

A Long Day's Work.

Eighteen hours out of twenty-four should be the limit of any man, in any class of work, not only on account of muscular exertion and failing strength, but also because of failing brain power, the man losing his capacity to appreciate his surroundings and to direct his operations. Such is the substance of the opinion given by Dr. François de Martigny chief surgeon of the Hotel Dieu, who in the case of Dame L. Laverdure against the Canadian Northern claiming $8,000 for the death of her husband.

Brouillette was killed in a fall at about ten in the moring after having been at work since seven o'clock of the previous morning, having suspended work only for meal hours, and having worked through, day and night. The contention of the plaintiff was that the company had no right to allow men to work during such long hours.

Dr. de Martigny was called by the plaintiff's counsel to state what was the limit of a man's endurance and placed the limit at eighteen hours of continual muscle and brain work reasonable time being allowed for on the verge of an epidemic."

CANADA'S CHAMPION LADY HORSEBACK RIDERS

Conceded by all to be the best lady riders in Canada, the Misses Wilmot daughters of Mr. and Mrs. C. Wilmot the well-known pony owners, of Belleville, are winning high honors at the Ottawa Horse Show, both in the harness and saddle classes. The youthful pair are really wizards with the reins and their riding and driving has proved a feature of the classes which they have entered. Though this is but their second year on the horse show circuit, the young ladies are showing a skill that rivals the best of the professionals, and after the Montreal show, they will accompany their parents to the Olympia show in London, where Mr. Wilmot has entered his champion ponies.

Though mere youngsters, the Misses Gwendoline and Audrey, aged 15 and 16 respectively, are born horsewomen. Accustomed to horses and ponies from the time they were able to walk, the "Wilmot Kids" as they are popularly known, have records which speak wonders for their ability. Miss Audrey has a record for the high jump that has never been equalled by a woman, clearing 6 feet 4 inches on Bathgate Swell. Miss Gwendoline is also clever in the saddle, being considered the equal of her sister. The girls excite favorable comment by their riding astride, and the clever way in which they handle their mounts.

The Misses Wilmot were educated in the Belleville Ladies' College, taking high honors here also. They have resided in Belleville for some years. Their preliminary education was obtained in Newcastle, where they were born and brought up.

ARRESTED ON A SERIOUS CHARGE

James Emerson Charged With Burglarizing Pastor Greatrix' Residence

During the evening of Monday, April 24th, whilst Rev. B. Greatrix and family were absent from the parsonage on Hillside St., the premises were burglarized. Amongst other things taken was a tin cash box, which contained about $5 in money, letters, a deed and some other valuable papers belonging to the Rev. gentleman. Although the police have made every effort at the time to ferret out the thief and, if possible, arrest the offende they were unable to do so. Last night however, Constable Thompson ascertained where the missing cash box was and secured the same. As a result a warrant was issued, and this afternoon, shorty before 3 o'clock James Emerson who resides on the corner of Wickett and Catherine Sts was placed under arrest, charged with the offence. He was arrested whilst at work upon sewer construction. The box in question was found in his possession, but it was minus the papers.

Emerson allegs that while he was working about a place on Hillside street he found the tin box in question lying near the fence. This place is the second house from the parsonage. Emerson alleges he found the box on the 29th of April, but did not report the same, neither did he tell any person. The police have learned that some of the papers were burned, but as to the whereabouts of the other papers they have not learned anything.

The accused is a married man, middleaged, and has a family. Up to the present time no serious offence has been charged against him.

FLYNN KNOCKED OUT KAUFMAN

KANSAS CITY, May 6.—With a hard right swing to the jaw, Jim Flynn of Pueblo, Cal., knocked out "Big Al." Kaufman of San Francisco, in the tenth round of their fight here last night.

Never before in his career had Kaufman suffered such punishment as he received last night. Eight times Flynn floored him. Three times the giant Californian took the count of nine and after each knock-down saved himself from an immediate knockout by clinching his opponent and holding on.

When the knock-out finally came, a minute before the fight was scheduled to end, Kaufman was a pitiable sight. Blood streamed from his left eye closed in the third round, and his mouth. His face was a mass of bruises. Other than a badly swollen face, due to Kaufman's left jabs Flynn was apparently unhurt.

Flynn fought his usual bull-dog battle, rushing Kaufman at every opportunity. With lowered head, the former fireman would charge his taller and heavier opponent, swinging rights and lefts to Kaufman's head.

Flynn used his left quite frequently landing at least twenty hard swings with this hand alone. Kaufman seemed unable to ward off Flynn's blows.

Kaufman was slow. He continually tried to shove Flynn away and make a long range battle of the affair, but found that his left jabs and right swings cwre not strong enough to affect his slugging opponent.

The result was never in doubt after the second round. Flynn rushed at the tap of the gong in his round and before it was a minute old Kaufman was groggy from a right swing to the jaw.

It seemed Flynn would knock "Big Al." out in this round, but Kaufman had trained faithfully and displayed remarkable recuperative powers.

Every knockdown resulted from a right swing to the jaw following a fusillade of rights and lefts to the head. Rushing Kaufman into close quarters, Flynn would hammer him until his guard dropped. Then the Pueblo pugilist would swing his ponderous right.

Kaufman took the count of nine in the third, ninth and tenth rounds and was down repeatedly in the other rounds.

Twice during the tenth round Kaufman was knocked through the ropes. Once the referee helped Kaufman back into the ring after the fighter had lain helpless for eight seconds.

Kaufman was out for fully five minutes, after Flynn had been declared the winner.

Flynn weighed 171 pounds and Kaufman 205. Flynn received $1,750 and Kaufman $2,250.

A letter from Ald. Clarke regarding a public wharf or dock will appear in to-morow's issue.

WINCHESTER DEAD AT EDMONTON

Famous Hockey Player Who Was Long Belleville's Star Goal Keeper

The many friends in Belleville of Jack Winchester ("Winnie"), who was for some years goal keeper for the Belleville hockey team, will read with much regret the folowing telegram from Edmonton, under date the 7th inst.:—

The death took place this afternoon of John Winchester, the well-known hockeyist. The deceased had only been ill two days, but the end came suddenly from acute diabetes. His father, Judge Winchester, of Toronto was wired for on Sunday, and is now on his way here.

The deceased came to Edmonton two years ago, and played goal on the Edmonton Stanley Cup team. He had also played with the Maple Leafs, Winnipeg, Pittsburg, Toronto Belleville, and Montreal Shamrock hockey teams. He was one of the most popular of the young men of the city. He leaves a widow, to whom he was married only a little more than a year ago prior to his Eastern trip in quest of the Stanley Cup.

CURRENT COMMENT

A California man is proudly boasting that he has lived eight months on nothing but milk. Pooh, that's nothing for a grown-up man to feel so mighty proud over. Lots of babies do the same thing.

Trade figures given out at Ottawa show that during the fiscal year 1910-11, which ended on March 31, the imports amounted to $461,898,000 and the exports of domestic produce to $274,316,553. The difference between what what was brought in and what was sent out was $188,000,000. Canada inspired by the example of the ministers and parliamentarians at Ottawa is making a great trade display by running into debt.

There is a little newspaper published at Millerton, N. B., printed on paper manufactured in the same village by the New Brunswick Pulp and Paper Company. The publisher announced in the last issue that the paper was printed on paper manufactured the day before, from native spruce pulp. This is the only paper mill in the province, though there are several large pulp mills. The plant of the mills at Millerton wil be doubled this year.

Newport, N. Y., has adopted the latest scheme in municipal government. Newport is to have a City Council of five, to serve without salary, as directors of the city as a business corporation. These directors are to employ a manager, the most proficient man to be secured in the country, who will be charged with the responsibility of administering all departments of civic government The trend of opinion throughout the world is towards the commission form of government, or one of its adaptations for cities.

A St. Louis minister is "balled up" in base ball. Because he likes the brand of baseball put up in Detroit better than the quality of the sport in St. Louis, Rev. Dr. Homer B. Henderson, an ardent fan, announced his resignation recently from the pastorate of the Wagoner Place United Presbyterian church, to accept a call extended to him by the First Presbyterian church of the Michigan city Rev. Mr. Henderson will depart for Detroit on June 1. He admitted freely that baseball prompted his selecting Detroit as his next field of labor.

Germany's tremendous military strength will be shown in the summer field manoeuvres, when practically one million men will be under arms. In addition to the regular army strength of 622,000 men, over 355,000 reservists will be called to the colors, making a total effective strength for the army of 977,698. Adding to these the men serving with the fleet, an armed force of considerably more than a million will be engaged in the gigantic war game. It can easily be understood why Germany, to a large extent, dominates Continental Europe, and endeavors to frustrate the aims of France and other nations whose interests would conflict with Der Faderland.

A Poor Weak Woman

As she is termed, will endure bravely and patiently agonies which a strong man would give way under. The fact is women are more patient than they ought to be under such troubles.

Every woman ought to know that she may obtain the most experienced medical advice free of charge and in absolute confidence and privacy by writing to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y. Dr. Pierce has been chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., for many years and has had a wider practical experience in the treatment of women's diseases than any other physician in this country. His medicines are world-famous for their astonishing efficacy.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

The many and varied symptoms of woman's peculiar ailments are fully set forth in Plain English in the People's Medical Adviser (1008 pages), a newly revised and up-to-date Edition of which, cloth-bound, will be mailed free on receipt of 50 one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only. SINS OF THE ...CITY...

Henry Ellis, on being sworn, said he was a member of the Stock Exchange and had offices in Coleman Street. He had been introduced to the deceased by Sir Charles Olcott, and had been asked to dinner at the Devonshire by the deceased. Knowing his friend, Mr. Guelfo, was very anxious to meet the distinguished traveller, he had mentioned that gentleman's name, when Mr. Vipan included him in the invitation.

"You have heard Mr. Guelfo's evidence, I believe," said the coroner.

"Yes."

"And do you agree with it?"

"In every particular. I do not think he has omitted any fact worthy of mention."

"You, too, I suppose, were interested in the subject of the explorer's expeditions?"

"Very much so. He showed us many curiosities he had collected."

"Have you had any business dealings with him?"

"None whatever. Not a single one."

"But you were introduced to him by Sir Charles Olcott, who is, I believe, largely interested in money matters in the City," said the persistent juryman.

"I was. But Sir Charles was a very old acquaintance of Mr. Vipan. He had known him for years."

"Very well," and the juryman bent his head towards his neighbor and whispered something in his ear.

And so the inquiry went on, the only other evidence of any interest at all being that of the police, with regard to the state of a window on the staircase which gave on to the roof of an outbuilding. It had been found unlatched, and the bottom sash raised a fraction of an inch, but whether it was in that condition the previous evening could not be ascertained. It might have been. It very often was left partially open. Neither Mr. Guelfo nor Mr. Ellis, who were recalled, was able to throw any light upon the points. They had taken no notice as they had descended the stairs.

After a short discussion between the coroner and the police inspector as to an adjournment, the former summed up, and the jury, after a short deliberation, returned an open verdict of "Murder by some person or persons unknown." And Guelfo and Ellis left the court.

"That's well over," said the former, when they had proceeded some distance citywards.

"Yes, poor beggar, I'm sorry for him," said Ellis. "He was a real good sort and as innocent as a lamb."

"I'm a great deal more sorry for myself," replied the financier, with a grunt. "We had a Bonanza in our hands then, Ellis, and now someone else has got hold of it."

"What do you mean?"

"Why, you fool, what do you suppose Vipan was murdered for? For fun, eh?"

"No, robbery I should imagine."

"Yes, robbery of a letter and the half of a withered leaf."

"Nonsense, no one knew about it At least, very few, I should think."

"Never mind; someone's nailed it. And that's why I was so careful in my evidence to steer clear of the matter. We don't want all the world to know about that mine."

"But you don't think there is any chance of getting a finger in the pie, now, do you?"

"Can't say. Curious things happen now and then, and there are few things in the mining world that don't in some way come to my ears. At any rate, no one will gather from our evidence that we were biting."

While this conversation was taking place as they drove in a cab along the Thames Embankment, another was being held in the bar of a public-house in close proximity to the coroner's court. The duties of the British jurymen always appears to promote thirst, and the sequel to any inquiry whether before judge or before coroner, is generally an adjournment to the nearest licensed house.

"Don't you tell me that man, Guelfo, and his hanger-on, Ellis, only dined with that poor young Vipan for what they could put in their mouths!" the persistent juryman was saying to two of his confreres as he stood sipping his glass of hot spirits. "It ain't in the nature of Guelfo. I happen to know him. It's the pieces he's after always, and those he'll get some way or another."

"But, Mr. Taft, you don't suggest that those City nobs murdered the deceased?" ventured one of his companions.

"I suggest nothing," said Mr. Taft.

"Or that they robbed him?"

"No, I don't—not then. But I reckon—and mind you, I know what I'm talking about—young Vipan, if he had lived another six months he wouldn't have asked those men to dine with him again at the end of the time."

Better Clothes and More of Them

By giving the public better clothes, more of them are sold.

By buying "Progress Brand" garments because they are better, you will naturally get more of them.

Do you see the point?

We give you better clothes for your money, enabling you to have a more complete wardrobe.

Thus, you get more Suits and Overcoats in "Progress Brand" than you would for the same amount of money spent for any other make of clothes.

Western Opinion

The Intelligencer has repeatedly stated that public opinion in the western provinces, which was at first largely favorable to reciprocity, has changed so greatly, as the result of considering the question in all its bearings, that the supporters of the pact now form but a small minority in the central and northern portions of that vast territory.

The following communication from Mr. R. E. Foster, of Melita, Manitoba, which was published in last Friday's issue of The Canadian Farm, gives intelligible reasons why the farmers of the west are turning against the proposals of the Government.

The points from which the proposed arrangement may be viewed are many and varied, and, of course, I, as a western farmer, am only looking from my own viewpoint. Here our principal product is wheat, and as we have to compete in the open markets of the world, I can't see how having it on the free list will materially affect the price. At any rate, I believe the Americans will soon need our hard wheat, and it will be then up to them to remove the duty. It would, I believe, increase the price of barley at certain times. But I am of the opinion that it would be much better for us to feed the coarse and cheap products of the farm and sell it in other ways.

If those proposals had been carried into effect some years ago, when we had large herds of cattle here in the west, and when good dressed beef was worth less than 4 cents per pound, it would have been to our advantage. But at the present time, owing to our large immigration and the fact that the ranges have been to some extent depleted, we have not the cattle to spare. In our own particular district there will be no more than enough meat to meet the local demands and the prospects are that ere long the farmer that owns cattle may demand and will receive a large price for the right kinds.

But it is in connection with our horse trade that we in Manitoba will get the hardest jar. We have been trying for years, and with some success, to raise a class of horses that will meet the requirements of the farmer and contractor of not only our own province, but the other provinces to the west of us. Now if the proposed agreement becomes law, not only will we, as sellers, find the keenest kind of competition, but the worst kind. Those of us who remember the class of horses shipped into North Dakota in the early years, may well feel suspicious of the result. These horses are highly fitted, and even if they are sound, which many are not, they would be of small use to the average farmer, be he great or small. Coming from a southern climate, and corn fed, they are not able to stand our northern climate.

In conclusion, I might say that we receive at present a fair price for anything we have to sell, and I don't think that reciprocity will enhance the value of anything we have to sell. If it would, how do the Americans hope to reduce the cost of living by the agreement?

Editorial Notes

TAFT'S AVOWAL.

After President Taft's frank avowal of the real object of the United States in seeking reciprocity with Canada, namely to prevent the possibility of commercial unity in the British Empire by means of preferential tariffs, no British subject who is truly loyal to Canada as a British Dominion can possibly support such a proposition.

* * * *

WON'T BE TROUBLED.

The Kingston Whig reports that there is great activity in the grain traffic at present. Should reciprocity be enacted Kingston will not be busy in that line a year hence. The western grain will be going to United States ports, and the Whig will be learning the evil effects of the policy which it now advocates.

* * * *

A SLIM EXCUSE.

The fact that President Taft has made some remarks that are not altogether wise is no argument against freer trade. —Toronto Star.

It is a strange assertion to come from a newspaper which is professedly Canadian and presumably British, to say that the disclosure by the President, of the United States of his real object in pressing for reciprocity was distinctly anti-British ought not to be an argument against that project. But the people of Canada will not so consider it. Mr. Taft's statement which the Star attempts to gloss over as "not altogether wise," will seal the fate of the Laurier Government, which had full knowledge of the effect of the reciprocity agreement into which they entered blindly before it was avowed by Mr. Taft, who only echoed the previous utterances of Mr. James J. Hill.

* * * *

HIS CHOICE.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier had to choose between Westminster and Washington. His preference was for the latter, but public opinion compelled him to choose the former.

* * * *

PUT HIS FOOT IN IT.

President Taft put his foot in it, and deep down at that, when he made his often-quoted remarks anent British trade at the press banquet in New York, and the Toronto News is right in saying that, "once the President's words become common property in this country they will prove the final death blow to reciprocity. Parliament will accurately reflect popular opinion if it forthwith places its veto on Mr. Taft's deep laid scheme. Without further delay, the Government should join the Opposition in denouncing the whole Washington arrangement, and in repudiating all complicity in Mr. Taft's design."

NOTES FROM THE POLICE BLOTTER

Three arrests were made on Saturday evening, one being a drunk and two for fighting.

Mr. Joseph Latta, of this city, report that on Saturday he purchased three bags of potatoes on the market, paying for same $2.10, and they were not delivered. Mr. N. A. Peterson also reports that he purchased a bag of potatoes on Saturday, paying $1, and they were not delivered. In neither case were the parties able to tell from whom they made the purchase.

On Saturday night the police found three business places insecure after same had been supposedly locked up for the night.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

About 16 Boy Scouts, under the care of Mr. Sovereign, enjoyed a day's fishing last Saturday. The boys certainly know how to fish, as was shown by the number of fish caught. Although not very big, still what was lacking in size was made up by numbers. About two o'clock the boys went over to the woods to gather wild flowers. The Scouts arrived home about five o'clock. It is the intention of the Scouts to go on a hike each Saturday and to hold a Bible class immediately after lunch.

The senior basketball team went down to defeat at the hands of the Albert College bunch last Saturday night. Messrs. Sovereign and Strongman handled the game, which was very clean, considering the size of the floor. The score at half time was 10-15 in favor of Albert College and 40-19 at full time. A return game is being arranged for an early date.

The physical committee meet tonight at 7.30.

The Harriers will hold two handicap events Wednesday night. Broad jump and two-mile run.

Fort William has just closed a successful building campaign, having secured more than the desired amount, $100,000.

Mr. A. S. Hopper is working on a building campaign at Cobalt, made possible by a gift of $6.500 by the different mining companies.

Brantford has commenced on a $100,000 building campaign.

The work on the local Y. M. C. A. building is progressing very favorably. The men are at present blasting for the drains and for the boiler pits.

LATE TELEGRAPHIC NEWS

READY TO INTERVENE

U. S. Troops Ordered to Be Prepared to Advance.

Rioting In Capital and General Unrest Results In Instructions to Major-General Carter to Be In Readiness to Enter Mexico—Madero Says the Promises of Diaz Are Merely Tricks of War.

New York, May 8.—The Washington correspondent of The American writes:

"Ambassador Wilson telegraphed the State Department Saturday that continuous rioting is going on in Mexico City, which is being quelled with great difficulty by the police and soldiers.

An order has been issued by President Diaz that all business houses shall be closed until further notice.

The banquet which was to have been given to the Chilian Minister has been cancelled.

Terror prevails in the city.

It is reported that the revolutionists are approaching the capital rapidly. The rioters are encouraged by the near approach of the revolutionists. Many have been killed and wounded. Ambassador Wilson reported that the rioting began Friday night and has spread to different parts of the city. As soon as the police and the troops put down the disorder in one part, it breaks out in another section.

President Diaz has retired to Chapultepec Castle, and has isolated himself. The ambassador believes that his resignation cannot long be delayed.

The Mexican Cabinet has been urging Diaz to resign at once, but the President refuses to accede to their demands.

Heading For Capital.

El Paso, Texas, May 8.—General Francesco I. Madero, provisional president of Mexico, has ordered all the insurrecto troops to abandon positions they hold along the U. S. border and to concentrate their attacks on cities in the interior. The cry among the insurgents now is "on to Mexico." Madero's decision is due, it is said, to a desire to avoid intervention, and also to a hope that such action will bring about the recognition of the insurrectos as belligerents by the U. S. and other powers.

The peace negotiations have been a hopeless failure. The political chiefs gathered for a final talk, completed the organization of the provisional government and bid farewell to their leader. Two committees were appointed on the executive council in Junta and to receive any new proposals from the Mexican Government and the other to direct the diplomatic or commercial relations of the revolutionists with the U. S.

In a statement issued Saturday night, when it became clear that the negotiations would be fruitless, Gen. Madero attributed the failure was due to the "inexplicable ambition of Gen. Diaz."

"He alone will be responsible before the civilized world and in history for all the misery which the war may cause."

While admitting that the Government has agreed to practically all the demands of the insurrectos, Gen. Madero says:

"While Gen. Diaz is in power all laws will be fictitious and all promises tricks of war.

"To Mexico City within a month" is the program set forth by the rebel leaders, as they prepare to march. They have 4,000 men in the State of Chihuahua, and hope to recruit 2,000 on the march. Gen. Rabago with 3,000 federals is reported on the march from Terrazas, and an engagement with him is expected soon.

At the time of filing the despatch foreigners were not being molested by the mobs. Foreign Minister de la Barra and Minister of War Coslo are directing operations against the rioters.

Following the alarming despatch from Ambassador Wilson, Secretary of War Dickinson, Major-General Wood, chief of staff, and Representative Hay, chairman of the house military affairs committee, held a brief conference with President Taft at the White House.

Gen. Wood informed President Taft that plans to move additional troops to San Antonio have been ready for nearly a month, and the War Department needs only orders to despatch 9,000 more troops to Texas.

Warning orders were telegraphed yesterday to Major-Gen. Carter, commanding at San Antonio, instructing him to hold the troops in readiness for an instant forward movement.

The War Department for several weeks has had complete plans ready for the mobilization of the National Guard, which will, in the event of intervention, be called out simultaneously with the orders to the San Antonio troops to cross the border.

President Taft, after the conference yesterday afternoon, reiterated to Congressional callers his statement that he would not send a special message to Congress for authority to intervene unless it became absolutely necessary, and that under no circumstances would he order intervention without authority of Congress.

Says He'll Retire.

Mexico City, May 8.—Gen Porfiro Diaz last night issued a manifesto to the people of Mexico declaring his intention to resign the Presidencey as soon as peace is restored. In this manner the President has virtually acceded to the demands of Fransico I. Madero that he make announcement of such intention.

As to when peace is actually restored Gen. Diaz reserves the right to be the judge. In the words of the manifesto, it will "when," according to the dictates of my conscience, I am sure that my resignation will not be followed by anarchy.

The President made it clear that he does not propose to abandon the Presidency while his country is at war and that he would not do so at any time under compulsion.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

British capitalists have purchased salt wells near Goderich.

Reports as to the ill-health of the Duke of Connaught have been exaggerated.

It is expected that the Charles Street Methodist Church at Ingersoll will be sold for an armory.

The body of James Gartlan of Parkersburg, West Virginia, was found on the railway near Bradford.

Leonard Otterson, bellboy at a St. Thomas hotel, confessed to stealing diamond rings worth $700 belonging to Mrs. Cooper of Chicago.

Fire in the yards of the Baker Lumber Co. at Lindsay on Saturday destroyed 150,000 feet of lumber, 260,000 shingles, a G.T.R. box car loaded with lumber, and the shingle shed.

Alexander Niven, the oldest and one of the best known surveyors in Canada passed away yesterday in Toronto after a brief illness. He surveyed the boundaries of Ontario, Manitoba and Quebec.

Another Italian stabbing affray took place Saturday night on St. James street, Montreal, in which two Italians, Carmelo Lipars and Canisa Caccarite, were wounded, the former in the head and the latter on the arm. Both will recover.

Unless the shipping federation, the shipowners' organization, gives a satisfactory reply to the demands of the National Seamen's and Firemen's Union of the United Kingdom, an attempt will be made some time in May to bring about a world-wide strike of the crews of both steamers and sailing ships.

Three bylaws were carried at Owen Sound on Saturday by large majorities. The first is to lend the Knitting Company $15,000 for twenty years; the second, to lend $25,000 to parties connected with the Adams Furniture Co. of Toronto, and the third to lend C. S. Lloyd & Co., Toronto, $25,000, all to erect new factories.

Fire at Montreal.

Montreal, May 8.—Fire broke out in the testing department of the Allis Chalmers-Bullock factory near Lachine late Saturday afternoon and burned fiercely for nearly three hours before the combined efforts of the Montreal and Lachine fire brigades and the employes' brigades of neighboring factories could get it under control. The damage is estimated at between $50,000 and $100,000. A large oil tank in the testing department and lumber piles in the rear of the building made the fire especially difficult to cope with, and it was only after a steel cable had been placed around the tank and it had been hauled to a safe distance that the efforts of the fire-fighters met with success. The damage is chiefly in the testing, winding and punching departments, and is fully covered by insurance, the company carrying $100,000 of insurance with the Canadian Factories' Association, and $900,000 with the New England Mutuals. The cause of the fire was the crossing of a high voltage electric wire.

To Discuss Mixed Marriages.

Quebec, May 8.—Some interesting questions are to come before the coming session of the diocesan synod of the Anglican Church, which meets here on June 6.

Among the notices of motion given is one of the dean, to the effect that a committee to consist of three clergymen and three laymen be appointed to prepare a memorial to the general synod of the Church of England in Canada at its next session, on the subject of mixed marriages and the grave danger which threatens the whole community if the civil courts are allowed to annul marriages, which have been solemnized in strict accordance with the laws of the land.

Beer Flowed In Streets.

Acton, May 8.—The street in front of the town hall ran with beer Saturday afternoon, when twenty kegs of lager, seized in the basement of the Dominion House in this local option municipality, were battered open and the contents permitted to form a small river as an object lesson.

The spectacle followed convictions registered against William Lawson, lessee of the refreshment privileges in the hotel, and Albert J. Lehman, proprietor, and his two sons, Norman and Austin, who were convicted of having dispensed the lager also.

Hon. Mr. Duff at Creemore.

Cretmore, Ont., May 8.—The first of a series of meetings called by the Liberal-Conservative Association of North Simcoe, was held in Leonard's Hall Saturday night, to consider the reciprocity pact with the United States. At the special invitation of the Federal member, Major Currie, the Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, Hon. J. S. Duff, was present to discuss the issue from a farmer's standpoint.

Friction Between Chisa and Japan.

St. Petersburg, May 8.—The newspapers report fresh friction between China and Japan. The Rech asserts that Japan is about to present new demands to China with reference to free trade in Kwangtung Province and the transfer of the Dalny customs to Japan. In the event of refusal, Japan presents an ultimatum.

Big Scottish Exodus.

Glasgow, May 8.—Three steamers sailed Thursday from the Clyde, carrying 3,500 Scottish emigrants bound for Canada and the United States.

Failed to Elect Senator.

Denver, Colo., May 8.—The joint assembly of Colorado was dissolved on Saturday night without electing a United States Senator.

GOING TO THE PEOPLE

Reciprocity Fight Will Be Carried on In Meetings.

Mr. Borden's Tour Is the Most Important of Many Series of Gatherings to Be Held While the House Is Adjourned—Election In the Fall Seems Probable—Rumors of Prorogation In July Are Current.

Ottawa, May 8.—With the departure of Sir Wilfrid Laurier this week for England, the scene of the political battle will change in a very short while from the capital to the country. Members are arranging for meetings in their constituencies and leaders are arranging for more or less ambitious tours. Naturally the western tour of the leader of the Opposition assumes first importance. While the dates are not definitely fixed the tentative program is that Mr. Borden will begin his tour of the west about the middle of June, and that it will last three weeks. Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta will be covered as thoroughly as possible in the short time at his disposal. British Columbia will not be visited, the assurance of the British Columbia Ministers who have been in the capital being that the Pacific province will return no Liberals at the next general election.

There is some prospect now that there will be a general election in the autumn. If so, it will probably take place about the end of November, after the redistribution bill has passed the House.

There have been rumors that the Government, after Parliament adjourns, will prorogue. This may be dismissed as mere speculation. It is altogether improbable that the Opposition will allow enough supply to pass the House to lose their hold of the situation. The Conservatives are unanimous in declaring that Parliament will not prorogue, but that the reciprocity agreement will be fought to a finish.

FIRE DOES $10,000 DAMAGE.

Blaze Started In Laundry and Threatened Whole Business Section.

Brockville, May 8.—A fire which broke out Saturday morning in J. M. McLennan's laundry on Buell street, for a time threatened the heart of the business portion of Brockville. The absence of a wind averted a conflagration that would have caused thousands of dollars worth of damage.

McLennan's Laundry and the adjoining livery stables of H. B. Sopers were completely destroyed. In addition to these buildings, the shoe shop of Thomas Bobier, W. H. Moore, the Central Hotel Stables, the carriage making shop of E. J. Kirst and the Brock Theatre were also damaged to a certain extent.

The damage is estimated at $10,000, with about half-covered by insurance. Hundreds of dollars worth of laundried goods and carpets and rugs left for spring cleaning at the owners' risk were burned.

The fire is supposed to have originated in the boiler-room of the laundry.

Found Dead Body.

Toronto, May 8.—As Policeman Scott was making his rounds through St. Enoch square, an alley running south from 11 Shuter street, early on Sunday morning, he came suddenly upon the body of a man wedged tightly in between a brick wall and some old doors. At first he thought the man might be still alive, and he sent a call for the police ambulance, which hurried what proved to be a corpse to St. Michael's Hospital. Here it was found that he had only been dead a short time, however, and, as there were no marks of violence on the body, the cause of death could not be ascertained. The body was then taken to the morgue.

The man was 5 feet 5 inches tall, and weighed 170 pounds. His hair and moustache were of steel gray color. He wore a blue serge suit, a white stiff shirt, and a polka dotted tie with red flowers.

Beachy Beats McCurdy.

Washington, May 8.—A three-mile aeroplane race between Aviators J. A. D. McCurdy and Lincoln Beachy was the feature which aroused enthusiasm Saturday at Washington's aviation meet. Beachy won from his opponent in the fast time of five minutes, ten seconds.

In bomb dropping at a marked spot, representing the deck of a battleship, McCurdy hit the mark three times out of six.

The fifteenth anniversary of the first successful flight of a heavier-than-air machine, that of the late Dr. S. P. Langley, which was made over the Potomac River, was commemorated last night by a reception, known as Langley night at the University Club.

Moslems Were Incensed.

London, May 8.—A letter received from Jerusalem states that the Moslem Sheiz, the guardian of the Mosque of Omar, was given $25,000 to permit the explorers of the Anglo-American syndicate to excavate beneath the sacred rock upon which the mosque stands. The Turkish governor, the writer says, received a far greater sum. The Moslems were so incensed that they threatened to lynch the sheik.

The excavators are supposed to have obtained sacred relics hidden by the Jews before Jerusalem was sacked by the Romans.

Offered a Judgeship.

Quebec, May 8.—C. E. Dorion, K.C., ex-batonnier of the Bar, received a telegram yesterday from Sir Wilfrid Laurier, offering him the position of judge of this district, which is necessitated by the elevation of Sir Francois Langelier to the Lieutenant-Governorship.

THE MARKETS.

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Lower—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

LIVERPOOL, May 6.—As a result of weaker American cables and weakness in Buenos Ayres yesterday, realizing developed here and values were ¼d to ⅜d lower at opening. During the morning there was further evidence of prominent support in the near months and prices recovered the opening decline. Buying was attributed to light arrivals here and further inquiry for Australian cargoes with Indian offers firm. At the close the market was steady with near months unchanged and Oct. ½d lower than yesterday.

CHICAGO, May 6.—Owners of the big concentrated holdings of May wheat here had to slash prices for that delivery four cents a bushel to-day to head off shipments, which were being headed toward Chicago from all directions. New crop months suffered also, but only to a limited extent, closing easy ⅜c to ½c under last night. Latest figures on corn were ¼c to ⅜c down, and for oats ⅛c to ¼c. In hog products there was a net gain of 5c to 12½c.

No Disagreement.

Vancouver, B.C., May 8.—T. G. Holt, executive agent of the Canadian Northern Railway, has given an emphatic denial to a report to the effect that a disagreement threatening to suspend construction work on the B.C. section of the road exists between the Provincial Government and the railway company. Mr. Holt stated that the agreement between the two contracting parties was ratified by the Provincial Legislature is a part of the statute law of the province, and will be carried out to the letter. The best answer to the report was the calling for tenders for new construction work between Hope and Kamloops, a distance of 163 miles.

CURED OF CONSTIPATON

Mr. Andrews praises Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills.

Mr. George Andrews of Halifax, N.S., writes:

"For many years I have been troubled with chronic Constipation. This ailment never comes single-handed, and I have been a victim to the many illnesses that constipation brings in its train. Medicine after medicine I have taken in order to find relief, but one and all left me in the same hopeless condition. It seemed that nothing would expel from me the one ailment that caused so much trouble, yet at last I read about these Indian Root Pills.

That was indeed a lucky day for me, for I was so impressed with the statements made that I determined to give them a fair trial.

They have regulated my stomach and bowels. I am cured of constipation, and I claim they have no equal as a medicine."

For over half a century Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills have been curing constipation and clogged, inactive kidneys, with all the ailments which result from them. They cleanse the whole system and purify the blood. Sold everywhere at 25c. a box. 2

Father Morrisey Med. Co. Ltd.,

I can gratefully testify in favor of Father Morrisey's Remedy for Bronchial trouble. I had suffered for some time from Bronchitis, and could get nothing to give me ease, until I tried Father Morrisey's Prescription (No. 10). To my great surprise, after I had taken this remedy I commenced to grow better, and soon after I was completely cured.

Mde. GEORGE DESMARAIS.

Everybody knows that many common roots, barks and herbs contain Nature's own provision for the relief of coughs and colds. It remained for Father Morrisey, with his wonderful medical skill, to combine extracts from these in such a way as to make the most effective cure for all forms of throat and lung troubles.

His prescription, known as "Father Morrisey's No. 10" or "Lung Tonic", stops a cough by curing the inflamed condition of throat or lungs which causes it. It goes a step further, too, and earns its name of "Lung Tonic" by strengthening the weakened parts.

THE LATE JAS. WALLACE

Many Attended His Obsequies in Bridge St. Church On Saturday

AN IMPRESSIVE SERVICE

Church Draped in Mourning—Sympathetic Address by Pastor—Beautiful Music

The funeral services of the late Mr James Wallace, which were held in the Bridge St. Methodist church on Saturday afternoon, were largely attended by members of the Masonic fraternity and friends of the deceased. The choir railing, pulpit and pulpit platform were draped in black. As the remains were being carried in Prof. Phelps, organist played the dead march.

The solemn service was commenced by singing Hymn 601:—

"Give me the wings of faith to rise
Wtihin the vale and see
The saints above; how great their joy,
How bright their glories be."

An appropriate and pathetic prayer was offered by the Rev. B. Greatrix Pastor of Holloway St. church, following which, Mrs. A. P. Allen sang with much feeling: "Some Day the Silver Chord will Break."

Rev. H. B. Kenny, Pastor of the Tabernacle church, read the 103rd Psalm, after which a hymn was sung.

The Pastor of Bridge St. church Rev. Dr. Bishop, read a portion of the 7th chapter of Revelations, after which he gave a brief address. During his remarks he said that God in His wise and gracious providence had seen fit to summon from our midst one of the members of the church and a valued resident of the community. The departed was a man who was honored, and a brother who was loved. He had lived out his life to God amongst us. His had ever been a consistent, upright godly life. Our departed brother aws a man preeminently gentle in spirit, and had been possessed of a character that has stood a severe test against adversities and disease. He had been a honored citizen, honored in church as a faithful member and an official, and has been a valued member of the Board of Education. It was a comfort to know that he had gone to be with Christ—gone to join that innumerable throng of the redeemed. May his life be an inspiration to others to follow in his footsteps.

Revs. Messrs. Kenny and Greatrix also spoke a few words of an eulogistic nature of the deceased, referring to his life as having been a noble and inspiring one.

The closing hymn: "Asleep in Jesus," was sung and the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Dr. Bishop.

The cortege was then formed and proceeded to the Belleville cemetery where the interment took place. At the grave the Rev. Dr. Bishop officiated, and also Bro. C. M. Dyke, a Master of the Masonic Lodge, of which the deceased was a member.

The floral tributes were not only numerous but magnificent.

The bearers were members of the Masonic Society, and were: Bros. H. Pringle, H. J. Clarke, J. H. P. Young, R. Arnott, S. Burrows and Mayor Ackerman.

At Bridge St. church last evening the pastor referred to the late Mr. James Wallace, and the loss the church had sustained by the removal by death of the deceased. Mr. H Wrightmyer sang with good effect, a solo entitled, "The Pearly Gate."

EXCITING SPELLING BEE AT BETHANY

Young and Old Took Part—A Thoroughly Enjoyable Evening

On Wednesday evening last the young ladies of Bethany Church gave as the title of their meeting, "A Spelling Match." This did not say that the young people alone took part in the spelling, but aged members as well. It was the cause of much fun and excitement before hand as to where and what it would be. It was decided to spell from the book of Matthew.

The programme was well acted by our young people and much praise was given them. The chorus by the young ladies was well rendered and satisfied their hearers, as they showed their appreciation by hearty clapping.

A recitation by Miss Annie Mc Cullough was thoroughly enjoyed by every one present.

The solo by Mrs. E. Brown was sung most beautifully and she won much praise from everyone.

A recitation by Miss Stella Way was pathetically given and was much applauded.

The next item was the wonderful spelling match. The contestants were Mr. E. Brown and Mr. Frank Easton. Mr. Easton's side were the winners. Mr. Ira Badgely, of 70 years, spelled everyone out. Hearty cheers were given him.

The chorus by our Bethany young ladies was again thoroughly enjoyed by everyone.

The next item was the refreshments. Everyone likes to hear the sound of dishes at such exciting evenings as these are. A lunch, consisting of cake and sandwiches was daintily served and was done ample justice to by all present.

At a very late hour the young people dispersed, thinking in their hearts they had enjoyed themselves immensely.

DR. FOSTER MOVED FROM BROCKVILLE

He Has Been Appointed Superintendent of the Toronto Aysium

Dr. Forster, Medical Superintendent of Eastern Hospital, Brockville, has been appointed superintendent of the Toronto Asylum, in succession to Dr C. K. Clarke, appointed superintendent of Toronto General Hospital. The doctor was second officer at Rockwood Hospital, after which he served at Mimico and London, and for eight months as superintendent of the Eastern Hospital, Brockville.

During their residence in Kingston Dr. and Mrs. Forster made many friends, who will be glad to hear of the deserved promotion. The Doctor has many frends here, as his wife is the daughter of Mrs. E. Terrill, who was for many years a teacher in the institution for the deaf and dumb.

STRUCK BY A TRAIN ON CENTRAL ONTARIO

Charles Pickering, a Trenton Man, Injured on the Track Near That Town

While Charles Pickering, a resident of Trenton, was walking toward that town yesterday morning from the south along the track of the Central Ontario Railway, he was struck by a train going in the same direction and seriously injured. He was seen by the engineer, who whistled, but to no purpose, and the man was struck by the engine and thrown from the track, with the result that his right leg was broken and his head cut in places. The unfortunate man was conveyed to his home in East Trenton, where his injuries were attended to by Dr. Kidd.

I. O. O. F. ANNIVERSARY

The Oddfellows of Trenton yesterday celebrated the ninety-second anniversary of their order by attending divine service in the morning. The Picton brethren from that town went up by special train and took part in the celebration.

Messrs. E. G. Porter and W. B. Northrup, M.P's., have returned to Ottawa after spending Sunday in the city.

Mrs. Ketcheson and Miss Helen Ketcheson will receive at their home, 223 Chatham Street, on Wednesday afternoon from four to six, and will receive afterwards on second Tuesday in each month. m8d2t

Mr. H. Corby, wife and daughter have returned home from Atlantic City, where they have been for some time.

Mr. Irwin Wallace, of Montreal, who was called here to attend the obsequies of his father, the late Mr. Jas. Wallace, returned to his home today to resume his studies in McGill Medical College.

ALDERMAN CLARKE GIVES EXPLANATION

To the Editor of The Intelligencer.

I notice in the editorial columns of The Ontario last evening that some one is charged with committing a foolish and serious blunder, because the Council Chamber was closed to the Cheese Board on Thursday afternoon, and I imagine this article was written without knowledge of the facts and as a member of the Market and City Property Committee, would say that this matter was informally discused ats one of its meetings, and it was decided to provide other quarters for the Cheese Board, as well as for similar meetings, as soon as it is possible to rearrange the offices that will be vacant when the police department is removed to the new building, and one reason for this is that complaints have been made that at these meetings, cigar stubs, and loose papers are scattered promiscuously over the floor, and on one occasion a large number were congregated and probably growing boisterous over the excitement caused by the fluctuation of prices on the board, caused a settling of the floor over the centre of several inches and in the offices below fear was entertained that the ceiling was in danger of collapsing and to prevent a further occurrence of a similar nature, the chairman of the Committee has arranged for the Cheese Board to have the use of the City Hall tempororily, until the other room, now occupied by the Police Court is made suitable for such purposes. There is no desire on the part of any of the members of that Committee to cause obstruction or unnecessary inconvenience to the Cheese Board or any other similar organization, and this action was taken merely to protect the city building and property from unnecessary damage. In the meantime we think that the members of the Cheese Board have no just ground for complaint that any unfair or unreasonable treatment has been given them, but on the other hand they have been most liberally considered by the present and past City Councils. Yours truly,

F. M. CLARKE.

A WIDOW'S LUCK.
Quit the Thing that was Slowly Injuring Her.

A woman tells how coffee kept her from insuring her life:

"I suffered for many years, chiefly from trouble with my heart, with severe nervousness headaches and neuralgia, but although incapacitated at times for my housework, I did not realize the gravity of my condition till I was rejected for life insurance because the examining physician said my heart was so bad he could not pass me.

"This distressed me very much, as I was a widow and had a child dependent upon me. It was to protect her future that I wanted to insure my life.

"Fortunately for me I happened to read an advertisement containing a testimonial from a man who had been affected the same way that I was with heart trouble, and who was benefitted by leaving off coffee and using Postum. I grasped at the hope this held out, and made the change at once.

"My health began to improve immediately. The headaches and neuralgia disappeared. I gained in flesh, and my appetite came back to me. Greatest of all, my heart was strengthened from the beginning, and soon all the distressing symptons passed away. No more waking up in the night with my heart trying to fly out of my mouth!

"Then I again made application for life insurance, and had no trouble in passing the medical examination.

"It was seven years ago that I began to use Postum and I am using it still, and shall continue to do so as I find it a guarantee of good health." Name given by Postum Company Battle Creek, Mich.

MANY VISITORS TO VICTORIA PARK

Yesterday afternoon and evening many citizens availed themselves of the opportunity of visiting Victoria Island Park. This beautiful spot already presents an inviting appearance. The grass is rapidly growing and the trees are budding out. A large amount of street scraping was this spring placed upon the park. This has been levelled and grass seed sown upon it. In a few weeks the park will look its best.

LIVELY ENCOUNTER ON CAMPBELL ST.

On Saturday evening a lively fistic encounter took place on Campbell street, which attracted a number of spectators. The police were soon upon the scene, with the result that the two principals were marched to the police station and locked up. They gave their names as Jesse Morrison and Robt. Babcock.

This morning Morrison and Babcock pleaded guilty to the charge of disorderly conduct and were fined $13 each, which they paid.

Don't Let the Tape Line Fool You

There's a certain air of mystery about a custom tailor and his tape-line, that seems to befog the minds of many men. They cling to this old method of buying clothes in spite of constant repetitions of misfit and dissatisfaction.

Try, this Spring, the better way—the "Sovereign Brand" way—that permits you to select the style you think best suits you—and then make sure it suits you by trying it on before you buy.

Scientific methods to-day enable us to produce, not only "better value" clothes than is possible by "Special Order" stunts and custom tailor methods—but also to produce in "Sovereign Brand" a better fit for every varying type of physique.

There is a shop in your town where Sovereign Brand Clothes are on sale. Why not find that shop to-day and settle this clothes question for all time.

JAPAN BALL-CRAZY.

CHICAGO, May 6.—Capt. Sutikichi Matsuda, of the Waseda University baseball team of Tokio, which is scheduled to play the University of Chicago to-day, says all Japan has become enthusiastic over the game.

"The game of baseball is the gift of the United States to Japan," said Matsuda. "Only a few years ago we knew nothing of this honorable game Now the little ones in the streets of Tokio play it. The excitement which attends a game of baseball with us is so great that for four years now there have been no contests between the team of Waseda and the team of Kelo, her rival in Tokio.

"Four years ago we had planned a series of three games with Kelo. They won the first game. Waseda won the second. As the time for the third contest came near excitement among the students was growing stronger and stronger. Students of Waseda were ready to do battle with students of Kelo. Finally our president decided that the game must not take place, lest the students should become even more excited and somebody be killed.

"We find that the most difficult thing to learn in baseball is the batting."

At a meeting of the baseball league representatives, to be held this evening, the matter of drafting a schedule will be discussed and possibly arranged.

Last evening a meeting was held in St. Michael's Academy in the interest of the T.A.S. ball team. Nothing definite was done at the meeting.

ATHLETICS

1,000 IN ROAD RACE.

NEW YORK, May 6.—Tewanima, the Carlisle School Indian, finished first in the 12-mile modified marathon race to-day from the Bronx to City Hall Park.

His time was 1 hour, 9 minutes, 16 seconds, within three minutes of the American record. Masterson of the Mohawk Athletic Club finished second, and Harry Smith of the Pastime A.C., third.

About 1,000 runners entered and 300 officials checked the course to the City Hall.

At the Washington Arch at 2.57 Tewanima, the Indian, was a half a mile in the lead.

WHARF OR DOCK FOR BELLEVILLE

An Alternative to the Board of Trade's Project Presented

To the Editor of The Intelligencer:

Sir,—The question now before the City Council and Board of Trade, referring to the establishment or erection of a public dock or wharf, is of sufficient importance to warrant a careful consideration of the question by every citizen, and it would be well to consider the conditions relating to the proposed site for such a dock. The plans prepared at the instigation of the Board of Trade would indicate that they have only considered that of the one location, namely, a prolongation of Front Street, which would carry the end of the dock out into the bay at a distance of about 200 feet east from the present Grand Junction dock, while the approach to it would be across the tracks of the railway now in that locality and over a section of street that is much congested in addition to the railway obstruction, while the prolongation from Church Street for such a dock would place the outward limit in the very same locality, and would allow for approach from a street that will be absolutely clear and free to the public without the dangers incident to the approach at the foot of Front Street, and in addition to this being carried out at right angles from the shore, the Church Street proposition would entail less expense for approaches to the dock than the other, and further, as dredging must be done in either case, by using the Church Street approach and leaving the Grand Junction dock, it forms a harbor of fair size for small vessels and a great protection would be afforded by the Grand Junction dock as a breakwater. There is another matter in connection with this affair that should not be lost sight of, namely, at present we are in a position to make claim upon the Grand Trunk Railway for the $25,000 bonus granted to them some years ago, and now forfeited by the removal of their shops outside the city, which claim is very likely to be prejudiced by any negotiations for the abandonment of their property known as the Grand Junction dock, and it seems to me that the most feasible location for safety of the public and in the interest of the city would be the Church Street proposition.

Yours,
F. M. CLARKE.

Belleville, May 8th, 1911.

PASTOR RUSSELL'S SERMON

NEW YORK, May 7.—Pastor Russell preached to-day at the Academy of Music to an overflowing house. Crowds were turned away. The text was: "When they heard of the resurrection of the dead, some mocked." Acts xvii:32.

Pastor Russell made some prefatory remarks, explaining that although he had accepted the pastorate of the London Tabernacle congregation, this should not be understood to imply that he had any thought of leaving America permanently. He greatly appreciates the reverential spirit of the British, but that does not signify greater love for the land of his fathers than for the land of his birth. He accepted the London pastorate with the clear understanding that he must not be expected to serve more than four months in the year. More and more he feels that his ministry is a general one. He specially thanks God for the privilege of addressing ten million readers through the press of America and Great Britain.

Pastor Russell remarked that he was not preaching for popularity, but to restablish "the faith once delivered to the saints."

As some who heard St. Paul preach the resurrection of the dead mocked so, quite likely, some have mocked as they read Pastor Russel's sermons the last three Sundays on the resurrection. It was the Great Teacher Himself, who said, "All who are in the grave shall hear the voce of thie Son of Man and shall come forth,—they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life—perfection—they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of the judgment"—crisis, trial John v:28:29; Acts xxiv:15.

No one will dispute that the Bible declares that the dead are asleep. It is, therefore, a proper and pertinent question that every Bible student should be prepared to answer—Where do the dead sleep waiting for an awakening? Surely not in Heaven where all is life and happiness; surely not in Purgatory, which our Catholic friends feel so confident is somewhere. And surely not in the fiery hell of which Protestants generally tell us. Surely the Bible sleep in the Bible hell—sheol, hades, the tomb, the state of death. Thus it is written:—"Many that sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake." (Dan. xii:2.)

Hearken to the Master, Mary, Martha and Lazarus of Bethany were His particular friends. Lazarus took sick and the sisters sent word to the Master, "He whom Thou lovest is sick." Jesus gave no outward heed to the matter until the third day after, and then said to His disciples, "Our friend Lazarus sleepeth." They replied: "Lord if he sleep he will do well." Then Jesus said plainly,(coming down to their ordinary use of language), "Lazarus is dead." With His disciples He went to Bethany.

When Jesus finally reached Lazarus' tomb, He did not call from Heaven nor from Purgatory, nor from a fiery hell, but from the tomb, saying "Lazaus, come forth!" And the dead one came forth.

This wonderful exhibition of His power the Lord gave, to the intent that His disciples then and since, might realize that in Him is vested the resurrection power by divine judgment and that there is to be a resurrection of the just and the unjust; that all who are in their graves are to hear His voice and come forth.

St. Paul held an imaginary discussion with doubters of the resurrection in his day. He has them enquire "with what body will the dead return?" He replies that as each kind of seed that is planted reproduces its own kind, so ti will be in the resurrection of the dead. Whatever kind of seed is planted in death, of the same kind and nature wil be the resurrection crop. The apostle elaborates, showing that the whole world of mankind are of one kind of seed—human stock—and that therefore in the resurrection time, they will come forth in practically the same condition in which they died."

But if we shall suppose rye to represent the human stock and can imagine a special treatment of some kind that rye grain before sowing—changing it into wheat—then we would know that those changed grains would sprout and develop, not as rye, but as wheat. Thus the apostle illustrates the resurrection of the dead— the church. All are Adamic stock, but some, a few, the spirit-begotten church—experience a change of nature from earthly to heavenly. Hence they in the resurrection will come forth heavenly or spirit beings. The standard to which the world may expect to be awakened and later raised, will be the earthly standard and represented in the perfect Adam "Like the earthly one will be earthly ones, the world," and "Like the heavenly One will be the heavenly ones," the saintly church, the bride. (1 Cor xv:45-48.

It was not necessary that the apostle should more particularly describe at that time the resurrection opportunity provided for the world of mankind, but it was very appropriate that he should give a more detailed explanation of the divine provision for the resurrection of the bride. Explaining this St. Paul says, "Thus is the resurrection of the dead: it is sown in dishonor; it is raised in glory. It is sown in weakness: it is raised in power. It is sown in an animal body: it is raised in a spirit body. For there is an animal body and a spiritual body. 1 Cor. xv:42 5

The apostle declares of those who are begotten of the Holy Spirit and who make "their calling and election sure" and who therefore will have part in the first resurrection—"As we have born the image of the earthly we shall also bear the image of the heavenly. 1 Cor. xv:49-52.

The resurrection of the church is called a life resurrection, because al those experiencing it will be perfected in life,—will be instantly and completely lifted out of death conditions. The world in general, on the contrary will not come forth to a life resurrection, but will come forth still partly dead, as mankind in general are today. The coming forth or awakening will be to them merely the beginning of their resurrection, their anastasis. Their raising up completely out of sin and death will follow gradually, if they conform to the kingdom rule.

SUFFRAGETTES IN BIG PARADE

Tremendous Outpouring of Women in New York Demontsration

NEW YORK, May 6.—New York's women's suffrage advocates were all agog to-day in preparation for this afternoon's demonstration in a parade down Fifth Avenue. More than 2000 women will join in the march in protest against non-action by the legislature on the bill giving the ballot to women. They are disappointed by the refusal of Lady Sybil Smith, the English suffragette, to march with them.

The leaders hope to make the demonstration the biggest of its kind ever held in this country. Women of wealth, society women, working girls professional women, all have been participating in the work of preparation, and there was an early gathering at the various society headquarters.

Weather indications are that there will be no spoiling of feminine finery or marring of the pageant by rain. Accompanied by bands and floats, and with "votes for women" and other banners flying, the procession will move from Fifty-seventh street down Fifth Avenue to Union Square, where exercises will be held and speakers will address the throngs.

Vast Throng of Women.

A tremendous outpouring of women was insured as the day progressed. The parade will be formed in eight divisions, with bands heading delegations from various states. One of the floats shws a woman carried in a sedan chair illustrating the old-time women who did not care to vote. Another float shows women of colonial days as homemakers and housekeepers.

After that the floats exhibit women in the many branches of business activity, including jewelry workers and various handicrafts, associated with the home. In this division also will be milliners, dressmakers, laundresses cooks, hairdressers and artists' models. Another division shows women farmers, actresses, sculptors, writers lawyers, architects, physicians, nurses and stenographers. Among the odd occupations of women which will be represented will be women chauffeurs athletes, aeronauts and explorers.

Among the states sending delegations are Maryland, Connecticut Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Nevada. The Nevada women will march under a device reading: "Votes for Women—We are on the way.." The women explorers will be headed by catepeti and the Himilayas. The wo Miss Anna Peck, who climbed Popomen farmers will be headed by Mrs Lusy Wilson, while the aritists have Miss O'ga Neergward. Mrs. Ernest Thompson-Seton will march with the contingent of authors.

The only women's franchise organization not taking part in the demonstration is the Political Equality League, of which Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont is president.

CANADIAN CLUB AT ROCHESTER

Belleville Old Boys Mainly Instrumental in Forming One

Fifty "Old Belleville Boys" met on Friday night last in the Chamber of Commerce Building at Rochester, and decided to form a social club, to be known as the Canadian Club, of Rochester.

Herbert A. Fish of 121 Lexington Avenue and T. H. Addison, connected with the McFarlin Clothing Company were chosen as chairman and secretary, respectively, pro tem, and the meeting adjourned for two weeks.

In the meantime, says the Democrat and Chronicle, all of the Canadians in the city who may desire to associate themselves with the club are requested to send their names and addresses to either the chairman or the secretary, and they will be notified of the time and place of the next meeing. It is said by the promoters of the club that there are more than 50,00 Canadians in the city, and that there is no apparent reason why a strong club may not be organized.

On July 3 and 4, the 15th Regiment 400 strong, is expected from Belleville and it is the desire of the organizers of the club to have it on a strong basis before that time, and to arrange for an entertainment for the soldiers from over home during their stay in Rochester.

LOCATED THE SITE OF DAVID'S CITY

LONDON, May 8.—Captain Montagu Parker, a brother of the Earl of Morley, who headed a party of British explorers in Jerusalem, who have been charged with despoiling the Mosque of Omar and carrying away sacred relics hidden from the Romans, has returned to England, and gives to the Times an account of the excavations. He says:

"Unfortunately, although the work from a scientific standpoint was of extraordinary interest, we were unable to discover any Hebrew writing. But we found definitely the spot where the City of David and the Jebusite city, which preceded it, had existed. The latter, undoubtedly, from the pottery we discovered, was at least 1,000 years before David captured the city."

Captain Parker adds:—"I cannot say anything about the rumors in connection with the Mosque of Omar until the Turkish Commission of Inquiry has presented its report."

Capt. Parker has definitely arranged with the Turkish officials to resume operations on August 1.

ANGLICAN BISHOPS ON MIXED MARRIAGES

They are Not Desirable, but Are Legal and Valid

On May 21 there will be read in all the Anglican churches in Canada the pronouncement of the house of bishops of the church in Canada on the question of mixed marriages. Copies of the pastoral, which is signed by Archbishop Matheson, primate of all Canada, and Archbishop Hamilton of Ottawa, metropolitan of the ecclesiastical province of Canada, were given to the local clergy at the meeting of the bishops' conference.

The recent case before the courts of Quebec is cited in the opening paragraph of the pastoral. Mixed marriages are deprecated, because they deprive the husband and wife of mutual help and unity, and result in differences over the religious training of the children. The validity of all such marriages is indisputable, says the pastoral, and indissoluble when once consummated.

AN ACQUISITION TO THE LOCAL FLEET

Messrs. G. Ballantyne, H. Day and A. P. Carroll arrived here last evening from Brockville in Mr. Carroll's new motor boat, Clara H. The craft was purchased by Arthur at Brockville and, with the above parties, he left here on Saturday to bring her to this city. CURRENT COMMENT

Why not try the effect of oil on some of the streets on which the autos kick up such a dust?

Hon. Richard McBride at the Borden dinner at Ottawa, gave as his motto, "Whenever Canada calls I answer." There could be few better mottoes, and also few men who could answer to better effect.

Carrying a dainty silver mounted cane, a fashionably dressed young lady was seen on King Street, Toronto on Saturday. Ladies carry canes while promenading in the old country. Is the fashion to invade Canada?

The standard of the entrance examination is not to be raised this year. The standard will be the same as it has ever been for some years past. The only difference is that the department is this year insisting on the examiners doing their duty properly in marking the papers of the candidates. In some quarters this has not been done in the past.

The littlest lady in the world is a mother. A baby has been born to "the littlest lady in the world" as she is known along the circuit travelling by Ringling Brothers' circus, and whose name, outside of the sideshow is Mrs. Samuel D. Parks. The infant's mother is just forty-two inches high. Mr. and Mrs. Parks and the baby will leave in a few weeks to rejoin the circus.

CHARGED WITH DISORDERLY CONDUCT

James Keegan was arrested last evening and this morning appeared before Magistrate Masson on a charge of disorderly conduct. The accused alleged that he and his wife had not been on friendly terms for some time and that last night he met her near the lower bridge, when a somewhat heated discussion ensued and he took hold of her. The wife was not a witness in the case. Keegan promised to take the pledge and behave himself if given the opportunity, and the Magistrate allowed him to go, but not without sounding a note of warning.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Invitations have been issued for the marriage of Miss Edna Rathbun Phippen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs F. H. Phippen, Toronto, to Dr. Clifford Rogers Gilmour, on Thursday June 1, at St. Andrew's church, and afterwards at Cloverhill, St. Joseph street in that city. The bride's father is the General Solicitor for the Canadian Northern Railway Company and he is an old Belleville boy, being the eldest son of the late John A Phippen. Mrs. B. L. Hyman is an aunt of the bride.

EMERSON IN COURT THIS MORNING

Nothing Stolen From Parsonage Found In His Home

James Emerson, who was arrested yesterday afternoon, was this morning brought up before Magistrate Masson, but as the Crown was not prepared to proceed with the hearing an enlargement of the case was made until Monday next.

The charge preferred against the accused is a serious one, namely of burglarizing the Holloway Street Church parsonage and stealing money and papers belonging to Rev. B. Greatrix. As the case did not proceed, Emerson was not asked to plead. Mr. Anderson represented the Crown, and Mr. Carnew appeared for the accused. An application was made to bail Emerson out, but the County Attorney said he was not in a position to accede to the request until he had been thoroughly informed as to the facts of the case. In the meantime the accused will have to remain in jail.

Yesterday the residence of Emerson on Wickett Street was searched, but nothing taken from the parsonage was found.

FIRE BELL RANG FOR BLOCK DAY

The ringing of the fire bells at six o'clock last evening led many to believe a fire was in progress, but such not the case. It was known as "Block Day," a day set apart by the ladies of the Woman's Christian Association to make an appeal to the citizens for assistance to the extensive additions which are being made to the hospital. Some days ago envelopes were distributed in every house in the city designating the object of the movement and these were collected last evening. The ladies in the evening met in the Council Chamber and it was ascertained that about $700 was realized as the result of Block Day.

FRANCE PREPARES TO RELIEVE FEZ

PARIS, May 8.—Despatches from Fez describe the conditions there as extremely critical. The city is very short of provisions. It is surrounded by several thousand besiegers and there is danger from within the walls. The scarcity of food in the city threatens to cause an uprising.

The flying column from the southwest, which ought to have reached Fez on Friday, seems to be immobilized at El Konitra, where tribes are attacking.

The Paris press is urging the Government to send at once a column from Algeria, even at the risk of offending Spain. The Government evidently anticipates the necessity, as Gen. Toutee is bridging the Moulouia River near Taourirt, where there are 9,000 troops. Taourirt is a town about 50 miles west of Oujida and on the direct road from that city to Fez and south of Melilla.

The opinion is general that the Government's attempt to spare Spanish and German susceptibility by not allowing French troops to proceed to Fez must be abandoned, since the arrival of the flying column under Major Bremond has had no good effect.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

The Boy Scouts' parade has been postponed until May 28th, on account of the delay in getting uniforms.

CHARGES AGAINST W. S. MORDEN DISMISSED

(Intelligencer Special)

TORONTO, May 9.—The charges against Wilson S. Morden in connection with the alleged hypothecation of notes in the Farmers Bank, came up before Judg Denton this morning when the charge was dismissed without Mr. Morden being called on for any defence.

Judge Denton, in dismissing the charge, remarked that on the evidence Mr. Morden should never have been committed for trial.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY GIRLS' AUXILIARY

The annual meeting of the Girls' Branch of the Women's Auxiliary of Christ Church was held in the Parish Hall last evening. The reports of the past year's work were satisfactory to those present. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Superintendent—Mrs. Harry Ross.
Honorary Pres.—Rev. R. C. Blagrave.
President—Miss Jennie Bishop.
Secretary—Miss Maud Bowyer.
Treasurer—Miss Minnie Diamond.
Organist—Miss Florence Henthorn
Delegate for annual convention—Miss Myrtle Bowyer.

MARGARET ANGLIN MARRIED IN N. Y.

NEW YORK, May 8.—Margaret Anglin, the Canadian actress, was married last night in St. Patrick's Cathedral to Mr. Howard Hull, a magazine writer. The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Father Gleason and the Rev. Dr. Sinnott.

Miss Anglin met Mr. Hull last summer when he went to California to assist Prof. George Riddle, of Harvard, in the production of "Antigone," in which she played at the University of California at Berkeley, Cal. The couple will leave for France in a few days, where they are to motor for some weeks.

BROUGHT FROM TWEED AND BURIED TODAY

The remains of Mrs. Harriet McCullough, who died at Tweed on Sunday evening, were this afternoon brought to the city, and, after services at St Thomas' church, were interred in the Belleville cemetery. Deceased, who was 53 years of age, was at one time a resident of Point Ann. Her maiden name was Harriet McDonald.

FOOD IN SERMONS.

A conscientious, hard-working and successful clergyman writes: "I am glad to bear testimony to the pleasure and increased measure of efficiency and health that have come to me from adopting Grape-Nuts food as one of my articles of diet.

"For several years I was much distressed during the early part of each day by indigestion. My breakfast seemed to turn sour and failed to digest. After dinner the headache and other symtoms following the breakfast would wear away, only to return, however, next morning.

"Having heard of Grape-Nuts food I finally concluded to give it a trial I made my breakfasts with Grape-Nuts and cream, toast and Postum The result was surprising in improved health and total absence of distress that had, for so long a time, followed the morning meal.

"My digestion became once more satisfactory, the headaches ceased and the old feeling of energy returned. Since that time I have always had Grape-Nuts food on the breakfast table.

"I was delighted to find also that whereas before I began to use Grape-Nuts food I was quite nervous and became easily worried in the work of preparing sermons in the study a marked improvement in this respect resulted from the change in my diet.

"I am convinced that Grape-Nuts food produced this result and helped me to a sturdy condition of mental and physical strength.

"I have known several persons who were formerly troubled as I was, and who have been helped as I have been by the use of Grape-Nuts food, on my recommendation." Name given by Postum Company, Battle Creek Mich.

An Opposition Concession

Under the above heading the Ottawa Journal places the situation, so far as Sir Wilfrid Laurier's attendance at the Imperial Conference is concerned, in its true light. Our contemporary remarks that the arrangement or compromise through which the House of Commons will adjourn from Tuesday, May 23rd, to Tuesday, July 18th, is one of the three suggestions offered by Mr. R. L. Borden last week, in order to arrive at a condition whereby the Prime Minister and the Parliamentary delegation should be free to attend the Imperial Conference and the Coronation ceremonies, and yet the privileges of the Opposition as regards a full discussion of important pending legislation be preserved.

The Opposition in this matter has shown considerable both of generosity and public spirit. United as the Conservatives are to pursue a public course that will require at least a couple if months more of session, and with every justification for the position they have taken that the Bank Act should be introduced and passed this session, Mr. Borden and his followers would not have suffered any great public criticism had they taken the stand that public business must continue. Had the Opposition "sat tight" the Government would have been practically helpless. The situation is akin to that of the horse that one man can lead to the water but that ten cannot force to drink; the Government can introduce legislation, but with the Opposition alone rests the determination as to when that legislation may be passed. Ninety determined men, each of whom can speak several times during a single debate—by the introduction of side motions—and as often as they desire in committee, can delay any legislation just as long as policy may dictate.

But Mr. Borden and his followers chose the larger way. Realizing that Britain's friendly opinion of Canada would turn to a certain extent on the presence of the Canadian Prime Minister at the Imperial Conference, realizing the advertisement Canada would receive by being represented in this Imperial assemblage, the Opposition suggested and consented to a sessional adjournment that would preserve all their constitutional rights of debate, but at the same time leave the Prime Minister free to attend the London gathering.

There are no qualities more quickly recognized by the public than generosity and breadth of mind. That the majority of the Opposition were willing to consent to the present arrangement, is evident by its adoption. Smaller men might have been anxious to place the Prime Minister and the Government in a petty momentary difficulty as between the Imperial and the Canadian call, by refusing all advances. That Mr. Borden and his followers have chosen the better way, will go some distance in convincing Canada that the Opposition benches contain men of the kind that Canada would be proud to see ministers of the Crown, when time and occasion arrive.

A despatch from Washington says that opponents of Canadian

LOOKING OUT FOR NO. 1. reciprocity are not to have it all their own way at hearings which the Senate Finance Committee will hold on that measure. One hundred representatives of the Chambers of Commerce of Buffalo, Rochester, Toledo, Cleveland and Detroit have arranged to appear before the committee next Thursday to tell why the agreement should be approved. This will be the first time that the Finance Committee has formally heard any argument in favor of the agreement. The cities named are those which expect to acquite Canada's lake traffic if the pact goes through. They are simply looking out for No. 1.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier's brief speech on the subject of Dan McGillicuddy's exposure of a cabinet colleague must have inspired the poet who evolved the following lines:

He may be six kinds of a liar,
He may be ten kinds of a fool,
He may be a wicked highflyer
Beyond any reason or rule;
There may be a shadow above him
Of ruin and woes that impend,
And I may not respect, but I love him
Because—well, because he's my friend.

Beards as Tribute to Edward.

London, May 9.—Among the many suggestions for fittingly commemorating the reign of King Edward VII., perhaps the quaintest is that now put forward by Captain MacIlwaine, R.N. His suggestion is that the men of the British Empire, following the example of the late King, should put their razors aside and proceed to grow beards.

"King Edward," said Captain MacIlwaine, "not only grew a beard, but encouraged the growth among members of his personal staff. His brother, the Duke of Edinburgh, who was a naval officer, grew a beard. The present King, sharing the views of his father, grows a beard and make his staff do the same."

Dr. Workman Sues For $10,000.

Montreal, May 9.—The now famous Workman libel case, taken by Rev. Dr. Workman, formerly of the Wesleyan Theological College, against the college authorities, reappeared in the courts again yesterday. Dr. Workman is now claiming damages to the extent of $10,000, twice as much as he originally sued for, claiming that, since the case was last in the public eye, the defendants have reiterated and given much publicity to the statements concerning his creed, to which he had originally taken exception.

Hydro Operated Railway.

Preston, May 9.—Beginning to-day, Galt, Hespeler, and Preston Street Railway system will be operated by hydro-electric power. This, with the recently signed contract for Niagara power from the commission for the Preston and Berlin line, means about 600 horse-power consumed by the two lines of the one system. The new arrangement worked without a hitch.

"Then you didn't ask those questions just to hear your own voice, Mr. Taft?"

"Not me. In my business I find the less I say the better it is."

"I never can quite make out what your business really is, Mr. Taft! You're a bit of a cabinetmaker and a bit of a goldsmith and a bit of—"

"Now, look here. I'll tell you what my business is; then you need not bother your heads over it any more. My business is my own—there! Now, will you have another drink on the strength of it?"

Mr. Taft's two companions smiled weakly, as men who had been rebuked and had no answers ready on their tongues in reply.

"Well," said one, "the police may find—"

"The police!" replied Mr. Taft, in a tone of the most supreme contempt. "The police won't do nothing in the case. They're all very well in a street row, but this is something beyond them. Them as are mixed up in this know a bit more than the police, and if anything comes to light, it won't be through the blue-bottles. But, if you won't have any more, come along! I must get back to business. Serving on juries every day will soon bring a man to the workhouse."

And then the three men parted.

CHAPTER IV.

In Which Pauline Takes Action.

Wallace Vipan had been laid at rest in St. George's Cemetery out at Ealing. The man who had braved danger and death in a hundred forms in various quarters of the globe, and had come through them unscathed, had at last found his grave in a crowded suburban burial-place. Already his name and fame were beginning to fade from the public mind, but not with all. Though he might have been described as a man without a single relative or connection, there was one heart at least that was bowed and stricken to the dust by his terrible and tragic end.

Pauline Spencer's love for Wallace was not the conventional and highly-respectable liking which unfortunately nowadays so often does duty in society in matrimonial affairs. It was something far deeper, far more solid, an affection founded on the firm basis of regard and admiration of those qualities she had known from her early girlhood.

Pauline mourned her lover and her secretly affianced husband with true heartfelt sorrow. His death had been a shock that had shaken her nature to its very foundations, and had left her prostrate and a shadow of her former bright self. But together with her grief there was borne in upon her another feeling—a determination to discover his murderer, to bring to justice the hand that had not only robbed her young life of all sunshine, but had deprived her country of one who would have added to its honor and lustre.

This feeling was hardly one of revenge—at least, it did not assume that aspect in her own mind—but rather a desire to do what she felt was her duty to the dead man who had committed his heart and devotion to her keeping. It was something she owed his memory, something she would do her utmost to repay.

The grief of Pauline was very quiet in its intensity. She made no outward hysterical show. She lived her life much as she had done previously during those long periods when her lover was so far away waging his silent war against the difficulties and secrets of a jealous nature. But it had left its traces plainly marked on her fair young countenance, and anyone seeing her talking quietly in the drawing room at Mount Street to her dearest friend and school-fellow, Dora Colvin, the daughter of Colonel Colvin, whose property adjoined that of Viscount Oxendale's, would hardly have recognized the girl who, but a week or two previously, had been regarded as one of the brightest of the sason's beauties.

"No," Pauline was saying, "I won't come out with you to-day, Dora. I hardly feel up to it. Besides, I'm expecting Gerald Mildmay to call; but of course you know that," and a faint smile, for the engagement of Gerald and Dora was already public property.

"Yes, dear, I remember! And when he comes I'll retire, for you will have business matters to discuss."

"They will be nothing you may not hear, my dear, and as Wallace has made Gerald his executor you will know as much about the matter as he does."

"No, no, Pauline; Gerald is very reliable in that way. He doesn't ever chatter about business, and it was only at your request that he told me Mr. Vipan had left you all he had."

"Call him Wallace, please, Dora. He was Vipan to the world—to me he was Wallace."

"Certainly, darling, if you wish it. You will like having his things, I am sure."

"I shall love having them round me; they will seem to be a part of himself now he has been taken from me," and the poor girl's voice faltered. But with a strong effort she conquered herself and continued, "I thought of asking Mr. Mildmay to—"

"Call him Gerald, Pauline."

"Very well. I think I may; he's a very old friend. I thought of asking Gerald to take me to Wallace's chambers this afternoon before anything is touched. If he can, will you go with me?"

"Of course, dear. If I can help you in any way you've only to ask me."

"I have spoken to father about it, and I am going to have the furniture taken out of my room and replaced by Wallace's things. Some people might think it a morbid idea, but I don't feel it so. So many of his possessions are the records of his exploring trips, and though I did not accompany him, yet I shared his journeys with him, in a manner, for we talked them over and arranged all his plans together before he started."

"Of course, of course. There never were two people more bound up in each other's ideas and intentions than you and—Wallace, I think."

"You noticed that, did you, Dora? For really it was so. There was some sympathy or affinity—I don't know the proper term for it—between us, I am certain. I always, even when he was thousands of miles away, seemed to be cognizant of any danger or difficulty he was encountering. I used to talk to him of this when he returned, and by comparing dates we found I was generally right."

"How curious! I've never noticed that with regard to Gerald and myself, but then he certainly has not done the things that Wallace did."

"And the very last time I saw him I had a presentiment of evil and spoke to him about it. I mean as to who did it? For the police seemed utterly at sea. They haven't found a single trace."

"No, nothing definite. But I have the feeling that some day I shall know and be able to lay my hand on Wallace's assassin; and, strangely enough, it is accompanied by no sense of horror or feelings of revenge. It is only as if I should be doing something for my darling."

Just then the door opened and the footman announced Gerald Mildmay.

THAT AWFUL BACKACHE

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Morton's Gap, Kentucky.—"I suffered two years with female disorders, my health was very bad and I had a continual backache which was simply awful. I could not stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal's victuals without my back nearly killing me, and I would have such dragging sensations I could hardly bear it. I had soreness in each side, could not stand tight clothing, and was irregular. I was completely run down. On advice I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and am enjoying good health. It is now more than two years and I have not had an ache or pain since I do all my own work, washing and everything, and never have the backache any more. I think your medicine is grand and I praise it to all my neighbors. If you think my testimony will help others you may publish it."—Mrs. Ollie Woodall, Morton's Gap, Kentucky.

Backache is a symptom of organic weakness or derangement. If you have backache don't neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Nothing we know of will do this so surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Write to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., for special advice. Your letter will be absolutely confidential, and the advice free.

May Not Appeal.

Montreal, April 18.—The strong pronouncement of Bishop Farthing in Christ Church Cathedral Sunday night condemnatory of the dissolution of the Herbert marriage, on the ground that it had not been performed by a priest of the Roman Catholic Church, set a movement on foot in the city yesterday morning with a view to having the case carried, on appeal, to the Privy Council.

Some difficulty was immediately encountered, however, in the fact that the judgment of the court annuling the marriage went by default, and, therefore there is no client available whose case could be carried to appeal.

The petitioner in the civil action was the husband, and it was stated yesterday at the office of his counsel, L. J. Lefebvre, who has himself left for a trip to Europe, that Mrs. Herbert was a consenting party to the separation. It was further stated that previously the marriage had been declared void by the application of the parties, and the subsequent court action was taken for a dissolution of the marriage civilly.

The lawyer who had interested himself in the case in the interests of an appeal to the Privy Council, stated yesterday that, with the facts as now reported, a different complexion was put upon the story, and it was hardly likely that an appeal would be attempted.

Steamer Aletha Grounded.

Kingston, May 7.—Making a trip up the bay at 3 a.m. yesterday the steamer Aletha of the Bay of Quinte Navigation Co. met with a serious mishap. A steam pipe burst and one passenger, M. Ryder, manager of the Feldspar Mines, Verona, was badly scalded. Losing her controlling power the steamer finally grounded in Navy Bay. In order to keep the vessel from doing herself injury, a seacock was opened and water allowed to run in. The passengers were taken off in a yawlboat. Many were badly frightened and had life-preservers on. The damage to the vessel will not be very great.

Fell Into Molten Glass.

Fairmont, W. Va., May 8.—George Dehaunt, a blower at the Fairmont Window Glass plant, met a fearful death yesterday, when he fell into a pit of molten glass. He was blowing a piece of glass, when it suddenly broke and he lost his balance, falling into the pit. In his fall he came in contact with a lot of broken glass, that split his skull, tore out an eye, cut off an ear, and almost severed one arm.

Attempted Suicide.

Montreal, May 8.—Complaining of family troubles, Wm. White, aged 44, attempted suicide yesterday afternoon. The bullet from his 32-calibre revolver plowed a furrow in his scalp which merely stunned him and instead of going to the morgue he was taken to the police station. He will appear in the arraignment court to-day.

Canadian Navy Tenders.

Ottawa, May 8.—It is understood that contracts for the building of the cruisers and destroyers for the Canadian navy, will not be let for some time. The tenders which were received have been opened, but no statement is yet forthcoming from the naval service department or the Minister.

Burglars at Brockville.

Brockville, March 4.—The grocery store of the late Rose McMullen was robbed during the night by forcing a rear window. Tobacco, cigars and cigarettes in great quantities were stolen.

MOURNING AT AN END

Memorial Service to King Edward Held at Windsor.

The Court Is Once More In Its Gala Attire and Summer's Gayety Begins—Parliament Bill Goes to the Lords This Week, But Insurance Measure Is Forced to Lie Over for Another Session—Home Rule Safe.

London, May 8.—Court mourning ended Saturday with a memorial service at St. George's Chapel, at Windsor, for King Edward.

Queen Alexandra had returned for it. She is in impaired health and with little heart for the festivities of the coronation year. There was a full muster of the royal family at the Albert Chapel, with a small group of the late King's personal attendants.

The service was conducted by the Archbishop of Canterbury and the corresponding clerics of the memorial service for Queen Victoria, which King Edward had attended year after year.

The Dean of Windsor and Canon Dalton were with the archbishop, and the regular choir of St. George's was strengthened by voices from the chapels royal. The hymns had been selected by Queen Alexandra, and the royal mourners subsequently visited the burial vaults, which were illuminated by an electric plant recently installed by the King's orders.

The second year of the new reign opens brilliantly next week with two "courts" and a state drive of the King and Queen to Crystal Palace for the Festival of the Empire.

Westminster pointers indicate a long vacation during June, with a prolongation of the session until the middle or close of August. The Parliament bill will pass its final stage in the House of Commons Thursday night, and there will be an abundance of time for prolonged discussion in the House of Lords after the coronation.

The insurance bill, "made in Germany" with the exception of the tentative proposals respecting unemployment in a few carefully selected industries, will be deferred until another year. The finance bill will not arouse contention, except the clause for the payment of members, and a few bills relating to shops, coal mines and copyright ought to be easily enacted.

Court influence is being quietly exerted in favor of the acceptance of the Parliament bill, which was submitted to the people in December.

Lloyd-George's insurance scheme, while too complex to be understood without a campaign of education, has caught the imagination of the masses, and whatever befalls in the bye-elections it is a vote making scheme of constructive legislation. Perhaps the employers' votes will be lost by it when it comes into operation and creates antagonism between classes, but the main body of wage-earners will be attracted by it, especially as they will themselvs administer the sick, invalidity and unemployment funds.

Speaking at Manchester Saturday, Premier Asquith took the opportunity to dispose of the reports that there were dissentions in the Cabinet over the subject of home rule for Ireland. "There is not a syllable of truth in, nor the shadow of a foundation for the statement," he said, and went on to remark that there had been an enormous change in public opinion on this question, adding:

"For the first time there is a really good understanding between the democracies of both islands. Material ties quite apart from all questions of sentiment bind them together in indissoluble union. During the last few years, the Irish question has come to be regarded more and more as the most urgent part of Great Britain's great imperial problem."

The New Food.

That sharks are very good to eat
The experts are declaring.
And soon mankind their juicy meat
Will with himself be sharing.
And then upon the sandy shore
The salty, lead-eyed sinner
Will dip into the wave his oar
And seize a shark for dinner.

List to the beef trust's doleful wail,
This bully of the fishes
Will be yanked shoreward by the tail
And served in dainty dishes.
The monster men, who have been living slim
Since prices went the paces,
This monster's tail and fins will trim
And feed their happy faces.

So like a fable or a screed story or a screed
From those old ancient fables
Appears this tail that man indeed
At last has turned the tables.
Instead of furnishing the meals
When sharks would stay their hunger,
He serves them up himself and feels
Thereby a few years younger.

This is what poets have declared
The law of compensation.
The shark, who man has never spared,
Will now be mankind's ration,
And won't it be revenge for fair
With carving knife to strike it!
And serve each hungry one his share
If we can learn to like it?

SPREAD MANURE IN FALL.

Old Practice of Keeping Until Spring Generally Abandoned.

The old method of keeping all the manure produced upon the farm and spreading it in the spring is practiced but little at present, says a correspondent of the American Cultivator.

There is a time perhaps during the month of October when the average farmer is too busy husking corn and getting ready for winter to stop to haul manure out every day or every few days. But after this rush period the manure should be hauled out every few days and spread broadcast.

This method is very advantageous in that it will give the horses exercise through the winter. It does not take long each day and cuts out the task of hauling manure continually for two or three weeks in the busy spring season. By hauling out as soon as it is made all danger from heating is done away with and the valuable constituents of the manure are saved. Nitro-

Too Late.

At luncheon at Buckingham palace one of the young sons of the Prince of Wales excitedly said to the king, "Oh, grandpapa," when the king interposed with some severity: "Little boys should be seen and not heard. Go on with your luncheon and don't talk."

The small prince collapsed. Presently the king said to him, relenting, "Now you can say what you were going to say."

The little prince, with a world of meaning, said: "Too late, grandpapa. It is too late."

The king said: "Nonsense! If it was worth saying five minutes ago it is worth saying now."

"No, grandpapa," said the little prince. "There was a big green worm in your salad, and you've eaten him."—Ladies' Home Journal.

Hunting For Trouble.

A traveler stopped at a country hotel in Arkansas. There was no water in his room when he arose in the morning, and he went downstairs and asked for some.

"What for?" the landlord asked.

"I want to wash my face."

The landlord directed him to a creek near by, and he went there for his ablutions, followed by several children, who stared at him in amazement.

The traveler washed his face and combed his hair as best he could with a pocket comb.

The children circled about him with wide open eyes. Finally the largest boy said, "Say, mister, do you all take all that trouble with yourself every day?"—Saturday Evening Post.

TROUBLES OF A CONSUL.

A Sample of the Way These Officials Are Sometimes Badgered.

Consuls the world over are likely to have their hands full with certain types of their fellow country men or women, as in the instance about to be described. It occurred when Capt. A. F. Townshend was acting in his official capacity of British consul in a town in Asia Minor. One day, he relates in "A Military Consul In Turkey," an English lady arrived and was shown into his office. She was invited to sit down, which she did with caution after subjecting the consul to a careful scrutiny.

"You are the consul, I suppose?"

I admitted that such was the case.

"Well," she went on, "my steamer only stays here for six hours, and I want to go to Tarsus to see the place where St. Paul lived, and, as I believe the train has gone I want a carriage, and you must guarantee me that I shall be back in time for my steamer, and I want an interpreter who speaks English and Turkish, and"—

"Madam," I interrupted, "I must really"—

"My name is Mrs. K.," she snapped, with a kind of don't-dare-to-madam-me air.

"Very well," I replied as meekly as I could, "but as you have not shown me your passport I did not know. If I could find an interpreter who spoke English and Turkish I would buy him for myself, so I fear you can't have that, but I"—

"And you must arrange about lunch for me in Tarsus," she put in.

"But," I continued desperately, "I shall try to get you a carriage as soon as possible. Of course we can't call a cab, you know, as if we were in Regent street, but I'll send a kavass for one."

"Rather unsatisfactory!" she growled.

"And I'll ask the Turkish Government to send a policeman on the box, so that you will be quite safe. I cannot, however, guarantee what time you may get back. It is sixteen miles to Tarsus."

"Well, I won't go at all," she declared, as if she were inflicting a crushing blow. "But I want to change a Bank of England five pound note, and as I don't know the rate of exchange I shall have to trust you to change it for me."

"Really, Mrs. X.," I said, goaded into retaliation, "you seem to have some very mistaken ideas. Let me tell you that I am neither a cab proprietor, nor a tourist agent, nor yet a money changer, and I must ask you to change your note elsewhere."

She sprang up as if she had sat on a wasps' nest.

"Young man, I shall go straight back on board my steamer, and as I have most influential friends in the Foreign Office you will hear of me again!"

"That will be a great pleasure," I murmured as the lady sailed out.

For days afterward I trembled at the arrival of every telegram, but the Foreign Office, in its leniency, must have decided to give me one more chance before dismissal without a "character."

May Have Nine Millions.

The Census and Statistics Branch estimates that on March 31, when the fiscal year closed, Canada had a population of 7,489,781, it being estimated that there was a growth of 305,000 over the year previous. In detail the department estimates the population as follows:

Maritime Provinces, 1,060,678; Quebec, 2,124,834; Ontario, 2,687,861; Manitoba, 496,111; Saskatchewan, 377,590; Alberta, 321,862; British Columbia, 321,733; unorganized territories, 59,050. Immigration not shown by provinces, 10,862.

These calculations indicate that the 1911 census will show Canada to have a population of between eight and nine millions.

Montreal, 22nd February, 1909.

I Hereby Certify that I have drawn by my own hand ten samples of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co's EXTRA STANDARD GRANULATED SUGAR, indiscriminately taken from four lots of about 150 barrels each and six lots of about 450 bags each. I have analyzed same and find them uniformly to contain 99-99/100 to 100 per cent of pure cane sugar, with no impurities whatever.

NEARLY DIED OF STONE IN THE BLADDER

GIN PILLS SAVED HIM

513 James St., Hamilton, Ont.

"Five years ago, I was taken down with what the doctors called Inflammation of The Bladder—intense pains in back and loins, and difficulty in urinating, and the attacks, which became more frequent, amounted to unbearable agony. I became so weak that I could not walk across the floor.

My wife read in the papers about GIN PILLS and sent for a box. From the very first, I felt that GIN PILLS were doing me good. The pain was relieved at once and the attacks were less frequent.

In six weeks, the Stone in the Bladder came away. When I recall how I suffered and how now I am healthy and able to work, I cannot express myself strongly enough when I speak of what GIN PILLS have done for me." JOHN HERMAN, 48

THREW HIMSELF INTO THE RIVER

Man Believed to be Arthur Durocher Commits Suicide at Montreal

MONTREAL, May 7.—Arthur Durocher, aged nineteen, is said to have committed suicide by throwing himself into the river off the Thompson Line wharf on Friday. Constable Nadeau found a hard hat, in which was a Chinese laundry check on the wharf yesterday. On the check was written the name "Arthur Durocher." Further inquiry showed that a sailor on the Frontenac had seen a young man throw himself into the river on Friday, and that the man had been swept away in the swift current.

Durocher's father appeared at the police headquarters yesterday and stated that his son had been missing since Friday. He said that the young man had been drinking heavily and left the house in a passion at noon on Friday, threatening to drown himself.

RUMORED FIND OF SOLOMON'S CROWN

Mysterious Departure of Excavators on Waiting Yacht

LONDON, May 6.—The operations at Jerusalem of the Anglo-American syndicate of excavators threaten to cause an interesting diplomatic affair. According to to-day's messages from Constantinople, the Turkish Government takes a serious view of the matter and has sent high officials to Jerusalem to investigate the charge that the foreigners despoiled the Mosque of Omar and destroyed and carried away sacred relics hidden from the Romans when the city was sacked by Titus, A. D., 70.

Meantime the present whereabouts of the archaeologists and the nature of their spoils is a mystery. The members of the expedition with their prizes embarked at Jaffa, Palestine, fifty-four miles by railway northwest of Jerusalem, on April 19. They went aboard Captain Harker's yacht, which had been awaiting them, and set sail before the people of Jerusalem learned what they had done. It is probable that the yacht is now heading for England.

There is no doubt that the promoters of the enterprise hoped to discover the Ark of the Covenant and the seven-branched candlestick, but a Constantinople despatch of to-day says it is believed that the explorers found Solomon's crown, his sword and his ring, and an ancient manuscript of the Bible.

The extent of the operations is shown by the statement that $300,000 has been spent by the syndicate which engaged the engineering experts who had worked on the construction of the London Suburban Railway

Tight Skirts and Curves to Go.

Straight lines, jackets not longer than 28 inches, raised waist line large collars and deep cuffs. Skirts will be a trifle more full, but will adhere to the straight up and down effect.

Separate coats are to be full length cut on straight lines. Raised waist line and some belted effects to be popular.

The tendency of separate skirts is toward strictly tailored effects, with the panel idea and low tunic effect given prominence. The "splashed" effect in many suits is a feature of the new styles.

Alas the graceful curves of woman's figure!—Farewell to the tight skirt which is wont to impede My Lady's progress. Exit the waist line placed where Nature meant it to be.

Style-makers for this summer and fall have sent out the edict that woman is to be built on straight lines. No curves will be visible in the costume of the woman who would be up to the minute. From the shoulder to the ankles woman will be a geometrically correct straight line.

No longer will stylish women look like animated Egyptian mummies, no more will the aid of a policeman be enlisted to get them upon a street car without breaking anything. It's to be a straight line with ample folds

Jackets are being cut shorter every season until, if the makers of feminine toggery keep it up, the cute little coats will be up under the shoulders before they know it. This year they must be only 28 inches long—ponder on that. Regardless of whether she is built on Gothic or graceful curving lines, woman must devote only two feet and four inches of display space to her jacket.

But it isn't so bad when you consider that as the jacket goes up, the waist-line, too, goes up to catch it. Waist-lines this year will be higher than ever. The panel front and back and large collars, deep cuffs and peasant sleeves are to be favored.

The National Cloak, Suit & Skirt Manufacturers' association has sent forth its edict. Following are the models decided upon for summer and fall:—

Suits—The prevailing length of suit jackets for fall will approximately be 28 inches. Shorter length will be favored for demi-tailored or fancy models. The strictly tailored styles may be somewhat longer. The cut of the jacket will be slightly shaped but so treated as to emphasize the straight line figure. Large collars deep cuffs and the raised waist line effects will be features of trimmed suits. Skirts will be cut with more fullness than last season, but will adhere to the straight line effect. The moderately raised waist line (with inside belting) and the panel front and back are gaining favor.

Coats—Separate coats are to be full length, cut on straight and slightly shaped lines. Novelty effects are to consist of the raised waist line, some belted effects, large collars and deep cuffs and some peasant sleeves.

Skirts—The tendency of separate skirts is toward strictly tailored effects. The panel idea and low tunic will be gvien prominence.

An additional style feature is the "slashed effect" shown in many of the coat suits and separate skirts.

Her Harem Skirt.

I have a brand new harem skirt
Of satin rich and black,
With beaded gimp around the legs
And buttons up the back.
Each day I take it from the box
In which it folded lies,
To gaze upon its sable sheen
With fascinated eyes.

I shake it out and smooth it down,
On sofa, chair and bed
Its shining bifurcated length,
Admiringly I spread.
Then for its narrow box again
I mournfully prepare it,
Because I haven't got the nerve
To put it on and wear it

Airship Hat Models Lead the Spring Fashions.

While there are many wonderful hats on view at the showrooms of the National Association of Milliners, the one that makes the biggest hit is the "aeroplane." Its chief feature is its size. Hats which last year were considered small unless the wearer had a six-foot space in which to manoeuvre are mere postage stamps beside this 1911 creation. Technically the new lid is a monoplane, measuring three feet eight inches between the tips of the wings. It is the lightest thing in feminine headgear ever constructed. Eight ounces will be the minimum. From that up to one pound. It is the flattest thing ever seen in hats, and women who wear it must study weather signals before setting sail.

Another favorite is the "aviator," which coyly permits the wearer to see out of one eye. The rest of the head is pretty well covered up with the wings of the hat, which droop over the ears and forehead. The "London bobby" comes a close second to the airship models in popularity with the hat designers. Taking the "bonnet" affected by the London policeman as a model and placing a big butterfly made of gauzy materials on one side the hat manufacturers have turned out a rakish piece of headgear which even the few men who have seen it—and who were not accompanied by their wives—joyfully admit is some lid.

To Freshen a Lace Waist.

A tight cut lingerie waist of white lace and embroidery gains wonderfully in elaborateness by the addition of the latest French fancy. This is a broad band of net in a pastel shade, embroidered in soutache braid of the same color and applied just over the bust. With this is worn one of the new neck scarfs of chiffon, in a color that exactly matches and with the ends embroidered in the soutache. Both of these are easily made up at home by any clever needlewoman and will go a long way toward hiding the deficiencies of a pretty but aging lingerie waist. The chiffon scarf is especially charming when embroidered its entire length with large coin dots in satin stitch.

Definite.

"Madam"—a census taker was speaking to her who answered his knock—"how many children over six and under twenty-one years of age have you?"

"Lemme see," she reflected; "lemme see. Waal, sir, thar be two over six an' two under twenty-one."—Everybody's.

Prepositions.

A correspondent of the New York Sun says he overheard the following: "The boys came out from over in between those houses." Here are five prepositions in a bunch. Can this "record" be broken?

MOTHERS!
DO YOU KNOW—

That when you put a salve onto your child's skin, it passes through the pores and enters the blood, just as surely as if you put it into the child's stomach?

You would not put a coarse mass of animal fat, colored by various mineral poisons (such as many crude salves are) into your child's blood by way of the stomach? Then why do so by way of the pores?

Take no risk. Use always the pure herbal essences provided in Zam-Buk. Zam-Buk contains no trace of any animal oil or fat, and no poisonous mineral coloring matter. From start to finish it is purely herbal.

It will heal sores, ulcers, abscesses, eruptions, varicose ulcers, cuts, burns and bruises more quickly than any other known preparation. It is antiseptic, quickly stops the smarting of a sore or cut, cures piles, inflamed sores and blood-poisoning. It is a combination of healing power and scientific purity. Ask those who have proved it.

Struck by Lightning.

A lady riding in a train found herself seated by the side of an old matron who was exceedingly deaf.

"Ma'am," said she in a high tone, "did you ever try electricity?"

"What did you say, miss?"

"I asked if you ever tried electricity for your deafness?"

"Oh, yes, indeed, I did; it's only last summer I got struck by lightning, but I don't see as it done me a bit of good."

RATS BIT BOYS AS THEY SLEPT

Climbed on the Bed Occupied by Blankarn Lads at Their Home in Toronto

TORONTO, May 6.—During the night rats made an attack upon the two boys of Mr. George Blankard while they were sleeping in their beds at 22 Queen St. east. The boys are seven and fourteen years of age, and both were bitten by the rodents which had climbed upon their beds. Though neither of the lads were seriously bitten, their wounds were cauterized at the hospital, and it is not thought that any poisonous effects will follow. The older boy was cut on the forehead while one of the animals sank its teeth into the fleshy part of the younger lad's forearm.

The father was awakened by hearing his sons' screams, and was just in time to see the rats running from the room, so he has no doubt as to what caused the wounds. He states that the premises are over-run with rats and that he has had trouble in getting rid of them, though this is the first time they have shown a tendency to feed on human flesh.

BRIBING WEAK RIDING

Supplementary Estimates Indicate a General Election.

A Million Dollars Will Be Spent on Public Works In Halifax In an Effort to Oust Mr. Borden—Ontario Gets 51 Waterway Improvements Against 120 For Nova Scotia and 104 for Quebec.

Ottawa, May 9.—That the Government contemplates a general election at an early date is evident from the supplementary estimates which were laid on the table of Parliament yesterday by the Minister of Finance. The Conservatives say that wholesale debauchery of many constituencies has been thus arranged for. The supplementaries amount to over $17,000,000, which, with the main estimates, total $156,000,000, or $23,000,000 more than last year. Of this huge sum $23,000,000 will be spent by Mr. Pugsley on public works and $27,000,000 by Mr. Graham on railways.

The most significant outlays are to take place in Halifax, the constituency of R. L. Borden, leader of the Opposition. Mr. Graham will spend one million there on a branch line, while Mr. Pugsley will spend $600,000 on docks. Those important works have been held over until the eve of the general election, and with them a tremendous effort will be made to fill the constituency with solid Liberals for the purpose of defeating Mr. Borden.

The Ontario list shows 51 items for harbors and rivers, as against the 120 for Nova Scotia and 104 for Quebec.

The following are some of the items: Hudson Bay Railway construction, $2,000,000; to complete survey of Welland ship canal, $50,000; Welland Canal turning basin at Thorold, $15,000, and to widen canal near Welland, $4,000; lighting equipment of Williamsburg Canals, $55,000; Guelph public building, share of cost of sewers, etc., $1,776; Hamilton examining warehouse, $10,000; Hamilton public building improvements, $5,000; Windsor landing dock, $30,000.

Addition to ordnance stores at London, $2,500; Niagara Falls public building, $4,000; addition to Oshawa public buildings, $9,000; Sarnia armory sewer, $478; St. Catharines public building (electric wiring), $1,000; Stratford public building (pavements), $1,100; Toronto postoffice garage, $6,000; Toronto custom house improvements, $4,000; Wingham tower clock, $2,000.

Bowmanville pier repairs, $6,000; Brighton wharf, $12,000; extension of tunnel bay dock, Brockville, $15,000; Burlington Beach canal, $100,000; Goderich Harbor improvements, $116,000; Gravenhurst wharf, $7,000; Hamilton harbor improvements, $16,000; Kincardine pier, $10,000; Kingston harbor improvements, $50,000; Meaford harbor improvements (closing of eastern entrance and removal of "L" of inner checkwater), $34,000; Peterboro wharf, $20,000; Port Colborne (to pay contractor Hogan), $2,673; River Thames (removal of obstructions), $4,500; Rondeau harbor improvements, $30,000; Toronto harbor, settlement of claim of R. Weddell & Co., for overtow in connection with their contract for the construction of a new western entrance to Toronto harbor, $25,368; Windsor landing dock, $30,000.

Compensation to A. W. Graham of St. Thomas, for loss of property at Fort Garry in 1870, $562.

For mail service in Toronto, two heavy motor trucks, at $3,000 each; four small motor trucks at $2,500 each.

New printing bureau at Ottawa, $100,000. Ottawa new departmental buildings, $300,000; Port Arthur and Fort William harbor improvements, $500,000; survey to ascertain cost of tunnel between Prince Edward Island and the mainland, $35,000; Rideau Hall improvements, $50,000. Three Rivers harbor, $115,000; Ottawa city bridges, $198,000; dredging (chiefly in the east), $770,500; Fraser River training pier, $200,000; special wharves for the Quebec agency of the lighthouse and coast survey, $300,000.

A quiet sitting with private bills and supply was the order of Parliamentary business yesterday. There was just a breath of reciprocity when Hon. George E. Foster called the attention of the Government to a newspaper despatch from Berlin, Germany, which stated that an arrangement had been come to between Canada and Germany that as soon as the reciprocity agreement with the United States had been carried through Parliament, better trade relations would be brought about between the two countries.

Hon. W. S. Fielding said there had been no negotiations between Canada and Germany, and there was no understanding. He had no doubt, however, that the German Government would be willing to open negotiations, but there had been none so far.

A long discussion ensued over the Senate bill to incorporate the Grain Growers' Grain Co. Mr. Foster claimed that the powers of the company went far beyond the purpose indicated by the designation of the company, including manufactures, lumbering, coal mining, publishing, shipbuilding, holding of bank debentures and the authorization to lend money generally. Such legislation might be dangerous.

Mr. Rutan said that these powers could have been got by incorporating the company under the Companies' Act.

A. S. Meighen (Portage la Prairie) remarked that the place to curtail the powers was in the Companies' Act itself. The gravest point of danger was in chartering a company with indiscriminately wide powers with such a name.

Struck Wall of Canal.

Port Colborne, May 9.—The steamer Donnacona, which passed down the canal yesterday, bound from Port William to Montreal with oats, collided with the stone wall near Ramy's Bend, causing a bad leak. Tugs pulled her back to the elevator here to unload. She is owned by the Inland Lines.

Talked 2,000 Miles.

New York, May 9.—For the first time in the history of mankind the human voice carried 2,000 miles direct last night, when New York found Denver over the long distance telephone wires. A group of Manhattan newspaper men in one of the top floors of a downtown skyscraper threw their voices across the plains and the mountains of nine states to another group awaiting the message in the Rocky Mountain cliff, picked up Omaha on the way and also gossipped with Chicago.

"The next stop is San Francisco," declared J. J. Carty, chief engineer of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. "We are on the right tract, and before long will have our wires clear through from New York to San Francisco."

For Poor of Montreal.

Montreal, May 9.—A big fortune has been left by an English gentleman to be used for the benefit of the poor of the City of Montreal. This was the news received by Mayor Guerin yesterday from a prominent firm of London solicitors. The document stated that there recently died in London a gentleman named Gustave Mertin. In his will, which the solicitors hold, it is stated that $105,000 worth of property in London is to be disposed of in a manner that will benefit the poor of Montreal. In addition to this it is shown that the deceased owned considerable property in Paris, and that this property is also to be used for the benefit of the poor of Montreal.

Aged Engineer Dead.

Montreal, May 9.—Thomas Pringle, milling and hydraulic engineer, and one of the best known engineers in the world, died here early yesterday morning after an illness of ten years, aged 81. His engineering feat of harnessing the Lachine Rapids, establishing an electric company to sell the product, was the means of the establishment of electricity for all purposes in Montreal. He was a most successful engineer for 40 years. Two sons survive him—Alex. Pringle, one of the four promoters of the Lorne-McDougall group, and R. E. T. Pringle.

Cost $50,000 to Rebuild.

Kingston, May 9.—Perry Jones of Cleveland, representing the Underwriters' Association, and Hugh Calderwood, surveyor, of Toronto, are inspecting the steamer John Sharples, wrecked off Galloup Islands. They report that it will cost $50,000 to rebuild the boat. The wreckage bill is over $20,000 and the steamer is now in the hands of the underwriters, having been abandoned by her owners.

FIRE FIEND IS ABROAD

Both East and West Suffer From Conflagrations.

Buckingham, Que., Has a Blaze That Will Cost $215,000—Village of Ailesford, N.S., Loses 18 Buildings—Rainy River District Threatened by Bush Fires—Prairie Railroads Are Badly Disturbed.

Fort Francis, May 9.—Owing to the extremely dry weather, the forest fires have started again, and unless rain sets in soon will be serious to the standing timber as well as to the lumbermen and loggers who have timber cut and ready for the drive. On the Duluth branch of the Canadian Northern between Ericksburg and Virginia, the fires have been raging with disastrous effects. The Village of Ray was within an ace of being wiped out on Saturday, while Bush, a little farther south, was completely burned. Fires are also raging south of International Falls and along the Minnesota border, which threaten to be a repetition of those of last fall. At Hannaford, a settler who was burned out last fall, was burned out again the end of the week, and with a strong wind blowing, the fire will sweep along the river.

No great damage was done on the Canadian side, although fires are reported at Frog Creek, north of here. Timber cruisers who have returned from the Quitico forest reserve, Hunter's Island, say fires are again breaking out there, and unless rains come soon, great damage will be done to the big timber, which is held by the Government as a protection to the game reserve.

Fire-Fighters Have Hard Work.

Dauphin, Man., May 9.—Bush fires have been raging on the Riding and Buck Mountains for the last few days, with everything most dry as tinder and a hurricane blowing day and night. Fire-fighters have had a hard task, but to-day the situation is practically under control. In the Riding Mountains, two outfits are fighting the biggest fire, working in from east and west towards a central point, when this fire will be under control. Another fire was sweeping down southwest of Grandview, but has been checked. Although these fires have swept a considerable area, they were checked before really getting into the standing timber. This town has lain under a pall of smoke some days, and all are praying for rain.

More fires are just reported at Roblin in the Riding Mountains. Forest Ranger W. A. Davis reports fire in Duck Mountain successfully coped with, though there is still a very bad bush fire at Birch River. The same conditions prevail at Bowman, where the Canadian Northern Railway bridges burned and being rapidly repaired. Every man capable of handling a pick and shovel has been pressed into service. Traffic is suspended, the train from Winnipeg having been sent back, and around to Prince Albert via Warman, Sask.

Until rain comes, fires are apt to break out anywhere at any time. The situation is grave throughout a very wide area. Most settlers have been forced to flee their homes.

Two Lost Their Lives.

Boston, May 9.—In various sections of Maine, Massachusetts and Rhode Iseland, tired hands of fire-fighters were able yesterday to relax their labors, secure in the belief that their troubles had succeeded in bringing under control the blazes that had destroyed thousands of acres of valuable lands, and in some cases, houses and farm buildings.

So far as known only two persons lost their lives in combating the flames. An unknown French-Canadian wood-chopper was burned to death near South Kingston, and the badly burned body of Albert Eldert of Winthorp, was found in a fire swept tract of woodland, near Marlboro, Mass.

Bad Fire at Buckingham.

Ottawa, May 9.—Fire, which broke out in a restaurant kitchen in the town of Buckingham at an early hour yesterday morning destroyed a large section of the business centre, entailing a loss estimated at $125,000, only partly covered by insurance. The buildings burned were:

Cosgrave block: Loss on building, $10,000; insurance, $4,000; occupants, E. Johnson, jeweler, loss $1,000; insurance, [illegible]; E. Pommier, jeweler, loss $3,000; insured $1,700; J. E. Gagnon, restaurant, loss $1,000, insurance $800; E. Fournier, barber, loss $800; Mrs. L. O. David, dressmaker, loss $500.

McCallum and LaHale's three-storey brick house, loss on building and general mercantile stock, $75,000, insurance $34,000. Also occupied by Bank of Ottawa, loss $1,000, insured.

Grenier's livery barns, loss $1,000, no insurance.

There were many narrow escapes, several persons having to jump to safety in their night clothing. Three children of the Gagnon family had to be dropped from upper windows by their parents.

Village Suffers.

Halifax, May 9.—Fanned by a strong westerly wind, a raging fire destroyed 18 buildings at Ailesford yesterday afternoon. Fully one-third of the village was swept away in two hours. It was the worst fire ever known in that part of the province. The fire raged with terrific fury. Men, women and children worked to save their valuables, many of them not having time to save anything, so fierce and swift was the progress of the flames.

Bi-plane Capsized.

St. Cyr., France, May 9.—Lt. Loder, one of the military aviators, was capsized during a bi-plane flight near here on Saturday. He was taken to a hospital in a critical condition, one of his vertebrae being fractured.

The Mailed Fist.

Berlin, May 9.—Germany has warned France of the dangerous consequences which would be likely to follow the occupation of Fez by French troops.

BIG MARINE MERGER.

Deal Involving Lake Companies Through at Last.

Montreal, May 9.—The big steamboat merger, involving the R. & O., Northern & Inland Navigation Companies is through at last. All that is necessary now is the authorization from the Government to increase the R. & O. capital to $10,000,000. This will in all probability be put through the House at Ottawa on Friday next.

The executive will be in Montreal, with divisional points at Toronto, Sarnia and perhaps another western point. It is probable that the management of the combined companies will fall on R. & O. officials, although several changes may be made.

According to a director, the Furness people receive 125 for their holdings in the Northern Navigation, or the figure at which they acquired control. The Inland stock held by these interests will be taken over at the valuation of the appraisers, plus the amount decided upon as due the company for vested interests in the way of contracts for freight and as a running concern.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

The St. Mary's River is choked with ice.

The Democratic free list bill passed the House of Representatives by 236 to 109.

The T. & N. O. Commission is to send out a party this summer to explore the Moose River country.

James Emerson, a respected citizen of Belleville, was arrested on a charge of robbing the Methodist parsonage.

Margaret Anglin, the Canadian actress, was married last night in St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York, to Mr. Howard Hull, a magazine writer.

It is expected that by the end of the week tenders will be called for the new departmental block in Ottawa, to cost between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000.

The awards in the Earl Grey musical and dramatic competitions have been made public. Edmonton wins the dramatic and Winnipeg the musical trophy.

Two heavy fines were meted out by Supt. Smith of the Indian Department at Brantford on Saturday to Messrs. Preis & Armour of Onondaga for the removal of timber from the Indian Reserve.

The only criminal case on the Kenora docket, the Crown v. Berillo, opened and closed in the space of less than an hour yesterday, when the jury returned a verdict of not guilty at the time of the murder, owing to insanity.

Julia Davis, who disappeared from her home in Hamilton, leaving word that she was going to commit suicide, was found last evening on the Dundas road in a dazed condition and evidently suffering from the effects of some drug.

WILL BACK BONDS.

Government Decides to Back C. N. R. Issues.

Ottawa, May 9.—The Minister of Railways has given notice of the intention of the Government to guarantee the bonds of the Canadian Northern Railway over the completed and uncompleted portions of the company's line between Montreal and Port Arthur. This will enable the company to connect up its different sections east and west and carry out its scheme of a third transcontinental railway.

(1) Montreal to Port Arthur, including the part already constructed, to the extent of $35,000 per mile at 3 1-2 per cent. interest.

(2) That the company shall give the Government a first mortgage on the line from Port Arthur to Montreal, except on the completed portion from Hawkesbury to Rideau Junction, near Ottawa, 62 1-2 miles, and about 10 miles of the company's Hutton branch south of Sollwood Junction, the trustees to be the British Empire Trust Co. and the National Trust Co., with which trust companies the company is to deposit bonds to the amount of $55,000 a mile, being approximately $2,585,500.

It is provided that, at the request of the Canadian Northern Railway Co., the Government may pay interest on the bonds for the first two years, charging the company therefor at the rate of 3 1-2 per cent.

It is made conditional to the guarantee that the company shall carry traffic destined to a Canadian port over its own line; that the through rate on export traffic from the point of origin to the point of destination shall at no time be greater to a Canadian port than to a United States port; that all such traffic shall be carried to Canadian ocean ports, and that the company shall not advise or encourage transportation to foreign ports. The Canadian Northern Railway is bound to construct terminals in Montreal and make arrangements for an interchange of traffic with the Intercolonial Railway.

Liberals Hold Barnstaple.

London, May 9.—In the Barnstaple division of Devon Sir Godfrey Baring (Liberal) was elected Saturday with 6,339 votes. C. S. Parker, Unionist, had 5,751.

The vacancy was caused by the appointment of Sir E. J. Soares (Liberal) to be Assistant-Comptroller of the National Debt Office—a post which carries with it a salary of $4,000 a year, increasing to $5,000. The Unionists were hopeful of capturing the seat, and during the contest had the assistance of Gen. Sir R. Pole Carew, M.P., Mr. A. Shirley Benn, M.P., Capt. Morrison Bell, M.P., Capt. Jas. Craig, M.P., Mr. J. W. Shear, M.P., Sir C. Hunter, M.P., Mr. Lionel Rothschild, M.P., and Mr. F. Mildmay, M.P.

In December the figures were: Soares (L.) 6,047; Parker (U.) 5,155.

Marriage Was Legal.

Montreal, May 9.—Judgment has been given in the court of review maintaining the marriage as having been legally contracted between Napoleon Tremblay, farmer, St. Victoire, Richelieu, and Albini Des Patie.

The parties were married on Oct. 25, 1904, and five years afterwards the husband took an action to have the marriage declared null and void on the ground that they were first cousins and that previous to the wedding the submitted necessary dispensation had not been obtained from the church.

The Superior Court of Richelieu gave judgment on Oct. 4 last granting dissolution of the marriage, but against this the wife appealed, and the Court of Review, Judges Tait, Fortin and Mercier have just reversed this judgment.

Opium Agreement Signed.

Pekin, May 9.—The Anglo-Chinese opium agreement was signed yesterday, and becomes operative immediately. It provides that China shall annually diminish its production of opium proportionately with the Indian export, until its extinction in 1917. Great Britain agrees that the importation of Indian opium into China shall ceases earlier, if the native production in that country ceases.

Great Britain is to be granted facilities for investigating this diminution, and China is to have similar facilities with reference to the sales and packing of opium in India. The Indian exports to China shall not exceed 30,600 chests in 1911, and they will be reduced 5,100 chests annually.

Intercolonial Postage.

Ottawa, May 9.—By agreement with the postal administration of the Union of South Africa, newspapers and periodicals published in Canada may be sent to all of the four provinces comprised in the union, viz.: Cape of Good Hope, Natal, Orange Free State, and Transvaal, at the same rates of prepayment, and subject to the same conditions as are applicable to that class of matter when posted for delivery within Canada.

Aviator Injured.

Issy Les Moulineux, France, May 9.—While taking an early morning flight yesterday Aviator See collided with a telegraph pole erected on the top of a residence. He fell to the roof and was seriously injured.

CLOSING SCENES AT OTTAWA HORSE SHOW

One of Finest Ever Held—Belleville Entries Great Winners

The second annual horse show at Ottawa finished on Saturday, or to be strictly accurate, on Sunday morning, for it was after midnight before the final decisions were given. As a show it was an immense success and no finer horse show has been seen in Canada. In both the harness and jumping classes the best horses in the land were in competition and in addition there were some splendid exhibitions of riding an ddriving, particularly by the ladies.

As a financal proposition, while the returns have not yet been compiled, it was not so successful. It is possible that the association may break even, but the patronage at no performance was anything like what it should have been. The cold weather in the opening days of the show gave a bad start in the way of patronage, as many people had the wrong impression that the building was not heated.

In the jumping contests Stirrup Cup, a Wilmot entry, bucked at a hurdle, and Horace Gravelle, who was riding, was thrown against a hurdle and was dazed for a while. Mr. C. Wilmot and Miss Audrey ran into the ring and picked him up. He soon rallied.

LOCAL PONY WINNERS.

Harness ponies under 12.1 hands—1 Eri King, Mrs. C. Wilmot, Belleville, Ont.; 2, Joker, Master W. Cunningham, Ottawa; 3, Beauty, Mrs. C. R Woodburn, Ottawa; 4, Ruby, Mrs. C. R. Woodburn.

Saddle ponies, 12 hands to 14.1—1 Gold Cup, Mrs. C. Wilmot, Belleville; 2, Bathgate Swell, Mrs. C. Wilmot, Belleville; 3, Jack, Harry Parker Ottawa; 4, Hick Cup, Mrs. Wilmot.

Harness ponies, 12 hands, not exceeding 14.1—1, Heather Belle, Hon. Robt. Beith, Bowmanville; 2, Blue Belle, Hon. Robt. Beith, Bowmanville; 3, Pick 'Em Up, Mrs. C. Wilmot, Belleville; 4, Ginger, Miss Margaret Woods, Ottawa.

Ponies over jumps—1, Bathgate Swell; 2, Gold Cup; 3, Stirrup Cup, all owned by Mrs. C. Wilmot, Belleville.

EPISCOPAL VISITATION IN THIS DISTRICT

His Lordship the Bishop of Ontario will visit the Parish of Ameliasburg and Hillier on Tuesday, May 16th. Confirmation will be held in Christ Church, Hillier, at 11 a.m., followed by a celebration of the Holy Eucharist. Evensong will be said in Holy Trinity Church, Consecon and a confirmation held at 3 p.m. Those handsome gifts and memorials so recently placed in the church will then be consecrated. In the evening at 8 p.m. His Lordship will hold a confirmation service and consecration of gifts in St. John's Church, Carrying Place. All services will begin sharp on time, and as these churches are crowded on such occasions, the public are advised to be in their seats at least fifteen minutes before the appointed time.

While in Hillier the episcopal party will lunch at the residence of Mr. Lyle Leavins at 1 p.m. Six o'clock dinner will be served and a reception held at Consecon by Mr. and Mrs. E. Chisholm Hodgins, of the Standard Bank. The Bishop will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Hayes, of Murray, on the evening of the 16th, leaving by the 10.30 a.m. train on Wednesday for Kingston. So that His Lordship may travel with greater comfort and speed, and in keeping with the dignity of his high and holy office, Mr. R. W. Weddell, president of the Weddell Dredging Co., of Toronto and Trenton, and a warm personal friend of the rector, Rev. J. de P. Wright, with characteristic generosity, has placed his handsome motor car, the finest in this part of the country, at the disposal of the Bishop while in the parish. This act of thoughtfulness, kindness and respect on the part of Mr. Weddell is thoroughly appreciated and will not be readily forgotten by the faithful in the parish of Ameliasburg and Hillier.

You Breathe It

By the simple act of breathing, we inhale life and death. You breathe air crowded with disease germs. These lodge in the membrane and at once commence their deadly work. In a night you develop a cold and before long you are in the grip of Canada's deadliest enemy—Catarrh.

You also breathe Hyomei, pronounced High-o-me, and by so doing breathe in life—Hyomei is medicated and vaporized air. In its journey through the breathing organs it arrests and kills catarrh and cold germs, soothes the inflamed membrane and commences the work of healing. Ask druggist J. V. Doyle what he knows about Hyomei. You will find that he not only sells it but guarantees it. A complete outfit will cost you $1.00 from your druggist or postpaid from The R. T. Booth Co. Ltd., Fort Erie, Ont. You will find it invaluable for coughs, colds, catarrh and all kindred diseases. Money refunded if it fails.

BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE'S UNION

Interesting and Helpful Address Given by Rev Robert Wallace

The Baptist Young People's Union held a very interesting meeting last night, and the attendance was good. Rev. Robt. Wallace gave a very helpful address, pointing out the similarity between the disease of leprosy and that of sin.

The Scripture reading was in the fourteenth chapter of Leviticus, where the children of Israel were instructed how a leper was to be cleansed after he was cured of his leprosy. The blood with which he was sprinkled typified the blood which was shed for our cleansing, and the oil represented the gift of the holy spirit, which we receive after our cleansing. In conclusion he pointed out that we are saved to serve, for if God's only purpose for us were that we should be saved and do nothing else, he would take us home as soon as we became Christians. When filled with His Spirit we will find plenty to do for Him.

Before the meeting closed, the president, Mr. Blackburn, thanked Mr. Wallace for his address. A pleasant social time is expected at next Monday night's meeting.

HOME AGAIN FROM A LONG TOUR

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Campion have returned home after a tour in Europe extending over nearly twelve months. Mr. and Mrs. Campion visited, among other countries, Great Britain, France, Belgium (including the field of Waterloo), Germany, Switzerland and Italy. The principal places of interest visited were Glasgow, Edinburgh, Carlisle and the English lakes, London and vicinity, Torquay, Cheltenham, Bristol, Paris, Lyons, Nice, Marseilles, Monte Carlo, Brussels and Cologne. Mr. and Mrs. Campion also took a sail up the Rhine, where they called at Bingen, Strasburgh, Lucerne, Lugano, and passed the Alps through the great tunnel into Italy, where they viewed Milan, Venice, Florence, Rome, Naples, Pompeii, Mount Vesuvius, Genoa and many smaller places, following which they took a trip through the Riviera. Belleville extends a welcome home to Mr. and Mrs. Campion

LEG WAS BROKEN WHILE WRESTLING

Last evening Frederick Clapper and a companion were scuffling on Bridge Street West, when Clapper fell upon the cement walk in such a manner as to fracture his left leg near the thigh. The unfortunate victim was taken to the hospital, where the fracture was reduced. Frederick will, in consequence, be laid up for some time.

WHAT IS DOING AT THE HARBOR

The steam barge John Rolph, with her consort, passed down the bay this morning, light. They will load at Point Ann.

The schooner D. Freeman left yesterday for Oswego to load coal.

DEATH LIST

MISS HILDA CALLAGHAN

Hilda Loretta Callaghan, fifteen years of age and only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Callaghan, residing on South George Street, died last night. Deceased had been ill for some months with lung trouble. Hilda was born here and lived here during her short life. She was a lovable girl and had a host of young friends, who mourn her demise. Deceased was a member of St. Michael's Church and had been attending St. Michael's Academy. The parents will receive the sincere sympathy of their many friends in this their hour of trial.

STEAMER ALETHA AT LAST RELEASED

She Was Got off on Saturday and Was Towed to Picton for Repairs

The steamer Aletha, of the Bay of Quinte Navigation Company, which ran ashore on the rocks at Navy Bay, Kingston, on Tuesday night last, was released on Saturday afternoon. Quite a little difficulty was experienced in getting her off. A heavy sea was rolling at the time she went ashore, consequently she was driven hard on the rocks, and being a light boat, drove far up on the shore. The water, when comparatively calm, is very shallow at this place, and the tugs of the Donnelly Wrecking Company could not get near her. On Saturday the tug Frontenac, of the Calvin Company's fleet, assisted the tug Saginaw, and the two boats succeeded in pulling her off. The steamer Aberdeen came down from Picton Sunday afternoon and towed her back there, where she will undergo a thorough examination and overhauling on Hepburn's ways. It is expected that she will be in commission again in a week's time. One thing was exceedingly fortunate, and that was the fact that her hull, which was rebuilt of oak last winter, was sufficiently strong to stand the strain of two powerful tugs pulling at her without going to pieces.

"She married a count."

"Gladys?"

"Yes."

"Mercy! I wonder how she could do it."

"Oh, she wanted some one to count her dad's millions."

"Yes; she got here some time ago."

"She is an angel in disguise."

"Oh, what a perfect disguise!"

WHAT EVERY WOMAN KNOWS

No woman can decorate her head with false hair in the shape of rats puffs, switches and transformations and make it appear natural. Hair growing on the scalp it adorns is the only kind that always looks right. There is a grace and beauty in natural hair which is not to be mistaken.

Newbro's Herpicide permits the luxuriant growth of beautiful hair. It kills the dandruff germ, preserves the hair and gives it the life and brightness of true hair health.

Every woman may have beautiful glorious hair growing on her own head. There is no secret about it—use Newbro's Herpicide.

Send 1 cents in postage for sample and book on the Care of the Hair to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit Mich.

One dollar size bottles are sold and guaranteed by all the leading druggists.

Applications may be obtained at the best barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

NEW TRAIN SERVICE TO "LAKE OF BAYS."

An important feature that will be inaugurated during the coming season will be a new train service to the "Lake of Bays" district. A standard Grand Trunk passenger train will leave Toronto with through coaches parlor cars and dining car at 10.15 o'clock in the morning, daily except Sunday, for Huntsville, reaching the latter point about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, connecting with steamers for points in the "Lake of Bays" district, and affording passengers the opportunity of reaching their destination in time for dinner.

The Sunday evening boat service from the Wawa Hotel, Britannia Point Ideal, Portage, Deerhurst and other important calling ports on "Lake of Bays," to Huntsville will be run on same schedule as for season 1910, during the months of July and August, and which will be a boon to week-enders desiring to return to the city for business on Mondays. The Budget Baby

Political enthusiasm has shown itself in a baby being christened Augustus George Budget Oldfield. He was born shortly after the introduction of Mr. Lloyd George's 1909 Budget. His father, Mr. W. Oldfield, has for years been an ardent Liberal worker in North Camberwell.

Disfigured for Life

A Reading girl named Alice Prew was awarded $2,000 damages at Berks Assizes at Reading against Mr. G. Male, a Reading veterinary surgeon, for injuries received by being knocked down by a motor-car while she was cycling. The girl sustained a fractured jaw and has been disfigured for life.

His Fourteenth Rescue

"I'm wet through again," was the simple remark made by W. Lloyd, a boatman, of Port Talbot Docks, on reaching home after accomplishing his fourteenth rescue. Fully dressed he had jumped into the main dock and saved from drowning a sailor from the Liverpool schooner Twig.

THE WORLD OF SPORT

BASEBALL

City League Meeting.

A well-attended meeting of representatives of the various city baseball teams was held last evening. The chief object of the meeting was to decide upon grounds where it is proposed to play the games. After considerable discussion it was finally decided to accept the offer of the Belleville Driving Association, and the games will be played on their grounds, West Bridge Street. A first-class diamond will be prepared and the outfield will also be put in first-class shape.

Another meeting will be held this evening, when it is expected that a schedule of games will be drawn up.

YACHTING.

Eastern Lake Yachtsmen.

The annual meeting of the Eastern Lake Yacht Racing Association was held on Friday night at Kingston. H. Horn occupied the chair.

The election of officers resulted as follows: President, Commodore Sackett, Cape Vincent; vice president, J. N. Osborne, Napanee; secretary treasurer, Mr. Green, Cape Vincent; Council, Comodore Hackett, H. Fora, Commodore Macdonald, Gananoque; Dr Ross, Clayton, N. Y.; H. Buckley Watertown, N. Y.; Rev. F. W. Armstrong, Trenton; and E. W. Sheriff Picton.

It was arranged to hold the annual regatta at Cape Vincent on July 15th The yachts will meet at Kingston on the 14th, and hold a cruising race to the Cape.

LACROSSE.

At Geneva, New York, last week the Rochester lacrosse team defeated Hobart College by 3 to 0. The Rochester team is made up of Canadians among whom is Mr. H. A. Fish, of this city. They have played and won three games this season and expect to go to New York, where they will play the Crescents on June 8th.

BOXING.

Johnson's Plans.

Jack Johnson, who is in New York says he will sail for England on June 9. When asked if he intended to fight on the other side of the ocean the champion replied: "If Mistah McIntosh will give me $30,000 for my end, win, lose or draw, I'll meet anybody, Langford, McVey, Kaufman Bombardier Wells or Gunner Moir I don't think he can drag Langford into the same ring with me, but I'm willing to let him try. I understand Langford is going over soon to fight Wells, and I'll be on hand to see the mill. Then we will soon find out whether Langford really wants any of my game or not. Carl Morris? Oh he's a big faker. He doesn't want to fight a good man. If he was worth a quarter he'd tackle Flynn, Barry Ross and Kaufman off the reel and prove to the public that he can fight I may box my old friend. Jack O'Brien, in Philadelphia before I sail and if he can get Kaufman to meet him in six rounds at his club I'll do my part."

THE TURF

St. Bass ran the plate distance at the Woodbine on Saturday in 2.11! The average time for the race is slower than that, but the Woodbine track is now at its best for the trials. Last May, Parmer won in 2.12 2-5. The record is 2.10 2-5, made by Shimonese in 1909. Just fancy the guineas being landed in 2.28 1-2, by Joe Miller in 1894, but that was in the mud. The year before Marlello won in exactly St. Bass' time, 2.11

ITINERARY IS COMPLETE

Mr. Borden's Meetings in West Arranged For.

All the Speakers Have Not Been Decided Upon, But Andrew Broder of Dundas Will Be One of the Party —B. C. Does Not Need an Anti-Reciprocity Campaign — Western Premiers to Go on the Stump.

Ottawa, May 9.—The itinerary of R. L. Borden's western political tour was completed last evening. It is as comprehensive as it was possible to make it under the circumstances that Parliament will reassemble in July. The Opposition leader will leave Ottawa on June 17 and will be back in the capital on July 9.

While all the speakers have not been decided upon, it may be stated definitely that Andrew Broder of Dundas, an inimitable campaigner and probably the leading authority in the Opposition on agricultural matters, will accompany Mr. Borden. Dr. Roche of Marquette will probably also be in the party. The Provincial Premiers of British Columbia and Manitoba will be in England attending the coronation, but they themselves will also campaign the western provinces on their return. British Columbia will not be visited on the present tour by Mr. Borden.

It is not considered necessary, the huge majority of the people there being actively against the reciprocity agreement.

Meetings will be held as follows: June 19, Winnipeg; June 20, Carberry; June 20, Brandon; June 21, Weyburn; June 21, Moosejaw; June 22, Indian Head; June 22, Regina; June 23, Maple Creek; June 23, Medicine Hat; June 24, MacLeod; June 24, Lethbridge; June 26, High River; June 26, Calgary; June 28, Wetaskiwin; June 28, Edmonton; June 29, Vegreville; June 29, Lloydminster; June 30, North Battleford; June 30, South Battleford; July 1, Prince Albert or Saskatoon; June 3, Rosthern; July 3, Saskatoon or Prince Albert; July 4, Yorkton; July 5, Birtle; July 5, Minnedosa; July 6, Grandview; July 6, Dauphin; July 7, Portage la Prairie.

Wants Mayor to Go.

Kingston, May 9.—An agitation is on to get Mayor Graham to attend the coronation as the city's representative.

Secret of a Wireless Station

Great secrecy has been maintained as to the construction of the wireless telegraphy station at Wick, Caithness, which is on the point of being finished. It is supposed that it will be used largely to control the operations of fleets in northern waters.

Imposing on Servant Girls

Sidney Duncan, a young impostor who induced domestic servants to part with money for postage for free enlargements of their photographs, was at Highgate Police Court, on Wednesday, sentenced to three months' hard labor. The police said they had 300 complaints.

Turbans for Woman Bathers

As the result of a complaint from men who swim in the Richmond Baths that long stray hairs have got into their eyes and mouths, the local council has decreed that in future women bathers must confine their tresses in turbans or some form of cap.

Lady Locked in a Church

A lady who visited St. John's Church, Gloucester, on Easter Monday, to look around, was locked in by the rector, who did not see her, and she remained there for nineteen hours till ten o'clock on Tuesday morning, when some workmen heard her knocking.

Veteran Good Templar

For the forty-second successive year Alderman Joseph Malins, of Birmingham, was elected Grand Chief Templar, at the Good Templars' conference, in Darlington.

Ancient Devon Yew Tree

A yew tree in the churchyard at Plymtree, Devon, says the "Western Morning News," is probably not less than 1,000 years old, and is in all probability the oldest yew in the country.

Roving Children of the Canal

There are about 1,000 canal-boat children in England, according to a return made by the Board of Education, which complains of the difficulty of securing their attendance at school.

Worked After Being Run Over

After being run over by a van, a Birkenhead carter, named McKey, remained at work, and it was not until twenty-four hours later that he went to the hospital, where he died from his injuries.

Countess's Gift of a Priory

JUSTICE FOR WORKMEN

Messrs. Lennox and Porter brought up in the House yesterday the matter of the reported swindling of laborers by contractors on the National Transcontinental through overcharging at contractors' stores. Hon. Mackenzie King said that several cases of the kind had been investigated, and where the reports were shown to have justified the contractor had been compelled to furnish redress. Special officers had been appointed to investigate such cases at construction camps and were looking into the cases mentioned by the members.

Sieve-Like Trawler

Scholarships for Blind and Halt

In order that their infirmity shall not stand in the way of educational advancement the London County Council have arranged twelve scholarships for crippled boys and girls, eight for blind children, and six for deaf ones.

Boys' Brigade Display

About three thousand boys were present at the annual demonstration of the Boys' Brigade at the Albert Hall on May 4. The brigade has 70,000 members in the United Kingdom and 40,000 in other parts of the Empire.

Pensioner's Tragic Death

Seeing his aged wife stricken down by a fit, Michael Moore, an old age pensioner, living at Adare, county Limerick, got out of bed, though infirm, to try and help her. He was unable to stand, however, and stumbled on to the fire, being burnt to death.

Record Sowing of Flax

Owing mainly to a famine in oats it is thought that this year there will be a record sowing of flax in Ulster. During the last few months spinners have been compelled to pay prices for flax which have not been equalled for half a century.

CATARRH

The Mother of Consumption

How This Dread Disease May Be Prevented and Cured—The Opinions of People Who Have Been Cured by

CATARRHOZONE

Catarrh is very often spoken of as the mother of consumption, because when unchecked it extends from its place of beginning to the bronchial tubes then deeper and deeper, till finally the disease becomes consumption of the lungs.

The safest and best remedy for any form of Catarrh is Catarrhozone. It is inhaled to all parts of the breathing organs, kills the disease, and drives it completely out of the system.

Mrs. Mary J. Whitney, of Clay St Topeka, Kansas, was cured of Nasal Catarrh after twenty years' suffering by Catarrhozone. She says:—

"I owe to Catarrhozone an immense debt of gratitude. It cured me of Catarrh of the most disagreeable kind after doctors without number had pronounced my case incurable. My breath is pure and my respiration regular, and I do not cough any more since using Catarrhozone. It has cured me perfectly."

Another case of Chronic Catarrh that was cured quickly by Catarrhozone is that of Mr. G. I. Luce, of 1,700 Navasota Street, Austin, Texas. Mr. Luce says:

"I tried for four years to get rid of Nasal Catarrh, used salt douches, atomizers, tablets, stomach medicines etc., but they didn't do me much good.

Then I tried Catarrhozone and received relief in a few hours. It cured me in a week so that I never had a recurrence of my former trouble."

Miss Winer, who resides on May Street in Hartford, Conn., was cured of throat trouble by Catarrhozone and speaks of her recovery in the following words:—

"Repeated colds finally resulted in a Catarrhal condition from which I suffered more or less every spring and fall. Catarrhozone was the only remedy that relieved and cured me. I recommend it."

No treatment is so good for Catarrhal affections and Bronchitis as Catarrhozone. Its success is quite unequalled in the history of medicine. It will cure you quickly and surely and is well worth a trial. Two months' treatment guaranteed to cure price $1.00; small size, 50c.

NINE BURNED IN A FIRE

All Were Performers in a Music Hall--A Lion Blocked the Exit

(Special to the Intelligencer.)

EDINBURGH, Scotland, May 10.—Nine performers lost their lives in a fire which destroyed the Empire Music Hall last night. A trained lion broke from its cage, and, maddened by burns, blocked the main exit from the dressing rooms. Lafayette, its trainer, and two assistants perished trying to control the terrified beast.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE AT PETERBOROUGH

Chopping Factory Destroyed —A Shipment of Canoes Burned

(Intelligencer Special)

PETERBOROUGH, May 10.— Fire at midnight last night was discovered in the Houedry Pea and Chopping factory, situated near the corner of George and Dalhousie streets. The building, being a frame structure, burned very rapidly, the fire having gained much headway before being noticed.

The mill had been used as a storehouse for grain and feed, gasoline launches and also an automobile repair shop, and is a total loss, together with three new automobiles just left there last night for repairs.

Two C. P. R. cars were also destroyed, one containing a shipment of canoes which were to have gone out this morning, owned by the Canadian Canoe Company, and valued at $1100

The firemen worked hard and saved the adjoining buildings of the Canadian Canoe Co., and a large amount of lumber owned by them.

Houedry's loss is fully covered by insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown.

ACCIDENT AT ROLLING MILLS

Mr. John Wilson, of this city, an employee of the rolling mills, met with a painful accident this morning. A fellow employee was handling an iron bar which had just been rolled, when, by some means, the bar came in contact with Wilson's left leg, inflicting a nasty burn.

THE OTTAWA JOURNAL KICKS OVER TRACES

Has Supported Reciprocity Agreement, but Taft's Speech Caused it to Reconsider Its Position—President's Words an Insult to Canadians—Too Much for Loyal Britons to Swallow—An Example for Laurier, Fielding & Co.

OTTAWA, May 9.—The Ottawa Journal, which at first was favorable to reciprocity, has gone over to the Opposition, basing its change of attitude on President Taft's recent utterances. It draws attention to the emphasis which Mr. Borden laid on the objectionable nature of the President's reference to British inter-imperial trade Mr. Borden, it says, dealt with one aspect fully. The other he did not dwell on, for certain obvious reasons.

It says:—"What Mr. Borden dwelt on fully and forcibly was that if Mr Taft, a man of great ability and great public experience, believes as he does believe and declares to his fellow-countrymen that the proposed reciprocity will block the way to trade preferences with each other between the various parts of the British Empire, it is up to Canadians who have doubted that effect, to think again. The Journal has no question, but that a good many Canadians, who, like The Journal, hope to see an expansion of trade preferences within the Empire, and who have hitherto not been able to quite convince themselves that the reciprocity proposition would defeat that must be impressed by the pronouncement of a man of the calibre of the President of the United States.

An Impartial Observer.

"This is no Tory partisan sounding a tocsin of alarm from chiefly party bias. It is no super-loyal anti-Yankee. It is no newly arrived immigrant from the motherland. President Taft is the impartial outside observer, keen-minded and cold-blooded, endeavoring to give his countrymen the best reasons his intelligence can suggest why they should be willing to take chances with a great fiscal agreement. And this particular argument is that the reciproctiy agreement will prevent the development of a British around-the-world bond. To note such a view in such a quarter is impossible without disquiet to those who desire closer inter-British relations."

"The Journal has suggested a second aspect on which Mr. Borden has not touched. He could not. He is an official representative of a great part of the Canadian people; and for him to say anything undiplomatic would be a mistake. He could not therefore say or intimate that President Taft's utterance is little better than an insult to the people of Canada. In The Journal's opinion it is that. We under the Union Jack should not hear declared publicly by the ruler of any foreign country that he wants the adoption by his own people of a policy on the ground that it will block a possible international policy of the British Empire. Particularly when he requires the co-operation of the Canadian people to effect his end Canadians have a right to resent it deeply.

If Case Were Reversed.

"If a British Prime Minister were to declare in advance of a trade arrangement with the State of New York —if such were possible—that the arrangement would block the improvement of trade relations between New York and the rest of the United States the American republic would be in a fury of flame in 24 hours. An agreement so advertised would have as much show as a cow under a railway train. Even the most judicial of our American cousins regard Canada as unable to feel warmly on such subjects. They seem to be confident of our having no ideas except dollars—as unable to feel warmly on the sub political susceptibilities; too dense even to possess any ordinary logic except in a part.

"President Taft could not have used that phrase about forces here trying to separate Canada from the United States by a 'Chinese Wall.' The Chinese wall does now exist. The United States put it there long ago. They put it there in the hope that this country would be so starved into begging for entrance to the American Union. They kept it there for forty years in hope, despite the frequent practice of some of us. It failed. They see that now. They are preparer now for a consideration, to knock some blocks off the tariff wall, but even the judicial mind of the President cannot propose this without proclaiming that his country is the liberal-mind side, and that it is Canadians—or some of them, who are hell-bent on a Chinese wall against the United States.

What Does Taft Take Us For?

"What does the President take us for? Dolts that cannot realize that preferential trade within the Empire has no thought particularly of the United States? Who cannot see that preferential trade has no bearing with regard to the United States different from what it has with regard to all the rest of the world? Inter-British preferential trade had no animus against the United States, and the President of the United States had better keep an adverse tongue off it."

DROWNED MAN WAS FOUND IN TRENT

Some days ago two men were drowned whilst at work on a scaffold on the Trent Valley Canal construction near Trenton. Last evening the body of one of the victims, named Root, was found floating down the river near the town. The body of the foreigner has not yet been discovered.

HE WON'T DO IT AGAIN

Before Magistrate Masson this morning John Tufts, of Rawdon, was charged with trespassing upon the property of Mrs. Sarah Stapley, who is his sister. The affair was settled without a trial, the accused paying all costs and entering a bond of $200 to keep the peace and desist from trespassing upon his sister's premises. CAMORRIST VICTIM HAD 47 WOUNDS

VITERBO, Italy, May 9.—Abbatemaggio, the informer, who has been confronting for several days, those whom he accused as principals in the murder of Gennaro Cuoccollo and his wife, is ill to-day.

The medical experts who examined the murder victims, found forty-seven wounds on the body of Cuocollo and thirteen on that of his wife. Death was due to dagger thrusts delivered in such a manner as to leave triangular tears. They said that it would be possible for the murderers to avoid becoming bloodstained.

FOUGHT OVER GIRL: THREE WERE KILLED

MILWAUKEE, Wis., May 9.—Three persons were shot and killed and a fourth dangerously wounded in a fight in a lodging house early today. Two men had quarrelled over a girl. One drew two revolvers. His first shot wounded his opponent, the next killed the girl, and then another girl interfered, she, too, being killed. The murderer then killed himself.

THREE MILES A DAY

The Canadian Northern Railway has built three miles of railway a day during the past year. For the previous 14 years the genius of Mackenzie & Mann resulted in laying a mile of completed road every 24 hours.

Through rock or sand, across level prairie or rushing stream, dense forest and morass, the hands of the builders have strung their ribbons of steel.

OCULAR DEMONSTRATION FOR OUR FARMERS

Fifteen Cars of U. S. Cattle Sold on Toronto Market After Duty Was Paid

TORONTO, May 8.—McDonald & Halligan are the first commission firm to handle United States cattle on the Toronto Live Stock Market.

Ontario export cattle were bought at an average of $5.85 to-day for the London market, while last week the average price was $5.83.

Mr. McDonald stated that it was doubtless through his business connections several years ago on the Buffalo market that he was selected by the American dealer to handle this consignment of States steers. It is only fair to say that Mr. McDonald sold all his Ontario cattle first, showing that he did not neglect his Ontario customers.

The States steers were a fine lot and were admired by many of the drovers and dealers.

It would have been an eye-opener to some of our Canadian farmers to have seen them and remembr 13 car loads out of the 15 sold at $6.10.

Farmers just study out the situation, it was an ocular demonstration to everybody on the market to-day.

NEW MOURNERS' COACH

The Thompson Furniture Company have purchased a mourners' coach for the conveyance of bearers at funerals It is a stately vehicle, costing, it is said, about $1,000. The inside is lined with padded leather, and contains three double seats to accommodate six persons. The coach is fitted up with drop windows, rubber tired wheels and is of the Laudault style, having side doors. The coach is a valuable addition to one of the best rolling outfits in the province. It was manufactured by A. B. Greer, of London, Ontario.

CURRENT COMMENT

President Diaz of Mexico had a string to his resignation, but the rebels, if reports from the United States are to be believed, have cut the string.

The proverb "as easy as taking candy from a baby" must have been written by a man who never tried taking candy from a healthy, sweet toothed, strong-lunged infant.

Usually a dollar that is paid to a telephone company is divided up as follows:—Rent 4 cents, taxes 4 cents interest 6 cents, surplus 8 cents, maintenance, 16 cents, dividends, 18 cents, labor 44 cents.

Talking has been indulged in between New York and Denver, a distance of 2,000 miles. There are some persons whose speech at that distance might be more palatable than it is close at hand.

The management of the City Baseball League have acted wisely in securing the driving park for their games. It is the best available place and it is to be hoped that the intrusion of spectators on the field will be absolutely prohibited.

Spring cleaning acquires a new interest in view of the campaign against the fly. If houses, yards and streets were kept clean, the doors and windows screened, and food protected in the same way, the fly would become extinct.—Toronto News.

Toronto is baseball crazy, but, after all, it is not an unhealthy craze, for all games in the organized leagues are on the square. Toronto's team, who won their two home games, are lauded to the skies. But if they had lost?

Amid the multitude of places to which the Laurier Government propose to make grants for harbors, docks and piers, Belleville is not included. Possibly, however, there may be still further supplementaries in which Belleville may share.

Suicide is increasing in America. In 1890 65 leading American cities showed a population of 10,903,441, 1343 suicides, and a suicide rate of 12.3 per 100,000 populatoin. Five years later these cities had increased in population to 12,623,983, with 1999 suicides, or 15.8 suicides for every 100,000 persons.

BELLEVILLE AND THE GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY

Civic Deputation Interviewed Railway Officials at Montreal—First Vice-President Fitzhugh Will Visit Here—He Will Inspect The Harbor—Nothing Done as to Refund of Bonus—Traffic Manager Pullen to Look Into Freight Arrangements—Deputation Well Satisfied

The civic deputation composed of Mayor Ackerman, Mr. W. B. Deacon, President of the Board of Trade, and Mr. D. Price, chairman of the Harbor Commission, which went to Montreal on Monday night for the purpose of interviewing certain Grand Trunk Railway officials in reference to matters appertaining to the city, returned home last evening.

The Mayor expressed himself as pleased with the visit to the metropolis, and feels confident that something of benefit to the city will result.

Mr. E. H. Fitzhugh, first vice-president of the road, was interviewed in reference to the old Grand Junction dock becoming the property of the city, with a view to making extensive improvements to the harbor.

Mr. Fitzhugh informed the deputation that early in June he will be taking an official trip west and will stop off at Belleville, either going or returning, and look the situation over. Until then nothing definite can be done in the matter.

While the matter of the refund to the city of the $25,000 bonus was spoken of, the matter was not thoroughly gone into. His Worship, however, is of the opinion that this matter will be satisfactorily arranged.

While at the head office the deputation interviewed Mr. John Pullen, Assistant Freight Traffic Manager, in reference to the freight business here. That official promised that he would visit the city in the near future to look over the freight shed and see if something could be done in reference to the better handling of freight, and possibly provide greater accommodation for the handling of goods at this point.

It is evident that the deputation spent a busy day, and it is to be hoped that the result of their visit will be beneficial to the city.

SERIOUS RUNAWAY NEAR PARHAM

Several Badly Hurt—Bush Fires in Arden and Olden Townships

Our Parham correspondent writes:—

As Mr. Charles Brown was returning home with the pall bearers from the funeral of Samuel Crawford and Reta Wagar, the leather on the neck-yoke broke and the horses ran away down a steep hill. The waggon ran off the road, throwing the occupants out. Albert Brown had his nose broken. John Raycroft got a bad shaking up. Mr. Foster got a couple of ribs cracked. The rest of the party fortunately escaped without injury.

There passed to rest on Monday morning after an illness of only a few days, Coffield Drew in his 80th year. The deceased came from Ireland when he was a young man. He lived in Olden for about 45 years. He was a devoted member of St. John's church. His funeral was largely attended. The service was held by Rev. J. W. Forster, in charge of the mission.

There are forest fires near Arden and also in the township of Olden

PRETTY WEDDING AT BAPTIST CHURCH

A very pretty wedding of much interest took place this morning at Victoria Avenue Church at 10.30 o'clock, by Rev. Charles G. Smith, when he united in marriage Miss Ida Franklynn, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Burke, International Hotel, to Mr. Charles Frederick Robinson, formerly of Belleville, now the popular proprietor of the Union Hotel, Trenton.

The bride was gowned in a kimona costume of coronation blue, corded satin, with chiffon trimming and black picture hat.

She was attended by Miss Beatrice Fletcher, wearing cream taffeta, while Mr. Robert Robinson, brother of the groom, did honors as best man. The church was beautifully decorated with ferns and foliage, the work of the choir. As the bride entered the church, Mrs. Deeton, organist of the church, played the wedding march. The popularity of the bride was shown by the beautiful and costly presents received, among them being a large number from the church, of which the bride is a faithful worker.

After the reception, at which a large number of guests were present, at the home of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson left for their future home amid showers of rice. The groom's present to the bride was a handsome Heintzman piano.

DEATH LIST

LEWIS PHILLIPS.

Mr. Lewis Phillips, a well-known and highly respected yeoman of Sidney Township, died yesterday afternoon. Deceased, who was 88 years of age, was born in Sidney and lived there all his life. Mr. Phillips was the last surviving of a family of ten children of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Phillips, among the first settlers in the township. Deceased had been in failing health for some time. For years he had been a member of the Methodist church. An aged widow and a family of two sons, William and Edward, of Sidney, survive.

MISS CALLAGHAN INTERRED TODAY

This morning the funeral of the late Miss Hilda Loretta Callaghan took place and was largely attended. The remains were taken from the family residence, South George St., to St. Michael's Church, where services were held by Rev. Father Spratt. At St. James' Cemetery, where the interment took place, Rev. Father Meehan officiated. There were many floral tributes, also many mass offerings. The bearers were companions of the deceased.

Dear Mother:—

I am having the time of my life sight-seeing and tramping from morning until night. That pair of Relindo Shoes you gave me I think are "stunning," as I have not had a backache since I put them on. The cushion in the heel seems to overcome all the jar in walking, and those terrible headaches I suffered from have entirely disappeared. It is such a treat to have one's feet comfortable and you ought to have a pair yourself; they are just the thing for your nerves. "Some One Has Blundered"

After long delay The Globe has at last picked up courage to refer to President Taft's speech at the New York banquet, in which he made the avowal that has been so often quoted of his object in pressing upon Congress by extraordinary means the project of reciprocity with Canada, namely:

> It is critical because unless it is now decided favorably to reciprocity, it is exceedingly probable that no such opportunity will ever again come to the United States. THE FORCES WHICH ARE AT WORK IN ENGLAND AND IN CANADA TO SEPARATE HER BY A CHINESE WALL FROM THE UNITED STATES, AND TO MAKE HER PART OF AN IMPERIAL COMMERCIAL BAND REACHING FROM ENGLAND AROUND THE WORLD TO ENGLAND AGAIN BY A SYSTEM OF PREFERENTIAL TARIFFS, will derive an impetus from the rejection of this treaty, and if we would have reciprocity, with all the advantages that I have described, and that I earnestly and sincerely believe will follow its adoption, we must take it now, or give it up forever.

Of course The Globe approves of Mr. Taft's sinister utterances, as to which it remarks:

> Mr. Taft's argument to his followers is that if the Chamberlain wing of the Tory party in Britain succeeds in its tariff campaign Canada will not be as free as now to negotiate her own trade agreements. The one obvious weakness in the President's argument, which his informed opponents are not slow to point out, is that the Chamberlain forces in Britain have been routed in three successive general elections and are to-day more hopeless than ever. Britain is less likely to-day than at any time in a generation to impose tariff burdens on her own people for the sake of very doubtful preferential advantages to Canada. President Taft's argument is based on a misconception of the tariff movement in Britain. The angry clamor of The Morning Post and other tariff journals is in no degree an expression of the deliberate and determined purpose of the British electors. Three times over, and against the most violent opposition, they have repudiated the Chamberlain fiscal nostrum. They will have none of it.

"Some one has blundered" in The Globe office in this connection. Mr. Taft's remarks were based on the probable future—not on the past—but on the possible outcome of the forthcoming Imperial Conference—not on the results of recent elections in Great Britain.

It is The Globe which either misapprehends or wilfully shuts its eyes to the situation.

The decision which may be come to at the Conference has not been rejected by the British electors, for the very good reason that it has yet to be made. Mr. Taft's object is to forestall anything which may be done by that great council, which may greatly alter the situation as against his country, and he wants to do it in a hurry, so as to shut out any chance of Canada's taking part in preferential trade within the Empire.

That this view of the situation is correct is evidenced by a very particular friend of The Globe and an ardent co-worker in support of the pact, namely The Toronto Star, the Ottawa correspondent of which journal writes on the 7th inst.:

> Of course, the solution of the situation depends very much upon the developments at Washington and in London. If the United States Senate should decline to put the agreement through within a reasonable time, it is quite probable that the reciprocity propositions might be given a back seat in the autumn session, whilst if the Imperial Conference should result in any great change in the relations between the Mother Country and the Dominion, as hoped for by the Conservatives, the whole course of policy might have to be changed.

And that possible "great change in the relations between the mother country and the Dominion" is exactly what Mr. Taft has been seeking to prevent, in which disloyal purpose The Globe is doing its best to aid him.

Thanks, however, to the firmness of the Conservatives in Parliament, Canada's Premier will attend the conference and the result of the deliberations of that body cannot fail to be of great importance to the Empire and to the Dominion.

Significant

In Tuesday's issue of The Toronto World and other newspapers the following despatch was published:

WASHINGTON, May 8.—President Taft indulged in some plain talk to-day in explaining to 25 members of the National Grange that he does not intend to play politics with the Canadian reciprocity agreement, even if the enactment of that measure by Congress costs him his farmer vote. The President told his visitors bluntly that he was sorry to hear that Republican farmers would desert the party if the agreement goes through, but fear of such desertion would not change his conviction as to the wisdom of such legislation.

"I believe this treaty to be the best thing for the whole country, including farmers, merchants, laboring men and all," said the President, "because I believe it is contrary to nature, it is flying in the face of Providence to put an artificial wall like that between this country and Canada, and not get the benefit that will inure to peoples of the same traditions, the same language, and practically with the same character of labor. If we take down that wall, we will benefit by it, FOR WE SHALL SELL MORE AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS TO CANADA THAN SHE WILL SELL TO US. We do now, and we shall sell her even more after the treaty goes into effect. That is my judgment. I am not arguing—I am merely stating my conclusion. If I did not believe this I should not have taken the responsibility of doing what I have done to put this reciprocity treaty through. I am willing to abide the judgment of history—the judgment that will come after the event."

The Globe publishes the same despatch, word for word, down to the word "legislation," at the end of the first paragraph above quoted, but not the succeeding paragraph, for which it substitutes the following:

> He said that he believed reciprocity to be the best thing for the whole country, and that he did not intend to argue it.

The object of mutilating the despatch in so flagrant a manner is so apparent as to require no comment further than that it was evidently dictated by fear of the effect of President Taft's plain words upon the farmers; but the people cannot be blinded by such discreditable means. A cause which requires to be bolstered in such a manner is indeed desperate.

URGES USE OF TROOPS.

U. S. Senator Brings Up Question of Fighting on Border.

Washington, May 10.—The danger to American lives on the border as a result of the revolution in the Mexican republic, was again yesterday the subject of sharp talk in the Senate. The killing of several citizens in El Paso, Texas, as the result of Monday's battle at Juarez was the immediately provocation. Senator Stone again urged the use of American troops to protect Americans, and changing his attitude toward the President's course practically charged him with playing a game of bluff in sending the troops to the front. He expressed apprehension lest the bullets of Monday be followed by shrapnel and cannister.

Senators Bacon of Georgia, Works of California, and other Senators replied, commending the attitude of the President and advocating a conservative course. Senator Bacon contended for the right of the Mexican combatants to pursue their war, even though American lives should be incidentally endangered.

Representative W. Sulzer, chairman of the House committee on foreign affairs, issued a statement deprecating any talk of intervention.

Fierce Battle at Jaurez.

El Paso, Tex., May 10.—What perhaps was the fiercest battle of the Mexican revolution, was fought at Jaurez, across the Rio Grande yesterday, but without result. Last night both federal and insurrectos were resting on their arms ready to resume the battle at daybreak.

While the insurrectos are in possession of the greater part of the city, the federals have strongly entrenched positions.

The aged Gen. Navarro is confident that he can hold out for at least a week until Rabago and Escudero come up with reinforcements. The rebels are equally confident that by to-morrow night they will be in full possession.

The loss on both sides is estimated at from 30 to 60 dead and nearly a hundred wounded.

Town Taken by Assault.

Tijuana, Lower California, Mexico, May 10.—Three companies of independent rebels, comprising 280 men, are encamped in the buildings and streets of Tijuana. The town was taken by assault yesterday, the battle lasting from 5.30 until 9.40 o'clock. At that hour resistance ceased. Conservative estimates of the dead and wounded on both sides place the number at 75.

The attack was planned and executed by Gen. Sam Pryce, who is said to belong to a distinguished British family. He is said to have served with the Canadian contingent in the Boer war.

Still Fighting.

Laredo, Tex., May 10.—Passengers arriving yesterday say a serious fight has occurred between the federals and revolutionists in the outskirts of Saltillo. A federal lieutenant and 22 soldiers were killed. The insurrecto loss is not known. Another battle has occurred at Conception del Oro, about 80 miles from Saltillo. Information is that the federal garrison, believed to number fifty men, was annihilated.

First Court Held.

London, May 10.—The first court of King George's reign and the first big ceremonial function since the death of King Edward was held at Buckingham Palace last night. Although another court will be held to-night and that last night's was especially for diplomatic representatives and officials, the attendance was very large, many visitors from the colonies who are here for the Imperial Conference being present.

London to Have Mosque.

It is proposed to erect a mosque in the capital of the greatest Mohammedan power in the world, and the only surprising feature of the project is that it has not been executed before. The building is to cost $500,000, to which the Agra Khan has already contributed $25,000. The committee in control of the scheme is presided over by Amir Ali and includes the Turkish and Persian Ministers, as well as three members of the Council of India.—London Globe.

FEEDING BRAINS

Why Studious Children Always Crave Oatmeal

Nature gives oats more organic phosphorus than to any other grain she grows. And phosphorus is the brain's main constituent. Brains can't grow, brains can't work without it.

Oats also contain more lecithin—the nerve food—than any other grain. They form our greatest energy food.

That's why growing children love oatmeal. Some instinct within them calls for these elements, and woe to the child who doesn't get all it wants.

The right oats for food are the rich, plump grains. In the choicest oats there are but ten pounds to the bushel. In making Quaker Oats these choice grains are selected by 62 separate siftings.

Quaker Oats—just the cream of the oats—costs but one-half cent per dish. One dish is worth two dishes of common oatmeal. Don't you think it would pay to serve your children such oats?

Wedding Didn't Happen.

Kingston, May 10.—William S. Miller, aged 74, and Sarah Keeney, aged 57, came here from Fulton, N.Y., to get married, so they stated. When the steamer American arrived from Cape Vincent, however, they were looked upon as undesirables by Immigration Inspector John Geoghegan and sent back. Miller had $5, but the woman was without means.

To Meet Grain Rush.

Montreal, May 10.—In anticipation of a greatly-increased trade in export grain, the harbor commissioners have decided to erect a new storage elevator, large enough to hold a half million bushels of wheat on Windmill Point. It will be completed in time to meet the September rush.

A Graduate of Queen's.

Kingston, May 10.—W. G. Agassiz, the student at Yale reported missing, and who is believed to have gone insane from over study, is a nephew of Prof. Gwillim of Queen's University. He is a graduate of the school of mining, Kingston.

The "Queen's" is operated on the American and European Plan, the rates being: Rooms without Bath (American Plan) $3.00 per day up. Rooms with Bath (American Plan) $3.50 per day up. Rooms (European Plan) $1.50 per day up.

SINS OF THE ...CITY...

After mutual greetings—and Gerald was very quiet and gentle toward Pauline—the girl asked him if he could spare the time to accompany her to the dead man's chambers.

"Most certainly, Miss Spencer. I should be very glad if you would come, for I should like your directions regarding one or two things."

"Are they really mine already, Mr. Mildmay? I mean, are all the legal matters settled?"

"Yes, Miss Spencer, I have obtained probate this morning, so you are now in actual possession to do as you like. The various shares and securities will be transferred to your name, and I should like to know to what bank you wish me to pay the cash poor Vipan left."

"To my account at the London and Westminster, if you will be so kind, Mr. Mildmay. And I don't know how to thank you sufficiently for all you have done for me. I am more grateful than I can tell you."

"Miss Spencer, I can't say it was a pleasure, because of the loss we have sustained, but I felt I would rather do it than any one else. Vipan and I were such very old friends, and it would have seemed almost sacrilege if anyone else had gone through his papers and things."

Later in the afternoon the three friends found themselves in the rooms lately occupied by the dead explorer. It was one of the hardest trials that Pauline had been called upon to endure, but she faced it bravely, and though the various little things lying about brought her great loss more vividly to her mind than ever, beyond a slight hesitation on first entering she did not give way. For a time she was busy with Mildmay, giving directions as to the removal of the furniture to Mount Street, and then said,—

"Now, Mr. Mildmay, I want to see Wallace's papers."

"They're in his drawers, Miss Spencer. There are the keys. I've had to go through them of course, but they were in an awful state of muddle, for that—that— someone had ransacked everything, and,—"

"Yes, I know, Mr. Mildmay, but did you come across a letter in Italian signed 'Piero Balbi'?"

"I don't remember seeing it."

"It would probably have a portion of the dried leaf of a tree with it."

"Then I'm sure I didn't. All the papers I came across I put carefully together."

"Then don't trouble about it. But would you mind making them up into a bundle for me, and I will take them back with me to Mount Street. I feel certain some of them been stolen."

"Certainly, Miss Spencer." And as Gerald moved the mass of papers and documents from the drawers, Pauline stood close beside him, watching him. As he lifted the last bundle something fell and rattled on the bottom of the drawer. The girl bent forward and picked it up. It was one half, together with the opened link, of a shirt-cuff fastening. She glanced at it a moment, and then without a word wrapped it up in a scrap of paper she found on the floor and placed it in her pocket.

The examination of the bedroom in which Vipan had met his death proved even more trying to Pauline than the inspection of the sitting-room, but she faced it bravely, and after giving certain directions as to the furniture she said to Gerald,—

"I will have all of Wallace's clothes sent to Mount Street. And—and—have the police taken that suit of pyjamas he was wearing?"

"No, I had them put away just as they were."

"Send them with the other things."

"But, Miss Spencer, would they not be—?"

"Send them with the other things, please," remarked Pauline, quietly but firmly. She was standing beside the fireplace as she spoke, and her eyes happend to fall on a little carved bowl formed from some kind of a small gourd, and ornamented by a pattern rudely burnt on the outside. In it were a lot of odds and ends—pins, bits of tie fastenings, the half of an old railway ticket, the voucher for a stall at the Haymarket Theatre and a portion of a sleeve link and other odds and ends which collect in a bachelor's bedroom. Without making any remark Pauline wrapped up the ornament with its contents and put it in her pocket. Then returning to the sitting-room she said,—

"Now, Dora and Gerald, for I am going to call you Gerald for the future—I want you to choose anything you like as a memento of the one we have lost. I wish you to have something, because I know he would have liked it; he was so fond of you both. So do not hesitate."

With many expressions of thanks the selections were made, and shortly afterwards Gerald saw Pauline into a hansom, wtih her large bundle of papers, while he and Dora walked to Bond Street, where the young lady had some commissions to execute for her mother.

For some days afterwards Pauline was busily engaged going through the papers which had been found in Vipan's rooms. It was a painful task for her, for she was continually coming across notes and memoranda which they had made together when planning some of the trips. Carefully preserved did she find the letters she had written to him when he was far away, and the book of notes and diaries he had kept during his expeditions.

The last of these, dealing with his South American trip, she read with the deepest interest—an interest which centred upon something more than the mere record of his daily progression. She constantly came across the name of Piero Balbi, but in no case was there an address given in connection with it. Vipan had evidently Balbi as his companon during a portion of the time he was in Peru in the neighborhood of Cuzco and Lake Titicaca, but there was no indication beyond this as to where Balbi was to be found. No a trace remained of the letter containing the dried half of the vichaya leaf Wallace had shown her. It had vanished altogether, and Pauline felt it had vanished for a purpose and had not merely been lost.

There was another thing missing and that was a crocodile-skin letter-case with silver corners and "W.V." worked into a silver monogram on one of the sides, which Pauline had given to her lover some years previously, and which she knew was in his possession the last time she had seen him. Vipan had been very careful of it, and it had accompanied him on all his expeditions.

He was surprised at how the sores healed—"I took your NEW METHOD TREATMENT for a serious blood disease with which I had been infected for twelve years. I had consulted a score of physicians taken all kinds of blood medicine, visited Hot Springs and other mineral water resorts, but only got temporary relief. They would help me for a time, but after discontinuing the medicines the symptoms would break out again—running sores, blotches, rheumatic pains, looseness of the hair, swellings of the glands, palms of the hands scaling, itchiness of the skin, dyspeptic stomach, etc. I had given up in despair when a friend advised me to consult you, as you had cured him of a similar disease 8 years ago. I had no hope, but took his advice. In three weeks' time the sores commenced to heal up and I became encouraged. I continued the NEW METHOD TREATMENT for four months and at the end of that time every symptom had disappeared. I was cured 7 years ago and no signs of any disease since. SPOILED THE PLOT.

A Display of Juvenile Affection That Saved the Mongrel.

About three weeks ago there strolled into a Ridley Park house a dirty, disreputable looking dog. He was of no particular breed, but a general mixture of all there are. Out of the kindness of her heart the cook gave him a few bites to eat, and from that time on, try as they would, the family could not get rid of the canine. The small children took a great fancy to the dog and named him Bluie. Their father and mother grew tired of seeing Bluie around and secretly plotted to get him out of the way. They feared to kidnap him openly by day, for there would surely follow much protest and distress on the part of the children. Accordingly plans were made for losing Bluie some place far from Ridley Park by night. The evening that the plot was to be carried out, just after supper, father, mother and a five-year-old boy were in the parlor. The little fellow was fondling the dog as if he were his best friend in the world. Finally he seized the dog firmly under the shoulders and, looking straight into his eyes, lisped out, "Bwoole, do you wove me?" and then after a moment with joy in his voice, "Bwoole woves me and the world is mine." After that touching display neither father nor mother had the heart to deprive the little fellow of "Bwoole's" company, and the little mongrel dog seems sure of a comfortable home for life.—Philadelphia Record.

Railway Kissing Barred.

The French government has decided to prohibit the exchange of kisses on railway platforms. Notices have been posted as follows: "Defense de s'Embrasser—It is strictly forbidden to exchange kisses upon the platforms or in the waiting rooms or upon the steps of the carriages of the state railways, owing to the delays frequently occasioned by the prevalence of this dilatory practice, which is calculated to disturb the proper running of the traffic upon the system by retarding the departure of trains and which is thus fraught with inconvenience and even danger to the public, as the first condition of safe traveling is punctuality. Persons discovered kissing will be liable to prosecution."

Trespassing of Aeroplanes.

A correspondent of the London Times has a plan to prevent trespassing by aeroplanes. He says: "Motor cars are bad enough, but they do not come into one's house or garden. With aeroplanes total strangers may drop in through the roof for a little chat at any time. I fear the law cannot protect one against such intrusion. If aviation becomes popular I shall have spikes with long strong prongs fixed on the chimneys of my house and the word 'Danger' painted in large red letters on a flat part of the roof. If any flying machines come down in my garden I shall send for the police to remove the occupants, whom I shall sue afterward for any damage to my trees or shrubs."

News Of The District

From Our Own Correspondents

MADOC.

Warm and dry weather!

Rain is needeed here, though grain is looking fine. Fall wheat looks well and the prospects are bright for a good crop.

The Hungerford Company have paid the Village Council the purchase price of the machinery, namely, $1500 They have a large gang of men at work and expect to be running in a short time.

Last Friday evening Rev. R. Bamforth and Mrs. Bamforth were the recipients of some nice presents—fine chairs, one from the Bible Class, and one from the Ladies' Aid to Mrs. Bamforth. After the presentation all sat down to tea, provided by the Ladies' Aid. All had a very pleasant evening.

The district meeting of the Methodist church will be held here, May 16 and 17. We are informed in advance that the district is in a very prosperous condition.

CORBYVILLE.

Mrs. Francis Brenton was called to Shannonville last Thursday on account of illness.

Mr. and Mrs. John Crump, who have been residing in Cannifton, have moved to Corbyville, into the house lately occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Wm Crump.

Another little son has come to Mr and Mrs. John Whiteman, which is the joy of the household, and which we hope, has come to stay.

Miss Olia Laundry, of Melrose, is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. Badgley.

Mrs. T. Smith, who has lately resided in Corbyville, has moved to Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. White spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Clapp.

There was no service held here on Sunday owing to the quarterly meeting being held at Bethany.

Mrs. W. Clapp, who got badly scalded last week, is improving.

The Boy Scouts, with Miss Louise Rush as Scout Mistress, spent Saturday afternoon in Reid's woods. They had a splendid time and came home tired, but happy.

Mr. Tom Hicks, when returning from Queen's, where he had successfully written for his B. A., spent a couple of days under the parental roof. He has since returned to Selkirk, Man., where he is Principal of the public school.

The pupils of Maple Grove school cleaned their yard last Friday afternoon. Next Friday as a reward, they intend picnicking in the woods near by.

The annual meeting of the Cannifton League was held last Thursday evening. After the various heads of departments presented their reports the election of officers was proceeded with, resulting as follows:—

President—Mrs. Joel Brenton.
1st Vice " —Rev. S. A. Kemp.
2nd " —Miss Grace Brenton.
3rd " —Miss Bessie Dunning.
4th " Miss Louise Rush.
5th " —Mrs. S. A. Kemp.
Secretary—Miss Flossie Lawrence.
Treasurer—Miss Callery.
Organist.—Miss Mabel Kerr.

One of the encouraging features of last year was the increase of 50 per cent. in missionary givings, bringing the total up to $90.

HOLLOWAY.

The Sunday School of this place held its annual meeting on Thursday last for the re-election of officers, and was fortunate in selecting the same superintendent as for previous years, Mr. R. B. McMullen. It was also decided that they would change their hour to 10 o'clock, a. m. during the summer months, beginning Sunday, the 14th inst.

Mr. Seymour Bushell wears a broad smile. A little boy has come to stay.

Mr. Sam. Elliott has gone to Nipigon for the summer.

A number from here attended the funeral of the late J. Denyes, of Bethel, which was largely attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Kelley went to Norwood on Saturday last to spend a few days with her sister.

There was no service in the church on Sunday, owing to quarterly meeting at Foxboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cassidy of Madoc were the guests of her mother, and father, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Ostrom on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harford Faulkner spent Sunday under the parental roof.

Our miller, Wm. Cadman, has been putting a new outfit in his mill recently.

The farmers of this vicinity are busy putting in their spring grain.

AN EXPERT BOOKMAKER.

One In Havana That Puzzled a Chicago Betting Man.

"If you want to see expert bookmakers you should go to Havana," remarked a Chicago man. "They certainly have their business down fine. I went to a cockfight in one of the suburbs of Havana on a Sunday. Nearly everybody in that part of the town had turned out.

"With two friends I got seats close to the pit. I had never seen a cockfight, and I was interested. At the edges of the pit several natives were standing, facing the audience and yelling and waving their hands. I asked one of my friends, who had been in Havana a short time, what they were doing. He said they were taking bets. Sure enough, the spectators were shouting back at them, announcing their favorites and placing their bets. But the bookmakers were not using even a pencil. One of them, I am sure, must have taken fifty bets.

"I wanted to get in on the game, so I decided to bet $2 on a black gamecock that looked good to me. I handed over my money, but I didn't get a ticket. I felt sure I should never again see my money even if I had picked the winner. Well, the main was fought, and my bird won. I watched the bookmaker as he went among the crowd, handing money here and there. When he came to me he handed over $10. I was surprised, but he didn't notice it, as he was too busy cleaning up his slate. Finally I discovered through a spectator near by who could speak English a little that my bird had been a four to one shot.

"How that 'bookie' ever kept all those bets in his mind is more than I can understand."—Washington Post.

Turner's Little Afterthought.

A Consul for Regina.

Even the city states in German Europe have diplomatic corps—gentlemen with Vandyke beards and monocles, whose main function is to dance and dine and, on the side, keep the ice to the heated brows of rambunctious nationalists. Regina has gone in for a consulate—quite a new sign of progressiveness indeed. Dr. Jones, American Consul-General for Canada, has told Washington to despatch a diplomat instantly to Saskatchewan's capital. As yet, the name of this diplomat of the plains has not been announced. He will have at least one distinction — he will be first in the business west of Winnipeg.

Telegraphers Prosper.

Toronto, May 10.—An unparalleled year of progress and prosperity has been the lot of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, as shown in the reports given at yesterday's session.

In the last two years the organization has made and revised 113 schedules, and these agreements have given to their members over $2,000,000 increase of wages.

The purchase of 127 feet 6 inches square of land in the most important downtown district of St. Louis, cost $51,000, and already is worth $75,000 to $100,000. On this is to be erected an office building fifteen or sixteen storeys in height, and let for office purposes, besides being headquarters for the order. It will cost about $600,000.

Site For Legislature.

Winnipeg, May 10.—Five hundred thousand dollars in cash and the purchasing of a new site for a drillhall by the Provincial Government, with permission to occupy the present quarters until the completion of the new buildings, is the reply of the Government to a delegation which visited Ottawa in connection with securing the Fort Osborne Barracks as the site for the proposed new Provincial Legislature buildings. It was decided, however, that the Provincial Government could not accept the proposition, and a wire to this effect was sent to Ottawa.

To Minimize Accidents.

New York, May 8.—A nation-wide movement to minimize the number of industrial accidents, placed at 1,000,000 annually throughout the United States, will be inaugurated, it is announced, at the sixteenth convention of the National Association of Manufacturers to be held in New York from May 15 to 17. Three thousand manufacturers, it is expected, will attend.

Ready For the Worst.

"A woman in a parish where I lived," said an English clergyman, "used each day to prepare herself for the worst. I was complimenting her one day on the extreme tidiness of the house even early in the morning.

"'Yes,' she said, 'I always likes to 'ave my bedrooms done hearly, for, as I allus sez, you never knows what may 'appen, 'ow soon one of the children may be brought 'ome in a fit or with a broken leg, and, as I allus sez, it don't matter what 'appens, so long as you've got a bedroom to put 'em [illegible]'"

SIMPLY MADE AND GOOD.

Gate Latch Constructed of Easily Procurable Materials.

The latch shown in the accompanying cut is one of the most satisfactory a writer in the Kansas Farmer has ever seen on a farm gate. It is made of a solid iron bar threaded on one end so as to screw into the gatepost. On this is hung, by a bolt through its ends and the iron bar, a small iron rod which has been bent into proper shape as shown in the picture. The bar must have a pin through it at the proper place to catch the latch and prevent its being thrown clear over when the gate is closed with force. A piece of gas pipe may be substituted for the iron bar in the post. If desirable a small piece of hoop iron can be nailed upon the end of the gate board which engages the latch and thus prevent wear. This, however, is not necessary. This latch is the invention of R. J. Linscott of Holton, Kan.

The Dandy Lawyer.

Always debonair and immaculately attired, Sir William Robson, the new Lord of Appeal, has been termed "the dandy lawyer." And he is a witty one to boot. "It seems to me," said an indignant member of the House on one occasion, after striving to convince Sir William with a lengthy speech, "that you cannot swallow my argument." "No," said Sir William, without hesitation; "I don't want to die of indigestion."

On another occasion, when he was visiting his son at Eton, he was attracted by a tie in one of the shops. The tie was black, striped with light blue. He bought it and returned to his son's room in triumph, but was greeted with horror. "Father, you cannot wear an Old Etonian tie!" "I do not know anything about its being Old Etonian. Why should it not stand for Old Robsonian?" came the ready retort.

Stories of the Gravediggers.

Grimly humorous is the tale of the Scottish gravedigger who complained that he did not get constant work.

"But, George," said the minister, "if you were to be constantly employed in the duties of the office you would soon bury the whole parish."

"That micht be, sir, but hoo am I to keep a wife and family unless I get regular work? 'Deed, sir, I havena buried a leevin' soul for the last six weeks."

Harder still was the case of another gravedigger who was asked to reduce his fee for digging a grave because, 'mind ye, James, she was an auld woman and was sair spent."

Olive Schreiner.

Olive Schreiner, whose great book on 'Woman and Labor' has attracted widespread attention, is a sister of the ex-Premer of Cape Colony, and may claim to be English and African at once, having been born in Basutoland of English parents. Her father was a missionary sent out by the London Missionary Society, and it is the zeal for reform which inspires all missionary enterprise that burns to a white heat in every book by this distinguished daughter. From the 'Story of a South African Farm,' produced in girlhood, and the poignant pathos of 'Dream Life and Real Life' (written still earler, though published later) down to 'Woman and Labor'—the end whcih crowns all, says a writer in 'The Lady's Companion.' 'This magnum opus in its present form presents the mere salvage of a life's work. Like Carlyle's great work on the French Revolution, inadvertently burnt while it was in the house of John Stuart Mill, the original 'Woman and Labor' (a monumental work, on whose second part alone eleven years of toil and thought had been expended was destined never to see the light). The manuscript was burnt by invading vandals during her absence from home in war time, only a few charred fragments remaining to greet her on her return. But whilst in some sort a prisoner of state, in a shuttered room containing only a stretcher and two packing cases for furniture, and her little dog for company, with a barbed wire fence and a guard of armed natives between her and liberty, and no books, newspapers, or magazines to distract her thoughts from the horrors of war on every side—there and thus she wrote the new 'Woman and Labor,' a book to 'leave its impress on the age, and hand down a goodly heritage to the ages after.'

The Queen's Forethought.

A striking instance of the Queen's kindliness and forethought was mentioned when a deputation representing London dressmakers waited on Mr. Masterman, M. P., at the Home Office to protest against the draft order varying their hours of employment in May and June, when a rush of coronation orders is expected.

It was stated that Her Majesty had taken every precaution to prevent her orders for dresses causing hardship to workgirls, and the hope was expressed that women would follow so excellent an example.

Mr. A. Henderson, M. P., in introducing the deputation, said that 10,000 workshops would be affected by the order, and more than half the workers were young girls between the ages of thirteen and sixteen.

The strain on these young girls would be very detrimental. The Queen, in ordering her coronation dresses, gave instructions that the work should be done in good time, in order that no blot, such as this order would cause, should be placed upon the coronation year.

A speaker declared that one firm was already keeping its girls at work until 1 a. m.

'I wish to heaven that every one would be as considerate as the Queen' said Mr. Masterman, in reply. 'I know that she has made special arrangements so that workgirls shall not suffer by working overtime on her dresses, and I wish everyone would make similar arrangements.

'It was respresented to the Home Office,' he added, 'that extra pay for extra hours would be given. The girls have as much right, or even a greater right, to be considered than the employers, and if all the information which comes to my knowledge convinces me that the carrying out of the order would be detrimental to the health and hours of recreation of the majority of the workinggirls in factories, the draft order will not be confirmed.'

German Police Women.

The news comes from Berlin that a series of baby farming scandals have led to the decision to employ women police officers to investigate such matters.

At first only thiry women constables will be employed, but if the experiment proves successful the number will be increased to a hundred. They will have large powers of inspection and the right of breaking into dwellings where there is reason to think children are being ill-treated.

Applicants must be 'physically strong, quiet, self-controlled, tactful and dignified.' They are also expected to have some medical or nursing knowledge. They are required to make surprise visits at irregular intervals to dwellings where children are farmed.

A Daily Cookery Recipe.

Eggs, Beauregard Style—Boil five or six eggs for twenty minutes. Remove the shells, separate whites from yolks, chop whites fine, and rub the yolks through a fine sieve, but do not mix the two parts. Boil a half a pint of milk and a tablespoon of corn starch, season with salt and pepper, and stir in the chopped egg whites. Make some slices of nice toast, cover each slice with the thickened milk, sprinkle over with the crumbled yolks, and serve hot.

THE KING AND FOOTBALL.

His Interest In "Soccer" Is Rousing Game to Greater Activity.

Association football had its innings in Canada in the eighties and nineties. Then rugby stepped in and took the public fancy. After twenty years of obscurity association or soccer seems to be again gaining ground in this country, and a national tournament was recently held in Toronto, at which a team from Calgary won the honors.

It is interesting in this connection to note that King George is taking a great interest in association football in Great Britain. A writer in M.A.P. says:

"King George has become patron of both of the amateur and professional football associations, and there

Paris First In Hotels.

London has a marvelously cheap hotel for the submerged 10th—a great hall where one may sleep on a straw mattress, a board frame or the floor and have a breakfast of bread and soup, all for three cents. And this price pays the expense of the place. But Paris still stands first in hotels, if the French statement of having a guest house that provides a night's guest house that provides a night's lodging for one penny and pays a profit is true. It is a great room on the ground floor, used in the daytime as a factory, through the length of which as 9 p.m. are stretched several strong cables of hemp which are made taut by a windlass and peg in the wall. On either side of each cable is a row of chairs, and as the weary lodgers come in they take the chairs, and, sitting in them, lean forward, resting their arms on the rope and their heads on their arms, sleeping thus until at 6 a.m. an attendant with a mallet knocks out the peg in the wall. Down goes the rope with all who may be leaning upon it, and the room is ready for the work of the day. This may be a classic and familiar story to Parisians, but is not universally known to the world. As a profitable lodging house, where one who sleeps in comfort in his clothes may rest with more of comfort in half the space, the venture is certainly cleaner, cheaper and more profitable than the London plan.

A Preventive Measure.

"She hugs and kisses me all the time I'm at lessons, and—ugh—I do hate Dutch!" Harriet explained.

Father, who is something of a diplomat, reasoned with her, "See here, my little girl, I have read German and French with fraulein ever since I was your age, and she has never tried to hug or kiss me."

"Father," observed the child dryly, "you had better touch wood."

Ants and the Weather.

Ants are credited with an instinctive knowledge of the general weather for a whole season. When they are observed at midsummer enlarging and strengthening their dwellings it is said to be a sign of an early and cold winter.

A Duel In Undress.

Dueling, though not dead, was dying out even in Rogers' time and was not taken very seriously. The poet's biographer tells the quaint story of how Mr. Humphrey Howarth, a surgeon, when called out made his appearance in the field stark naked. The astonished challenger asked him what he meant. "I know," said Howarth, "that if any part of the clothing is carried into the body by a gunshot wound festering ensues, and therefore I have met you thus." His antagonist declared that fighting a man in puris naturalibus would be quite ridiculous, and accordingly they parted without further discussion.

M'EVAY PASSES AWAY

Archbishop of Toronto Dies After a Long Illness.

Prelate Succumbs to Penicious Anaemia at Age of Fifty-Five Years—Friends Have Had Little Hope for Some Weeks—Was Born at Lindsay and Attained a High Reputation For Learning and Ability.

Toronto, May 10.—After an illness of more than a year, Most Rev. Fergus Patrick McEvay, Archbishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Toronto, passed away peacefully at 12.25 a.m. this morning at the palace, 510 Sherbourne street. Those present when the end came were his nephew, Father McGuire, Rev. Father Burke, editor of The Catholic Register and Extension; Father Kidd, Father Whelan, Dr. R. J. Dwyer, and a number of sisters of the church.

While it became evident some months ago that his grace was suffering from an acute form of pernicious anaemia, which threatened to end fatally, the archbishop at times showed improvement in his condition, which gave rise to hope of ultimate recovery. He visited Mount Clemens, Michigan, and Atlantic City in quest of health, and appeared to be considerably benefitted, but of late it became evident that dissolution could not long be stayed. On frequent occasions both through pulpit and the columns of The Catholic Register special prayers of the faithful of the diocese were besought on his behalf.

THE LATE ARCHBISHOP M'EVAY.

The Right Rev. Fargus Patrick McEvay, who succeeded to the archdiocese of Toronto upon the retirement of Archbishop O'Connor three years ago, was a native of this province, having been born in Lindsay in 1856. His earlier education he received in the county schools and afterwards continued his studies in St. Michael's College and the University of Toronto. He took his theological course at the Grand Seminary in Montreal, and was subsequently ordained at Trenton in 1882 by the late Archbishop Cleary.

Combined with a thorough classical training, the late archbishop possessed to a remarkable degree business acumen, which was evidenced by the development in every parish with which he was associated. His ministrations had many ramifications, and his different clerical responsibilities were perhaps more varied than those which fall to the lot of most priests.

At Kingston he assumed his first duties, but shortly afterwards on the formation of the Peterboro diocese, he was moved to that jurisdiction and took charge of the missions at Bobcaygeon, Galway and Fenelon Falls. In 1887, when Bishop Dowling succeeded Bishop Janot of Peterboro, the then Father McEvay was appointed rector of St. Peter's Church at Peterboro. In his ministry there, the zeal, enthusiasm and activity of the young cleric found ample scope. Bishop Dowling entrusted the renovation of the cathedral to him, and through his executive ability the property for St. Joseph's Hospital was secured and parochial and diocesan houses erected.

While in the midst of these labors, Father McEvay went to Hamilton, where he occupied the dual position of secretary to the bishop and rector of the cathedral. During his stay in Hamilton honors came to him from Rome. He was appointed private chamberlain to his holiness Pope Leo XIII., and later domestic prelate and vicar-general of the diocese.

But Archbishop McEvay seemed destined to follow in the wake of his predecessor in Toronto, for when the then Bishop O'Connor was called from London to the larger diocese in Toronto, Father McEvay was elevated to the Bishopric of London. On the 22nd May, 1908, his further elevation to the Toronto diocese was announced by Bishop Dowling of Hamilton, the ex-senior bishop of the Province of Canada. Archbishop McEvay was the sixth in the episcopal succession to the Toronto see, the first appointment being that of the Right Reverend Michael Power in 1841.

Archbishop McEvay was of a striking and forceful personality. He carried the dignity of his high office well. A profound scholar and clear thinker, he was nevertheless just and firm. Popular with all classes, his advent to Toronto was hailed with much pleasure, and among a wide circle his face will be missed.

Among the different buildings in connection with his parochial work that have been erected at the instrumentality of Archbishop McEvay, are:

Extensions to Our Lady of Lourdes and archbishop's palace. Earl street.

St. Anthony's Church, formerly part of St. Helen's parish.

New church for St. Helen's parish, corner of Lansdowne avenue and Dundas street.

Extension to St. Patrick's Church, McCaul street.

St. Cecilia's Church, West Toronto, (new).

Theological seminary, erected through munificence of Eugene O'Keefe, at Blantyre Park, Kingston road.

St. Anne's parish, created out of St. Joseph's parish.

THE CHINESE LOAN.

Raising Money for Railways Is Authorized by Regent.

Pekin, May 10.—An imperial edict issued yesterday authorizes the conclusion of the Hukwang loan of $30,000,000 for railroad construction in Central China. The loan was signed a year ago this month by groups of financiers representing Great Britain, the United States, France and Germany. Despite provincial opposition the amount of the loan to the Chinese Government remains at $30,000,000, and notwithstanding the elimination of a branch section of the railway, the four groups of bankers will participate.

Another edict exhorts the viceroys to abolish the production of opium expeditiously, Great Britain having consented by the Anglo-Chinese agreement signed Monday to reduce the exportation of Indian opium to China as rapidly as the home growth is exterminated. The anti-opium societies are most active and as the country has been aroused it is believed the Government will succeed in abolishing the production of the poppy within a few years.

The important edicts of yesterday and the one of Monday which abolished the grand council, substituting for it a constitutional cabinet of ten members, indicate that the Government is assuming a responsibility which heretofore has lacked revolutionary evidences, and that the assembly's unabated hostility has forced the Government to lead or be led.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

Brockville is to have a free mail delivery.

The Guelph Junction Railway returned $6,439 to the city for the quarter ending in March.

Glasgow has offered the freedom of the city to Dominion Premiers visiting England for the Imperial Conference.

Four children of the Quarie family, near Belwood, have died of scarlet fever, and Mr. Quarrie is seriously ill with the same disease.

The first strike of aviators was begun Monday. Sixteen airmen declined to fly unless the Brooklands Club, conceded twenty-five per cent. of the gate money. The directors refused.

Officers of the Thomson liner Devona report that two young stowaways jumped overboard from the ship as it was passing Sorel inward-bound and both are thought to have been drowned.

It is expected that the expenses of the Canadian military contingent, which will go to the coronation of King George will be $185,000. The whole expenses of Canada's representatives will be $217,000.

A fatal accident occurred on the Canada Line steamer Willehad, which arrived at Quebec yesterday. An immense wave hit one of the passengers, a boy named Fred. Stickel, aged thirteen years, inflicting such injuries as to cause his death.

The Ottawa collector has sent his bills to all the Ministers of the crown and local members of the Parliament claiming taxes on their sessional indemnity. All refused to pay and the Board of Control yesterday decided not to press the claims.

Woman Sentenced to Hang.

Sault Ste. Marie, May 10.—Angelina Napolitana was found guilty at the assizes yesterday afternoon of the murder of her husband on Easter Sunday. Judge Britton sentenced the prisoner to hang on Aug. 9. U. McFadden, counsel for the prisoner, made a strong plea, claiming that her husband had threatened the woman with desertion if she did not resort to prostitution to obtain money for him. The woman will become a mother in two months. She is 28 years of age, and killed her husband with an axe while he slept. T. C. Meredith, for the crown, said that the woman in her own evidence admitted having lived with a man named Nish for a week while her husband was absent. Justice Britton charged strongly against the prisoner.

The Carroll murder trial will commence this morning.

Pastoral on Mixed Marriages.

Ottawa, May 10.—On May 21 there will be read in all the Anglican churches in Canada a pastoral letter signed by Archbishop Matheson of Winnipeg, primate of all Canada, and Archbishop Hamilton of Ottawa, metropolitan of the ecclesiastical province of Canada, on the question of mixed marriages.

The pastoral will deprecate the performance of these marriages, but says that when once performed they are indissoluble by the Church of Rome.

The disbelief of the Anglican Church in divorce is also strongly brought out, and the clergy are prohibited from remarrying divorced persons during the life of the other party to the first marriage.

Subsidy For New Line.

Ottawa, May 10.—A contract was signed yesterday between the Government and the Union Steamship Co. of New Zealand, for a direct service between Vancouver and Victoria and Auckland, 18 days to each trip, at the rate of $180,509 per annum. New Zealand will pay a similar amount. Thus cuts out Australia, which declined to include New Zealand.

Severed an Artery.

Kingston, May 10.—Cadet Godwin of Vancouver, attending the Royal Military College, was seriously injured in swimming at Navy Bay. While ascending the ladder against the bathing house his hand went through a window, severing an artery. Twenty-five stitches were necessary to close the wound.

TO CONSERVE FORESTS

Hon. Frank Oliver's Bill Discussed in Commons.

Most Important Feature Is the Setting Aside of the Entire Eastern Slope of the Rockies as a Forest Reserve—Dr. Schaffner Is Doubtful of the Reforestation Part of Scheme—No More Homestead Entries.

Ottawa, May 10.—Consideration of Hon. Frank Oliver's bill respecting forest reserves and parks was proceeded with in the Commons yesterday. The measure covers a complete revision of the present Forest Reserves Act, and its most important feature is that it authorises by statute the setting apart of the entire eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains as a forest reserve. Already there are various reservations within the area, but it is proposed to make the whole eastern slope one reserve. It is also provided that any portion of the area included in the reserve may be placed under additional restrictions, which would provide for it being set apart as a park or a pleasure resort. After the bill goes into effect the acreage of Dominion forest reserves will be 16,760,640 acres, as compared with 3,379,000 acres at the present time.

Dr. Schaffner introduced a short discussion as to the policy to be pursued in regard to the timber on the reserve by saying that he was suspicious of the proposal to destroy part of the timber by lumbering operations and to depend upon it being replaced by a system of reforestration.

Mr. Oliver said the forestry branch of the Department was studying the question in all its bearings, with the object of working out a system which would mean that when a crop of timber is harvested there would shortly after be another to harvest. He pointed out that in the west timber was particularly valuable and cognizance had to be taken of the force of public opinion. In reply to another question by Dr. Schaffner, Mr. Oliver said the policy would probably be to allow the cutting of such timber that had reached a certain stage of maturity. Major Herron urged the necessity of settlers in the vicinity of the reserves being permitted to use the dead timber for fuel and lumber. He also expressed the hope that a large section of the Rocky Mountain Park would be set aside as a game preserve. He asked if any further homestead entries would be allowed within the reserve.

Mr. Oliver replied in the negative. He said that no alienation of surface rights would be permitted, although it was possible that under certain conditions grazing rights might be granted without prejudice. As to these, however, no policy had been outlined.

It took the members over six hours to put the bill through the committee stage. The discussion for the most part was in connection with technical points, but the Opposition made a general complaint that the Minister would have too much power.

Mr. Middleboro moved that in the event of concessions being granted they should be advertised for a period and sold by auction.

The proposal was negatived on a vote of 39 to 17.

Late in the evening the steamship subsidies and subventions were piloted through by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and a number of supplementary estimates were passed.

The Quebec & Ontario Railway bill was talked out by E. A. Lancaster and Dr. Sproule. The objection to the measure is that while by the charter it is proposed to build a line through northern Quebec and northern Ontario, with feeders in New Ontario, there is no stipulation that the main line should be built. It is believed that the company intends to build the feeders only, and as these propose to tap the country through which the T. & O. operates, particularly the Porcupine district, it is agreed that it should have an Ontario charter. The opponents of the bill demand that there be a proviso for the construction of the main line first.

Five Thousand Fishermen Starving.

St. John's, Nfld., May 10.—Yesterday's information from Battle Harbor, Labrador, that the 5,000 inhabitants of the coast are starving was not wholly surprising to people here. It has been known for months that a food shortage threatened the hardy fisher folk, and repeated efforts have been made to carry help to them. Vessels laden with supplies of food and clothing endeavored repeatedly to pierce the ice fields which enclosed the Labrador coast, but were always forced back, some times badly damaged.

It is expected that the relief party organized here will be able soon to make its way to Battle Harbor, as the ice has broken up and is drifting south with the advancing spring.

Presumed Dead.

Vienna, May 10.—The controversy regarding the fate of Archduke John Salvator of Austria, otherwise known as John Orth, was legally settled yesterday. The Supreme Court decided that his death must be presumed to have occurred July 21, 1890.

Archduke John was the younger son of the late Grand Duke Leopold II. of Tuscany. He was born in 1852. He renounced his rank and titles and called himself John Orth. He married Milly Stiebel, an actress, in London, July, 1890, and with his wife sailed on his vessel, Santa Margaretha, for Chile. Since then nothing has been heard of the archduke, and it is believed that the vessel was wrecked in a terrific storm and that al. on board perished.

Annuity for Yukon Judges.

Ottawa, May 10.—Sir Alan Aylesworth has given notice of a resolution setting forth that it is expedient to provide that an annuity equal to their present salary be granted to each of the two judges of the territorial court of the Yukon now holding office, the annuity to be continued during the natural life of the judges.

THE MARKETS.

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Lower—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

CHICAGO, May 9.—Rain northwest, where drought damage had been threatened, was the main cause of a sharp decline here to-day in the price of wheat. Suspicion that the holders of the May option were quietly getting rid of their burden gave an added reason for the down turn. Latest figures were ⅝c to 1⅛c lower than 24 hours before. Other leading staples, too, all closed at a loss. Corn is off ⅛c to ¼c to ⅜c to ⅝c; oats ⅛c to ¼c to ⅛c, and provisions 5c to 10c to 12½c.

The Liverpool market closed to-day ⅛d to ½d lower on wheat, and ½d lower on corn, compared with yesterday. Antwerp closed unchanged on wheat, Berlin ⅜c higher, Budapest 2⅛c lower, and Paris ⅛c to ⅜c lower.

TWO BOYS ARE KILLED

Hamilton Lads Are Run Over by G. T. R. Train.

Harold Tye and Morris Holden, Two English Children About 11 Years of Age, Had Been Gathering Dandelions Along the Track—Lost Their Presence of Mind as Train Approached and Ran on Wrong Track.

Hamilton, May 10.—Instant death overtook Harold Tye and Morris Holden, two English boys, about 11 years of age, when they were run down by G.T.R. passenger train No. 12, about a quarter of a mile west of the Jockey Club, a few minutes before six o'clock yesterday afternoon. The bodies of both boys were terribly mangled, the face of the Tye lad being unrecognizable, with both hands and one leg cut off, while Holden's body was cut in two at the waist. So far as is known, no one except the engineer of the train which killed the boys, saw the accident. The boys had been gathering dandelions along the track and at the approach of the train it is supposed they lost all presence of mind and in their confusion ran in front of the train.

The G. T. R. tracks at the point where the accident occurred, are on a high embankment, but as there are three tracks, the boys could have avoided the fatal accident by staying on one of the other tracks. After striking the boys, the train stopped and the crew telephoned to the railway company's office about the matter. A brakeman was left in charge of the remains and the train proceeded on its way to Buffalo. Dr. H. S. Burns, whose office is nearby, was called, but of course, could do nothing. The bodies were removed to the city margue, where they were viewed by Coroner Hopkins and a jury at nine o'clock. The inquest was adjourned till next Friday. Both boys were sons of carpenters, who have not been long out from England. Ernest Tye, 83 Kensington avenue, is the father of the Tye lad, while Holden's father is John Holden of Rosslyn avenue.

Blown Out to Sea.

Philadelphia, May 10.—Blown over the waters of Delaware Bay and heading rapidly for the Atlantic Ocean, two men and a woman, passenger in the basket of the balloon Philadelphia II., were rescued yesterday by the tug Mary J. Walker and towed up the Delaware River.

The occupants of the basket were Dr. Thomas E. Eldridge, president of the Philadelphia Aeronautical Recreation Society; John Hoggle, president of the Philadelphia Chemical Co., and Mrs. Ada Turner Kurtz, all of this city. With the balloon still 50 feet in the air they were towed to Delaware City, where a landing was finally affected after the passengers had been drenched and nearly drowned when the basket sank beneath the waters of the bay.

Y.M.C.A. Campaign.

Brantford, May 10.—The first day of the three-day Y.M.C.A. building campaign, to raise $100,000, resulted in a total last night of $50,000, included in which are contributions of $10,000 from the Massey Harris Co., $5,000 each from Lloyd Harris, M.P., Frank Cockshutt, and E. L. Cockshutt, $3,000 from Harry Cockshutt, $2,000 from W. F. Cockshutt, and $1,000 each from Grafton & Co., and R. R. Blacker.

PLAYGROUNDS IN EDUCATION NECESSARY FOR DEVELOPMENT

Their Importance in Forming the Character of the Children—Play Wisely Directed as Necessary as Teaching—No Provision Made in Belleville—Better Means Should be Provided for All round Education

To the Editor of The Intelligencer.

Dear Sir,—The importance of play in forming the character of children is coming to be fully recognized by all the more enlightened communities. Play wisely directed is as necessary for the development of the child as teaching in the school. In Belleville this fact seems to be almost wholly disregarded, as little or no provision has been made to supply playgrounds for the young; they are permitted to go their own way, too often the bad way, without help, direction or supervision. The consequence of this neglect is more serious and far reaching than the unthinking have any idea of. The Rev. Mr. Drumm in a sermon lately on "Play and the Child," said "Neither the parents, the municipality, nor the State can afford to treat the child's play as a chance. * * * The playground idea is not the work and cry of faddists, it has come of necessity. To-day the best influence of the school room is being vitiated by the lack of supervision of the child's spare hours. When we realize this in its full importance the better for the children and the nation."

Let us remember that the children of to-day will be the men and women of to-morrow, who are to mould the future destiny of the nation. No country on earth ever had brighter prospects than this Canada of ours for a glorious future, through the vastness of its territory and abounding wealth which nature offers, but these possessions alone will not make us great. It is rather what the people of the land become that will constitute our greatness and our glory. We may accumulate wealth and surround ouselves with luxury, but that of itself will not do. We must become a virile people, sound in body and in mind. It becomes us then to have a soul above buttons, above the mere desire for material gain, and that we seek to provide better means for the all round education of the children of such a character that will develop their whole nature, so that they may become true and noble men and women. A penurious and cheese paring policy in this respect to education defeats itself. It retards the progress of the city, and more than all else, hinders its prosperity. With a more liberal and enlightened course material gain will surely follow, and we shall secure more respect from others who will then point to Belleville as a progressive place. We shall also the better be able to maintain our own self respect. Let us then seek first things first and all other good will inevitably follow. The accompanying lines were clipped from The Journal of Education.

THOS. RITCHIE

A PLEA FOR PLAYGROUNDS.

Plenty of room for dives and dens
(glitter and glare and sin),
Plenty of room for prison pens, (gather the criminals in.)
Plenty of room for jails and courts willing enough to pay:
But never a place for the lads to race
no never a place to play.

Plenty of room for shops and stores
(Mammon must have the best).
Plenty of room for the running sores that rot in the City's breast;
Plenty of room for the lures that lead
the heart of the youth astray;
But never a cent on a play-ground spent, no, never a place to play

Plenty of room for schools and halls
plenty of room for art—
Plenty of room for teas and balls platform, stage and mart;
Proud is the city—she finds a place
for many a fad to-day,
But she's more than blind if she fails to find a place for the boys to play.

Give them a chance for innocent sport
Give them a chance for fun,
Better a play-ground plot than a court and a jail when, the harm is is done.
Give them a chance; if you stint them to-morrow you'll have to pay
A larger bill for darker ill, so give them a place to play.

CHARGE AGAINST MORDEN BASELESS

Judge Acquitted Accused Without Calling on Him For Defence

Messrs. J. J. Warren and W. S. Morden appeared in the County Judge's Criminal Court before his Honor Judge Denton at Toronto, yesterday to answer to the charge of receiving Farmers' Bank notes in pledge. Mr N. W. Rowell, K. C., appeared for Mr. Warren and Mr. L. W. Tilley, K. C., appeared for Mr. Morden. Both men pleaded not guilty.

The result of the trial of both men was the acquittal of Mr. Morden and his discharge and the reserving of judgment by Judge Denton in the case of Mr. Warren.

On Travers' evidence alone Mr. Morden was found not guilty.

Judge Denton did not call upon any defence by Mr. Morden. Speaking of his connection he said:

"He (Morden) found a condition of things when he comes there against which he at once begins to protest. I take this position, that when Morden came there he found a condition of things for which he was in no way responsible, and then he immediately begins to protest. Do you mean to say, Mr. Monahan, that there was a crime in this."

Mr. Monahan took issue on the broadness of the act in that it referred to any person concerned in such transactions.

His Honor could not see where there was any evidence against Morden.

"Morden, I haven't any doubt," said his Honor, "on this evidence that you are entirely innocent of any crime in connection with these transactions. You are discharged."

"With regard to Warren, I think, Mr. Rowell, I will have to call upon you for your defence."

FOURTH QUARTERLY OFFICIAL MEETING

Tabernacle Board Had Pleasant Session—Compliment To Rev Mr. Kenney

The fourth quarterly official meeting of the Tabernacle Church, which concludes the year, and the last board meeting of Rev. Mr. Kenny's pastorate, was held last night and was most satisfactory to all. The following complimentary resolution was unanimously adopted:

"This being the last quarterly official meeting of the Rev. H. B. Kenny's term with us, we desire to place on record our high appreciation of the work done by him, under God, while in charge of the Tabernacle. Not only has he manifested executive ability, but as a preacher and a pastor we realize he is exceptionally strong. This is evidenced by the fact that every interest of the church is in a flourishing condition, the spiritual life is manifestly strong and vigorous, and the expenditure is now within our income, and that after greatly increased annual current expense. The floating debts, notes and recent church improvements, amounting to $8,000, have been reduced to $3,500, which is provided for. We want to thank him for the part he has taken in the accomplishment of all this—a task many considered impossible when he came—and assure him that memory that brings the light of those happy days back to us will not soon fade into forgetfulness. Neither will our prayers cease in asking God to bless his efforts wherever directed."

Mr. Kenny replied at some length and assured the Board of his appreciation of the kindly worded resolution, and the way they had stood by him during his pastorate, which was so soon to close. All things considered, he thought this the most satisfactory pastorate to him that he had had, and he never expected to have a more considerate Board and one more, willing to share with him the prosperity. Rev. Amos Campbell, in the concluding remarks, thought it would be well for the Board to keep Mr. Kenny in mind for another pastorate in the near future.

Members elected to attend the district meeting, held in the Tabernacle, May 18th, were Thos. F. Wills, Chas. Moore and S. E. Haight; alternate, Jas. A. Goodsell.

The Society representatives elected to the Board on Wednesday evening preceding the meeting were Jas. Goodsell, S. E. Haight, Burton Asselstine, B. Bleecker, Chas. Moore, John Mastin and J. N. Miller. These men represent the congregation's interests on the Board and are elected by them.

PUSHING THE WORK ON THE C. N. O. R

What is Being Done Between Belleville and Trenton—The Trent Bridge

Construction work on the Toronto-Ottawa line of the Canadian Northern Railway continues to be pushed vigorously.

A large quantity of steel for the Trent River bridge has arrived at Trenton and the work of erection will be commenced immediately.

Grading from the bridge eastward is being pushed and a large number of men and horses are engaged in the work.

A number of workmen are engaged on the cofferdam which is being built at the eastern end of the cement landing near Victoria Park entrance. Here will be placed a cement and stone abutment. Upon the ground is a large cement mixer and gravel and other material. The work is being rushed forward as rapidly as possble.

It is confidently expected that work upon the bridge proper will be commenced in a few days.

A number of workmen are engaged at a point on the line of construction near Holton's mill, where the grade leading to the approach to the railway bridge will be raised two feet higher for a considerable distance.

People who want to have a good laugh and an enjoyable evening should not miss seeing this great organization. Plan opens to-morrow morning at Doyle's Drug Store. Prices $1.00, 75c., 50c., 25c. 1td

NEW TRAIN SERVICE TO "LAKE OF BAYS."

An important feature that will be inaugurated during the coming season will be a new train service to the "Lake of Bays" district. A standard Grand Trunk passenger train will leave Toronto with through coaches parlor cars and dining car at 10.15 o'clock in the morning, daily except Sunday, for Huntsville, reaching the latter point about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, connecting with steamers for points in the "Lake of Bays" district, and affording passengers the opportunity of reaching their destination in time for dinner.

The Sunday evening boat service from the Wawa Hotel, Britannia Point Ideal, Portage, Deerhurst and other important calling ports on "Lake of Bays," to Huntsville will be run on same schedule as for season 1910, during the months of July and August, and which will be a boon to week-enders desiring to return to the city for business on Mondays. PLEURO-PNEUMONIA AND BRONCHITIS

Brought Mrs. Baker to Death's Door. Father Morriscy's No. 10 Saved Her.

Of the many hundreds of cures wrought by Father Morriscy's No. 10 (Lung Tonic) few are more remarkable than the saving of the life of Mrs. John S. Baker, of 164 Rockland Road (North End), St. John, N.B. She wrote on Oct. 16, 1909:

"I wish to express my gratitude that I am living to-day, saved from the grave by Father Morriscy's No. 10 (Lung Tonic). This time last year I had pleuro-pneumonia and bronchitis, and had been given up to die, and had my lungs tapped in the City Hospital, and never expected to walk again; I was continually getting worse every day. I came home from the hospital, and everyone was watching for me to die. I tried everything but there seemed to be no cure for me.

"I began taking Father Morriscy's No. 10, and the second day I could eat without pain. I used 22 bottles of No. 10, as I was run down right into consumption, and for six months was just a shadow until I began to use it, and now I am in good health, and surprised most of my neighbors by gaining so quickly. I feel it my duty to publish it everywhere I can, as with all I can say I cannot recommend it too highly—it was a life saver to me, and I am very thankful to recommend it, as it is worth all it is said."

Father Morriscy's No. 10 is very different from the many preparations that simply relieve a cough. No. 10 relieves the cause of the cough, restores the membranes of throat and lungs to a healthy condition, and tones up the whole system, giving strength to resist future attacks.

Trial bottle 25c.—regular size 50c. At your dealer's or from Father Morriscy Medicine Co., Ltd., Chatham, N.B. 92

A Female Pitcher.

PHILADELPHIA, May 9.—"Charlie" Dooin will spring something new in major league circles should any of his pitchers go back on him. The little red-topped manager has found a young woman pitcher, who, he declares can hold her own with any of the major league pitching timber. He discovered her in the back lots of Philadelphia's north side, where she was playing ball with her brothers and their friends, and was striking out the boys in Mathewson style.

After much enquiry Dooin discovered that the young woman's name is Corolie Peale and that she resides at No. 1915 North Twenty-third street, with her parents. She has been playing ball for the last five years and has acquired a throwing arm of which any man might be proud.

Miss Peale has all sorts of curves, drops and fadeaways. The only throw she has not mastered is the "spit ball," and she declares she has not tried that, as she does not think it lady-like for a woman to spit.

As a try-out for the young lady, Dooin has arranged for her to pitch a game next Saturday against the strong nine of the Belfield County Club. This nine has defeated most of the amateur teams in this part of the country and could take a fall out of many professional clubs.

Miss Peale is unable to account for her pitching ability.

"I simply stand up, give my arm a little twist, not like a girl, but straight like a man, and then without thinking about it, bing! out comes a curve or a drop, and usually a good one, too."

BOXING.

KILBANE'S AMBITION.

If one can believe what the Cleveland sports are saying these days there will be a new Richmond in the field for the lightweight championship the day after Tommy Kilbane stacks up against Packey McFarland before the Buffalo Athletic Association, at the Washington Street club house next Friday night.

SULLIVAN BEAT ROSS.

Jack Twin Sullivan, aspirant for middleweight championship honors, boasted rather plentifully about what he was going to do to Tony Ross, the big Italian of Newcastle, Pa., when they met. The only excuse possible for the boast Mr. Sullivan found at Buffalo on Monday night when, before a packed house at the International A. C., he put it all over Ross and won the decision by a wide margin.

And Tony Ross looked formidable when he climbed into the ring. He had thirty pounds on Jack, not to mention that a covering of black hair all over his body made him look more like a grizzly bear than ever. He is built like a Roman gladiator and when Jack got through jabbing him in the nose that night he looked like one of the Romans who had been through the Punic wars. Ross has strength and that is all. He has no idea of footwork; can't put his weight behind a blow and, worst of all, he loses his head just because he gets a punch on the nose.

Picture Machine Exploded

Operator Narrowly Escaped Being Blinded.

While taking flashlight pictures in the Simpson House, Lindsay, W. E. McIntosh, of 48 Humbert St., Toronto and formerly chief at the Benson House, Lindsay, had his face and head badly burned by a machine exploded. He was taken to the Ross Hospital and received treatment, but it remained for Zam-Buk to heal the terrible burns.

Speaking of the affair Mr. McIntosh says:—"At the hospital I was kept masked night and day for five days. At the end of that time the burns were still very bad and the doctors would not hear of my returning to work. I knew if I could get some Zam-Buk for the burns I would be back at work in quick time.

"At last I left the hospital and went straight to a local store and bought some Zam-Buk. At the hotel I applied a Zam-Buk dressing, and this cooled the burning pains and gave me quick relief. I kept on with the Zam-Buk treatment and returned to work. Within just one week after first commencing with the Zam-Buk treatment the burns were completely healed and I might have defied anybody to detect where they had been."

Upon hearing of the above facts the Zam-Buk Co. communicated with Mr A. Gillies, the proprietor of the Lindsay "Watchman-Warder" and asked for corroboration. Mr. Gillies replied that the facts were as stated, and enclosed a report from the newspaper which had chronicled the occurrence.

There is no doubt that for burns scalds, cuts, scratches and abrasions however serious, Zam-Buk is the finest known remedy. It is also a sure cure for piles, ulcers, abscesses, scalp sores, children's rashes and eruption sore feet, chafings, insect stings, inflamed wounds, festering and skin diseases generally. Zam-Buk Soap should be used in conjunction with the balm for washing wounds and sore places. All druggists and stores sell Zam-Buk, 50c. box, and Zam-Buk Soap at 25c. per tablet, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price

MURDERS WIFE AND TWO CHILDREN ; KILLS HIMSELF

Awful Tragedy In Michigan —Jealous Husband Collects Family in Bunch, Shoots All—Goes to School for Son—"Oh, God, Forgive Me," Says Note Slayer Left on Gate Post

CADILLAC, Mich., May 9.—Casey Van Lieren, 31, farmer, two miles west of Luther, Lake County, murdered his wife, his 12-year-old son, Lloyd ,and 5-year-old daughter, Thelma, this morning and a few minutes later took his own life.

Hard drinking and jealousy of his wife were the cause of the deed.

The couple had been separated five weeks.

Van Lieren, at 10 a.m. drove to the Luther school, where his boy was at his studies. He drove then, with his son to the farm of Ruby Jubling, a half mile distant from his own home, where his wife and little girl had been staying a few days.

Mrs. Van Lieren and the little girl walked down to the front gate to meet the father and son. Two minutes of spirited talking was indulged in by husband and wife when Van Lieren raised a rifle he was carrying and instantly shot his wife through the head. A moment later he fired a second shot through her heart.

The wife had but time to exclaim "Oh," when she fell dead at her husband's feet. Van Lieren then shot his boy through the head and the girl through the head.

Both died instantly.

The man yelled to Mr. and Mrs. Jubling to come out. He had something to tell them, but they kept under cover.

"I won't hurt you, Anna; I want to tell you something," he yelled to Mrs. Jubling, but she would not approach him.

Van Lieren mounted a stump to see if officers were coming, then he jumped down, and while in a crouching position placed the rifle muzzle against his temple and pulled the trigger.

When raised from the ground two minutes later he was found dead.

On the gate post a note was found which read: "God forgive me for [illegible] my—my property is to go to brother Ed; please bury us all in one grave." —Casey.

For three weeks Mrs. Van Lieren had been working in a hotel at Luther, where the husband claimed she had a lover.

Her friend give her a good name and declare the husband's suspicions were unfounded.

Fred Bates of Tustin, father of Mrs. Van Lieren, has been summoned to take charge of the bodies.

AGAINST RECIPROCITY

Bitter Attacks Are Made on the Measure in U. S. Senate.

Former Governor John Strange of Wisconsin Says It Was Brought Forth at the Demand of the Newspaper Trust — Farmers, Fishermen and Manufacturers Appear Before Committee to Protest Against It.

Washington, May 11.—Vicious assaults on the Canadian reciprocity bill marked yesterday's hearing on that measure by the Senate finance committee. Farmers from the border states, fishermen from Gloucester, Mass., manufacturers of wire cloth for papermaking, and manufacturers of book, wrapping and news print paper all poured forth hottest against the bill.

Probably the greatest outburst occurred when former Governor John Strange of Wisconsin introduced, as representing wrapping paper manufacturers and the Boards of Trade of Neenah and Menasha, Wis., addressed the committee. He swerved from criticism of the bill to attack the American Publishers' Association and its related organization, the Associated Press, until finally Senator Penrose asked him to limit his remarks to his specific objection to the bill.

Mr. Strange characterized the bill as a "cowardly" measure and as lacking love of country, and brought forth at the demand of "the greatest trust in the world."

He said that Congress would not be in session yesterday considering the bill "if it had not been for this combination in restraint of trade."

"When a man who occupies an exalted position listened to such demands for fear of failure of re-election, rather than to the welfare of his nation, it is time to stop," he exclaimed. "Why should the Secretary of State be influenced to become an auxiliary to the purchasing department of the newspaper trust of the country?" he asked.

"To what trust do you refer?" enquired Senator Stone.

"The newspaper trust, the most vicious in the world," responded the witness.

"Well, you manufacturers have an association?" suggested Mr. Stone.

"It is only social, like the lawyers," responded Mr. Strange. "It is not to control prices, but is for the purpose of defence."

The witness contended that the "purpose of the alleged newspaper trust was to monopolize news through the Incorporated Associated Press."

Judge Charles P. Moore of New York, for the book manufacturers, characterized the measure as "a sterilized variety of reciprocity that really does not reciprocate."

J. T. Carey, president of the International Brotherhood of Paper Workers, and Barnard Bensen of Kalamazoo, Mich., opposed the bill on behalf of paper mill workers.

Guy Cunningham and Thomas J. Carroll of Gloucester, Mass., filed a brief in opposition to the bill on behalf of the fish industry.

Frank W. Cabel of New York, on behalf of the wire cloth manufacturers, told the committee that they would be seriously injured by their patrons, the American paper manufacturers, losing trade.

To test the freshness of eggs drop them slowly into a bowl of water, and if the small ends come up they are fresh.

HEART, SOUL AND BODY SOLD FOR $7

CHICAGO, Ill., May 10.—As the final act of his life, Charles Kittrick, of Lima, O., who is dying of locomotor ataxia, has sold his "heart, soul and body" to seven nurses at the National Emergency Hospital for $7.

The moment the contract was signed, he became the property of the nurses just as completely as if he had been a bargain counter purchase.

The pitifully little bit of money was sent to-day in a note to his wife and daughter in Lima. The note informs them that the father, shorn of his health and strength, had sold his only remaining asset, a disease-ridden body, to make his final contribution to their support.

Charity prompted the nurses to buy the body. It will be buried.

CHICAGO'S TOTAL OF MAFIA CRIMES, 41

CHICAGO, Ill., May 10.—An unidentified Italian was stabbed to death in an alley at the rear of 607 Miller Street at midnight and the men who killed him escaped. They are believed to be members of the Chicago Mafia, which has terrorized residents of the South and West Side Italian colonies for 15 months.

The unidentified is the forty-first victim of the Black Hand since January 1, 1910. He was stabbed six times.

Joe Paccifice was arrested this morning and is being held pending an investigation of the crime.

GLOWING PICTURE BY A RAILWAY MAGNATE

OTTAWA, May 9.—Interviewed here to-day, Sir Donald Mann, vice-president of the Canadian Northern, drew a dazzling picture of great benefits to every corner of Canada as the result of the third transcontinental line made possible by the action of the Government, announced yesterday, guaranteeing the bonds of the Canadian Northern from Port Arthur to Montreal. Sir Donald said it meant new subsidiary lines to various parts of old and new Ontario and Manitoba, with railway facilities where at present there are none, and beneficial competition where there were railways already. Better transportation facilities would mean better business for farmers and manufacturers, especially in the older parts of Ontario and Manitoba.

HELD A PRISONER BY LOUIS RIEL

Mr. A. W. Graham, St Thomas, Compensated by the Government

ST. THOMAS, May 9.—Adam W. Graham, Margaret Street, is to-day receiving congratulations because of the following item which appeared in the estimates brought down by Hon. Mr. Fielding in the House of Commons on Monday: "Compensation for A. W. Graham of St. Thomas for loss of Property at Fort Garry in 1870. $562."

In the troublous times in the Canadian west in 1871 Mr. Graham and a number of others were captured by the rebel, Louis Riel, and imprisoned for ten weeks at old Fort Garry. About three years ago Mr. Graham started a movement to secure compensation for the losses incurred while a prisoner at Fort Garry, including loss of clothing, ten weeks' time and travelling expenses. Although it is over forty years since that loss was incurred, Mr. Graham received no interest, the amount representing his actual loss at the time. However, Mr. Graham is well satisfied to get back even that. At the same time a brother of Mr. Graham received compensation of a like amount, having also been a prisoner at Fort Garry. Mr Graham was able to have the amount laced in the estimates through the efforts of Mr. Donald MacNish.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

The Toronto Rowing Club Minstrels who will appear at Griffin's Opera House to-morrow night is the biggest and best minstrel show on the road to-day. The company numbers sixty, which includes an orchestra, a magnificent chorus, ten end men, a splendid olio for the second part, including dancing, comical sketches, the Dixie Quartette, which has no equal in Canada to-day, a fancy song and dance by 6 ladies and 6 men, and concludes with a laughable plantation scene, introducing buck and wing dancers, singing and funny jokes. A street parade with band will take place at 6 p. m. Plan opened to-day at Doyle's Drug Store. Roars of laughter all through the performance. Don't miss it. Everywhere we have shown west have had packed houses.

FRENCH VILLAGE HAS ITS CRIPPEN CASE

Body of Woman Strangled by Ex-Convict and Buried In Scullery—Is Found by Workmen

PARIS, May 10.—A man named Victor Gaubert has been arrested in the village of La Penne, near Marseilles, for murdering his wife under circumstances curiously like those of the Crippen case.

Victor Gaubert was an engineer in the French fleet. But he struck his superior officer, and was sentenced to 20 years' hard labor. He served nine years, and was then set at liberty for good conduct.

Some years ago Gaubert and his wife Eliza came to live in the Villa Rosita at La Penne. On October 10th last year Eliza disappeared. Her husband told the neighbors that she had gone to Mauritius to visit her family. He expressed grief at her desertion of him, saying that she had gone without his permission, and that he believed she was in love with another man.

Soon afterward's Gaubert announced his wife's death, and after some months he married a girl named Antonia Sidolles at Le Penne. The two lived at Villa Rosita until three days ago, when Gaubert's lease expired and the landlord took possessiin of the house.

Some necessary repairs had to be made, and in making them the workmen noticed that the tiles of the flooring of the scullery had been taken up and put down again unevenly. They took them up again, saw that the earth beneath showed signs of disturbance, and a little way down found the body of Eliza Gaubert.

The body was left where it was, and the workmen informed the police, who took possession of the house. Later on the body was subjected to medical examination, as a result of which the doctors declare the woman was strangled.

Yesterday morning Gaubert was asked by the landlord to come to see him at the Villa Rosita. When he arrived there he was arrested and taken into the scullery. At the sight of his wife's body he burst into tears and confessed that he had buried her, declaring however, that he had not killed her.

His story is an extraordinary one and curiously like a portion of that told by Crippen. He said:

"My wfie was a very hot-tempered woman. She was frantically jealous of Antonia, whom I have since married.

"On October 16 last we had a bitter quarrel about her. She lifted a knife up, threatening me with it, when suddenly it fell from her hand and struck her. She uttered a loud cry and dropedped to the ground dead.

"I was terribly frightened, I felt sure that I would be accused of murdering her. I therefore buried her."

Aviator Injured.

Issy Les Moulineux, France, May 9.—While taking an early morning flight yesterday Aviator See collided with a telegraph pole erected on the top of a residence. He fell to the roof and was seriously injured.

Weekly Intelligencer.

CURRENT COMMENT

Another aviator has been killed. "What goes up must come down."

Some of the modern schemes of church advertising would certainly astonish the Apostles. And yet some of them are admirable.

Another step toward the promised parliamentary government in China has been taken by proclaiming a constitutional cabinet in place of the old grand council.

The digging up of the murdered Shakespeare's head, and the manuscript of all his plays, written of course by Bacon, is a scheme financed by an English duke on a venture that is such stuff as dreams are made of.

A British Board of Trade return shows that the population of the United Kingdom has proctically doubled since 1831. The death rate, which was 21.5 per cent per 1,000 in 1871, fell to 13.9 per cent last year. In the same period the birth rate fell from 38.5 to 24.7 per cent.

Boys, spare the birds and their nests excepting the English sparrow and the purple Greckel, popularly known as the crow blackbird. This latter is a pirate, which destroys many insectivorous birds. Its favorite meal is the eyes of the young of other birds, which it picks out and leaves the tiny nestlings to die.

The Toronto News, in discussing the supplementary estimates, remarks.—"Mr. Pugsley, perhaps as bold a corruptionist as ever sat in a Canadian Cabinet, will have a huge fund for dsitribution in New Brunswick. It may be that many of the works for which Mr. Pugsley asks are needed. Appropriations of money for public improvements are not necessarily evidence of waste or corruption. But unfortunately we cannot expect thrifty expenditure of public money by Mr Pugsley. His chief object is to feed fat the favorites of the party and to strengthen his own political ascendency."

The big steamboat merger, involving the R. & O., Northern and Inland Navigation Companies, has been completed. All that is necessary now is the authorization from the Government to increase the R. & O. capital to $10,000,000. The executive will be in Montreal with divisional points at Toronto, Sarnia, and perhaps another western point. It is probable that the management of the combined companies will fall on R. & O. officials, although several changes may be made. Acording to a director, the Furness people receive 125 for their holdings in the Northern Navigation or the figure at which they acquired control.

STATIONERY

NOTHING DENOTES REFINEment, good taste, more than good stationery, and nothing denotes good stationery more than this mark of quality: "UNITED STATIONERY COMPANY." We have waited a long time to find a line of stationery that is exclusive in appearance and texture, and we have at last found one that possesses that something that marks it as a little different, a little better than anything else we have yet seen.

To introduce these goods we offer on Friday and Saturday of this week a few lines at the following prices:

Cascade Linen, 48 Sheets, 25c
Scotch Fabric, 35c value, 25c
Stratford Linen, 25c value, 17c
Victoria Fabric—a highly decorated box containing 60 sheets, . . . 39c

This must be seen to be appreciated.

ANNEXATION RATHER THAN RECIPROCITY

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 10.—Annexation of Canada instead of reciprocity was advocated to-day by George S. Ladd, of the Massachusetts State Grange, at the Senate Finance Committee hearing on the Canadian reciprocity bill. Mr. Ladd argued against any trade agreement, declaring if one were made it should be by annexation, so Canada might share the burdens of the United States as well as enjoy its benefits.

A number of representatives of the farmers were heard in opposition.

SINS OF THE ...CITY...

It was while she was thus engaged one day that the footman informed her that a man of the name of Hunter wished to see her.

"I expected him, show him into the library. I will be down directly," she said; and taking the broken portions of the sleeve-link, she shortly afterwards descended the stairs.

"Good morning, Hunter," she said on entering the room. "I sent for you to show you these, found among Mr. Vipan's papers. Have you ever seen them before?" handing him the pieces

"Never, miss. They're not my master's—poor Mr. Vipan's, I should say" replied the man having carefully examined them. "He wouldn't wear anything like this!"

"I thought not. Do you know if the police saw them?"

"I don't fancy so. I heard nothing if they did, and they took away everything they fancied might be of any use to them. Those are of foreign make, I should say, and very common at that."

"You knew most of the jewellery in Mr. Vipan's possession?"

"All of it, miss. I don't think he had a thing I didn' know. You see he had not much—he didn't care for it. But what he had was of the best."

"Very well, but don't mention this matter to anyone."

"No, miss, I won't."

"And have you got a fresh situation?"

"Not at present, miss."

"If you should require any reference, be sure and apply to me. I think I should be sufficient."

"I'm sure I'm very much abliged to you, miss. It has been a terrible time to me, for never did a servant have a kinder or better master than him who's gone."

"I'm sure of that Hunter, and I want you to accept this as if it were from him. He always spoke so highly of you." And Pauline handed him an envelope, which, on opening afterward he discovered contained a note for £50.

"Thank you very much, miss, but nothing will ever make me forget him."

"I know it, Hunter. Leave me your address in case I should wish to communicate with you."

After a little further conversation the valet left, and as Pauline crossed the hall she stopped and was about to enter the dining-room, when a footman said,—

"His Lordship is in there with a gentleman, miss."

"Do you know who it is, William?"

"A Mr. Guelfo, miss. I have never seen him before."

"Guelfo! Surely he won't get hold of father?" gasped Pauline as she turned away and quietly ascended the stairs.

CHAPTER V.

Describes a Curious 'Deal.'

Guiseppe Guelfo sat busily engaged in his palatial offices in the Rue Scribe of Paris.

It was early in the day and the mass of letters by the morning's delivery lay before him unopened. Three of his chief clerks sat on the farther side of the table, waiting wtih their notebooks. As he opened a letter he glanced quickly over the contents and tossed it to one or the other of them, at the same time hurriedly giving instructions as to the answer to be sent or the proceedings to be taken with reference to it.

Occasionally he would lay a letter aside which he deemed worthy of his special attention. There was method in all he did, otherwise he would never have been able to cope with the enormous mass of business which came to him, nor would he have been the magnate in the world of gold he was at that moment.

At length the pile of letters disappeared, or was subdivided into four heaps, three with the clerks and one on his right hand, while two of the men arose and remained standing waiting for any further instructions he might have for them.

"You can go," he said shortly, and then turning to the remaining clerk he conversed rapidly with him in fluent French on some dealings in South African mines, mentioning sums which would have staggered any ordinary individual bent on making something out of Bulls or Bears. At length he added,—

"I think that is all for the present, Jules. You know how to act, so don't trouble me any further about it."

"The directions of M'sieur are quite clear."

"Anybody waiting."

Guelfo pressed the electric button let into the right-hand arm of the chair, so placed that his hand rested in a perfetly natural manner upon it and he could manipulate it without anyone being aware of what he was doing. Three times he pressed it. The first time sharply, then holding it down for a few seonds, and the third time again sharply, and waited. Almost immediately the reply came in the form of eleven distinct strokes on a bell.

"Humph! quite a crowd of them today, Jules. Go and weed them out and only send in those who look like money."

"Oui' M'sieur," said the man, bowing and departing as Guelfo, without losing time, commenced re-reading the letters beside him.

In a few minutes there came a knock at the door, and in answer to his "Entrez" there entered a rich Paris merchant.

A GLIMPSE AT BRITISH SEA POWER

The coronation review in the Solent on the coming 24th of June will furnish a mighty object lesson of the progress in naval construction during the last ten years since Edward VII. greeted on a similar occasion a fleet assembled in the same waters. It is expected that at least three hundred effective war ships will be anchored next month, in six lines between Southsea and Ryde, and of these one will consist of visiting foreign vessels—our Delaware among them.

The amazing British muster will probably be made up of the armored ships and cruiser squadrons of the home and the Atlantic fleets, with the flotillas of destroyers and submarines attached to them or those based on various home ports. As may be expected, that keen sailor, George V., has an especial interest in this peaceful concentration, and among other things has already indicated his desire that no obsolete ships be assigned places in the lines.

With the exception of William IV. His Majesty is the only trained seaman that has reigned since the accession of the Hanoverians. His love for the service has never wavered, and to-day the king is as eager for all that concerns the navy's well being as when with exemplary subordination, aptitude and skill he took up his earliest duties at sea.—New York Herald.

MAGISTRATE MASSON DEALT WITH DRUNKS

Robert Burns, a stranger, who appeared before the Magistrate yesterday on a charge of drunkenness and was allowed his liberty, was arrested again last evening for a similar offence. This time he gave his name as George Mackie. When brought before the Magistrate this morning he made an effectual appeal for his liberty, and was given half an hour to leave the city, which he promised to do.

John Murphy was arrested last evening on the charge of vagrancy. As John desired to leave for Frankford, where he alleges he had work, he was given an opportunity to go there.

Dear Mother:—

I am having the time of my life, sight-seeing and tramping from morning until night. That pair of Relindo Shoes you gave me I think are "stunning," as I have not had a backache since I put them on. The cushion in the heel seems to overcome all the jar in walking, and those terrible headaches I suffered from have entirely disappeared. It is such a treat to have one's feet comfortable and you ought to have a pair yourself; they are just the thing for your nerves. Will write you about my trip later, as I have just time to catch this mail.

Your loving daughter,
MARION.

MAN'S GREATEST ASSET

is physical strength and bodily health. The bread winner cannot afford to give out.

It is a vital necessity that he keep his nervous and muscular system in good condition to withstand the daily wear and tear of life.

Those who are run-down, weakened, or nervous should remember that nothing excels Vinol, which is a combination of the medicinal elements of the cod's liver and tonic iron, to strengthen the digestive organs, create an appetite, make new blood and restore strength.

Prof. James Mitchell of Jasper, Ont., says his system was run-down to a critical point from over work. A friend told him to take Vinol. He did so and is now enjoying perfect health and he considers Vinol a wonderful tonic. (We guarantee this testimonial to be genuine.)

We ask every run-down, overworked weak person in this vicinity to try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that their money will be refunded if it does not do all we claim. J. S. McKeown.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

The Canadian Northern Railway has purchased the Jesuit College property on Bleury street, Montreal, for a terminal.

Mr. J. J. Warren was acquitted by Judge Denton of a charge arising out of the suspension of the Farmers' Bank of Canada.

Mr. Leslie McMann, a leading Conservative of Thorold, who is a strong supporter of reciprocity, offers to run against Mr. W. M. German in Welland on that issue.

The late R. Vashon Rodgers of Kingston made provisions in his will that his handsome residence on Barrie street should be given to Queen's University as a home for professors.

Eight bodies have been recovered from the ruins of the Empire Music Hall, Edinburgh, which was burned Tuesday night. Among the bodies is that of "Lafayette the Great," the famous illusionist.

Alonzo Player of Mount Bridges, an employe of the C.P.R., was struck by a freight train while walking along the tracks in London yesterday. His skull was fractured and he died of his injuries two hours later.

During the debate on steamship subsidies in the Commons Sir Wilfrid Laurier made the interesting statement that he hoped soon to have the Atlantic fast steamship service from 18 1-2 knots an hour to 21 knots.

The season of heat prostration began in New York yesterday when Jerry Watzell, a tinsmith, was overcome while at work on a steamship and was removed to a hospital. The temperature at 3 p.m. was 83 degrees.

His Eminence Cardinal Gibbons celebrated his ordination to the priesthood and the silver jubilee of his elevation to the cardinalate at Baltimore yesterday. A coat of arms carved in basswood, and set in gold frame, was presented to the cardinal.

Suddenly drawing a revolver and firing, first at Magistrate Sheppard and then at Chief of Police Fisk, a prisoner named Wybrow made a dash for liberty from the Police Court at High River, Alta., yesterday. The shots were ineffective and Wybrow was caught.

Wooden or Cement Poles

In view of the interest attached to street lighting since the advent of hydro-electricity, the experience of Toronto in pole construction for street lamps is worth knowing. One of the papers published in that city, in a few short paragraphs, states what Toronto is doing in making provision for the distribution of its street lights. It says:

When wooden poles are erected on a street, these will be used for hanging the hydro lanterns. Cement poles will carry the lanterns on the opposite side. These poles have proven a thorough success. Wooden poles would have cost about five dollars apiece. The cement article, which is more sightly, and which hardens rather than depreciates with age, costs less than that. These have been subject to the most severe tests, and have decidedly made good. They show a surprising elasticity, a twenty-four foot pole, with twenty feet above ground, bending sometimes as much as two feet at the top when put under strain, without injury to the pole.

At the Strachan Avenue station the city has a yard where it manufactures its own cement poles. At times as many as 1,000 poles will be lying in the yard. These are manufactured at the rate of 150 per day. They lie three days in the mould, and are left lying in the sun to further harden for three or four days more.

Canting Humbug

The Toronto Star, which is one of the most insensate and rabid advocates of the reciprocity project, concludes an editorial article in its issue of the 9th inst. as follows:

> The sober second thought of the people will approve of an agreement which means a reduction of taxes and the opening of a market of 92,000,000 people to the farm products of Canada. All that is necessary is that the arrangement be clearly explained and dispassionately examined. In this way profitable use can be made of the Parliamentary recess.

The "sober second thought of the people," has convinced them that the market which will be opened by reciprocity is not that of the 92,000,000 people to the south of us to Canadian farmers, but the opening of the Canadian market of 8,000,000 to the farmers of the United States. Comparison of the market prices in the two countries, as to which The Star cannot possibly be uninformed, proves our statement and disproves that of The Star, which, however, continues to publish that which has been proved to be incorrect.

Lest, however, The Star refuse to believe the evidence of the market reports from both sides of the line, we will quote a witness, the accuracy of whose testimony it will not call in question, namely President Taft, whose latest utterance on the subject was:

> IF WE TAKE DOWN THAT WALL, WE SHALL BENEFIT BY IT, FOR WE SHALL SELL MORE AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS TO CANADA THAN SHE WILL SELL TO US. WE DO NOW AND WE SHALL SELL HER EVEN MORE AFTER THE TREATY GOES INTO EFFECT.
>
> "That is my judgment. I am not arguing—I am merely stating my conclusions. IF I DID NOT BELLEIVE THIS I SHOULD NOT HAVE TAKEN THE RESPONSIBILITY OF DOING WHAT I HAVE DONE TO PUT THIS RECIPROCITY TREATY THROUGH. I am willing to abide the judgment of history—the judgment, that will come after the event. When you gentlemen come to see the result, I believe that you as fair-minded men will admit that you have been wrong in your fears and that I have been right."

Of what value are such unsupported assertions as those of The Star in face of such an authoritative declaration from the President of the United States?

And that is not all the disadvantage to which the Ontario farmers would be put, for reciprocity will open our markets not only to the United States, but to the whole British Empire and to the other twelve countries with which we have "most favored nation" treaties.

Truly, reciprocity would be a great boon to the farmers—those of other countries, that is.

Editorial Notes

'TIS COMING.

The coming election casts its shadow before in the form of a tremendous lot of supplementary estimates for all sorts of goodies for many constituencies, particularly in the Maritime Provinces. The Liberal-Conservatives are ready and eager for the fray.

* * * *

A NOTABLE CONVERT.

President Taft's open avowal of his desire, by means of reciprocity between his country and Canada, to prevent inter-Imperial trade preference, has had one notably good effect, namely the conversion of the Ottawa Journel from support of the pact to decided opposition to that project. The Journal is a very able and influential newspaper, and its assistance to the Opposition at Ottawa will be of much consequence.

* * * *

STRETCHING A POINT.

Brockville, it is reported, is to have free postal delivery, although the town is not entitled to it. The reason, no doubt, is that the Hon. G. P. Graham, Minister of Railways, is the representative in the Commons of this constituency. Mr. Graham's hold on the riding is none too strong, and there is no doubt that a point is being stretched by the powers that be to aid him in the forthcoming election.

* * * *

A "BUTTER-IN."

The Rev. editor of The Globe went to Mexico to preach peace and almost immediately afterwards civil war broke out. The same gentleman went to Washington to, among other matters, boost reciprocity, and confusion worse confounded ensued. It might be well to remind the Rev. publicist that, twenty years ago, another editor of The Globe got his fingers burned for not minding his own business. The Rev. James (not John) A. Macdonald is trying to make too much of himself for his own or his country's good.

WHAT I WENT THROUGH

Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Natick, Mass.—"I cannot express what I went through during the change of life before I tried Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I was in such a nervous condition I could not keep still. My limbs were cold, I had creepy sensations, and I could not sleep nights. I was finally told by two physicians that I also had a tumor. I read one day of the wonderful cures made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and decided to try it, and it has made me a well woman. My neighbors and friends declare it had worked a miracle for me. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is worth its weight in gold for women during this period of life. If it will help others you may publish my letter."—Mrs. NATHAN B. GREATON, 51 N. Main Street, Natick, Mass.

The Change of Life is the most critical period of a woman's existence. Women everywhere should remember that there is no other remedy known to medicine that will so successfully carry women through this trying period as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you would like special advice about your case write a confidential letter to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

PROF. WORKMAN'S VIEWS.

Montreal Theologian Gives Opinions on Methodist Belief In Court.

Montreal, May 11.—Yesterday afternoon's session in the case of libel brought by Prof. Workman against the Wesleyan Theological College was converted into a series of disquisitions on the Methodist belief. Dr. Workman was at first reluctant to state his views, but on Mr. Justice Weir pointing out that it was essential that he should declare himself on the various subjects touched upon in the allegations brought against him, he consented to reply to the questioning. No admission, however, could be secured from him that the views were at variance with the standards of Methodism.

Cross-questioned as to his creed, he maintained that the virgin birth was not a cardinal doctrine of Methodism and that he could not express an opinion on the matter. It is a question yet to be settled, he said.

He said on the doctrine of the atonement that the sacrifice of Calvary was not a propitiation or expiatory act.

He also said that he was not inclined to regard the portion of Scripture telling of Christ partaking of bread and fish after the resurrection as an allegory.

On the subject of original sin witness declared that children were born in innocence.

Asked whether the standards of Methodism permitted one to doubt whether Christ was God or not, Dr. Workman gave an affirmative answer.

Filling the Sacks

with Robin Hood Flour is done without shoveling or handling of any kind. The flour comes from a dust-proof room through a perfectly clean shute without the touch of a hand. That means perfect cleanliness as well as fine flour. Order a sack of Robin Hood as a trial. See how absolutely free from dirt, etc., it is when you put it through the sifter. That will tell.

RESCUED ON BRINK.

Insane Woman Saved at Falls, But Dies of Shock.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., May 11.—Mrs. Elizabeth Hartley, an inmate of the Buffalo State Hospital for Insane, is dying at the Memorial Hospital from shock as the result of being rescued from death over the falls late yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Hartley, who was not considered a dangerous patient at the Buffalo Asylum and was allowed entire freedom, came to this city to seek employment. She wandered through the reservation viewing the falls. After thinking the matter over she thought it would be "nice to die in that beautiful water," she said, and waded into the rapids a short distance above the cataract.

Park Policeman Harrington was nearby when the woman entered the water, rushed to the river bank, where pike poles are always in readiness for just such emergencies. Out into the rapids the woman waded until she lost her footing. Then she was swept down stream. She was within fifteen feet of the cataract when Harrington fastened the pike pole into her clothing and hauled her ashore. The woman was then in a semi-conscious condition, and she was rushed to the hospital.

This is only the second time in the history of the falls that a brink rescue has been recorded. The former one was the rescue of Amos Schweitzer of Toronto, who was saved after nearly an hour's fighting.

One Cut Off, One Restored.

Kingston, May 11.—The board of license commissioners have cut off one tavern license, that of Copper Lennox of the Jubilee Hotel, and a license was granted to James Norris of the Ottawa Hotel. This license was cut off by the board a year ago.

Missing Student Found.

Kingston, May 11.—W. Agassiz, the student reported missing from Yale, turned up in New York. Prof. J. C. Gwillim, his uncle, received a letter in which he stated he was well and taking a few holidays.

LATE TELEGRAPHIC NEWS

ADJOURNMENT VERIFIED

Sir Wilfrid Makes Long Delayed Statement in Commons.

He Says the House Will Rise Temporarily on May 23 and Resume Its Session on July 18—Unwilling to Leave Delicate Situation to His Colleagues — Immediate Expenses Will Have to Be Voted at Once.

Ottawa, May 11.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier announced in the Commons yesterday that Parliament would adjourn from May 23 to July 18. The fact that he had decided upon these dates after consultation with the leader of the Oppostion was stated last week.

The Premier said that ten days ago the leader of the Opposition had drawn the attention of the House to the approaching Imperial Conference and the coronation of the King, and had alluded to certain rumors that he (the Premier) might not go to England for these events. Accordingly Mr. Borden had made three suggestions regarding the course which might be pursued in order to make possible the attendance of the Premier. The first of these was that the House should continue sitting, second, that Parliament should prorogue after completing its business, and third, that there should be an adjournment, the House previously voting sufficient supply to carry over the period of adjournment.

With regard to the second suggestion the Premier said it would be convenient to have the House prorogue with no part of the work undone; however, there still remained work to do.

As to the first suggestion there were two or three precedents. In 1894 Sir John Thompson, while Premier, went to Paris to take part in the negotiations regarding pleagic sealing; in 1897 Sir Wilfrid Laurier himself had gone to England to attend the celebration of the jubilee of Queen Victoria; and again in 1897 he had left the House in session to attend the Imperial Conference.

In each of these cases, said Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the business of the House was practically at an end. This year he had felt somewhat uneasy to leave such a heavy burden on his colleagues; however they had undertaken to take care of the work, and he had, therefore, consented to absent himself, leaving the work to be done in their hands.

With regard to Mr. Borden's third suggestion he agreed that there should be an adjournment in order to allow members to attend the coronation.

The question then arose at what time the House might adjourn. He had thought it might sit until the end of May, but it had been represented to him that there were two holidays during the last week of May, Victoria Day and Ascension Day, so on the whole he considered that it would be well to adjourn on May 23, and meet again on July 18. Meanwhile the House would go on with the session, and try to advance legislation as far as possible until May 23.

There remained the question of supply, said the Premier. After consultation with members on the other side of the House, it had been agreed that money should be voted to carry on until Sept. 1. Some supplies would have to be voted entire, such as the expenses of the coronation contingent, the festival of the Empire, and the annuities to Indians, which are under treaty obligation.

There was an animated discussion over Mr. Paterson's bill providing that clerks three years in the outside customs service could be transferred to the inside service. The Opposition thought that this provision would discriminate against men long in the service, especially if their politics did not suit the Government. There was also a discussion of the salaries of collectors of customs in large cities. Mr. Paterson said the Montreal collectors got $4,500 a year, and that Toronto would soon be advanced to that figure.

Mr. Crosby complained that the Halifax collector got but $1,500 a year, the same figure that was paid at Confederation.

The steamship subsidies were also discussed. The Opposition criticized the vote for the Australian and New Zealand subsidy, on the ground that there was more business from those points to Canada than from Canada there. Sir Wilfrid said he defended the subsidy on patriotic and imperial grounds.

Mr. Lewis introduced a bill to amend the criminal code by the insertion of various provisions designed to impose various penalties for certain offences, which, in the opinion of the member, ought to be brought within the scope of the criminal laws of the Dominion.

They were: That a bank director is guilty of an offence, who makes a false statement as to a bank's affairs, whether he knows it to be false or not; that a bank official is guilty of an offence who accepts a loan from a bank or a bank director; that a director of a bank or other corporation is guilty of an offence if he assists in what is commonly described as a stock-watering questions that a director who makes a loan on the stock of a mining company not listed; is guilty of an offence, punishable by imprisonment for a period not exceeding five years; that in future it will be an offence against the laws for banks to compel clerks to work more than eight hours a day with one hour for luncheon, except in the case of tellers, on the day when the monthly returns are made up.

In commenting on his last proposal Mr. Lewis said that as the banks grew more prosperous they became more miserly, and that there were hundreds of young men being worked to death through the Dominion, for salaries ranging from $300 to $400 per annum.

WILL NOT RESIGN.

Chairman Levee of Toronto Clings to His Job.

Toronto, May 11.—Although sharply criticized in Judge Winchester's report, Chairman Levee of the Board of Education refuses to resign.

The report, which was read at a special meeting yesterday, was couched in direct language. It stated that in the opinion of his honor, the charges made by Saturday Night had been sustained by the evidence, and, moreover, that promises made by Mr. Levee as to generous melon-cutting operations for the benefit of fortunate holders of Slocum shares were, to say the least, rather more optimistic than past earning records justified. The merits of the medicine itself were not entered into.

After hearing Secretary W. C. Wilkinson read the voluminous report, Trustee Fairbairn was seized with a bright idea. Mr. Levee should resign—very simple solution. Trustee Dr. Noble thought so too, and seconded the motion, which went so far as to propose the instant appointment of a successor. It looked like a landslide for a minute, but the chairman resolutely declined to offer himself for the obsequies. Could he be forced to do so? Nobody knew, save Mr. Levee himself, and he was quite positive that he could not be.

An opinion from the board's solicitor will be asked.

COUNCIL A FAILURE.

Sir Eldon Gorst Says Egypt Cannot Rule Itself.

London, May 11.—Sir Eldon Gorst, the British agent and consul-general in Egypt, in his report on Egyptian affairs, which has been issued as a Parliamentary paper, frankly asknowledges that the efforts made to develop self-government have been disappointing. The legislative council and the general assembly, he says, have become mere instruments of Nationalist agitation against the occupation." They seek to render the business of the Government impossible.

"The conclusion to be drawn," says Sir Eldon, "is that the policy of ruling this country in co-operation with native Ministers at the present time is incompatible with that of encouraging so-called representative institutions."

The British agent adds:

"We have to make the Egyptians understand that the Governments do not intend to allow themselves to be hustled into going further or faster in the direction of self-government than they consider to be in the interests of the Egyptian people as a whole. Until this elementary lesson has been thoroughly learned, no proposals looking to the further developing of the legislative council can be usefully entertained."

W.F.M.S. In Session.

Chatham, May 11.—The ladies of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of Western Canada for the Presbyterian Church in conference here, have decided to reject the basis of union proposed by the foreign missionary committee of the church for the home and foreign missionary societies. Objection is made to the union on three points, first, in reference to the proposed new name for the amalgamated society, second, the manner in which the estimates are proposed to be made for the different branches of missionary work, and third, the proposed manner in which the field will be covered by the united association.

The ladies of the foreign society prefer their estimates shall be made up by the missionaries and officers of their society in the mission field, instead of by the church at home, and they also think that the work among the heathen of foreign lands should be kept entirely separate from the schemes of the church, just as it is at present.

Bell Co. Must Connect.

Toronto, May 11.—After an almost interminable discussion between the independent municipal and Bell Telephone companies over the question of long distance connections, and many hearings before the Board of Railway Commissioners, Chairman Mabee put the matter in a nutshell yesterday afternoon.

In delivering judgment he said that the connections should be made with the independent and Bell switchboards, that a terminal or additional charge of 15 cents be made for each outgoing call from business originating on an independent line, that a record be kept of all such business and a monthly return be made to the board, and at the end of a year the board will determine whether the granting of such facilities at competing points is detrimental to the Bell Co.'s business, and if any compensating charges should be levied.

Branch Mills In Berlin.

Berlin, Ont., May 11.—A representative of a large Cincinnati lumber firm is negotiating with Berlin for establishing branch mills and lumber yards here. The firm handles southern hardwoods very extensively, and this being a furniture manufacturing centre makes it a favorable location for their Canadian business.

The Daughters of the Empire, the Canadian Club and Women's Canadian Club will act jointly in arranging the program for the unveiling of the statue of Queen Victoria here on May 29 by Earl Grey.

Officials of the people's railway stated yesterday that negotiations were going forward for the sale of the company's bonds upon the completion of which construction work would immediately be resumed.

Postal Rate Reduced.

Ottawa, May 11.—Notice has been received by the Postoffice Department of the reduction in the rate of postage on letters posted in Southern Rhodesia and in the Commonwealth of Australia, addressed to Canada, from twopence per half ounce, to one penny per half ounce. In the case of Southern Rhodesia the reduced rate took effect on the 1st April, 1911, and in the case of Australia it will take effect on the first of May, 1911.

CIUDAD JUAREZ TAKEN

Madero Is Successful After a Desperate Conflict.

Sixty-Five Men Are Dead and 250 Are Wounded In Assault of Mexican City—Gen. Navarro Is a Prisoner—Madero Ready to Make Peace If Guaranteed Justice For the Revolutionary Party.

Ciudad Juarez, Mexico, May 11.—This little bullet-riddled city to-day is the provisional capital of Mexico, and Francisco I. Madero, jr., provisional president, and his staff have taken possession after winning the bloodiest battle of the Mexican revolution.

In a corner room of the barracks in which for two days he held out against the fire of the rebels, Gen. Juan Navarro, the federal commander, is a captive, having surrendered yesterday with almost his entire garrison of several hundred men. His face is sunken, his head is bowed, and he does not talk, for the bitter sting of defeat has disheartened him.

In contrast, in another part of the town, is Francisco I. Madero, jr., the conqueror, surrounded by members of his family and his staff, joyous, exultant and flushed with victory; yet ready, he says, to make peace with the Mexican Government if it is disposed to deal frankly and sincerely with the revolutionists, and without such vague promises as "President Diaz's manifesto contains."

All the dead are being buried today. A conservative estimate of physicians as well as of insurrecto leaders who surveyed the fighting puts the federal dead at nearly fifty and the rebel loss at about fifteen, with a total of nearly 250 wounded on both sides.

Gen. Madero, who arrived yesterday afternoon at the corrall where the Federal prisoners are quartered, made an address full of sympathy and encouragement.

"You fought for Gen. Diaz," he said at the conclusion of his speech, "because you had to, because you were a part of that system which we are trying to dissolve. In a few days perhaps peace will be restored. You soon will be free. If the war is to be continued you can have your choice of being paroled or joining the army of liberation. In the meantime we shall treat you as brothers, not as foes."

Orders were being issued by Gen. Pasqual Oriszco all afternoon to guard streets and houses to prevent looting. Gen. Oriszco is said to have shot two men he caught trying to steal.

Gen. Navarro tried about noon yesterday to arrange an armistice, but the rebels would accept nothing except immediate surrender.

The grey-haired general stood in the doorway of the barracks and received Col. Garibaldi. Raoul Madero, a brother of the rebel leader, dashed forward with his gun pointed at Navarro ready to shoot if Garibaldi was hit. Federals and insurrectos alike, however, withheld their fire while the surrender was being arranged.

The federals in their humiliation tore off their visor caps and uniforms and under guard of the rebels walked dejectedly in their underclothing down the street to the corral. They numbered about five hundred. Last night it was reported that 150 of them had taken the oath of allegiance to Gen. Madero and will join his forces.

The amount of ammunition in Jaurez is beyond the expectations of Madero. While he still wants peace, the condition will have to be broader, as he will now be in a position to recruit thousands.

The insurrectos now have two mortars, three machine guns and two field pieces.

Ex-Stormonter's Gift.

Cornwall, May 11.—L. A. Ault of the Ault-Wiborg Co. of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Toronto, and president of the park commissioners of Cincinnati, has presented that city with 134 acres of land, valued at $80,000, to be used for park purposes. The property is located near the Linwood water tower, overlooking the Little Miami River, and affords an unobstructed view of the Ohio River and Ohio Valley. The only condition attached to the gift was that the city improve Principio street, as an approach to the park, which has been named the Ault Park. Mr. Ault has notified Park Expert Kesler to let him know of other properties adapted for park purposes, as he plans to give these to the city.

Old Bridge Works Burned.

Peterboro, May 11.—As the result of a fire breaking out in the old bridge works here early yesterday morning, $30,000 damage was done. Part of the building was operated by Messrs. Houedry & Sons as a pea mill, and another part as a roller rink.

Twenty-five boathouses, situated along the river, close to the bridge works, were destroyed, with a considerable part of their contents.

Two freight cars, one full of canoes, ready to be shipped by the Canadian Canoe Co., were consumed by the flames, and three motor cars in a nearby repair shop were burned.

The bridge works were totally destroyed.

Preparing Hydro Report.

Kingston, May 11.—P. B. Yates, assistant engineer of the Hydro-Electric Commission, is here at the request of Ald. Elliott, chairman of the light, heat and power committee, to make a report on the cost of transfer, etc., in the case if Kingston did business with the commission. Yates is looking over the plant and city generally.

Montreal Merchant Dead.

Montreal, May 11—Jos. G. Meagher, president of the firm of Meagher Bros. & Co., Ltd., wholesale wine merchants, Des Bresoles street, died yesterday. The late Mr. Meagher was born sixty-one years ago in Kingston, Ont., coming to Montreal some thirty years ago.

THE MARKETS.

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Higher—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

LIVERPOOL, May 10.—Wheat opened easy, ½d to ¾d lower, with the principal weakness in near months; sympathy with decline in America and weakness in Winnipeg, together with the decline in Buenos Ayres yesterday. Following the opening, shorts covered freely, together with speculative support in July and the market became firm, with offers light. Support in the distant months was attributed to sympathy, and on rumors of continued dry weather in Southwestern Europe, and a revival of continental demand.

CHICAGO, May 10.—Hot winds in Oklahoma and Kansas helped to send wheat up to-day. Dryness thruout Southern Russia had a similar effect, and so did the notion that the rainfall in the spring crop belt on this side of the Canadian line was inadequate. Firmness prevailed at the close, which was ⅜c to ½c to ⅝c to ¾c above last night. The day's trading left corn with a net gain of ⅝c to 1c to 1⅛c; oats at ⅜c to ⅝c advance, and hog products more expensive by 5c to 45c.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, May 10.—Business in Manitoba spring wheat over the cable was dull, but there continues to be a fair inquiry for oats from foreign buyers, and, as bids were in line in some cases, further sales were made for June-July shipment. The local market was easier for oats, and prices are ¼c per bushel easier. Round lots of No. 2 Canadian western, for May delivery, afloat, were offered at 40½c, but the demand was slow. There was some demand from foreign buyers for winter wheat flour, but the bids were 9d per sack out of line. The local and country trade in spring wheat flour is fair, and prices show no change. Demand for bran and shorts is good.

Oats—Canadian western, No. 2, 42c to 42½c, car lots, ex-store; extra No. 1 feed, 41½c to 41¾c; No. 3 C.W., 41c to 41¼c; No. 2 local white, 40c to 40½c; No. 3 local white, 39½c to 39¾c; No. 4 local white, 38½c to 38¾c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, May 10.—At the Canadian Pacific live stock market this morning the offerings of live stock were 400 cattle, 150 sheep and lambs, 150 hogs and 1400 calves. There was no important change in the condition of the market for cattle, prices being steady at the decline noted in the early part of the week. The gathering of buyers was fairly large, and, as they all seemed to want some beef to carry them over for the balance of the week, the demand was better than expected, and a fairly active trade was done.

Choice steers sold at 6¼c; good at 5¾c to 6c; fairly good at 5¼c to 5½c; fair at 4¾c to 5c, and common at 4½c to 4¾c per pound. There were a few good cows and bulls offered, which brought 5½c, and the lower grades sold at from that down to 3½c per pound.

A much stronger feeling developed in the market for hogs, and prices advanced 25c to 50c per 100 pounds, which was due to the limited supply and the good demand from butchers and packers for the same, but the impression is that this advance will not be maintained, as prices in the western markets are lower. However, sales of selected lots were made here to-day at $7 to $7.25 per 100 pounds, weighed off cars, and in one or two odd cases as high as $7.50 was paid for extra choice lots.

The tone of the market for sheep and lambs was easier, and sales of the former were made at $4 to $5, and the latter at $4 to $7 each, as to size and quality. An active trade was done in calves, and prices ruled low, as supplies continue to come forward freely, and sales were made at from $2 to $5 each.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, May 10.—Cattle—Receipts, 100 head; market fairly active, steady; prime steers, $6 to $6.25; butcher grades, $3 to $5.90.

ASTHMA CURED

Mrs. Farndel, of Clementsport, N. S., suffered all her life from Asthma, but was permanently cured by Catarrhozone after all other means failed.

Mrs. Farndel's recovery affords overwhelming proof of what Catarrhozone will do. Nothing except Catarrhozone was of the slightest benefit, but when given a fair trial it cured.

Now perhaps you need something for your cold, or Bronchitis or Asthma? Why not try Catarrhozone? Thousands have been cured by inhaling it a few minutes now and again, and certainly it wouldn't do you any harm to profit by their experience.

Mrs. Farndel gives the following statement of her case for the benefit of others who are suffering from Asthma and hopes that many will follow her example and use Catarrhozone.

"I am now in my eightieth year, and cannot recall the time when I was free from Asthma. I always had a choking cough, feverishness, spasms, difficulty in breathing, headache and nausea. My druggist advised Catarrhozone one day, and I bought a large outfit. It gave relief in five minutes and helped me very much in one day.

"I inhaled Catarrhozone ten minutes every hour, and by the time two bottles were used I was completely cured. I am as free from Asthma as if I never had it. My perfect recovery is due entirely to Catarrhozone. I prize my Catarrhozone inhaler next to life itself.

(Signed) MRS. T. FARNDEL."

All you need is a trial of this grand prearation to be quite satisfied and convinced that it is the best. Your druggist recommends and sells. it. Price $1.00. Small size 50c.

Body to Lie In State.

Toronto, May 11—Rev. Father Kidd, administrator of the archdiocese of Toronto and secretary to the late archbishop, announced last night the preliminayr arrangements for the funeral of the deceased prelate. The body will be removed from the palace on Sherbourne stree,t to St. Michael's Cathedral, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, where it will lie in state until late in the evening, guarded by a detachment from the Knights of St. John. Immediately after being placed in position the cathedral will be opened to the public.

At 10 o'clock to-morrow morning Pontificial High Mass will be celebrated by Monsignor Stagni, Papal Ablegate, who will come from Ottawa, especially for the service and the funeral will follow to Mount Hope Cemetery.

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF

CURES CROUP

In attacks of this dangerous disease prompt attention is all important. The moment signs of Croup appear apply Radway's Ready Relief freely to the throat and chest, and give sufficient quantity of the Syrup of Ipecac to produce vomiting. If this treatment is followed not one case in a thousand will prove fatal. Ask for RADWAY'S and be sure you get what you ask for.

SOMETHING ABOUT THE PURDY FAMILY

Interesting Information Concerning People Who Have Many Relatives Hereabouts

S. A. Purdy, of Brighton, writes to the Kingston Whig: "I received a copy of the Kingston Whig dated May 31st, 1910, in which reference was made to the late John Wesley Purdy. I was pleased that you gave such a lengthy account. I could give you the details of a branch of the Purdy family which was left out. David was born Oct. 20th, 1757, settled in Ernesttown, about eight or nine miles west of Kingston, on the Bath Road. He did not stay at Belleville. David, of the Bath Road, had eleven children, seven boys, McCagah, who sailed the first steamer ever put on Lake Ontario. Afterwards he sailed on Lakes Erie and Huron and settled at Port Huron; McCagah Purdy is a steamboat man; Gilbert Purdy, of the township of Reach, Port Perry; Ruliff Purdy, of the township of Sidney, third concession; Samuel and Joseph Purdy, of Ernesttown, opposite the Three Brothers Islands; Jacob Purdy, clerk of the township, near Orono, and John Purdy, of the fourth concession. I am a son of John Purdy, in my seventy-seventh year. I opened store here in 1860, on November 1st. I was married in 1860 in November. Daniel Purdy had four sons. Joseph Purdy, his eldest son, lived in Portland, and was a preacher. Samuel married Miss Braiden, of Kingston. Ralph married Miss Haines, of Kingston. Mr. Yarker, hardware merchant, of Kingston, forty or forty-five years ago, married the other Miss Haines. Charles, a doctor, went to Chicago. One daughter married Dr. Day, of Trenton. The other married Rev. Jacob German, a M. E. preacher. One of Joseph Purdy's sons lived on the farm with his father, David, near Port Perry. Jacob is at Port Perry. Mrs. Hugh Rankin, of Collin's Bay, is a daughter of my uncle, Joseph Purdy. She has two sons, doctors, in Brooklyn, N.Y., and one daughter, Mrs. Ruliff Grass, Toronto.

PROSPECTIVE MARRIAGE NIPPED IN THE BUD

Claiming that they were on their way to Kingston to get married, William S. Miller, giving his age as seventy-four years, and Sarah Keeney, aged fifty-seven, both of Fulton, Oswego County, New York State, were passengers on the steamer America, when it arrived in Kingston early on Tuesday afternoon, but they were not allowed to land by Immigration Inspector John Geoghegan, who regarded them as undesirables. The inspector thus nipped a little wedding ceremony in the bud. The couple were not allowed to get off the boat, and when the America left on its return trip, it had them as passengers again.

As can well be imagined, the strangers were not at all pleased at the action of the inspector, but the latter had a duty to perform. The man had $5 in his possession, but the woman had no money. The man said he could likely "scare up another $5" as he termed it, if the inspector would allow him to leave the boat, but the official ruled otherwise.

Inspector Geoghegan doubted very much the story about the wedding, but came to the conclusion that if that was the intention of the two, that it would be just as well for them to have the knot tied in their home town.

A SAUCY AUTOIST

A complaint was made to the police this morning that yesterday afternoon an automobile, in order to avoid the sewer construction near Ann Street, used boulevards as a means of passage. If the owner of the machine is found he will no doubt be called upon to explain his action.

FOR BALD HEADS

A Treatment that Costs Nothing if it Fails

We want you to try three large bottles of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic on our personal guarantee that the trial will not cost you a penny if it does not give you absolute satisfaction. That's proof of our faith in this remedy, and it should indisputably demonstrate that we know what we are talking about when we say that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will grow hair on bald heads, except where baldness has been of such long duration that the roots of the hair are entirely dead, the follicles closed and grown over and the scalp is glazed.

Remember, we are basing our statements upon what has already been accomplished by the use of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic, and we have the right to assume that what it has done for thousands of others it will do for you. In any event you cannot lose anything by giving it a trial on our liberal guarantee. Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store J. S. McKeown.

ANNUAL REPORT OF BRIDGE ST AUXILIARY

A Highly Successful Record Was Made During the Past Year

One of the most successful years in the history of the Bridge St. Auxiliary of the W. M. S., has just been closed. There have been ten monthly meetings, two verandah meetings and four public ones held during the year. An inspiring address from Miss Munroe of Edmonton, and a very interesting travel talk by Mrs. L. W. Yeomans were enjoyed at a couple of these public meetings. All the regular programmes have been bright, varied and helpful, due to the vigilance of the earnest President, Mrs. J.H.P. Young. The total amount raised was $790.23. At the Easter thank-offering service the sum of $125.90 was received. Another interesting feature of this meeting was the presentation of six new life membership certificates, handed by little Miss Helen Reid, the youngest life member, to the following ladies: Mrs. Sulman, sr.; Mrs. John N. Pringle, Miss Edith Elvins, Miss E. Sawyer, Miss A. Bogart, Miss Annie B. Bishop.

Officers for the year are:—
Hon. Pres.—Mrs. Elliott.
Pres.—Mrs. J. H. P. Young.
1st Vice Pres.—Mrs. Sills.
2nd Vice Pres.—Mrs. Roblin.
3rd Vice Pres. Mrs. C. Elvins.
Rec. Sec.—Miss A. Reid.
Cor. Sec.—Miss M. F. Adams.
Treasurer—Miss A. Bogart.
Supt. of Systematic Giving—Miss C. Elvins.

We would wish to mention also the excellent work done by our Mission Circle and Mission Band under the respective leaders, Miss H. Pringle and Mrs. Gilbert. These merit much credit for their energetic service and increased returns.

For all this we thank our Heavenly Father and pray that the new year may be one of greater blessing and usefulness.

M. F. ADAMS, Cor. Sec.

C. P. R. ENGINEER IS IN THE CITY

Location in Town Not Settled—Will Probably Use the C. N. O. R. Bridge

Mr. James McCarthy, who is a civil engineer in the employ of the Canadian Pacific Railway, is in the city. A representative of The Intelligencer was last evening in conversation with Mr. McCarthy, but nothing more definite was ascertained than the fact that that railway will in the near future enter the city. The location of their road through the city is not exactly known, but in all probability the bridge to be erected over the river by the C. N. O. R. will also be used by the C. P. R. Mr. McCarthy expects to remain in the city for a few days.

THE SECOND BODY FOUND IN TRENT

Last evening the body of Walsh, the second victim of the unfortunate drowning accident on the Trent Valley Canal construction a few days ago, whereby two lives were sacrificed, was found near where Root's body was recovered the day previous. Both bodies have been interred in the Trenton cemetery.

ON HER FIRST TRIP

The Government patrol boat Navarch, which was in winter quarters in the Government boathouse here, started out yesterday on her first trip of the season. She went to Picton and will also go down the bay as far as the Ducks, near Kingston.

OBITUARY

HELEN MELBURN.

The unexpected death of little Helen Melburn, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Melburn, of the Township of Thurlow, has cast a deep gloom over this whole community.

Her severe illness was of short duration, as she was taken with a severe attack of scarlet fever, and on Friday morning, May 5th. She was not, for God took her to Himself.

The funeral, which was private, was held the afternoon of the same day, Rev. W. T. Wickett, of Shannonville, officiating, and all that was mortal was laid away in the family plot in the Shannonville cemetery.

The little darling accomplished her mission in a little over six years, and while she has left her parents and loved ones almost heart broken, yet we believe Helen is enjoying the presence of Jesus, whom she loved while upon the earth.

"She being dead, yet speaketh," may we be able to say: "Father, Thy will be done."

BROKEN-DOWN NERVES

HOPELESS CONDITION CURED BY "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MILFORD HAVEN, ONT., Aug. 20th, 1910

"I was a complete invalid, three years ago, with Stomach Trouble, Constipation and Broken-down Nerves. I could not sleep at night and my Doctor did me very little good. I was almost helpless untill I began to take "Fruit-a-tives" in small doses. I have taken about three dozen boxes in all and, Thank God, to-day I am well and strong—able to do my own work—and have a baby fifteen months old, and six children in all.

I would not be without "Fruit-a-tives" in the house, and I can highly recommend them to anyone suffering as I did."

MRS. D. GUINEY.

Nervousness is not a disease in itself, but is the result of some of the vital organs becoming diseased. In Mrs. Guiney's case, her nervous condition was caused by a very weak stomach and torpid liver. "Fruit-a-tives" strengthened her stomach—helped digestion—made the liver active—and cured Constipation. Then her nerves became well.

If your nerves are "all unstrung", take "Fruit-a-tives". 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size 25c. At all dealers, or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

NEW TRAIN SERVICE TO "LAKE OF BAYS."

An important feature that will be inaugurated during the coming season will be a new train service to the "Lake of Bays" district. A standard Grand Trunk passenger train will leave Toronto with through coaches parlor cars and dining car at 10.15 o'clock in the morning, daily except Sunday, for Huntsville, reaching the latter point about 3 o'clock in the afternoon, connecting with steamers for points in the "Lake of Bays" district, and affording passengers the opportunity of reaching their destination in time for dinner.

The Sunday evening boat service from the Wawa Hotel, Britannia Point Ideal, Portage, Deerhurst and other important calling ports on "Lake of Bays," to Huntsville will be run on same schedule as for season 1910, during the months of July and August, and which will be a boon to week-enders desiring to return to the city for business on Mondays. QUEEN BENDS FASHION TO HER OWN IDEAS

Following the report that the Queen had intimated that women in tight dresses with low necks and enormous hats will not be received at the enclosure at Ascot, comes the announcement that she has intimated to her ladies-in-waiting that they should wear dresses that touch the ground, long sleeves and high necks on all ordinary occasions. The maids of honor are instructed that they must wear toques and not large hats.

ATHLETICS

Shrubb's Good Race.

Alf. Shrubb had no difficulty in proving his superiority over Fred Cameron the British marathon winner, in their 12 mile race at Boston. Shrubb led all the way, and according to the Globe could have won by a mile instead of two laps if he had desired. He finished the last mile with only one shoe on, the lace having become untied. Shrubb ran the first mile in 4.40 and the full distance in 1.06.23.

A programme of sports will be caried out to-morrow afternoon on the playgrounds in connection with Grier Street school.

WOMAN DIES AT 106

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., May 10.—Mrs. Clarissa Truesdell, the oldest woman in Grand Rapids and Kent County, died at the county poor house, yesterday, She would have been 106 years old Oct. 25, 1911.

She was born in Lewiston, New York, and often referred to a time when she as belle of the ball had danced with Marquis De Lafayette and others of similar note. Mrs. Truesdell's husband at one time owned 300 acres in the heart of Chicago, which he disposed for a small sum, as ti was too boggy for farming purposes.

BURGLARS AT BRIGHTON

About 2 o'clock Tuesday morning, R. J. Ross, one of Brighton's merchants, was rudely awakened by burglars trying to break into his house. He grabbed his gun and rushed downstairs, and chased them off the premises. They succeeded, however, in getting into Mr. Ross' hardware store and removed valuables worth about $200.

CHEESE BOARD.

At the Belleville Cheese Board today 1500 boxes of cheese, all white, were offered for sale by thirty-four factories. The meeting was held in the Council Chamber, after Mayor Ackerman had addressed the meeting. The cheeses boarded for sale were nearly all sold on the board at 11 3-8 cents and 11 5-16 cents.

The schedule of the city baseball league was crowded out of to-day's issue, but will appear to-morrow.

The site required is to consist of not less than three acres. This plant is for the extraction of platinum and other minerals and will cost $10,000. The company intend to employ from 20 to 30 skilled workmen and will increase the numbers as their business develops.

Moved by Mayor Ackerman that Marsh & Henthorn, Limited, be allowed $1,000 in lieu of a site for the purpose of erecting thereon their proposed new workshops; that the fixed assessment be for a term of 15 years and be $10,000; that the bonds of the said company be guaranteed by the city to the extent of $20,000, the bonds of the said company to bear interest at 5 per cent. per annum provided that said Marsh & Henthorn, Limited, or their successors erect, establish and maintain buildings and plant for the operation of their manufacturing work and invest in such plant and buildings at least $35,000, and employ during the term of said bonds not less than 50 skilled workmen; and also provided that the said Marsh & Henthorn, Limited, or their successors, agree to retire the said guaranteed bonds in equal amounts in each and every year during the term of said bonds.

The recommendation prevailed.

EXECUTIVE.

Ald. Vermilyea, chairman, presided. The only account passed was to Mayor Ackerman for $33.25.

A recommendation prevailed that the license fee of the Griffin Opera House Company be $100, with the following concessions for the year, viz. Ten afternoons at $15, three nights for $25 and five nights for $35, and two weeks' notice to be given the company when the house is needed.

The Assessor was requested to appeal from the assessments of lots 10 11, 12 and 13 east side of George St south, also W. N. Penton's property lots 36 and 15 south of Dundas St.

PRISONER FIRED A PISTOL IN COURT

HIGH RIVER, Alta., May 11.—Suddenly drawing a 32-calibre revolver and firing, first at Magistrate Sheppard, then at Chief of Police Fisk a prisoner named Wybrow made a dash for liberty from the Police Court here to-day. Wybrow as arraigned on a charge of wilfully smashing with a rock the plate glass window of the bowling alley. None of his shots took effect and after some excitement he was recaptured and rearraigned to answer the original charge against him, and on the count he was sentenced to a month in jail.

Before the new charge of shooting is brought against him Wybrow will be examined as to his sanity, it being believed that his reason is affected.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

A MAGNIFICENT PEFORMANCE.

Griffin's Opera House Should be Packed to the Doors

To see the performance to-night by the Toronto Rowing Club Minstrels. This big aggregation has drawn packed houses and they well deserved it. The first part consists of five end-men songs, solos and ballads, and lots of funny and local jokes and real old southern melodies. The second part includes Victor Lewis, late interlocutor with Al. G. Field's Minstrels, who gives many clever impersonations, which are excellent; buck and wing dancing by Canada's greatest dancer, Joe Hill. A very comical sketch, entitled "The Insurance Man" will be presented by W. Laflamme, Al. Linton and Bert Caldwell, well-known vaudeville artists, which brings out roars of laughter, Leo. Howigan, in the "Swell Stepper," assisted by five ladies and five men, with singing and dancing is a great feature in itself. Don't forget tonight at 8.15 p. m. Big street parade with band at 6 p. m. on account of late arrival.

OBSTRUCTION WAS PLACED ON TRACK

Attempt to Wreck Nipissing Central Car Detected By Motorman

COBALT, May 10.—As Motorman Berry of the Nipissing Central Electric Railway was running a car this morning to Haileybury he saw a large log and rock blocking the track. On a previous trip there was an explosion at the same spot, so the motorman was prepared and stopped the car in time to prevent an accident. The rock and log, which would have wrecked the car, must have been placed on the rails between trips. It is a curious co-incidence that Mr. Englehart and other officials of the T. & N. O. were expected over the Nipissing line early this morning, preparatory to taking over the line.

SHOULD KEEP CONTROL

Hon. Adam Beck Gives Advice to Kingston.

Power Minister Says Electricity Can Be Delivered In a Short Time at $25 Per Horsepower, and City Should Not Let Private Companies Divide Up the Market—Will Gain by Overlapping of Supply.

Kingston, May 12.—That in five years Kingston would be in a position to supply power to manufacturers at $25 per horsepower was the prediction of Hon. Adam Beck, addressing a meeting of citizens in the City Hall last night, at which Mayor Graham presided. Mr. Beck was listened to attentively for two hours.

The estimate made by Assisting Engineer Yates of the commission, at present in the city, is that the city's requirements to-day are 4,100 horsepower. Mr. Beck made it quite clear that the commission is not a competitor. He said that many in Eastern Ontario were of the opinion that this was the case. His advice to Kingston was to keep control of the market it had in the supply of electrical power, and not to allow a company to come in and divide it. He said he was sorry that the Seymour Co. had commenced business in Central Ontario with the Trent waterpower, and were buying franchises. If the city dealt with a company, it would not receive as favorable terms as if dealing with the commission. One reason would be that it would get advantage of the overlapping in power supply. He pointed out that the question of price was not the whole issue, but it was a case of principle. Reference was made to Port Arthur City, which had refused to deal with a private company.

Continuing, Mr. Beck said that the contract which had just been made with the New York & Ontario Power Co. was at lower rate than that from Niagara Falls. It was necessary to have a company at Waddington, N.Y., to reduce the power to the necessary voltage, because the Ontario Government could not build apparatus outside the province. The company's figure for a minimum of two thousand horsepower was $13; for 10,000 horsepower, it was $11. The prices for power for Kingston would be lower than those quoted a month ago. For 1,200 horsepower, $38.83; for 1,800 horsepower, $30,31; for 2,400 horsepower, 22.91.

CORBY PUBLIC LIBRARY

The official cataloguer from the Ontario Department of Education will re-classify and catalogue the Corby Public Library. All books of the Library must be returned immediately for that purpose. The directors wish the public to help them by returning any books out at once, so that the library will not be closed longer than possible.

No books will be issued for a few days or until further notice.

GARIBALDI TO LEAD

(Intelligencer Special.)

EL PASO, Tex., May 12.—Colonel Guisippe Garibaldi has been selected by Madero to lead the advance against Mexico City with his American legion. Garibaldi is a grandson of the Italian patriot. A report from Mexico says General Navarro will be court-martialed for surrendering Juarez.

COUNTY PURCHASES ROAD MACHINERY

Yesterday a special committee appointed by the County Council and consisting of Warden Dryden, Messrs. J. L. Newton, chairman of Roads and Bridges; H. G. Bleecker, Superintendent of Roads and Bridges, and A. Chapman, County Clerk, met here for the purpose of purchasing some machinery for the county. As a result of their deliberations an Aveling & Carter English steam road roller was purchased from the Massey-Harris concern, also a road grader. A number of representatives of manufacturing concerns waited upon the committee in the interest of the firms they represented.

TWO YOUNG GIRLS STOLE FLOWERS

On Wednesday evening a large flower bed in front of Ald. Parks' residence on Bridge Street West was depleted of bulbs and flowers which had been placed therein at a cost of about $10. The affair was reported to the police, who, after considerable difficulty, ascertained that two girls about 14 years of age had committed the offence. Some of the flowers were taken out of the ground and thrown promiscuously about the lawn. The affair may be further dealt with.

FOREIGN LEGION OF 10,000 MEN TO FIGHT FOR ALBANIANS

Italian Government is Watching Ports, but Hesitates to Arrest Garibaldi or His Committees

LONDON, May 11.—A staff correspondent of the Daily Chronicle writes from Rome, giving an interview with Gen. Ricciotti Garibaldi, who asserts that he has enrolled a legion of 10,000 men, including Italians, Englishmen and Americans and Frenchmen, to fight on behalf of the Albanians in the struggle against Turkey. Each man is to contribute a minimum of $15, while the sympathizers of the movement in England, the United States and Italy are to subscribe funds for the purchase of arms.

The correspondent says that the Italian Government is alarmed, and is adopting vigorous measures, searching for concealed arms and watching the ports to prevent the embarking of Garibaldian adherents, but sympathy for the Albanians is so strong in Italy that the Government hesitates to arrest the leaders or suppress the Albanian committees which have been formed throughout Italy for fear of turning the national anger against the cabinet.

CURRENT COMMENT

One important need of Canada at this time is rain.

Experimental sprinkling with oil of some of the streets as a means of laying the dust, which is so liberally distributed by speeding autos, is to be tried. Oil sprinkling has been a success in Kingston and other places. Why not here?

The Mexican rising is a war without a real battle. The "armies" engaged are handfuls. Yet it is eating its way into and eating the heart out of the established government. It must have been a pasteboard throne that Diaz sat on.

According to the census bureau, the yield of field crops ni the Dominion last year was as follows:

Canada—	Bush.

If Mother Shipton had prophesied that the human voice would eventually be heard for 2,000 miles it is to be feared that her prophetic jingle would never have survived some hundreds of years of incredulity. As it is nearly all her predictions have come to pass, and in these progressive days we are making the old lady look like a mere pessimist. On a trip made by the Cunarder Lusitania, last January for the first time in the history of wireless telegraphy, the ship was at one time in communication with both Europe and America. Of course it was due to a fortuitous atmospheric condition, but the time will undoubtedly come when vessels will be in communication with both sides of the Atlantic throughiut their voyages. Instead of creating any marked attention this wonderful achievement only received a notice of a short newspaper paragraph.

The Roman Catholic Bishops of Portugal have decided that the separation law cannot be accepted and that the stipends which the Government offers to the clergy shall be refused. This will not worry the Government, judging from the lengths to which it has gone in the separation of state and church. It could not reasonably have been expected that the law would be accepted by the churches. There is to be trouble for the church in Spain, too. The religious associations bill which was read in the Chamber of Deputies on Monday, appears not to be so drastic as the Portuguese or French laws, but it will be no more acceptable to the church. It provided for the registration and supervision of religious associations and makes them amenable under the common law. They may hold only certain classes of property. There are some exemptions for a few orders.

AN IMPORTANT NEW INDUSTRY IS COMING

The Allard Platinum and Gold Mining Company to Locate Here—What It Is Proposed to Grant Them—A Satisfactory Site Selected

As will be seen by our report of the Civic Committees at last night's meeting, the Industrial Committee will recommend that a fixed assessment and a free site be granted to The Allard Platinum and Gold Refinery Company of Rochester, N. Y., which promises to be a substantial addition to the industries located here.

Platinum or Gold, Which?

Those familiar with mining interests have of late years been keenly interested in discoveries and developments in Canada. The attention of the mining world has been turned in that direction. The Cobalt district has been in the "lime light" since 1903. Since 1909 the Porcupine district has drawn hundreds of prospectors within its boundaries, more particularly in search of platinum, since the discovery of that mineral by our Mr. G. E. Allard, a licensed miner, under Ontario Mining Law.

Everyone knows something of the uses to which gold is put, but it is not so with platinum. It is the hardest mineral known to science. The jeweler needs it, the automobile manufacturer needs it, the electrician is clamoring for it, and is unsatisfied. In the chemical and physical laboratories of the world it is in demand for lining crucibles and other utensils. Its sphere of usefulness is greater than that of gold, and its price to-day is more than twice that of gold.

Siberia has produced the majority of the world's supply of platinum, and it is said that Mr. Allard has discovered the only Quartz Platinum know outside of Siberia, and he found it here in Canada. He also made a good gold strike, so that it is no longer platinum or gold, but platinum and gold, hence the name, Allard Platinum and Gold Mining Company.

The mining territory in Canada, so long overlooked by prospectors who turned their attention to the Rockies, has at last been partially explored and worked, so that sixteen companies have declared dividends of 43 per cent. of their outstanding capital stocks, and in the year 1910 paid over $7,000,000 in dividends. Two claims of 40 acres each in the Porcupine District were recently sold to syndicates for $1,000,000 each. It is reported that since July 1909, one hundred thousand claims of 40 acres each have been staked out.

The Allard Platinum and Gold Mining Company Corporation holds over 000 acres of the most valuable mineral lands in Canada (which will be known as the Platinum District), and is capitalized at $1,500,000, divided into shares of one dollar each. Only a small portion of the stock is for sale at development prices. Specimens of the ore may be seen at our office.

In 1903, Platinum retailed at $17 per ounce.

Gold retails at $15.25 per oz.

At Chicago, March 25, 1911, the National Association of Jewelers named platinum the "precious metal of jewelry."

Mr. Allard, who has been here for some time in the interests of his company, this morning, in company with Mayor Ackerman and Ald. Riggs and Adams, inspected a site in the southeastern part of the city, at the south end of Foster Avenue, west side, which Mr. Allard declared would be satisfactory, so that there is every prospect that if the Council take favorable action and the people approve of a by-law, the neccessary arrangements will be made for the location here of this promising industry.

TRIED TO STOP THE ODDFELLOWS' TRIP

The Defence Was That Trip Over C. O. R. Was Not An Excursion

The going by special train over the C. O. R. of the Picton Odfellows, on Sunday, stirred the wrath of officers here of the Lord's Day Alliance, says the Picton Gazette.

Members of Picton Canton, and subordinate lodge I.O.O.F., had chartered a special train to make the trip to Trenton, joining with the Trenton brethren in the celebration of the 92nd anniversary of the founding of the order. Seventy-eight Oddfellews went from here, and the number was augmented by Bloomfield and Wellington brethren.

The special train left Picton at noon arriving in time for the three o'clock service at St. George's church. Rural Dean Armstrong preached the sermon. The local Oddfellows returned to Picton at five-thirty o'clock.

Rev. V. H. Emory. in his sermon at the First Methodist church, Sunday night, spoke out against the trip by train, of the Oddfellows. He said he did not like it taking place on Sunday as it drew away those who should be attending their own church service.

It is understood a determined effort was made to stop the running of the train, but it was of no avail.

Ed. Garbutt, who holds office as Assistant Surgeon on the Department Commander's Staff of Ontario declared to the Gazette that he did not consider the trip on the train a violation of the Lord's Day Act. It was a specially chartered train, chartered by the Oddfellows, for the Oddfellows. It was no excursion. No one but Oddfellows was allowed, and no one but Oddfellows went.

Paris, April 10, 1911.

Dear Mother:—

I am having the time of my life sight-seeing and tramping from morning until night. That pair of Relindo Shoes you gave me I think are "stunning," as I have not had a backache since I put them on. The cushion in the heel seems to overcome all the jar in walking, and those terrible headaches I suffered from have entirely disappeared. It is such a treat to have one's feet comfortable and you ought to have a pair yourself; they are just the thing for your nerves Will write you about my trip later, as I have just time to catch this mail.

Your loving daughter,

STOPS SKIDDING

Apparatus to be Tested on a Roof Covered with Soft Soap

Skidding—the nightmare of all motorists—is soon to become a thing of the past. The gyroscope affords a cure. When a gyroscope is fitted to a motor-car—either in front or on the back wheels—it is absolutely impossible for the car to swerve even an inch from the path along which it is being steered. The gyroscope, making 3,000 revolutions to the minute, corrects any tendency to skid in its initial stage. Experiments have already been made on steep hills with a right-angle turn at the bottom. In every case the corners were negotiated with the greatest ease. The Gyroscopic Non-Skid Company, Limited, are giving a demonstration of the gyroscope's possibilities at their works in Grosvenor Road. A 40 h.p. car fitted with a gyroscope will be driven at a high speed on the roof of a large building covered with soft soap and Thames mud. The brakes will be jammed on suddenly as the slippery surface is reached. In the ordinary course of events the car would swing over the edge of the roof.

Must Fill Out Immigration Form.

Montreal, May 12.—Immigration officials yesterday announced that the new regulations, which state that everybody coming into Canada on a sleeping car must fill out a Canadian immigration form before retiring for the night, would be strictly enforced. Even a Canadian-born passenger is obliged to fill out a statement, giving details of address, accompanied by a declaration that he is a Canadian citizen. No exceptions will be allowed.

Not Criminally Liable.

Montreal, May 12.—Ambroise Lafrance, charged with being responsible for the death of Mrs. H. F. Coulson, as a result of an accident in which her husband's automobile collided with excavation work in front of Mr. Lafrance's property on Park avenue, on the night of April 26, was acquitted yesterday morning by Judge Leet.

Aviator Injured.

Issy Les Moulineux, France, May 9.—While taking an early morning flight yesterday Aviator See collided with a telegraph pole erected on the top of a residence. He fell to the roof and was seriously injured.

ELECTORAL REFORM

It was recently decided by a unanimous vote at the annual meeting of the Canadian Institute, in Toronto, to inaugurate an electoral reform movement, and a large committee, comprising some of Canada's ablest scholars and thinkers, was selected to promote this new phase of the Institute's work.

This action has been taken primarily as a result of an exhaustive paper on the subject read before the members at their meeting on March 21 by Sir Sandford Fleming, one of the founders of the Institute, followed by a suggestion from Sir Sandford that the institute associate itself actively with the cause of electoral reform. At that time the members committed themselves to an approval of the suggestions made and later a committee was appointed to draft a list of names of prominent men who would be willing to associate themselves with such a movement. This list was favorably received by the Institute and a motion was passed referring it to the council to add to and complete so that it would embrace every person who, by reason of the strength of his views or his reputation as a thinker, might bring all available prestige to bear upon the force of the movement.

Several plans of reform have been suggested, chief amongst which are "proportional representation" and "minority representation." Each of these would do away with the system of one man representing a constituency. The city of Toronto, for instance, instead of being divided into five constituencies, might be changed into one, the electors, from a list of candidates, being entitled to vote for five, and under a system of "proportional representation" being allowed to vote for as many as they pleased, placing the names of the candidates on their ballot in the order of their merit.

LICENSE LAW CHANGES

The Liquor License Amendment Act, passed at the recent session of the Legislature, makes a radical change in the method of fixing the limit of the number of licenses to be issued in the twenty cities of the province, and will have an important effect on the municipal councils and license boards. As the law is in the nature of a revolution, and there are over 600 licenses in the cities affected, it will be worth while for the public to familiarize itself with its provisions.

The jurisdiction of municipal councils in the matter of fixing the number of licenses to be issued is taken away, and hereafter is to be exercised by vote of the electors. There is no such change, however, with regard to the law in towns, villages and townships, where the councils still retain jurisdiction. In the cities a petition signed by ten per cent. of the electors and filed with the clerk before Nov. 1 in any year asking for the submission to the electors of a license-limiting by-law, obliges the council to send the question to a vote at the municipal election, and the council must be guided by the result. The by-law must take effect on the first day of May following its passage. It must remain in force three years and until another by-law fixing a different limit is passed.

Heretofore it has not been regarded as legal for a township or village council to fix the limit of the number of licenses to be issued at one, that being regarded as creating a monopoly. The Amending Act legalizes such reduction. Native winemakers are not to be allowed to sell in gallon or bottle lots, but only in regular wholesale quantities. The Provincial Secretary is authorized to override any license commission, and to refuse, of his own motion, any tavern or shop license a commission may be willing to grant. Government officials are given Russian powers of inquisition in searching for liquor. The new act is in the direction of taking administrative power from councils and commissions, and concentrating it in appointed officials.

EDITORIAL NOTES

SECOND THOUGHT.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is now on board ship on his way to the mother country. Let us hope not only that his journey will be safe, but also that, on second thought, founded on President Taft's speeches, the reports of Canadian and U. S. markets, and the arguments of U. S. transportation agencies and Chambers of Commerce, he may realize that Canada must lose heavily by his reciprocity proposals, and that he may therefore abandon the policy into which he was led by lack of authentic information.

A MARE'S NEST.

The Taft press in Canada are making a great ado about a letter which Sir John Thompson wrote some twenty years ago. At that time almost every person and every newspaper in Canada, with the exception of The Intelligencer, favored reciprocity in natural products. But since that time circumstances have so changed in favor of Canada that even Sir Wilfrid Laurier declared in 1903 that he would no longer seek it, and our neighbors are now trying to share in Canada's prosperity and prevent the further development of the Dominion on British lines. So it comes that the faddists have discovered nothing more than a mare's nest in Sir John Thompson's letter.

THE MARKETS.

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Higher—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Tightening of European markets led to a considerable change of sentiment here to-day regarding wheat. Many traders jumped from the short to the long side, and there was a steady advance in prices. At the close, a steady tone prevailed, with last sales 1⅛ to ¼ to 2⅛ higher than last night. Net gains were scored in all the other pits—corn, ½ to ¾; oats, ⅜ to ⅞ to 1⅛, and hog products all the way from a shade to 70c.

The Liverpool market closed to-day ⅝d to 1⅛d higher than yesterday on wheat, and ⅛d higher on corn. Antwerp closed unchanged on wheat. Buda Pest ¼c lower; Paris 1c to 2c higher.

Liverpool Grain and Produce.

LIVERPOOL, May 11.—Closing: Wheat—Spot steady; No. 2 red western winter, no stock; No. 2 Manitoba, 7s 5½d; No. 3 Manitoba, 7s 3⅝d; futures strong; May, 7s; July, 6s 11⅝d; Oct., 6s 9⅝d. Flour, winter patents, quiet, 27s 6d. Hops in London (Pacific coast), £5 to £6.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, May 11.—There was an improved demand from foreign buyers for Manitoba spring wheat, and, as bids were 6d to 9d per quarter higher in some cases, sales of several loads were made. The demand for oats continues good, and as cables were strong and higher a fair amount of business was done. The local trade is also fairly active and the tone of the market is firmer in sympathy with the reaction in prices in Winnipeg. A fairly good trade is being done in flour, and prices are firm. Demand for shorts and middlings and low grade flour is good at firm prices.

Oats—Canadian western No. 2, 42c to 42¼c car lots ex-store; extra No. 1 feed, 41½c to 41¾c; No. 3 C.W., 41c to 41¼c; No. 2 local white, 40¼c to 40½c; No. 3 local white, 39½c to 39¾c; No. 4 local white, 38¾c to 39c.

Flour—Manitoba spring wheat patents, firsts, $5.30; seconds, $4.80; winter wheat patents, $4.50; strong bakers', $4.60; straight rollers, $4 to $4.10; in bags, $1.80 to 1.90.

Rolled oats—Per barrel, $4.30; bag of 90 lbs., $2.05.

Corn—American No. 3 yellow, 60c to 61c.

Dressed hogs (abattoir), $9.50 to $9.75 per 100 lbs.

Beef—Plate, half barrels, 100 lbs., $8.75; barrels, 200 lbs., $17; tierces, 300 lbs., $25.

Pork—Heavy Canada short cut mess, barrels, 35 to 45 pieces, $22.50; half-barrels, $11.50. Canada short cut and back pork, 45 to 55 pieces, barrels, $22; Canada clear pork, barrels, 30 to 35 pieces, $20; bean pork, small pieces but fat, barrels, $16.50.

Eggs—Fresh, 15c to 20c.

Cheese—Westerns, 11½c to 11¾c.

Butter—Choicest, 22c; seconds, 21c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, May 11.—The railways reported 74 carloads of live stock at the City Market, consisting of 886 cattle, 2605 hogs, 106 sheep and lambs, 87 calves and 7 horses.

Exporters.

A few choice export steers were sold for export purposes at $5.90 to $6. Export bulls are worth from $4.75 to $5.15.

Butchers.

George Rowntree bought for the Harris Abattoir Co., 412 cattle on Wednesday and Thursday, as follows: Butchers' steers and heifers at $5.45 to $5.85; steers of export weights, $5.90 to $6; cows, $4 to $5.25; bulls, at $4.50 to $5.25.

Stockers and Feeders.

The demand for stockers and feeders was greater than the supply, and fully as many more could have been sold. Short keep feeders, 1050 to 1125 lbs. each, sold from $5.60 to $5.75; feeders, 800 to 950 to 750 lbs., $4.90 to $5.25; yearlings, $4.50 to $4.85. But read the sales of C. Zeagman & Son, as well as those made by Charles Maybee and Robert Wilson, which will convey a better idea of the stocker and feeder trade, than can be given any other way.

Milkers and Springers.

The milker and springer trade was not just as swift to-day as it has been in the near past. The main trouble is that there are too many common and inferior milkers and springers in comparison with the few good to choice.

Good to choice cows will sell at any time, but inferior and common are slow sale and if drovers persist in bringing so many of them to the market some one day they will get hit hard and then they will blame the papers for giving high prices. Prices ranged from $35 to $75.

Veal Calves.

Veal calves sold at steady prices, ranging from $4 to $6.50 per cwt., or an average of $5.50 per cwt.

Hogs.

Hogs sold at $6.15 for selects, fed and watered, and $5.90 to drovers for hogs, f. o.b., cars, at country points.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

BUFFALO, May 11.—Cattle—Receipts 50 head; market, light and steady; prime steers, $6.15 to $6.25; butcher grades, $3.25 to $6.

Calves—Receipts 250; market fairly active, 25c lower; cull to choice, $1.50 to $7.50.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts 4500; market active and firm; choice lambs, $6 to $6.25; cull to fair, $4.50 to $5.90; yearlings, $4.50 to $5; sheep, $2 to $4.50.

Hogs—Receipts 2550; market active and a shade lower; yorkers, $6.50 to $6.55; stags, $4.50 to $5; pigs, $6.00 to $6.65; mixed, $6.45 to $6.50; heavy, $6.35 to $6.40; roughs, $5.25 to $5.50.

New York Live Stock.

Calves—Receipts 151. Market firm at $5.50 to $7.50; culls, $5.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts 4190. Sheep slow; lambs steady; spring lambs, easier. Clipped sheep, $3.25 to $4.00; clipped lambs, $5.25 to $6.25; spring lambs, $3.25 to $5 per head.

Hogs—Receipts 2900. head. Market fully steady; good medium and light Penna. hogs, $6.65.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Hogs—Receipts 18,000; market steady. Mixed and butchers, $5.85 to $6.20; good heavy, $5.70 to $6.05; rough heavy, $5.70 to $5.85; light, $5.90 to $6.25; pigs, $5.75 to $6.20.

Cattle—Receipts 3500. Market steady. Beeves, $4.85 to $6.45; cows, and heifers, $2.40 to $5.55; stockers and feeders, $4 to $5.55; Texans, $4.60 to $5.00; calves, $4.50 to $6.75.

Sheep—Receipts 14,000 head. Market strong. Native, $3 to $4.85; western, $3.50 to $4.85; lambs, $4.50 to $6.65; western, $5.25 to $6.70.

Found $30,000.

Manchester, N.H., March 10.—Thirty thousand dollars worth of ambergris accidently picked up in the St Lawrence River was the lucky find of a Manchester painter recently, while on a fishing trip to Canada.

Filling the Sacks

with Robin Hood Flour is done without shoveling or handling of any kind. The flour comes from a dust-proof room through a perfectly clean shute without the touch of a hand. That means perfect cleanliness as well as fine flour. Order a sack of Robin Hood as a trial. See how absolutely free from dirt, etc., it is when you put it through the sifter. That will tell.

Ministers Off to Coronation.

Ottawa, May 12.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Frederick Borden and Hon. L. P. Brodeur, Canada's representatives at the Imperial Conference, left Ottawa yesterday afternoon to sail on the Virginian for Liverpool to-day. Accompanying the Ministerial party were Lady Borden and Miss Borden, Madame Brodeur; Mr. J. G. Desbarats, Deputy Minister of Naval Affairs; Sir Wilfrid's nephew, Robert Laurier, and the Ministers' secretaries.

Sir Wilfrid goes through by train to Quebec, where he will board the Virginian this afternoon. The other members of the party take the steamer at Montreal.

Officers Resign.

St. Catharines, May 12.—In consequence of objections made some time ago liquors have been entirely banished by the Nineteenth Regiment from the Officers' Mess, Sergeants' Mess and every other part of the armories. As the Thirteenth Regiment is coming here on Victoria Day it was proposed that prohibition should be suspended for that day. Two of the officers, understanding that such were the orders, asked to be relieved of their commands and placed on the corps of reserves. One of these was yesterday morning asked to resign the command of his company.

Stenographers For M.P.'s.

Ottawa, May 12.—The vote of $14,000 for the establishment of a corps of stenographers and typewriters for the use of the members of the House of Commons, which is contained in the supplementary estimates, is understood to involve the creation of a staff of twenty ladies, with a lady superintendent.

The superintendent, who will be Miss Lena Bryan, of this city, will be paid $5 a day, and each of the girls will get $3 a day. They will, of course, be purely sessional employes.

Foster Changes His Mind.

Ottawa, May 12.—Hon. Geo. E. Foster has reconsidered his decision not to go to the coronation, uttered in the heat of debate the other day, and will sail with the other members on June 8 or sooner.

SINS OF THE ...CITY...

"Ah! good-morning," said Guelfo, just glancing up from the sheet he was perusing. "What for you, M. Nanon?"

The merchant commenced asking a series of financial questions. Guelfo went on with his work, until there came a pause, then he said, "All you wish to know, M. Nanon, Jules can answer qutie as well as I can. Ask him. Good-morning." And resting his hand on the arm of the chair a faint tinkle was heard and the office door opened to admit a well-dressed lady, as the Frenchman, seeing nothing could be gained by waiting, retired.

"Your servant, Madame Piton. What is it—a little further advance?"

"Well, Mr. Gulefo, I hoped that—"

"Have you brought the securities with you?"

"Yes, I have some scrip here of the—"

"Then see Pierre, he manages these little affairs. He is quite my right-hand, Madame."

"But m'sieur, I should—"

"Quite so, Madame, he will doubtless be able to oblige you. He is a most kind-hearted young man. Good-morning!" With a "Bah!" and an expressive shrug of the shoulders the lady flounced out of the room only to give place to another client. And so the stream went on, until, instead of a visitor, Jules appeared again.

"Pardon, m'sieur, but there is one—a man—desiring to see you. Who he is I cannot make out. I fancy he has some information which might be worth your attention, but he will divulge nothing to me."

"I'll see him. Here take these letters; I have noted in pencil the replies to be sent."

"Bien, m'sieur," and Jules disappeared.

In a few moments the door again opened, and there entered a thin, undersized man, wearing blue glass pince-nez. His face was clean shaven, but the hair on his head, a dirty yellow, wos cut short and stood up bristling. He glanced round the room in a furtive manner as he made his way to the table.

"Well, what is it, my dear sir?" asked Guelfo, regarding him curiously and without appearing to do so, taking in his every peculiarity. "You wish to make an investment? Fortunate man! You have come to the right shop."

"No sir, I have no money," he said he said, speaking English with an accent.

"Then you have come to the wrong shop." And Guelfo's hand sought the arm of the chair.

"Stay a moment, m'sieur. Though I have no money I may have that which is worth it—and worth a good round sum," he remarked mysteriously.

"I doubt. I don't deal in that kind of thing. What is it—jewellery, diamonds, what? Come, I have no time to spare."

The man took no notice of the financier's impatience. "I suppose anything I tell you will be treated by you in strict confidence."

"Of course, of course. Secrecy is one of the fundamental rules of my calling," said the Italian, feeling greater curiosity than he allowed to be seen. There was something about the man which had caught his attention.

"Then I may speak openly to you?"

"Perfectly openly."

"And if we are not able to do business, what then?"

"Then I forget all about the affair—everything."

"Mind, I am not asking these questions for my own sake. I have nothing to hide. I ask for the sake of a friend."

"Yes, yes set your mind at rest and let me hear what you have to offer."

The man hesitated a moment or two longer, then drawing an envelope from the breast pocket of his coat, he took from it some papers, and selecting one he pushed it across the table to Guelfo. Wonderful as was the self-command of the man of iron nerves, he had the very utmost difficulty in not betraying himself as his eyes fell upon it.

It was Balbi's letter to Vipan.

"What is this?" he asked in as careless a manner as he could assume. "May I read it?"

"Of course, I brought it for that purpose."

"Yes, and is your name Vipan?" asked Guelfo, when he had been through the letter.

"No."

"Where is this Mr. Vipan? Who is he?"

"He is the great English explorer. You haven't heard of him?"

"No. Why doesn't he come himself to see me?"

"He is dead," the man whispered. That is why he doesn't come. That is why I come in his place."

"I come to sell you that letter."

At that moment Guelfo did three things. He burst out laughing. He tossed the sheet of paper back across the table, and he pressed the button in the arm of the chair twice—a signal which, being uncoded, read, "On no account disturb me." "My good friend, do you take me for a born idiot?" he asked.

"On the contrary I take you for a very hard-headed man, who knows the value of a good thing when he comes across it. Read it again."

"Mere waste of time. There is some nonsense about half a leaf or something."

"Here it is," he answered, exhibiting the half of the vichaya leaf which Guelfo knew so well.

And so the talk went on for some time, a verbal duel in which each sought to get the better of his adversary, at the same time knowing he was not fighting with honest foils himself. But Guelfo's was the master hand, and he knew that in the end he must win. With him it was merely a question of by how much. At length he said.—

"Since this man Vipan is dead, how comes this letter into your possession?"

"I am holding it for a friend."

"How did your friend get it?"

"I can't say; I don't ask questions. He doesn't like them."

"Who is your friend?"

"He doesn't wish his name known."

"Well, all I can say is that this is the most astounding instance of cool cheek I've ever come across. Impudence is for too weak a word. Here's a fellow, Heaven knows who, has obtained a private letter—Heaven knows how!—relating to something—Heaven knows what—sending someone, who by-the-bye, hasn't given his name—to endeavor to sell that letter for what he can get. A pretty story, isn't it?" And Guelfo rose from his chair and walked to the fireplace.

"Then," said the man picking up the paper and replacing it in the envelope, "you won't buy it? Well, no harm has been done."

"No, no harm has been done, except my time has been wasted, and I don't make money like that. By-the-bye, what is your name?"

"Since we are not going to do business, there is no need to tell you."

"Quite right; you are a cautious man. I like cautious men. What are you asking for that letter?"

"I ask nothing. My friend asks five thousand pounds."

"Does he? I wish he may get it. Five thousand pounds for an off-chance!"

"There's no off-chance about it; it's all right, I know."

"Oh, you know, do you? I thought you were only acting for a friend," retorted Guelfo, raising his eyebrows.

"So I do, but I happen to know more about the value of this paper than he does."

"Have you ever been to Peru?"

"I have."

"A most interesting country, I understand; most interesting for those who have money behind them, a most infernal hole for those who have not."

"Ah, you might be able to give me some information respecting a railway out there which I have been looking for. Have you a few minutes to spare? I am quite ready to pay for what I get."

"Certainly, anything I can tell you I shall be very glad to."

FORBID HAREM SKIRT

Police Find Regulation they Can Apply to New Fashion, But Case Will Go to Higher Court

The timid and hesitating among the votaries of fashion in Germany are expecting soon to have their doubts as to the propriety of the harem skirt settled one way or another by a judicial decision. A publican in the town of Rendsburg, in the hope of inveigling new customers to try the quality of his liquors, persuaded his barmaid to wear the novel garment while she was on duty at the taps, and was duly rewarded by an influx of the curious thirsty. Unfortunately, the fresh fame of his establishment spread, and reached the ears of the police, whose first thought in Germany, when they are confronted by an unfamiliar phenomenon, always is, whether it can be forbidden. They were not long in unearthing a regulation which, in the interests of decorum, prohibits waitresses from wearing "conspicuous" apparel while they are at work.

On the strength of this, the police called upon the landlord to pay a fine. He, however, is of opinion that the decrees of fashion are not subject to revision by the Prussian police, and has appealed against the decision, so that the law courts will be called upon to pronounce a verdict on the moral aspects of the harem skirt.

TRAGEDY AT NAPLES

The Chief Participants Were Two Young Lovers

Naples has just been the scene of a little tragedy, the chief participants being two young lovers, and the motive one of revenge. A youth of nineteen, named Lomonico, son of an advocate, was madly in love with the fourteen-year-old daughter of one of the leading families in Naples. The parents of the girl, Gianettasio by name objected to the young Lothario's advances, and seized with a frenzied desire for revenge, the youth rushed at the girl in the street, slashing her face with an open razor, after the manner of the Camorra. Lomonico then fled, but was soon overtaken and arrested.

"I have until now lived for the girl," he exclaimed passionately, "but now I would die for her." He also explained that it was the girl's beauty that had led him on and that he had spoilt it for her, as he was determined it should never belong to another.

MURDERED FOR THEIR MONEY

A series of mysterious murders has occurred in the vicinity of Karlstadt, in Croatia, apparently the work of an organized band of murderers, who made it their specialty to assassinate Croatian emigrants returning with savings from North America. Many such persons have suddenly disappeared of late; while on the other hand a great number of stripped bodies has been found in the River Kulpa. In one week alone four were found. All of them had bullet wounds in the temples, and the faces were so mutilated that identity could not be established. Part of the clothes of the murdered persons were torn or cut into small shreds, which were found strewn about on the bank.

A PRETTY ROMANCE

Comes From South of France—Stranger Well Treated Returns and Woos Cafe Keeper

There is material for romance in an incident which has occurred at Marseilles in a little cafe kept by a young woman noted for her beauty and goodness of heart.

The cafe is close to the harbor, and is frequented by sailors, who gave the name of "Mother Marie" to the landlady. The young woman had to deal with the roughest of sailor men, but her kindness to her customers was her best protection. When they had no money, she fed them and kept them well supplied with tobacco. The sailors never imposed on her kindness, and always paid her when they received their wages.

One day a stranger of unkempt appearance entered the cafe. "Mother Marie" immediately saw to his requirements. After eating a hearty meal he was asked by the landlady whether he would smoke a cigar. His reply was that he had not any money for a cigar, nor even for the meal he had eaten. "Never mind," said the landlady, "have a cigar all the same."

A few weeks afterwards a well-dressed man appeared in the cafe and ordered food. "Mother Marie" glanced at him and recognized in him the stranger who had not paid for his entertainment.

The elegant gentleman told "Mother Marie" that he had heard of her kindness to rough sailor men, and had resolved to put her to the test. He found that she was all that the sailors had represented her to be, and he added that he had returned to the cafe in order to improve his acquaintance with her.

Then he disclosed his identity. He was a count and a large manufacturer, and asked "Mother Marie" to become his wife. The "sailors' friend" consented, and now the little cafe on the harbor has a new tenant.

GOLD BARS FROM CHINA

Secretly Shipped to England—Part of Hoard of Dowager Empress

There are persistent reports that gold bars to the value of $30,000,000, part of the late Chinese Dowager Empress hoard, have been shipped secretly to England from Peking.

Tse Hsi, the late Dowager Empress of China, had the reputation of being the richest woman in the world, but it is impossible to estimate the millions she possessed.

Her rapacity was amazing. Her favor had to be bought by all who who sought for it. Money, exquisite gems, houses, and beautiful silks and furs were humbly offered in vast amounts and haughtily accepted.

During the occupation of Peking by the allied troops in 1900 many of her treasures were lost in the looting that took place, but the amount successfully concealed must have been very great.

JEWS ARE REFUSED

Settlement in Western Australia, as They Want Species of Autonomy

Although the British public hears but little of the work done by the Ito, that is the Jewish Territorial Organization, founded by Mr. Israel Zangwill, of London, it is nevertheless trying harder than ever to find a country in which Jews may settle down and call their own. Mesopotamia was high in favor as the site of a Jewish settlement on a considerable scale—the principal object of the organization. It seems, however, that this region has now fallen into the background, principally on account of the opposition of the Turkish Government. And Western Australia has come into favor. Western Australia is by no means a new region so far as the Ito is concerned. Some years ago Mr. Zangwill was both directly and indirectly in negotiation with its government on the subject of a Jewish autonomous settlement within its boundaries, and it was understood then that the negotiations had broken down, not because the West Australian Government had any objection to a Jewish immigration, even on a large scale, but because they could not consent to any species of autonomy.

INDUSTRIAL TRUSTS

Former Ontario Residents Tell of Their Injurious Effect in the United States

Mr. John M. Downie, a resident in Ontario a few years ago, but now a broker in San Francisco, wrote to the St. Thomas Times recently, showing the injurious effect upon the United States of the large industrial trusts. Mr. Downie said:

"I could cite a half dozen instances of the ruinous workings of the trusts right here in San Francisco. If it was not for the United States Steel Trust and other big trusts, this town would be 25 per cent. better off than it is. The Union Iron Works, a few years ago, running as an independent concern, gave employment to 10,000 men in San Francisco. The United States Steel Company looked on it, saw that it was good, and proceeded to gobble it up. . . . To-day about 500 men are employed just doing repair work. That is what the trusts do to a country. Instead of having a thousand independent factories scattered all over the country helping to build up and make prosperous hundreds of different communities, they concentrate in one or two places, and make one plant do what otherwise would give employment to a dozen."

AMERICAN TRADE

Enormous Output of Manufactures Seek an Output

An examination of the trade statistics of the United States throws an interesting side light upon that country's present overtures for Reciprocity with Canada. For the nine months ending September, 1910, exports of domestic merchandise of every kind from the United States were $1,193,321,512, of which $210,490,966 were manufactures for further use in manufacturing, and $401,684,694 were manufactures ready for consumption. The sum of these two, $612,625,660, accounts for 51 per cent. of all of their exports put together. But this is not crediting the exports of manufactures with a class known as "foodstuffs, partly manufactured" which are valued at $180,159,193. If one regards this also as legitimately forming a part of the exports of manufactured goods, it means that of everything the United States exported for the nine months ending September last manufactured goods amounted to over 66 per cent.

Applying the average for the first nine months to the last three, it indicates that the exports for the year of manufactures ready for consumption and manufactures for further use in manufacturing will pass the $800,000,000 mark. This is an enormous amount for which to have to find an outlet, and underlying the present agitation in the United States for Reciprocity with Canada, is an earnest desire to open wider the markets of this country for exploitation by their manufacturers.

CARELESS AS TO HATS

Have Eminent Men Been—Comparisons of England's Headgear

Speaking of hats, an English writer says,: It is astonishing how careless many eminent men have been about their headgear. The great Duke of Wellington is credited with wearing one hat until it was so bad that a tactful friend persuaded him to give it away to a servant. Some days afterwards, we are told, the Duke saw this same hat, newly ironed, on a chair in the hall, where the servant had that moment placed it. "A nice hat, that," observed the Duke. "Yes," replied the servant; "it's the one your Grace gave to me. I've had it done up." "What did it cost you?" inquired the Duke. "One shilling," was the answer. "Here's half a crown; I'll have it back," and Wellington is reported to have taken it, and worn it again till his friends protested against its shabbiness.

Perhaps the remaining most remarkable historical comparison in hats is between the plain, steeple-crowned, broad-brimmed hats of the Puritans and the flat, broad, feather-bedecked hats fashionable with the Cavaliers of Charles II.

Nowadays the most striking fact about fashion in hats is that while our women vie with one another in carrying the largest artificial garden-beds and beehives on their heads, our men are eager for the lightest and most easy-fitting felts. The demand for a comfortably-fitting felt has led to the invention of machinery that has numbered the days of the orthodox sizes—the 7⅛ worn by the late King Edward, the 7⅛ of Dickens and John Bright, the 7⅜ of Mr. Gladstone, and the enormous 8½ of Daniel O'Connell, etc.

GYRO-COMPASS NOW

Theoretically Possible to Indicate Latitude of Place, also Direction

At the meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society in London, Mr. Elphinstone, of the form of Messrs. Elliott Bros., gave a demonstration of the gyro-compass, illustrated by a working model of the apparatus, which appeared to do all that was required of it.

It transpired that, theoretically, it is possible to construct a gyrostat which would indicate the latitude of the place as well as the direction of the north and south line.

REMARKABLE CURES

Among the remarkable "cures" effected at Buxton, England, there is no more interesting case than that of a little dog. The "patient" suffered from rheumatism, but has now completely recovered, thanks to the unfailing regularity with which it "took the waters" daily. This dog is so much a creature of habit that it will not pass by St. Ann's pump now until it has taken its usual dose.

The wonderful hand tailoring in Fit-Reform Suits

FIT-REFORM

If you could be in the Fit-Reform workrooms and see a Fit-Reform Suit being made, you would be amazed at the amount of hand tailoring put into each garment.

What you see when you look at the completed suit, is only a small part of the workmanship.

It's the hidden part—the intricate stitching—the hand shaping—the patient moulding—that gives Fit-Reform garments so much style and grace.

It takes expert tailors to do the kind of work demanded by Fit-Reform. The specialists in the Fit-Reform workrooms are the best tailors in Canada today.

Compare these garments with the best custom work you know of, and you will find that the Fit-Reform standard of hand tailoring is the highest in the Dominion.

This does not mean that Fit-Reform garments are expensive. Prices for high class Suits are $18, $20, $22, $25 up.

SIR HIRAM MAXIM

He Retires From the Directorship of the Great Firm that Bears His Name

Few men have crowded more into seventy-one years of life than Sir Hiram Maxim, who is retiring from the directorship of the great business which bears his name. More than half a century has passed since he put together his first gun, a pea-shooter, in his father's workshop at Sangerville village, in Maine, and eschewed Fenimore Cooper to revel in Comstock's "Natural Philosophy." His scanty schooling over, the budding inventor had two spells as apprentice to coach-builders before he began his roaming in search of fortune.

He was in turn mechanic, foreman in carriage works, and in a surgical instrument factory; and saved enough in these lowly roles to buy a house and farm for his father. But he had to wait until he had passed into the thirties before he patented his gas-generating apparatus, and later an improvement in electric lamps, and got a firm footing on the road to fame and fortune. At forty-four he was settled in England, with a gun-factory of his own in Hatton-Garden, a snug estate, and a fortune in shares.

The orange is the most luscious and healthful fruit. California excels in quality of oranges. The best of the California oranges are now packed in individual wrappers labeled "Sunkist."

SUNKIST ORANGES

Five thousand orange farmers in California do their own packing, shipping and selling. They grade and select their crop into "firsts," "seconds," etc. The firsts are fancy, tree-ripened, hand-picked, seedless, fibreless, thin-skinned oranges—every individual orange a perfect specimen of the finest variety of oranges. They are not only more healthful and more palatable than other oranges, but they are actually cheaper, for they are nearly all meat and nourishment.

Your dealer sells "Sunkist" Oranges. Ask for them. You will know them by the tissue paper wrapper in which each "Sunkist" Orange is packed. You can buy them by the box or half box. On the wrapper note the label, "Sunkist." Keep all the wrappers. They are worth money to you.

London, Ont., Dec. 19.—E. H. McGuigan announced to Hon. Adam Beck last night that his part in the hydro-electric project was complete with the completion of the St. Mary's loop, and the line from London to St. Thomas.

The great power transmission line, 293 miles in length, is complete. It has taken two years in building, and is the longest in the world.

The gangs were laid off Saturday, but will have plenty of work in future, should the line to Windsor be pushed at once. The completion of the lines will end the troubles which Guelph, Berlin and other cities have been experiencing.

The celebration of hydro-power for London, which was to have been held to-morrow, has been postponed.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as sacredly confidential. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favorite Prescription" has cured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases.

It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dare to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.,—take the advice received and be well.

Woman's World

FASHIONS ETIQUETTE RECIPES CHIT-CHAT

States Where Women Vote the Most Corrupt in the World.

The two basic reasons against woman suffrage in the United States are:

First—no electorate has ever existed or ever can exist, which cannot enforce its own laws.

Second—No voter has ever claimed, or ever can claim, maintenance from another voter.

Miss Mollie Elliott Seawell, southern novelist, thus sums up her anti-suffrage argument in an interesting little book, just published by McMillan and called "The Ladies' Battle."

Miss Seawell insists that the normal voter must be physically able to make his way to the polls against opposition if necessary, and he must be able to carry out by force the effect of his ballot.

Must Rely on Force.

"The suffragists claim that the moral forces ought to supplant mere physical force. But if a burglar breaks into the house of a suffragist she calls a policeman. A dozen ruffians could prevent a hundred women from depositing a single ballot.

"Suposing the ballots of women, however, to have been deposited by the indulgence of men," continues Miss Seawell, "women will surely be called upon to legislate for men upon subjects of which no woman has ever had, or ever can have, any practical experience. Women could not, with justice, ask to legislate upon matters of war and peace. No woman can have any practical knowledge of shipping and navigation, of the work of the trainmen on railways, of mining. Their legislation, therefore, would not probably be intelligent, and the laws they devised might be objectionable to the very persons they cought to benefit.

Then Miss Seawell takes up the relation between voting and maintenance. The two things are incompatible, she says, as is proved by the fact that all are virtually disfranchised.

Must lose Other Rights.

"A wife's maintenance," she asserts "is her equivalent for a vote. If she acquires a vote she must give up her right to maintenance."

Already, Miss Seawell says, the women in the four suffrage states of Colorado, Utah, Idaho, and Wyoming, have been deprived of enormous property privileges.

"Women in the United States occupy a far more favorable position than those in any other country in the world. But in no country is woman suffrage so utterly unworkable as under the American system of government. There are five cardinal principles of woman suffrage which are in direct conflict with the five cardinal principles of the government of the United States.

"The first is the suffrage contention that voting is a moral right. The supreme court of the United States has decided that voting is not a moral right, but a privilege.

Would be Privileged Class.

"Second, women voters would inevitably become a privileged class, their mere exemption from naval and military duty making them such. The first fundamental of our present form of government is that there shall be no privileged classes among voters.

"Third, the suffrage claim that the United States could live under an electorate of which less than half could enforce its laws would necessitate a large standing army, as in these countries where the electorate is not strong enough to enforce its laws.

"Fourth, as the government of the United States could live under an of the majority and the suffragists have less than three per cent. of women of the country on their side.

"Fifth, the tendency of woman suffrage is inevitably towards socialism, the state doing everything possible for the individual."

Miss Seawell takes a gentle fling at the personnel of the suffrage body.

"There is a large class," she says, "like the promoters of Hull House in Chicago, who mistake philanthropy for government, not knowing that too much philanthropy will ruin the best government on earth. There is, of course, in the suffrage body that proportion of professional agitators which is found in all movements. Then, there are numbers of women who wish to be prominent and get into print. Some of the most prominent leaders are divorced women."

"Woman suffrage has had most lamentable results everywhere it has been tried, according to Miss Seawell's researches. New Zealand, where women vote, is said to be one of the most corrupt electorates in the world, and Colorado has been proved by official figures to be the most corrupt electorate in this country. It has not improved politica affaris in Finland Utah and Idaho have faied to put a top to polygamy. The five suffrage states show an abnormal divorce rate.

"It is my earnest hope and belief that the sound, good sense of American women will defend them from suffrage," Miss Seawell concludes. "I believe the most important factor in the state are the wives and mothers who make of men good citizens to govern and protect the state, and I believe woman suffrage to be an unmixed evil."

Coats for Summer.

White is to be fashionable this summer, and nothing is prettier than a white cloak. White satin evening cloaks faced with black are smart but not practical as compared with the same style of coat in light-weight cloth. These coats should be cut on some loose model, and can be trimmed or plain. The sailor collar and revers of velvet covered with lace are effective, but they are equally effective of plain velvet, and velvet for the moment seems more in favor than satin as trimming. Heavy embroidery or braiding around the bottom of the coats, with the same trimming repeated on the wide turned-back cuffs and sailor collor makes the garments most elaborate. Sometimes the revers are faced with satin, not velvet; and this obviates the too heavy effect of so much braiding and embroidery, which always looks stiff.

An Appetizer.

Have rounds of toast for each person, upon which place a slice of tomato, peeled, make a paste of mashed sardines, boned, chopped olives, chopped pimento and green pepper, a dash of onion, cayenne and salt.

Mix with olive oil and lemon juice, and put a generous amout of paste on the tomato and rounds of toast.

Marquis Also Transferred His Name—Bigamist Confesses

The bogus Marquis Paul de Roquefeuil, who was charged with fraud and bigamy, has confessed that he is not a marquis, but only assumed the title, the rightful bearer of which died in Algiers.

When examined, he alleged that he only did so because Mme. la Bonomene, the wealthy widow whom he married later, objected to the German sound of his own name of Reiss. The real marquis, he said, offered to transfer his name and title for a glass of absinthe.

As he had rendered some little services to the marquis, he could not see the harm in assuming the title.

The Crown Prince and Crown Princess, of Germany, are at home again, much to Potsdam's joy, after their long five months' sojourn in Ceylon, India and Egypt. Like the ardent soldier that he is, the Crown Prince went promptly back to his military duties, as major of a battalion of the Guards at Doberitz, to be warmly welcomed by his comrades, among whom he is extremely popular. The Crown Prince's next trip abroad will be in June, when he goes to London to represent the Kaiser at the Coronation.

The erection of three wireless stations in the Fiji Islands has recently been begun by the Marconi Company.

DESTRUCTION OF RATS

About 250,000 rats have been destroyed since the campaign against these pests commenced in Essex. Something like $5,000 per week has been saved in damage done by the rodents. The assumed rat population of England and Wales is about 38,000,000. It is estimated that each rat costs $1.55 per annum to keep.

IT IS NOT IN THE BLOOD

MEDICINE TAKEN INTERNALLY Cannot Cure Eczema.

Eczema cannot be overcome by ordinary treatment, and the old-fashioned way of dosing the system with drugs. Eczema is caused by a parasitic germ that bores into the skin. It is generally a contagious disease. Until the parasite is completely destroyed and removed, eczema cannot be cured. Fully one-third of the skin diseases are in the form of eczema.

We so thoroughly believe that Rexall Eczema Ointment will overcome eczema and allied skin ailments, that we unhesitatingly promise to promptly return the money paid us for it should it in any way be unsatisfactory to the user.

Because of its remarkable cleansing, antiseptic, germicidal, soothing, and healing influence, Rexall Eczema Ointment has a very pronounced value in the treatment of skin diseases, especially where the form of ailment is of the chronic aggravating sort. We highly recommend it for the dry, scaly form or the weeping type, where there is a constant flow of ill-smelling excretion.

Rexall Eczema Ointment is very prompt in relieving pimples, blotches, skin discolorations, ringworm, acne, nettle rash, tetter, hives, ulcers, insect bites, and for healing sores and wounds. It is a pleasant smelling, grayish-white ointment, and is very cleanly for use. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. Sold only at our store—The Rexall Store. J. S. McKeown.

WAR AEROPLANES BY THE HUNDRED

Russia Has Decided to Buy a Big Fleet—Activities of Other Nations

An English representative of the Aeroplane Purchasing Committee of the Russian Government, which has decided to spend $4,500,000 without delay upon military airmanship, visited the Aero Exhibition at Olympia, accompanied by two of the Russian Government airmen. Russia has decided to buy a fleet of 300 war aeroplanes, all the machines to be delivered before the end of the summer; and the Russian agent spent a whole day discussing British aeroplanes with the English makers. Already the Russian Government has bought eight British-built biplanes, five Farman biplanes, and forty Bleriot monoplanes. The dominent note of the exhibition is the remarkable activity of Governments in the formation of fleets of war aeroplanes. Experts from the British War Office have been examining machines closely since the show opened; French Government experts will be coming during the week to inspect the English-built machines. "We have now," explained M Norbert Chereau, manager for M. Bleriot, "no fewer than eighty war aeroplanes to supply to the order of the French military authorities. Thirty of these machines, both single and double-seated monoplanes, have already been supplied to the Government and are in use. French officers have begun to learn to fly so rapidly that there are now not far short of 100 military airmen in France. So great is the demand now for war aeroplanes for various countries that M. Bleriot cannot deliver any more two-seated military machines for reconnoitring work for the next five months." An extensive order for Breguet biplanes, as seen at the show, has been given by the French Government. These machines, constructed almost entirely of steel, take to pieces in half an hour for expeditious military transport. A number of Farman military-type biplanes—in which the two occupants of the machine sit in a neat enclosed body like that of a racing motor-car—have also been bought by the French, Italian and Spanish Governments.

With the recent orders for Bleriot and Farman aeroplanes, added to the number of machines of other makes already bought by the French Government, the French War Office will shortly possess an air fleet of at least 150 war aeroplanes. The fast-flying war aeroplanes, as designed by M. Bleriot, is the striking feature of the exhibition. Sitting side by side, protected from the wind by a dome-shaped metal screen, and with maps and compass fixed in frames before them, the driver of the machine and the observer will rush through the air at a speed of sixty miles an hour, inspecting a wide panorama of country over the sustaining wings, which have been set farther back to facilitate reconnoitring. The British War Office now owns ten aeroplanes, having purchased a day or so ago the Howard-Wright biplane owned by Captain E. M. Maitland. It is understood that British Government orders will be placed for several machines at the exhibition. A notable fact concerning the activity in France was cited by an international expert at the exhibition. If France were involved in war to-morrow she could, by calling up her civilian airmen as well as her military pilots, put a fleet of more than 300 aeroplanes into the field.

PURIFIED HIS BLOOD

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Healed Mr. Wilson's Sores

When the sewers of the body—bowels, kidneys and skin ducts—get clogged up, the blood quickly becomes impure and frequently sores break out over the body. The way to heal them, as Mr. Richard Wilson, who lives near London, Ont., found, is to purify the blood. He writes:

"For some time I had been in a low, depressed condition. My appetite left me and I soon began to suffer from indigestion. Quite a number of small sores and blotches formed all over my skin. I tried medicine for the blood and used many kinds of ointments, but without satisfactory results. What was wanted was a thorough cleansing of the blood, and I looked about in vain for some medicine that would accomplish this.

At last Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills were brought to my notice, and they are one of the most wonderful medicines I have ever known. My blood was purified in a very short time, sores healed up, my indigestion vanished. They always have a place in my home and are looked upon as the family remedy."

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cleanse the system thoroughly. Sold by all dealers at 25c a box. 6

WHERE ARE THE CATS?

Many residents of Brighton and other towns on the south coast are complaining of the mysterious disappearance of black cats. It is stated that the inhuman persons who are stealing them kill them and convert the skins into coats, boas, and ruffs. A Brighton furrier states that such is the demand for black furs that skins of every kind of animal suitable for the purpose are being used. "On the Continent," he said, "cats are used extensively, and no doubt the practice is growing in this country."

Sanford JUVENILE CLOTHES HAMILTON, ONT

Why Shouldn't Your Boy Wear Clothes That Are Made for Him?

Nothing is more disappointing to the sight of the average mother than to observe youngsters dressed in a fashion which suggests the style of their elders. Children are children for such a little while that it is surely every mother's desire to have them dressed in clothes made especially for them.

And this, fortunately, she is enabled to do if she buys "Sanford Juvenile Clothes."

In a special children's department, a corps of special designers, cutters and clothing craftsmen design and make clothes for youngsters. That is, they do nothing else but make juvenile clothes.

Patterns are cut, cloth selected and styles chosen with nothing else in view but the special requirements of children.

"Sanford Juvenile Clothes" are sold by the leading clothing and dry goods stores in Canada. Ask to see the new Spring and Summer models. You will find in them a complete range of styles and sizes.

Graham Tells Why C.N.R. Bonds Are to Be Backed.

Canada, He Declares, Needs the Third Transcontinental Line In a Hurry and He Thinks It Will Be a Successful Venture—Mr. Borden Protests Against Bringing In Important Measure So Late In Session.

Ottawa, May 12.—That the Government should guarantee the financing of a third transcontinental railway through practically the same territory east of Port Arthur as the two others is the effect of a resolution and a bill based upon it which were introduced in the House yesterday. The resolution was passed and the bill given a first reading. There is criticism of the proposal, although it is not particularly intolerant. The House has settled down to serious business. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has departed for England, and, with reciprocity hung up, the members are anxious to get to their homes.

The Prime Minister moved the appointment of the following committee of five to try the charges recently made about Hon. Mr. Oliver in connection with the alleged receipt of $70,000: Messrs. Clark (Essex); Carvell and Geoffrion (Liberals), and Meighen and Crothers (Conservatives).

Haughton Lennox made enquiry as to when the Government would introduce the new Bank Act. He presumed it could not be before the adjournment, but expressed the hope that it would be introduced and considered when the House met in July.

Hon. W. S. Fielding said he doubted much if the proposed act would be introduced during the present session of Parliament, but he was willing to keep an open mind on the matter. He gave notice, however, that he would before adojurnment introduce a bill having for its object the extension of the bank charters for one year.

In introducing his resolutions providing for a Government guarantee of 3 1-2 per cent. on $35,000 per mile for that section of the Canadian Northern to be constructed between Port Arthur and Montreal, Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railways, expressed the opinion that a bargain had been made which would be of the utmost advantage to the entire Dominion.

Mr. Graham said that coming eastward from Port Arthur, except for a few miles, the C.N.R. would serve an absolutely new territory from that now served by the C.P.R. and the G.T.P. Except in one or two instances it would not come nearer than 20 miles to the existing roads. In many cases it would be from 69 to 70 miles from the Grand Trunk and from 20 to 40 miles from the C.P.R.

Explaining the provisions of the route, he said that it was a 3 1-2 per cent. 50 years bond that was guaranteed by the Government. The road would have 80 pound rails, with good modern bridges. The C.N.R. would add its guarantee and would stand between the Government and any possible loss.

Mr. Borden asked the Minister to give his views as to what public necessity would be benefited by the building of this road and what necessity there was for a subsidy, assuming that the road was not only desirable but necessary.

Mr. Graham replied that with the rapid growth of Canada, and the fact that the company had now 4,000 miles of railway in the west, and were increasing it, rapidly and gathering up traffic, it made it absolutely necessary that there should be another line for the carriage of the products of the west to the east, as well as feeding that line from the east to the west. "I believe," he said, "that there is a day of prosperity near at hand, that will extend clear through to the Maritime Provinces, a prosperity which I do not think will be secondary even to that of the west. My own conviction is that we cannot get these lines constructed too rapidly to meet the absolute necessity that will then exist for the carrying trade of our own products, to say nothing of the carrying trade we might do for any other country.

"As to the necessity of a guarantee, this company might in a few years process so work this line through. They have done a good deal, but they have been aided by subsidies, and aided by guarantees. But in order that we may have this line constructed, and constructed without undue delay, constructed in a way that we should have something to say about its construction, and in order that we may be able to finance such an undertaking in the best possible method, so that the freight rates might be based on the least possible cost of construction, I believe it is in the interests of the people who have to ship goods, that the Government should enable the company to borrow their money at the best possible rates in the old country. I do not believe that this guarantee will ever cost the Dominion of Canada a dollar, and if we can ensure the rapid construction of this road at the cheapest possible rate merely by lending the name of the Dominion of Canada to the company to secure its money.

R. L. Borden protested against so important a measure being delayed until the eve of the adjournment of the session. He would postpone consideration of various points in the resolution until the discussion in committee. The questions he had asked the Minister of Railways had only been answered in general terms. He would point out, however, that between the east and west there was a stretch of country that had no appreciable population, yet a railway had been constructed through it, and had been in operation for twenty years.

Hon. John Haggart said that the Minister of Railways had not made it clear that there was room for this additional transcontinental line.

Haughton Lennox criticized the proposals. What with the proposed water routes and the three railway systems he believed there would be no necessity for this line. The result might be that all would become impoverished and compelled to charge rates which would afford no measure of relief to the western farmer.

STABBERS GO TO PRISON.

Two Italians at the Soo Get Heavy Sentences.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., May 12.—At the assizes yesterday morning the Italians Torpetto and Francesco received sentences for the stabbing affair in Little Italy last Easter. Torpetto will serve three years at Kingston, and Francesco six months in the Central Prison. The third Italian, Stonnelli, was allowed to go. Justice Britton charged strongly against the prisoners, believing that the use of offensive weapons amongst the foreign element should be discountenanced.

William Carroll, 65 years of age, is now on trial for the murder of Joseph Talion, in a lumber camp forty miles from Blind River, last November. Evidence given yesterday by those in the camp show that Carroll had no provocation, and Provincial Constable Taylor, who made the arrest, testified that Carroll had told him he had struck the wrong man with the axe. Dr. Bruce Smith said he believed Carroll to be sane, although of an excitable nature. In Dr. Smith's opinion Carroll was fully responsible at the time he struck the blow, although, having been confined in the London Asylum in 1902, was suffering from acute melancholia. The defence is endeavoring to prove insanity.

Dr. Carman Called.

Montreal, May 12.—Dr. Carman, general superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada, took the witness stand in the Workman libel case yesterday and gave evidence on points of Methodist belief involved in the alleged assertions of Dr. Workman. Dr. Carman claimed that from his position his testimony could be regarded as the voice of the Methodist Church. His statements on points of Methodist belief, he declared, were the interpretations of the Methodist Church courts. His testimony on many points was directly opposed to that of Dr. Workman, who in testifying Wednesday refused to admit that the beliefs which he held were not in accord with the standards of Methodism.

Col. Matheson Ill.

Perth, May 12.—Hon. Col. Matheson, Provincial Treasurer, lies at his home threatened with an attack of pneumonia. He returned from Toronto on Tuesday and on Wednesday evening was in a serious condition. Yesterday morning he was reported by his physicians as resting much easier.

SETS UP GOVERNMENT

Madero Names Cabinet and Makes Juarez His Capital.

Mexican Insurrecto Chieftain Has His Affairs Well In Hand and His Army Behaves Itself Well — Very Little Looting Is Reported—Relief Force of Federals on Its Way Toward the Provisional Capital.

Juarez, Mexico, May 12.—Mexico's Provisional Government, composed of insurrectionists, became an established fact yesterday with the naming of a Cabinet by Francisco I. Madero, Jr., Provisional President, and with the establishment of the capital city of Juarez, where Gen. Navarro and his federal troops are held prisoners.

Secretary of War Carranza will have charge of railways and telegraphs. His first act was to grant permission for the repair of the Mexican Northwestern Railroad. Men immediately began repairing the roadbed south of Juarez.

Gonzales Carza will have charge of the mail service and Secretary of the Treasury Madero will direct the affairs of the customs house.

That the insurrecto army is more than an armed mob, was shown yesterday in the absence of general looting and intoxication and the quickness with which the shattered city was cleared of its dead and wounded. The embargo against visitors was removed during the day and sightseers in thousands poured across the bridges from El Paso.

Only occasional cases of looting were reported, and these not by the insurrectos themselves, but by insatiable curio hunters, one of whom triumphantly displayed in El Paso two silver candlesticks, taken from the big church in which the federals made a desperate stand.

The insurrectos are not overlooking the possibility of attack from Col. Rabago, reported approaching from Chihuahua with a relief force.

BOY KILLED BY TRAIN.

Albert Hutchins Jolted From Engine Footboard at Toronto.

Toronto, May 12.—Seven-year-old Albert Hutchins, 35 Delaney crescent, was jolted from the footboard of a G.T.R. engine, at the foot of St. Clarens avenue, at 11.20 yesterday morning. The lad had been picking up coal along the track.

The engine steamed into a siding with its train to allow another train to pass and the lad jumped on the back of the engine. When the other train had passed 1651 started backing out of the siding and the lad was jolted off. He fell on his head, clear of the tracks and was carried home dead. The mother says that a brakeman saw him jump on the engine and warned him off, but before he could reach him the lad had been jolted off.

An older brother of the dead boy lost both legs in jumping from a moving train at Brock avenue, three years ago.

Hopewell Will Not Go.

Ottawa, May 12.—Mayor Hopewell of Ottawa announced yesterday that under existing prospects he will not attend the coronation either in an official or private capacity. When told that Mayor Geary of Toronto had stated that he would attend in any event, Mayor Hopewell said:

"No, I am not going over to take a chance on getting a seat on the 'fence' to see the procession. I had a talk with Toronto's mayor over failure to provide accommodation for visiting civic officials from the Dominions, but he and I do not hold the same views."

Meanwhile, Ottawa's loyal address to the King is being prepared, but the mayor does not know who will present it.

Deny Merger Story.

Montreal, May 12.—A flat denial was yesterday given by Mr. C. J. Smith, general manager of the Richelieu & Ontario, to a story that with the practical consummation of the Richelieu Northern Inland Navigation merger three Toronto concerns, the People's, the Hamilton, and the Ontario Navigation Companies, would later be involved.

TEMPEST IN WINNIPEG.

Lightning, Rain, Hail, Snow and Wind Cause Inconvenience.

Winnipeg, May 12.—Winnipeg was the centre Wednesday night of a violent electric storm that in the space of a couple of hours tied up almost every modern convenience driven or operated by electrical energy. It was a wild night, with a conglomeration of weather suitable to every season of the year, and vivid lightning flashes lit up the heavens even while hail and snow descended. At one stroke the lights of the city were snuffed out and the power transmission station of the Winnipeg Electric Railway was put out of business. Not a street car was running at 10.30. Officials of the company state that one of the transmission cables from Lac Du Bonnet was struck by lightning fourteen miles from the city, which resulted in the cutting off of the current.

The telephone lines were temporarily affected and the telegraph wires running into the city were damaged to such an extent that Winnipeg was all but cut off from the outside world. Over the few wires that were operated, however, came the gladsome news that the precipitation extended all over the province, and that on a million fields the moisture was sinking to the ground to generate life in the young wheat.

The rain started to come down late Wednesday afternoon and since that time there has been a continuous downfall of hail, snow and sleet. The electrical storm broke about 2 o'clock and the reverbrations of the thunder over the city were so loud as to waken the majority of the citizens. The hail that ascended at the time came in such volumes as to test the strength of window glass. Yesterday morning the unique sight of the trees all in leaf and the ground covered with snow was seen.

St. John's Observatory recorded 2.4 inches of rain Wednesday night, which is almost unprecedented here. Power was turned on again yesterday afternoon.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

A fatal duel was fought at Berlin.

The Republicans lost temporary control of the United States Senate.

The Brantford Y.M.C.A. campaign closed yesterday. The sum raised was $117,000.

Four hundred British members of Parliament met yesterday to advocate the Anglo-American arbitration treaty.

Patrick Burns of Kingston was taken to the Central Prison yesterday, to serve a year for assault on John Hickey, a grocer.

Hon. Adam Beck opened the "Fair of All Nations" in the Kingston Armouries yesterday afternoon, to raise funds to fight tuberculosis.

Advices received yesterday relative to the situation in Morocco say that Col. Brulard's relief expedition has started from El Knitra for Fez.

While working in a gravel pit at Britannia Park, Ottawa, yesterday a falling mass of earth struck Fred Rose, a workman, and he was killed.

Prominent Kent apple dealers look for a bumper crop of fruit this year in that district. There is a very heavy show of bloom for pears, cherries and plum trees.

Fire, which broke out in the superintendent's office of the G.T.R. station at Richmond, Que., at 11.15 last night, almost totally destroyed that structure. The damage is estimated at $5,000.

Constable McKay and Mr. Gordon were bringing two prisoners across Cobalt Lake in a canoe, when one of the men stood up and the craft turned over. They clung to the canoe and were saved.

Dr. R. A. Falconer, president of the Toronto University, delivered the convocation address at Manitoba University to-day, and he and Sir Daniel McMillan, Lieutenant-Governor, received the honorary degree of doctor of laws.

Word was received in Quebec of a fatal accident at Syriaque River. Five men were on a jam, one of them, Art. Bouelle, fell off and was not again seen. A second, Thomas L. Tremblay, after trying hard to remain on, disappeared in his turn.

Bones In Chimney.

Kingston, May 12.—Workmen engaged in making alterations at the Albion hotel came across a number of what are supposed to be human bones stored away in an old chimney.

In connection with the finding of the bones a strange tale is told. Old residents say that many years ago the building now used as the Albion hotel was the military headquarters and that one day an Indian who had some trouble with the militia suddenly disappeared and was never heard from again. The finding of these bones has led some to believe that the Indian met with foul play and that these are his bones.

Two Camorrists Sick.

Viterbo, May 12.—Gennaro Abbatemaggia is suffering an acute attack of laryngitis and was unable to appear at the trial of the Camorrists yesterday, much to the disappointment of the spectators, who had expected to see him confronted by Enrico Alfano, the alleged actual head of the Camorra.

Maria Stendarano, the woman prisoner, was also reported to be critically ill with pneumonia. The session was occupied with testimony of minor importance.

Church to Support Professor.

Kingston, May 12.—Dr. Dyde, principal of the Presbyterian Theological Seminary, of Strathcona, Alberta, writes that Knox Church, Calgary, has promised to pay the salary of one professor at the new college, commencing at $2,500, and raising $100 yearly until $3,000 is reached.

Suing Dun's Agency.

Kingston, May 12.—Justice Clute will, in June, hear the case of Telfer v. R. G. Dun & Co. Telfer, proprietor of the British American Hotel is suing the company for $50,000 for the published statement that the bailiff was in charge of his place.

A Seven-Year Term.

Toronto, May 12.—Fred Watson, alias Casey, a well-dressed, well-educated Englishmen, was given seven years in the Police Court by Magistrate Kingsford yesterday upon the uncorroborated testimony of a seventeen-year-old boy for the committing of an unnatural offence. The man has previous convictions in England, Canada, and the United States. In addition there were convictions on two charges of theft of jewelry from houses in which he had lodged. On these the terms were three years each, to run concurrently with the other term.

Get Leave to Appeal.

Ottawa, May 12.—The Supreme Court yesterday morning rendered judgment in the case of Shantz vs. Good, granting special leave to appeal to the Supreme Court of Canada from the judgment of the Court of Appeal for Ontario, upon payment of the costs already taxed in the court below. The suit was over the transfer of a number of shares in a company.

To Cremate His Body.

London, May 12.—In accordance with a wish revealed in his will, which was examined yesterday, the body of Lafayette will be cremated and the ashes placed between the paws of his trained dog "Beauty," the body of which rests in a pretentious tomb in Piers Hill Cemetery at Edinburgh.

Jebusite Remains.

London, May 12.—Captain Montagu Parker, who headed the party of English explorers who have been accused of removing sacred relics from the mosque of Omar, and who is back in London, announces that the party found the first Jebusite remains ever excavated in Jerusalem.

A Russian Appointment.

Berlin, May 12.—The Lokal Anzieger yesterday published a despatch from its correspondent at St. Petersburg saying that Baron Rosen, the Russian Ambassador at Washington, has been appointed temporary director of the Russian Foreign Office.

Want Tracks Underground.

Montreal, May 12.—The plans which the Grand Trunk Railway Co.'s engineers have submitted to the city authorities for the elevation of the company's tracks running from Bonaventure Station westward to the city limits, were disapproved at a conference of aldermen, controllers and citizens yesterday. A resolution calling for a revised scheme to provide for the railway tracks being placed underground, or if it were found by the engineers that an underground railway was not feasible, that new plans for elevated tracks should provide for concrete and stone embankments instead of earth embankments specified in the present plans.

ALL THE CAUSE OF TROUBLE REMOVED

Dairymen's Grievance Was Stated and All Was Amicably Arranged

Mayor Ackerman, in addressing the Cheese Board yesterday afternoon, stated that he personally was sorry that there should have been any friction between the Cheese Board and the City Council in reference to the use of the Council Chamber for the holding of the Board's meetings. The matter had not been discussed by the Council. He, as Mayor, would state that the Board was welcome to use the Council Chamber until they were notified to the contrary.

Mr. John A. Holgate gave a history of the matter, referring to the fact that the Council Chamber doors had been locked against the Board and a committee had been appointed by the Board to look for another suitable place in which to hold their meetings. He also referred to the fact that one of the city aldermen had written a letter, which was published in one of the city papers, and in that letter there were, to his (the speaker's) mind, uncalled for remarks, namely that cigar stubs and loose papers had been thrown about the floor, that the meeting had on one occasion been boisterous, and in consequence there had been a settling in the floor. These remarks he resented. He was forced to conclude that the members of the Board were intruders and impostors. In regard to cigar stubs, it was a rule of the Board that there should be no smoking during the meeting. He did not think the members had caused a settling of the floor. There were at least two suitable places where the Board could met. The Warden of the County had offered a suitable room, and the Conservative Club rooms could also be secured.

Mr. D. J. Fairfield stated that it was a fact that the Council Chamber doors had been locked, and he had been informed by the caretaker of the building, Mr. Meagher, that the Board could not meet in the Council Chamber. He had spoken to some of the aldermen and they were perfectly willing for the Board to have the use of the Council Chamber.

Mayor Ackerman said he was surprised that the Secretary should have taken the word of the caretaker in this matter, who was under salary by the city. He (the speaker) was not aware of any trouble until some time after it occurred, and was sorry that it had happened. All desired to be on friendly terms with the members of the Cheese Board.

Mr. M. Sprague said it was apparent, from the Mayor's remarks, that the Council generally and citizens did not wish to be antagonistic to the farmers or members of the Cheese Board. Through the Board over a million dollars was paid out annually for cheese here, and the greater portion of this money was spent in the city and vicinity. He moved, seconded by Mr. T. Watkin, and supported by Mr. J. Miller, a motion that the Mayor be thanked for his action in the matter, also that the Board occupy the Council Chamber for future meetings.

Mr. W. B. Deacon, President of the Board of Trade, assured the members of the Cheese Board that they were welcomed in the city and were, no doubt, as stated by the Mayor, welcome to use the Council Chamber.

The motion of Mr. Sprague was unanimously adopted.

A motion prevailed thanking the Warden of the County, also the officers of the Conservative Club, for the offer made for the use of a room for the Board meetings.

The Board then adjourned to the Council Chamber and proceeded to the boarding and selling of cheese.

There were boarded 1,500 boxes of cheese, nearly all of which were sold on the board at 11 3-8c. and 11 5-16c. The factories boarding were as follows:

PROFESSOR DENYS' FOND MEMORIES

Graceful Tribute from an Old Friend to the Bay City and Its People

To the Editor of The Intelligencer.

Dear Mr. Editor,—Meeting a quartette of Belleville gentlemen yesterday—Messrs. J. Thompson, Jos. Templeton, C. M. Stork and S. A. Moore, who came here in compliance with certain strenuous civil service exigencies, which, I believe, were triumphantly gone through—revived a world of happy reminiscence. The bright little city, and all that she was to me, surged to memory, as in surprise, I found myself face to face with the above named gentlemen wending their conquering way towards Queen's. Our unexpected joy was quite mutual, if I may judge from the grasp of the hand I received in return for mine. The time was short and we could not say half of what we would have wished. "How are all the good, old friends?" I made enquiry. "Fine," was the prompt reply, but after a pause it was remarked how many a warm heart we once knew, had during the last four brief years, sunk to his long sleep, causing us perhaps to cling closer to the ones that remained. What a delightful thing is friendship! It sets stars in the sky of the humblest of us, tinting life's journey with the golden ray of hope, even when fickle fortune ceases to smile.

And is Kingston a place where man can dwell? Oh, yes—a military town, you know, where honor and property are well guarded. I may pick up some little wound one of these days midst the array of cannon, and display of chivalry, but so far I have been so busy with coining funds and fame, that I had scarcely time for anything else, not even for revisiting as I owuld wish, that little piece of Paradise, fair, fond Belleville. Do what you will, you cannot get away from earlier associations.

"Stray though you may from the scene that are past,
The days that were first sway the days that are last!"

And now, if the salutations we entrusted to our visiting friends in such quantities did not cause them to founder en route, to each will come a greeting warm with truest affection and remembrance from

Yours faithfully,
PAUL DENYS.

Kingston, May 11.

COUNTY DEBENTURES SOLD AT GOOD RATE

At a meeting of the Finance Committee of the County Council held here yesterday afternoon, and presided over by the Chairman, Mr. T. Thompson, the tenders for the sale of $100,000 debentures issued by the County of Hastings were opened. There were ten tenders, and that of the Canada Debenture Corporation Company, of Toronto, for $106,027 was accepted. The Committee feel that the County has made an exceptionally good sale.

DEATH LIST

MRS. DR. ROSS.

Last Sunday Mrs. Dr. Ross, of Shanghai, China, formerly of this city, died at her home in Shanghai. The deceased, who was a native of Belleville, was a daughter of the late James Easton and a half-sister of Mr. W. J. Thomson, of the Inland Revenue office. She is survived by her husband, Dr. J. W. Ross, M.D., and a family. Many friends of Mrs. Ross will learn with much regret of her death.

MR. JOHN COOK.

Mr. John Cook, one of Belleville's eldest and most respected citizens, passed away at 8 o'clock last evening at his late residence on Bridge Street West. For some time the deceased had been in failing health, and his demise was by no means unexpected. The end was peaceful and apparently painless. On the 16th of December, 1823, at Glasgow, Scotland, Mr. Cook was born, being thus in his 88th year. Over half a century ago, namely 1856, the deceased came to this city, where he had since resided. He conducted successfully for many years a grocery and provision store, being compelled owing to advancing age and his enfeebled condition to retire a few years ago. While in business he was regarded as upright and consistent in his methods. Mr. Cook was a Royal Arch Mason, being the only secret society he was identified with. The deceased had been for years a consistent member of John Street Presbyterian Church and was an elder for a long period. In politics he was a Reformer. Four years ago Mrs. Cook preceded him to the tomb. Surviving is a family of five sons and two daughters. The sons are William S. and Charles, of this city; Thomas, of Kingston; Matthew, of Chicago, and George, of New York. The daughters are Mrs. J. P. Thompson, of Vancouver, B.C., and Mrs. (Rev.) G. S. Skinner, of Schichester, N.H. The family realise that they have lost a kind and loving parent, but that he had long outlived the allotted span of a useful life.

HONORS AWARDED TO J. A. CULVERWELL

He Made a Complete Financial Success of Many Important Undertakings

Mr. J. A. Culverwell, of Port Hope, the "Electric Power King," has been made a life member of the Engineer's Club of Toronto, the leading engineering society of the Province of Ontario. The Guide congratulates Mr. Culverwell on this new honor. Mr. Culverwell has made a complete engineering and financial success of his power companies in Central Ontario, both on the Trent and Otonabee Rivers, and in which although not now actively engaged, he has still a very large interest in the Electric merger. Mr. Culverwell is also an associate member of The American Institute of Electrical Engineers of New York, and recently was made a member of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways Association of Philadelphia, having delivered an address at Atlantic City on "The Trent Canal, and the benefits of water transporation" while there taking a holiday. A prominent legislator has stated that Mr. Culverwell has secured stronger municipal endorsation for history of Canada.—Port Hope Guide.

THE ANNIVERSARY OF BATOCHE

No more gallant charge was ever made than that of 26 years ago to-day, when "A" company of the Midlanders, composed entirely of members of our own Regiment, led by Adjutant Ponton, Lieuts. Halliwell and Kenny, cleared the rifle pits at Batoche, and virtually ended the Rebellion. Backed by "C" company, the Grenadiers of Toronto and the 90th, of Winnipeg, our Belleville boys faced a galling fire, and with rifle and bayonet, sword and revolver, cleared the whole valley of half-breeds and Indians, suffering severely in the advance and the charge. Lieut. C. S. Clapp, Sergeant-Major Aris, Sergeant Maiden, and Corporal Lew Sole have to-day many reminiscences to tell of the stirring campaign in which as is their wont, our Bay of Quinte Bays bore themselves bravely, and for which they wear the Queen's medal, worthily won.

The First Aid Examination for teachers will be held to-morrow night at 7.30 at the Y.M.C.A. Every teacher is requested to be on hand.

Wrestling—Walker, Vancouver; Aiken, Winnipeg; Macdonald, Kingston. Choice to be made.
Boxing—Gage, Hamilton.

The president of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada received a telegram last evening from the Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Ottawa, stating the Government has authorised the grant to send a team of Canadian athletes to the Festival of Empire sports, to be held at London during the Coronation period.

Teams from Australasia, South Africa, Canada and Great Britain will meet at the Crystal Palace grounds on the following dates: June 24 to July 1. There will be one athlete from each team in each event. The programme of events is as follows:

Athletics—100 yards, 220 yards, 880 yards, one mile and 120 yards hurdles to be held on June 24th.

Swimming—100 yards and one mile, to be held on July 1.

Wrestling—Middleweight, June 29
Boxing—Heavyweight, June 29.

The following committee has been appointed to select the team to represent Canada:—Jas. G. Merrick, president A. A. U. of C.; N. H. Crow secretary A. A. U. of C.; Dr. D Bruce Macdonald, president Ontario A. A. U.; Dr. Fred J. J. Tees, Montreal, president Quebec section A. A U. of C.; J. D. Pratt, Winnipeg president Manitoba A. A. A.; Lieut.-Col. H. D. Johnson, president Maritime Provinces A. A. A.

It is expected that the team will sail on the 9th or 10th of June, according as accommodation can be secured.

THE TURF.

New Starting Device.

Marquis de Nieuil, a steward of the French Jockey Club, has invented and put into successful operation a new apparatus for starting horses. One day recently at Maisons Lafitte he sent way twenty-seven horses in one race and twenty in another, with all the horses on even terms. The starting posts are fitted with wheels, describing a semi-circle, which at a given signal throw up a thin red cord which indicates the line behind which the horses must be drawn up. Two starters must be used, one fifty yards in advance of the other, and it is his duty to make it a start if all the horses are on equal terms, when the other starter releases the red cord or barrier.

Hildreth's Intentions.

According to a New York despatch S. C. Hildreth has formally announced that at the close of the Pimlico meeting he will ship all of his horses to England, including the great Fitz herbert, though he is entered in the Toronto Cup. If Hildreth should hear some good news from Albany meanwhile, doubtless he would alter his plans, as another campaign on the New York tracks would be preferable to a trip abroad. Hildreth says he could make ends meet by racing his thoroughbreds in Canada or Kentucky As for Oklahoma, Butte, Ogden and Salt Lake City he declares that he would rather remain idle.

BASEBALL

Brains vs. Signals.

One of the brainiest players in the National League is quoted as saying this about signals: "Signals and inside play are great things for a ball club to have, but plain, common-sense quick thinking and intelligence have signals beaten to death. What use have signals and inside play been against Matthewson, Brown, Moore, Camnitz and other star flingers? Put a pitcher in the box who has brains and he will smash all the team play you ever saw. Base runners will be pie for the catcher, and hit-and-run plays will be jokes.

CONTRACT LET FOR MONTREAL DRYDOCK

Vickers' Sons & Maxim Will Build Three Million Dollar Structure

MONTREAL, May 11.—Hon. L. P. Brodeur, who left on the Virginian to-night, stated that the contract for the drydock at Montreal had been definitely awarded to Messrs. Vickers' Sons & Maxim. The subsidy to be paid to the contractors by the Federal Government will be at the rate of 3 1-2 per cent. on a capital outlay of $3,000,000 for thirty-eight years. The drydock will have a lifting capacity of 25,000 tons, sufficient to accommodate any vessel likely to use the St. Lawrence rounte for many years to come.

INDIGESTION

If you are suffering from indigestion and the attendant distressed stomach, you should give Mi-o-na, the guaranteed remedy a trial. Mr. William Shafer, of 230 Queen St., S., Berlin, Ont., says: "For years I have been a sufferer from acute indigestion. which caused me the most distressing pains in my stomach. I decided to try Booth's Mi-o-na Tablets and they have done me more good than anything I have ever used. I am now more free from this trouble than I have been for years. I am pleased to endorse and recommend this remedy to all who suffer with stomach trouble."

Remember Mi-o-na Tablets are guaranteed to cure acute or chronic indigestion, and turn the old stomach into a new one in a few weeks. All druggists 50c. a box or postpaid from The R. T. Booth Co. Ltd., Fort Erie, Ont. Sold and guaranteed by J. V. Doyle.

THE DUKE DON'T WANT ANY FRILLS

However, 50,000 Will be Spent on Necessary Improvements to Rideau Hall

OTTAWA, May 11.— In connection with the vote of $50,000 for improvements at Rideau Hall, Mr. Pugsley said in the House this evening that it was desirable to have them completed before the arrival of the Duke of Connaught. The improvements consist of the removal of the chapel and some of the outbuildings, the erection of two cottages and a garage, as well as some decoration. Mr. Pugsley mentioned that the Duke has sent a message hoping that no unnecessary expense would be incurred. He considered that it would be better to acquire another site and erect a new building in the near future, but this could not be done before the arrival of the Duke of Connaught.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

The last event of the Root Indoor Sport competition was pulled off last evening, the event being the 8-lb shot. M. E. Barlow was first with 48 feet; G. Steel second, with 47 ft., 10 in.; M. Barlow third with 47 ft., 2 inches. G. Steel is the winner of the Silver Cup, he having made 4100 points. Mr. J. M. Root will present the cup to-night at the meeting of the Young Canadian Club at 8 o'clock. This contest has been the most successful of any event this season, over 50 competing in the different events.

The Boy Scouts are requested to be on hand at the Y.M.C.A. at 9.15 sharp with the fishing poles and lunch boxes.

The report of the annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary will be given to-morrow.

ZAM-BUK CURES PILES

Read What Those Who Have Proved It Say.

Mr. Albert Pearson, of Prince Albert, Sask., writes:— "I must thank you for the benefit I received from Zam-Buk. Last summer I suffered greatly from piles. I started to use Zam-Buk and found it gave me relief, so I continued it, and after using three or four boxes I am pleased to say that it has effected a complete cure."

Mr. G. A. Dufresne, of 183-185 St. Joseph Street, St. Roch., Quebec, P. Q., writes:—"I can highy recommend Zam-Buk to anyone who suffers from piles. I have also found it most effective in curing a sore thumb with which my little son was suffering. The thumb had begun to swell and fester and had lost the nail. I persevered in the application of Zam-Buk and the sore is now entirely healed."

Not only for piles, but for inflamed sores, ulcers, eczema, ringworm, boils, eruptions, scalp sores, itch, children's sore heads, old wounds, etc., Zam-Buk is without equal as a healer, and also for cuts, burns, stiffness and wherever and whenever a handy balm is called for. All druggists and stores at 50c. box., Zam-Buk Soap will be found as superior amongst medicinal and toilet soaps as the balm is amongst salves. Mothers should use it for baby's bath 25c. tablet, all druggists and stores, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

THE DUCHESS OF WESTMINSTER

One of England's most beautiful peeresses, whose priceless jewels, next in value to those of the Royal gems themselves, have been lent for exhibition to a Bond Street jeweller, who will turn over the proceeds of the show to the Duchess and the little coterie of titled ladies who have temporarily parted with their gems, for distribution to charity. The principal ornament of the Duchess's exhibit was a large crown, several inches in height, and profusely decorated with immense brilliants, whose shimmering reflections quite outdid the other jewels on exhibition, magnificent as they were.

NO PROTESTANT RIVAL

A New Production of the Passion Play Will Not be Allowed

There will be no Protestant rival to the Oberammergau Passion Play. Such a performance had been planned to take place at Eisenach, a little town at the foot of the famous Wurtburg, replete with historic associations with Martin Luther and the Reformation. But now the police of the Grand Duchy of Saxe-Weimar have stepped in and vetoed the play by refusing their sanction. It had been arranged to present a "Jesus Tetralogy," a play on realistic lines showing the last years and Passion of Christ, but differing widely from the Gospel version. The authorities held that this play was likely to give offence to people holding orthodox religious views. In the projected play Jesus was presented as a physician who had travelled in India, where he had imbibed the ideas of brotherhood and charity which are expressed in his teachings. Other sacred characters has been created from a similarly free point of view.

THRIVING PRUSSIAN CITY

The youngest "city" of Prussia is Hamborn, which has been raised to its present rank by Imperial Cabinet order on attaining its 100,000th inhabitant. Forty years ago it had less than 1,000, and the scene of its thriving zinc and iron industries was an idyllic country landscape. Manufacturing wooden shoes, fishing, and going to church were the chief occupations of its people in those days, whereas to-day the rolling mills and social democracy take up most of their time and attention.

FARMERS AND RECIPROCITY

Northern States Yeomen are Fighting Hard Against The Pact

(Intelligencer Special.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 13.—The farmers of the Northern States are making such a determined fight against the reciprocity bill that it has been found necessary for the Senate Finance Committee to extend the hearings over into next week. The National Grange threatens political disaster to those responsible for the treaty.

ATTEMPED SUICIDE

(Intelligencer Special.)

NEW YORK, N.Y., May 13.—Miss Alta Marhovka, secretary to Dr. Latson, physician and mystic teacher, who suicided on Thursday night, attempted to end her life early to-day by inhaling gas. The girl refers to Latson as "God man" and states that she would gladly have helped him "free his soul." She is now under arrest.

WAR SEGRETARY QUITS

Dickinson's Private Business Demands All His Time.

Distinguished American Lawyer's Resignation Dated April 23 Was Withheld Until the Crisis on the Mexican Frontier Had Passed—Henry L. Stimson, Who Was Roosevelt's Protege In N. Y. Elections Appointed.

Washington, May 13.—Secretary of War Dickinson has resigned. President Taft has appointed Henry L. Stimson, recently Republican candidate for governor of New York, in his place.

Secretary Dickinson's resignation was dated April 28, and his action was due to the pressure of his private business in Tennessee. The President's letter of acceptance, dated May 3, shows that in the meantime Mr. Dickinson had offered to sacrifice his private affairs if his leaving the Cabinet during the Mexican troubles should embarass the President. The correspondence is of the most cordial nature.

Jacob M. Dickinson is 60 years old and a lawyer. He was one of the counsel for the United States before the Alaska boundary tribunal, and is a past president of the American Bar Association. While his home is in Nashville, Tenn., and he has served on the Supreme Court Bench of that state, he had a law office in Chicago for years before he became Secretary of War. He has large land interests.

Stimson is a New York lawyer, formerly a partner of Senator Root. He is 43 years old. He served as United States attorney for southern New York, and as such initiated proceedings against the Standard Oil Co., and most of the railroads running into New York, convicting them of rebating. He also prosecuted the Sugar Trust for defrauding the Government and recovered over $3,000,000, besides sending many of the employes and officials to jail. He also prosecuted C. W. Morse, the banker, who is now serving a fifteen-year sentence in Atlanta prison, and James Gordon Bennett of The New York Herald, who had to pay $30,000 fine for publishing indecent advertisements.

Stimson was Col. Roosevelt's choice for Republican candidate in New York last fall for governor, but went down with his party, owing to the dissensions in the Republican ranks and the opposition to Roosevelt's so-called new nationalism.

Mr. Stimson is a mighty hunter and his favorite stamping ground is the Canadian Rocky Mountains district. He has been for many years an enthusiastic militia man and holds a commission as captain in the National Guards.

SCHOOL BOARD WILL MAKE OFFER FOR CHURCH LAND

Not Satisfied With Amount Asked for St. Thomas Church Ground—Proposed New Site At Pine Street Referred Back—Continued Increase in Attendance at the Schools—Proposed Celebration for Coronation Day—Teachers Ask Increase in Salaries—To Meet Again on Monday

A regular meeting of the Board of Education was held last evening and during the session the chief discussion was in reference to purchasing a portion or all of the property south of Queen Victoria School belonging to St. Thomas' Church. A counter offer by the Board will be made to the officials of the church. The matter of purchasing a school site near Pine Street for a school was referred back to the Sites, Buildings and Repairs Committee. Some other matters were disposed of. The Inspector's report showed a continued increase in the attendance at the public schools. A resolution of condolence was passed to the family of the late Mr. James Wallace, and the Board also decided to take action if the Council did not in reference to a celebration of Coronation Day.

The members present were Messrs. W. P. Hudson, chairman, Wm. Johnson, W. S. Smith, A. J. McCrodan, A. E. Bailey, J. F. Wills, G. A. Bennett, S. S. Moore, M. Mallory, W. N. Ponton, F. S. Deacon, P. Harrison, T. E. Ketcheson and F. E. O'Flynn.

A number of communications were read, including those from Mr. Knight, asking to be retained on the teaching staff, also asking for an increase in salary; from Misses M. and I. Northcott, asking to be retained as teachers and asking for an increase in salary. Miss M. Stewart asked to be appointed on the teaching staff.

These were referred to their respective committees.

The Committee on Buildings, Sites and Repairs reported as follows:

The question of the purchase of the lot from Mr. Lingham having been settled, the architect, Mr. Ellis, of the firm of Ellis & Conroy, was sent for to meet the committee on the grounds and discuss the general style of building.

The committee decided to erect a ten-room school. The committee adjourned to the office of Messrs. Wills & Wright and discussed plans and details for the architect in the evening, when it was decided to go to Lindsay and inspect the new schools which had just been completed there.

The committee, accompanied by the Inspector of Schools, visited Lindsay and were shown two new schools recently erected. Mr. Anderson and Mr. Dundas, on behalf of the Board of Education of Lindsay, treated the committee with every consideration and gave them every assistance in a thorough examination of the schools.

The committee instructed the architect to at once prepare plans for a ten-room school similar to the school erected at Lindsay, with certain alterations which the committee deem an improvement, and the same are now being prepared.

The committee afterwards met at the office of the secretary of the Board and took no action in reference to the part of the St. Thomas grounds, the chairman of the Board having received notice that the offer was withdrawn.

The committee afterwards took into consideration the offer of Mr. Henry Taylor to give to the Board the lots extending south from Pine Street and on the east and west sides of Victoria Avenue at $6.50 per foot or at a price of less than $400.00 per lot.

The committee feel that this lot, situate north of Pine Street and on the crest of the elevation is a most desirable piece of property and that the price offered by Mr. Taylor is a very fair price and would recommend that his offer be accepted, and that the matter be closed forthwith, and would ask that the matter be referred to the committee with power to close with Mr. Taylor.

The committee expect to hear from the architect at an early date and would ask either that this committee be authorized to act in the matter, or if the Board prefer, will have a special committee called.

Mr. H. J. Clarke, Inspector, presented his monthly report for April. It showed the registration and average attendance in the public schools of the city to be as follows:

School.	Total Registered.	Average Attendance,
Queen Victoria	525	418
Octavia Street	321	241
Grier Street	184	133
Pinnacle Street	110	83
Cannifton Road	132	92
Station Road	58	39
Total	1347	1009

The supernumerary teacher was engaged for the whole month.

Your registration continues to grow the increase for the month being 109, of whom 102 were admitted for the first time, chiefly in the primary grades.

The report showed that 92 applications had been received from public school pupils for the examination for entrance to the High School and 20 applications from St. Michael's Academy and about 150 from pupils in the rural schools, and on behalf of the county the Inspector asked for the use of three rooms in Queen Victoria School.

The Board went into Committee of the Whole on Reports, etc., Mr. J. F. Wills in the chair.

The Finance Committee's report was adopted without discussion.

The report of the Sites, Buildings and Repairs Committee was taken up and discussed.

Col. Ponton said he was in favor of purchasing what property was available from St. Thomas' Church. It was an asset of value, and the Board should procure it if possible. He hoped the Sites, Buildings and Repairs Committee would approve of the purchase of this property.

Mr. Hudson believed it was the duty of the Board to buy the site, when the opportunity presented itself. He moved that the Board take the 45 feet north of the hall for $2,000.

Mr. Bennett stated the Sites, Buildings and Repairs Committee had considered this matter and considered that $4,000 was too much money for that property.

Mr. O'Flynn considered the price asked for the property was too much.

Col. Ponton was of the opinion that the property was worth $3,300, and he would be in favor of offering the church officials that amount, and moved an amendment, seconded by Mr. Johnson, to that effect.

The amendment prevailed, and the matter was referred to the Sites, Buildings and Repairs Committee, with Col. Ponton's name added to the committee.

The committee's report in reference to the purchasing of certain land from Mr. Henry Taylor for a school site on the east and west sides of Victoria Avenue, was considered.

Mr. O'Flynn spoke in support of the proposition and did not think the price asked was exorbitant.

Mr. Bennett stated the property in question was in the vicinity where many houses were being erected, and a school was necessary.

This clause was referred back to the committee to see Mr. Taylor as to securing a less number of lots and also see if they could be secured for a less sum.

A motion prevailed that Mr. E. F. Milburn be appointed examiner on the Board of Examiners at the entrance examinations.

It was decided to allow three rooms to be used in Queen Victoria School for the entrance examinations.

The committee rose and reported. The report was adopted.

MOTIONS.

Moved by Col. Ponton, seconded by Mr. Deacon, that this Board express and record their sincere sorrow in the death of their late colleague, Mr. James Wallace, and that the heartfelt sympathy and condolence of the members be extended to Mrs. Wallace and the family thus bereaved by the loss of a loved husband and father, an amiable man and a good citizen.

Mr. O'Flynn said he had been closely associated with the late Mr. Wallace and his relations with him had been of the most pleasant nature.

Col. Ponton said Mr. Wallace was a most amiable man and had been a worthy member of the Board.

Mr. Hudson stated he had known Mr. Wallace for many years and he was an honorable, just and true man. He felt the loss of such a man.

The motion was carried by a standing vote.

Mr. Johnson moved, seconded by Col. Ponton, that if the City Council or a committee of citizens does not undertake the proper observance of the coronation of their most gracious majesties, the King and Queen, that this Board, with the teachers and the scholars of the High and Public Schools, arrange for a suitable celebration; that we, however, express the preference for a great civic celebration and express our willingness to do everything in our power to make it an event to be remembered through life.—Carried.

The chairman was, on motion, authorized to sign on behalf of the Board a petition for a granolithic walk in front of No. 2 school.

Mr. D. Barragar, Principal of No. 2 School, invited the members to the school to witness the exercises to be held on the afternoon of Empire Day, May 23rd.

Board adjourned until Monday evening.

LOCAL MARKET PRICES TODAY

Few Changes to be Noted—The Prices of Hides are Higher

The attendance upon the market this morning was exceptionally large for this season of the year. The interior of the market building was filled with those who had produce to sell, while the market square was well filled up with vehicles. Although much farm produce was offered for sale, there was by no means a decline in prices.

Butter was quite plentiful and sold readily at 21c. to 23c. per pound, and in a few cases a higher price was obtained.

Fresh eggs were offered for sale in abundance and 17c. and 18c. per dozen were the prices realized.

Dressed poultry, as usual at this season, was scarce. A few pairs of chickens were sold at prices ranging from $1.00 to $1.50 per pair.

A large quantity of garden produce such as radishes, lettuce, asparagus and rhubarb, was sold to ready purchasers.

During the week there has been no change in the price of live hogs, which bring but $5.75 per hundred weight. Dressed hogs are sold at $8 per hundred weight.

In the hide market there has been a slight increase in some lines, but the market as a whole has been steady.

Our quotations are as follows:

MILITARY MATTERS

The turnout of the Fifteenth Regiment last night was a creditable one. Headed by the regimental band playing a tuneful march, the regiment paraded out, after which company drill was indulged in for some time in the armories. The ranks of the various companies are filling up.

It is likely that Sergt. Barber will be selected as the third party to represent the Fifteenth Regiment in the Canadian contingent at the Coronation. Sergt. C. Hayes, who was formerly selected, is unable to go.

Winnipeg had snow, rain and a temperature but one degree above freezing point on Thursday. The weather here isn't so bad after all, comparatively speaking.

In the year 1886 Canada's mineral production amounted to $10,221,225, or about $2.23 per capita. In 1909 it was $91,415,7[illegible], or something like $12 per capita.

The Erie Railroad has introduced an innovation and a convenience for travellers by allowing them to order tickets by telephone and by delivering the tickets to the purchasers at their own homes. It looks like a good thing and might be worthy of adoption by the Canadian roads, especially in large cities.

The Chief Engineer of the Toronto Electric Light Co., says that the insulation of electric light wires is only a custom, and that so far as high voltage wires are concerned it does not insulate, that is to say, the insulation of a high voltage wire is no guarantee of its safety. It is well that all people who are not electrical experts, and most of us are not, should keep this statement in mind as a warning. All electric wires should be regarded with suspicion. They may be harmless; but they may be deadly.

Mr. J. Lockie Wilson, superintendent of agricultural societies, intends to stimulate the interest in fall fairs by having the farmers of the country enter their horses in jumping competitions, for which handsome prizes will be given. At present the only extra attractions at fall fairs are the trotting races, and Mr. Wilson thinks that if jumping competitions were held the farmers would enter their horses and some good sport would follow. It also would lead to more extensive breeding of high-class jumpers.

The list of contributories of the Farmers Bank falling under the double liability clause, has been completed and will go before the court at once, after which those included in the list will have an opportunity to lodge a protest. The document contains 700 names, comprising, for the greater part, Ontario farmers who were persuaded to put their money into the defunct institution, and now must suffer a loss of twice the amount they subscribed for. Had the Government done their duty, as the law requires, the people in question would never have been robbed by Travers, Nesbitt & Co.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Thursday afternoon was the occasion of the annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A. The meeting was bright and full of interest. Splendid reports were presented by the officers and the various committees.

The report of Mrs. Millard, the treasurer, showed that during the past year $330 had been realized, expenditures $79.77, net increase $250.33.

Mrs. C. E. Smith reported for the Membership Committee, that there were 200 paid up members.

Mrs. Bishop gave an exceptionally helpful and inspiring Bible talk.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows:—

Hon. Pres.—Mrs. H. C. Hunt.
Pres.—Mrs. Hess.
Vice Pres.—Mrs. Moynes.
Rec. Sec.—Miss Holden.
Cor Sec.—Mrs. Aseltine.
Treasurer.—Mrs. Millard.
Convenor of Religious Work Committee and Organist—Mrs. Mark Sprague.
Convenor of Membership Committee—Mrs. J. R. Smith and Mrs. French.
Convenor of Social Committee—Mrs. Scantlebury.

Convenor of Strangers' Tea committee—Mrs. Faulkener.
Convenor of Rooms Committee—Mrs F. S. Deacon.
Special Committee to supervise the Quotation Calenders, Mrs. Harnes and Mrs. Scantlebury.

The ladies also made arrangements to provide a dinner for Mr. Bryan and the directors of the Y.M.C.A. next Wednesday noon at the Rooms.

The foundation walls of the new building will be started on Monday morning.

Ticket holders for the Bryan lecture are going to be admitted 15 minutes earlier than the general public, so the Committee decided yesterday.

Grand Hotel.
Paris, April 10, 1911.

Dear Mother:—

I am having the time of my life, sight-seeing and tramping from morning until night. That pair of Relindo Shoes you gave me I think are "stunning," as I have not had a backache since I put them on. The cushion in the heel seems to overcome all the jar in walking, and those terrible headaches I suffered from have entirely disappeared. It is such a treat to have one's feet comfortable and you ought to have a pair yourself; they are just the thing for your nerves Will write you about my trip later, as I have just time to catch this mail.

Your loving daughter,
MARION.

F. P. Carney, agent for Relindo Shoes.

Found Lafayette's Body.

Edinburgh, May 13.—Lying amid the fire ruins of the Empire Music Hall, in the pit where the counter weights of the iron curtain were sunk, searchers last evening found the body of Lafayette the Great, the vaudeville performer who with a number of his company perished in the fire that destroyed the theatre. A body which previously had been taken from the ruins, supposed to have been that of Lafayette, now proves to have been that of Richards, who acted as Lafayette's double in the carrying out of his illusion.

Another member of the vaudeville company died yesterday, this being the tenth fatality resulting from the fire.

Killed by Fall From Ladder.

Brockville, May 13.—Mrs. James Stewart of Putnam's Corners died at her home as the result of a fracture of the skull while housecleaning. She slipped from a ladder and fell, striking her head on some crockery. The woman never regained consciousness. She was 60 years old.

Willing to Lower Rates.

Montreal, May 4.—The first meeting between the management of the Street Railway Co., and the Board of Control in regard to the question of an extension of the franchise to the company, was held at the City Hall yesterday. The company's representatives said they did not object to giving more tickets for 25 cents, but there might be some difficulty in regard to giving lower fares to connecting lines.

It was further explained that the company had about perfected all arrangements in regard to an amalgamation of the four companies.

YOU TAKE NO RISK

Our Reputation and Money is Back Of this Offer.

We pay for all the medicine used during the trial, if our remedy fails to completely relieve you of constipation. We take all the risk. You are not obligated to use in any manner if you accept our offer. Could anything be more fair to you? Is there any reason why you should hesitate to put our claims to a practical test?

The most scientific, common-sense treatment is Rexall Orderlies, which are eaten like candy. They are very pronounced, gentle and pleasant in action, and particularly agreeable in every way. They do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, flatulence, griping, or any inconvenience whatever. Rexall Orderlies are particularly good for children, aged and delicate persons.

We urge you to try Rexall Orderlies at our risk. Two sizes, 10c. and 25c. Remember, you can get Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store. J. S. McKeown.

RECIPROCITY COMPACT--FAVORED NATIONS

A gentleman stated to us the other day that Mr. Morley Currie, M.P. for the County of Prince Edward, told the electors of that county a few days ago, at a public meeting held at Roblin's Mills, that the privileges granted to the United States in the proposed reciprocity agreements were not to be enjoyed by those countries which, by treaty with England, are parties to what are known as the "most favored nation clauses," and the compact did not apply to or affect these countries.

It is difficult to understand how Mr. Currie could have made such a statement, knowing, as he must have known, that such a statement was not correct, as can be established on reference to pages 4131, 4132, 4133, 4134 and 4135 of the revised edition of the debates of the House of Commons on the 23rd of February, 1911.

It is true, the admission that the "favored nations clause" did apply to the reciprocity agreement now before Parliament. In fact, the admission was literally dragged out of Mr. Fielding. Why he was so reticent no one can understand unless the truth was to be kept from the people; and Mr. Currie, if he made such a statement, was only following the tactics of his leaders, of withholding the truth from those most deeply interested in the effect which the adoption of the treaty will have upon the trade of Canada.

On page 4131 of revised Hansard of the 23rd of February, 1911, it will be seen that Mr. Reid, the member for Leeds and Grenville, repeated a question which he had asked on the 16th of the month, to which he received an evasive answer. The question was:

> What is the number and the names of the countries, if any, that will be entitled to have their natural products and manufactured articles come into Canada under the same terms as the United States under the proposed reciprocity agreement?

The Finance Minister's answer was:

> France is a favored nation country to a limited extent, that is to say, as respects the lists of articles specified in schedules B and C to the French treaty. Twelve countries: Argentine Republic, Austria-Hungary, Bolivia, Colombia, Denmark, Japan, Norway, Russia, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland and Venezuela—are accorded most favored nation treatment generally.

"That does not answer the question definitely," replied Mr. Reid, who continued:

> "I can understand why the Finance Minister mixed up this question, because there is no doubt that in answering it he would have to bring in France, with whom we had a special treaty. But in order to get an answer as to the names of the countries that would enjoy the same conditions as the United States in bringing into Canada every article produced by the farmer outside the French treaty, in asking my question I mentioned the Argentine Republic, Austria-Hungary, Bolivia, Colombia, Denmark, Japan, Norway, Russia, Spain, Sweden and Venezuela. I left out the name of France, because we have a treaty with her. As I understand it, these are favored-nation countries, and as I understand it, every one of these countries will be entitled to ship their farm products in here, and to compete with our own farmers, if this treaty goes through. I want the Minister of Finance to answer that question, yes or no.

The Finance Minister snappishly retorted: "The hon. member understands it well enough, but it suits his purpose to pretend that he does not."

Mr. Reid not being able to get a direct answer out of the Minister, Mr. Borden, the leader of the Opposition, took him in hand. Here is the result:

> Mr. BORDEN (Halifax). I do not regard the answer as entirely definite. The reference in it is to dutiable goods, it says nothing at all about the free list. I suppose there was an obvious intention in making that omission. Why should not the hon. gentleman be able to inform this House, in the first place—
>
> Mr. FIELDING. On what point?
>
> Mr. BORDEN (Halifax). Whether the Argentine Republic will have the right to send its goods into our territory on the same terms as the United States?
>
> Mr. FIELDING. That is answered, my answer says so.
>
> Mr. BORDEN (Halifax). Well, we have the answer now; that is correct. Then will the hon. gentleman tell us if Austria-Hungary will have the same right?
>
> Mr. FIELDING. The same answer.
>
> Mr. BORDEN (Halifax). Will Bolivia have the same right?
>
> Mr. FIELDING. Yes.
>
> Mr. BORDEN (Halifax). Will Colombia have the same right?
>
> Mr. FIELDING. Yes.
>
> Mr. BORDEN (Halifax). Denmark the same right?
>
> Mr. FIELDING. Yes.
>
> Mr. BORDEN (Halifax). Japan the same right?
>
> Mr. FIELDING. Yes.
>
> Mr. BORDEN (Halifax). Norway the same right?
>
> Mr. FIELDING. Yes.
>
> Mr. BORDEN (Halifax). Russia the same right?
>
> Mr. FIELDING. Yes.
>
> Mr. BORDEN (Halifax). Spain the same right?
>
> Mr. FIELDING. Yes.
>
> Mr. BORDEN (Halifax). Sweden the same right?
>
> Mr. FIELDING. Yes.
>
> Mr. BORDEN (Halifax). Switzerland the same right?
>
> Mr. FIELDING. Yes.
>
> Mr. BORDEN (Halifax). Venezuela the same right?
>
> Mr. FIELDING. Yes.
>
> Mr. BORDEN (Halifax). Well, if the hon. gentleman had said this before, it would have saved the House a good deal of time.

We have given these copious extracts, first, to show how difficult it was to drag the truth from the reluctant minister, and, secondly, to prove how baseless and untrue are the statements made that the reciprocity pact does not affect the favored nations clause, to which some thirteen countries are parties.

BOON TO WOMEN

Mrs. E. Griffith, of Main St. Hepworth, Ont., says:—"A heavy, bearing down pain had settled across my back and sides. I was often unable to stoop or straighten up. I was languid and would have to let my housework stand. Nothing I had tried would benefit me. I learned of Booth's Kidney Pills, and I concluded I would try them, which I did, and soon found the long sought relief. My back strengthened and I began to feel better and stronger. I now enjoy my sleep without being disturbed and feel grateful to Booth's Kidney Pills for what they did for me."

Booth's Kidney Pills are a boon to women. She would know less of back aches if she took more of these wonderful pills. They are guaranteed. All druggists, 50c. box, or postpaid from The R. T. Booth Co., Ltd., Fort Erie., Ont., who will send trial box on application.

SHOULD LEAVE UNION

Hon. Mr. Fisher Explains New Copyright Act.

Membership in the Copyright Union Is of No Material Advantage and Canada Could Get Better Terms by Withdrawing, Says Minister of Agriculture—Bank Act Will Probably Not Come Up This Session.

Ottawa, May 13.—There was a business-like sitting of the House yesterday and a number of Government measures were under consideration.

Hon. W. S. Fielding introduced a bill to extend for one year the charters of the Canadian banks, which expire at the end of every ten years. This probably means that the general revision of the Bank Act will be deferred until next session of Parliament.

Before the consideration in committee of Hon. Mr. Fisher's bill to amend the Copyright Act was taken up, the Minister made some additional explanations in reference to it. He said that under the present arrangements British subjects and bone fide British residents had copyright privileges in Canada. Copyright acts were under consideration, both in the Imperial Parliament and in Canada, and when these were passed, he proposed to extend Canadian privileges throughout the Empire.

Under the new Canadian act citizens of countries outside the international union were not given copyright privileges in Canada unless there was a special arrangement with that country. The new bill provided for making such arrangements.

It was a question as to whether Canada should remain in the union under the new act. Under the present system a country outside of the union could get privileges in all countries in the union by obtaining copyright from one of its members. The United States was a case in point. That country, while not a member of the union, could get all its advantages without giving any concessions in return. Under the circumstances, Mr. Fisher thought it would be as well for Canada to withdraw from the union, unless an arrangement could be made whereby an outsider's privilege within the union would be restricted to the one country within which it had been obtained. The Minister further stated his belief that if Canada were to withdraw from the union, several countries would immediately take steps to secure privileges within the Dominion. Progress was reported.

The Ontario & Quebec Railway bill, to which there have been objections, was allowed to stand in the absence of the promoter. Mr. Graham suggested that a good title for the railway might be the Ontario and Abitibi.

The bill to incorporate the Grain Growers' Grain Co. passed through committee and was given a third reading. There was a short discussion over the title, in view of the wide powers sought by the promoters. W. S. Middlebro of North Grey suggested that it should change to the Grain Growers' Trading Co. In that case, he said, nobody would be misled.

Finding that the western Conservatives were against changing the name of the company, the question was dropped.

The resolutions to increase the salaries of postoffice employes were discussed in committee. The total amount involved was $51,850.

In reply to Mr. Taylor of Leeds Mr. Lemieux said that letter-carriers delivery was established in places of twelve thousand inhabitants. This was the rule, but the practice was to apply it to towns of between ten and twelve thousand people.

Mr. Taylor said he had seen it mentioned in the newspapers that Brockville, Hon. Mr. Graham's constituency, with nine thousand people, was to get a letter-carrier delivery. Mr. Lemieux, however, stated that he had not heard of it himself.

Jos. Russell (Toronto) pointed out that junior mail clerks got less in the beginning than mail carriers, but had no allowance for clothing.

Mr. Lemieux said he was quite willing the consider the question of supplying railway mail clerks with uniforms. He also expressed himself as inclined to the view that Canada should follow the example of the United States and other countries and provide more distinctive and ornate mail cars.

The Minister then made reference to the various increases which have been given to the service recently, and intimated that there would be more in the future.

The resolutions were passed shortly after midnight and bills based upon them were given first reading.

A Sure Tip.

London, May 13.—For the first time in two weeks, William Hayden has taken the index finger of his right hand from the tip of his nose. It was a long time to remain in one position, but Mr. Hayden will think the results worth the inconvenience, for now he has a fine tip to his nose where formerly he had none.

Yesterday morning the cartilage of the finger was cut away and there to the end of the nose stuck that cartilage.

Only one thing remains to be done, where the finger nail was, a piece of skin will have to be grafted, but that will be easily done in a week or two.

A Strong Gas Well.

Vienna, Ont., May 13.—The Dominion Gas Co. struck a high pressure gas well here yesterday. The boss driller says it is one of the strongest wells ever struck in Canada. It is pouring out to-day six million feet of gas per day.

He's a Capturer.

Brockville, May 13.—George Tower, fish and game overseer for this section of the St. Lawrence River, made a seizure of three large nets up the north channel. This makes nine he has captured this season so far.

BLAZE AT PETAWAWA.

Buildings at Camp Are Destroyed—Many Other Fires.

Ottawa, May 13.—The Militia Department was apprised yesterday of a fire at Petawawa military camp on Thursday which destroyed the ordnance stores building, the army service corps building, and the house of Sergt. Slade, the caretaker, entailing a loss of about $25,000. The fire was caused by lighting, which struck the building, and, despite the efforts of a number of men employed in getting the camp ready for the summer training, the buildings and contents were consumed. The loss is made up mainly of the blankets used in camp, a number of Ross rifles, several subtarget guns and transport wagons. The buildings were one-storey frame structures.

Craighurst In Danger.

Craighurst, May 13.—Bush fires are raging furiously all around the Village of Craighurst, causing much alarm to the residents. Unless the high winds that prevail at the present time abate, and rain is forthcoming, the village is in danger of being wiped out. The fire is making rapid strides, fanned by high winds and the village is enveloped in smoke. A number of the male residents are out to fight the flames.

Approaching Bala.

Bala, May 13.—Wm. Carr started a fire Thursday to clear the corner of a chopping. After dinner it was beyond his control and is now across the C.P.R. track. The fire is raging before a high wind eastward along Shanty Bay towards Bala. Buildings will be in danger if it crosses the swamp north of Robertson's Point, as there is no provision of any kind for fighting it.

Lavant Threatened.

Kingston, May 13.—A big bush fire is raging at Lavant, on the line of the Kingston & Pembroke Railway, sixty miles north of here. Mayor Graham was called upon to render assistance last night. The mayor gave Fire Chief Armstrong permission to take the Chatham fire engine and as much hose as he could spare. A special train was made up and left as soon as possible with men and equipment. The report from Lavant states that the fire is about a quarter of a mile from the village. It is believed it will be checked in time to save the buildings in the village. There are less than a dozen houses as Lavant.

A special from Lavant says the employes of the Wilbur Iron Mines have been fighting bush fires for two days and nights, and that if the wind changes, it is sure to strike Lavant. Kingston firemen are at the scene checking fire as best they can.

May Become Serious.

Megantic, Que., May 13.—Forest fires are raging in the Woburn district near here. Between four and five miles square of forest have already been burned over. A large force of men have been rushed to the scene and are now making an effort to stay its progress. Unless rain comes soon, the situation will be serious.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

The King and Queen opened the Festival of Empire yesterday.

The death occurred suddenly last night of F. W. Annand, immigation agent at Halifax.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank McMillan of Dummer were killed while driving over a railway crossing.

The storm throughout the west has abated and the weather is generally clear and bright, but the telegraph wires generally are down.

Albany Marcil, a twelve-year-old boy of Hull, was drowned in attempting to save his younger brother, who fell into the river. The smaller boy was rescued.

The fiftieth anniversary of the formation of the 63rd Regiment, Halifax Rifles, the third oldest militia regiment in Canada, was celebrated last night.

A semi-official denial of rumors that Russian and Japan are negotiating a common plan of action inimical to China was issued at St. Petersburg last night.

Red Lopez, one of the rebel leaders, is said to be under arrest and will be tried by court-martial at Juarez, Mexico. He is charged with having sold out at the second battle at Agua Prieta.

A jury in the Supreme Court yesterday awarded Mrs. Indiana Chevrier of Montreal yesterday $1,999 damages against the G.T.R. The woman's husband was killed on Dec. 1, 1900, near the Bonaventure Station.

The British steamer Cayo Bonito, from London yesterday for Tampico, and the British steamer Galician, outward bound from London, collided in a fog off the North Foreland. Both steamers have returned to London.

Fire yesterday afternoon destroyed half a dozen small residences and then spread to the municipal electric plant of St. Johns, Que., which was also wiped out. The total loss is placed at $75,000, with insurance of about half that amount.

Bryan at Galt.

Galt, May 13.—William Jennings Bryan, the noted American politician, wh ois on a tour through western Ontario, arrived in Galt yesterday morning, having motored here from Paris, where he lectured Thursday night. At 1 o'clock he was entertained to a luncheon at the Imperial Hotel, which was attended by over a hundred prominent citizens. Mr. Bryan delivered a strong address, in which he supported the Y.M.C.A., and outlined the great work the association is doing in the uplift of men. Speaking of the association as a co-operative institution, Mr. Bryan digressed from his subject somewhat to commend the system of annuities recently inaugurated by the Canadian Government. For years, he said, he had been trying to figure out a similar scheme for the benefit of the citizens of the United States. Only yesterday did he learn that such a system was in force in Canada. He could not understand why every civilized country did not follow the lead of Canada and encourage the people to put something by for the day when they would be old and could not work.

ARCHBISHOP'S FUNERAL

Toronto Prelate's Body Is Laid to Rest in Vault.

Impressive Ceremony In St. Michael's Cathedral Is Attended by Prominent Representatives of the Church and Government — Bishop Fallon Preaches an Eloquent Sermon—Choral Mass Celebrated.

Toronto, May 13.—"Fergus Patrick McEvay, once Bishop of London, late Archbishop of Toronto, but over all a priest of the holy church of Jesus Christ, farewell from all of us until we meet again with God in heaven."

With these words the Right Rev. Michael Fallon, Bishop of London, concluded an eloquent oration over the mortal remains of his grace Archbishop McEvay. It was a fitting tribute by a strong man to a strong man, and more appropriate because the one who spoke was the ecclesiastical successor in London to the one who had departed, who took up the crozier he had lain down to assume a larger responsibility and was now completing the work he had left unfinished.

No more impressive scene has ever been witnessed within the stately walls of St. Michael's Cathedral than that of yesterday. The ornate decorations, sufficient in themselves to form a suitable background for such a ceremonial, were amplified by the funereal drapings; the gathering of the prelates around the casket with the gorgeous colorings of the papal vestments; the sombre hue of the densely packed throng in the pews mingled with the white surplices of the visiting clergy in the centre of the nave; these, and the striking figure of the speaker in the pulpit, clothed in a simple black cassock with a broad girdle of purple, towering above and reaching over the vast throng made a picture which those who saw will never forget. And in the closing moments of his remarks, when Bishop Fallon said, "Eternal rest come unto him. The Lord let perpetual light shine upon him, and may his soul and the souls of all the faithful departed, through the mercy of God, rest in peace," there was a spiritual quickening; a wave of emotion passed over all, as it might be when the voice of the archangel was speaking. The soft intoning of the organ which followed and the sweet voices of the choristers as they chanted the responses of the requiem of peace. Not a few said, "Even as he who succeeded his grace to the see of London, and has so fittingly expressed what was in every hear, may he also succeed him in the archiepiscopal see of Toronto, here to implement the work which has been so abundantly endowed with his blessing and spirit."

Shortly after 10 o'clock the procession of clergy arrived, the bishops and prelates passing into the chancel and grouping themselves in order of procedure around the casket. The archbishop's throne was appropriately left vacant, while on the opposite side a canopy had been erected for his excellency Mgr. Stagni, papal ablegate, who, robed in purple and gold with mitre and cope, conducted the high mass of the requiem.

The archbishops present were: Archbishop Bruchesi, Montreal; Archbishop Begin, Quebec; Archbishop Gauthier of Ottawa.

The bishops in attendance were: Bishop Dowling, Hamilton; Bishop Latioleppe, vicar apostolic of Temiskaming; Bishop Weber, head of the Roman Catholic College at Berlin; Bishop Bruneau, Nicolet; Bishop Carey, St. John, N.B.; Bishop Macdonnell, Alexandra, Ont.; Bishop Fallon, London; Bishop O'Connor, Peterboro; Bishop Feehan, Fall River; Bishop Hickey, Rochester.

Those in the first seats were: Premier Whitney, A. C. Macdonnel, M.P., South Toronto; Edmund Bristol, M.P., Centre Toronto; Hon. Dr. Reaume, M.P.P., Minister of Public Works; Hon. Frank Cochrane, Minister of Lands and Mines; Hon. J. J. Foy, Attorney-General of Ontario, and Hon. W. J. Hanna, Provincial Secretary.

Behind them were seated Hon. Charles Murphy, Secretary of State, representing the Dominion Government; George Clare, M.P., Waterloo, and George Gordon, M.P., Nipissing.

Next came Hon. J. M. Gibson, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, and Mr. Justice Latchford.

The ceremony of robing the celebrant lasted a few minutes, and then the organ pealed forth in the solemn mass of requiem, and the choir sang in Latin:

"Eternal rest give them, O Lord; and let perpetual light shine about them. A hymn, O Lord, becometh thee in Zion; and a vow shall be paid to thee in Jerusalem, O Lord, hear my prayer, and all flesh shall come to thee."

The confiteor was recited, and then came the Kyrie Eleison, during which prayers were offered up to the Lord to have mercy on the soul which had passed away.

At the conclusion of the sermon by Bishop Fallon, final absolution was given, the prelates coming close around the casket and sprinkling the body with holy water. The funeral cortege then moved off to Mount Hope Cemetery, where the body was temporarily committed to the vault to await a decision as to the final disposition.

Confessed to Thefts.

Kingston, May 13.—A fifteen-year-old boy, found guilty of many petty thefts from city stores, was given a year in the industrial school. Merchants had been complaining for months of the thefts. The lad confessed.

Kingston Canadian Club.

Kingston, May 13.—Sir George Gibbons was the guest of the Canadian Club at the noon-day luncheon. He spoke on the work of the International Waterways Commission.

GO-BETWEENS BUSY.

No Official Move Made to Secure Peace in Mexico.

Juarez, Mexico, May 13.—The Provisional Government of Mexico made much progress with its work of organization yesterday. Although nothing was done yesterday by officers of the Provinsional Government respecting peace negotiations, the fact that there is a deadlock over procedure became more pronounced. The Federal Government and the Provisional Government are standing their distance, each waiting for the other to make the first move.

Unofficial go-betweens are again busy in an effort to bring the two sides together. They expected to get an audience with Provisional President Madero yesterday, but were not successful. To-day it is expected he will listen to what is believed their new argument, having dissolved their original peace commission of three, the rebels now may conduct their peace negotiations through their newly organized body of foreign relations.

A gleam of hope for peace is contained in the fact that some rebel leaders have declared they would be willing to accept Gen. Diaz's manifesto as sufficient evidence of his intention to resign and go ahead with peace negotiations, providing that Diaz consent to immediate appointment of governors for fourteen of the twenty-seven states and to again transfer power into the hands of the revolutionary party.

On the other hand some of the insurrecto leaders believe that the military successes soon will include Mexico City, whither the Provisional Government will be moved, and that submission at this time hardly would afford a complete transfer of political power.

ENGINEER SAVES THEM.

He Mended Wireless Which Brought Aid to Steamer.

Norfolk, Va., May 13.—The passengers and crew of the steamer Merida were landed here at 7 p.m. Perry E. Boulon, an expert engineer, was the real hero of the hour. It was largely through Boulon's assistance that the Farragut's wireless was repaired and Operator Leach's first call for aid, at 5.30 o'clock, was made possible. From the old Dominion liner Hamilton and the battleship Iowa, both 55 miles away came quick response. The Iowa and the Hamilton raced to save lives. The Hamilton won. Just a few minutes after eight o'clock the Hamilton sighted the Admiral Farragut, and in half an hour had lifeboats out. Within two hours three hundred and twenty-nine passengers shifted from the Farragut to the Hamilton. The Merida's lights were extinguished ten minutes after the collision. Passengers were thrown from their beds in state rooms and bunks below. Ship's officers quieted women passengers, three or four of whom having infants in their arms rushed to the deck in their night clothes.

Two scare Mexican refugees were among the Merida's passengers, bound for the United States and Europe. One passenger is said to have been a Roman Catholic archbishop enroute to Rome.

One woman said she lost $1,000 in gold, deposited with the Merida purser, and half a carload of tropical birds, which she was importing. The secretary to the Italian legation in Mexico lost eight trunks, and there were many other losses equally as great.

Carroll Must Hang.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., May 13.—The assizes closed yesterday, at the last duty devolving upon Justice Britton being the sentencing of Wm. Carroll, to hang on July 26 for the murder of Joseph Taillon, in a lumber camp back of Blind River in November. Carroll received sentence in the same stoic manner, which has characterized his attitude throughout the trial. He had nothing to say, and in fact did not seem to realize his position.

It is believed that clemency will be shown in Carroll's case, as he is an old man and had been confined in asylum at London in 1902, from which he made his escape.

Frank Bishop and Charles Burgess, charged with rape upon the person of Mary Arseneau, at Michipicoten, were discharged.

The grand jury in submitting its report touched upon the necessity for a new jail and court house. It is felt that the present building is not adequate for the importance of the district.

After Eight Years.

New York, May 13.—After eight years in the Arctic ice pack, a message despatched by balloon from the headquarters of the Baldwin-Ziegler polar expedition in Franz Josef Land, on June 24, 1902, is now in the hands of the original sender, Evelyn Briggs Baldwin. Baldwin sent out a series of messages stoutly sealed in small casks, and suspended by a special releasing device from balloons. When the balloon sank low enough for one of the casks to touch water or ice, that cask was released and the balloon freed of just that much weight, sailed on again until another cask touched and was released. So the process went ou until all the casks were deposited. The message now in Mr. Baldwin's hands is the second that has come back to him.

Steamers In Collision.

New York, May 13.—The steamship Merida of the Ward Line, with 207 passengers from Havana for this city, was rammed by the steamer Admiral Farragut off Cape Charles, Virginia, shortly after midnight yesterday morning. The Merida's passengers and crew were transferred to the Admiral Farragut. Water poured through the gaping wound in the Merida's side, and five hours after the collision the steamship settled beneath the waves. The Admiral Farragut was somewhat damaged in the collision, but was able to proceed.

QUALITY OR QUANTITY

Which do you Prefer?—Newbro's Herpicide Represents Quality.

Did you ever have a dealer offer you a large bottle of something and tell you that it was a better remedy for the hair than Newbro's Herpicide and cheaper because in a larger bottle?

What? Certainly we knew you had. Many other people have too.

What would you say to that dealer were he to tell you a silver dollar was worth as much as vbgkqj gkqj was worth more than a five-dollar gold piece because it was larger?

Such an attempt being a reflection upon your good sense you would probably say some rather pointed things to him. You would be justified. Your self-respect would demand it.

Well, there are just as many good reasons for the difference in size between those bottles as there are for the difference in size between the silver dollar and the five dollar gold piece.

The truth is that the large bottle isn't half large enough.

There is more virtue in a half pint of Newbro's Herpicide than in a gallon of some of the so-called hair preparations.

There's a dollar's worth of results in the bottle of Herpicide, but do you know what is in the other?

No? Why then buy it? Your judgment, intelligence and the experience of your friends, if not your own, cry out against it.

You know when you go into that store that Herpicide is what you need and want.

You KNOW that Herpicide is the original scalp prophylactic.

You KNOW that Herpicide kills the dandruff germ.

You KNOW that Herpicide stops the falling hair.

You KNOW that Herpicide makes the hair light, fluffy and beautiful.

You know these things in the same way you know that the five dollar gold piece, notwithstanding its size, is more valuable than the silver dollar.

Then insist on having genuine Herpicide.

One dollar size bottles are sold and guaranteed by all druggists.

Applications obtained at the best barber shops and hair dressing parlors. Send 10c. in postage or silver for sample and booklet to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich. J. S. McKeown, special agent.

All Foolish Stories.

D. L. & W. RY. (LACKAWANNA) EXCURSION—TORONTO TO NEW YORK, MAY 18.

In connection with the above excursion the Grand Trunk Railway are running a special train from Toronto to New York, leaving Toronto at 7.30 p.m., May 18, arriving at New York about 9.00 a.m., May 19th. The train will consist of one combination car, one coach and five Pullman sleepers. The rate from Toronto is $14.25, and tickets are good for return until May 27th. These tickets are only on sale at Toronto. Secure berth reservations and full information from Grand Trunk Agents, or address A. E. Duff, District Passenger Agent, Toronto. m5to18d

THE FOURTH SENIOR ELOCUTION CONTEST

Music as Well as Recitations Enhanced the Evening's Pleasure

The fourth Senior Elocution Contest under the auspices of the "Y's" was held in St. Andrew's church last evening. All present enjoyed the excellent programme provided, which consisted of songs, and piano solos, besides the temperance selections. After singing "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name" Rev. Mr. Kerr, who acted as chairman, led in prayer, and made a few opening remarks.

The contestants were each called by number, and the programme was given in the following order:—

1st—Mr. Dan Bowen,— Temperance Oration.

Solo—Mr. Garvin Burkley.

2nd—Miss Aileen Hinchey—Undressing Little Ned.

Solo—Miss Wanda Riggs—Crossing the Bar.

3rd—Miss Eva North— Poorhouse Nan.

Piano Solo—Miss Edith Fenn.

4th—Mr. Frank Smith, (Albert College), —College Oil Cans.

Solo—Mr. Robt. Muir—Plains of Peace.

5th—Mr. A. Taylor, of O. B. C.,— Prohibition Oration.

Piano Solo—Miss Jean Milne.

6th—Miss May Haslip—Rescued.

Solo—Mr. Wilkes—Canada for Christ

7th— Mr. Russell McCreary— The Face on the Floor.

The judges—Mrs. McPherson, Miss P. Campbell, Mrs. Howard, Messrs. Henry and Shorey—had a difficult task. Mr. Dan Bowen, however, won the silver medal, with Mr. McCreary only two-fifths of a point behind While the judges were arriving at their decision. Mrs. Alex. Rae told a little of the "Y" work, and spoke of a small book she had read recently—"Little is Much if God is in it." She thought that was the way with the different departments of the "Y," whose motto is: "Through God we shall do valiantly," and they believe in legislation and moral suasion.

Mr. Arthur Marsh then made a few announcements and thanked all who had so kindly assisted in making the evening enjoyable.

Mrs. Ackerman, one of the "Y's," then presented the medal and silver pins. Miss Q. Smith acted as accompanist.

Rev. Mr. Kerr, in his closing remarks, hoped that all present would help the "Y's" in their good work as none were so busy that they could not assist a little more.

The "Y's" wish to thank all who have taken part in this series of Silver Medal contests, and especially Mr Arthur Marsh, who has worked so diligently and so indefatigably as superintendent. The success of the contests is almost entirely due to his zeal.

TWO SMALL BLAZES IN CITY YESTERDAY

The firemen had two runs last night, but fortunately in both cases the damage done was not serious.

At 5.30 the first alarm was sounded. A blaze was discovered in the roof of a house on Wharf Street, occupied by Mr. Wm. Knott, but it was extinguished without the aid of the firemen.

At about midnight the brigade was again called out. A small shed in the rear of premises on Front Street near No. 1 fire hall was destroyed. A few months ago the house was destroyed by fire at the same place and now the shed is gone. Col. Ponton owned the premises. The loss sustained was covered by insurance. The fire had every appearance of being incendiary in its origin.

CHARGED WITH THEFT; GOES TO NAPANEE

The police last evening received a message from Napanee that two parties were wanted on a charge of stealing a waterproof coat. At 10.15 Officer Corrigan arrested a man named Daniel Dougherty, who was one of the parties wanted. Chief Graham was notified of the arrest and came to the city, taking back with him this morning the accused. The second party has not been located.

D. YOUNG LED IN GUN CLUB SHOOT

Ten members of the Belleville Gun Club yesterday evening participated in the usual weekly shoot at clay pigeons. Twenty-five birds were shot at by each man, and the scores made were as follows:

D. Young	21
A. C. Mott	20
M. Sprague	16
G. Bennett	16
B. McGuire	16
R. Stafford	15
H. Day	14

ALL READY FOR CENSUS TAKING

Commissioner Blue Tells of the Work That Is Necessary

On the first of June the enumeration of the people will commence and particular interest attaches to it by reason of the talk of a general election and a redistribution of representation previous to it. Mr. Archibald Blue, the chief census officer, stated that all the arrangements for taking the census are complete. "It will take about three weeks to do the enumerating," he said, "and after that the schedule will have to be revised by the superintendents. The tabulation will begin about the second week in July. It will be done in two ways—by the ordinary counting and by the use of adding machines. We should know the population early in October, perhaps before that."

Most parliamentarians are figuring out that if a general election is to be held this fall a redistribution bill must be put through first to satisfy the demands of the western provinces. The eastern members are little concerned about it. Dissolution presupposes a long sustained siege in the house following the adjournment. The present indications are that it will take place but events here and at Washington, as well as at London, may alter the conditions from the Government's point of view.

THREE DRUNKS WERE DEALT WITH TODAY

Before Magistrate Masson this morning three drunks were disposed of.

Wm. Harrison, who claims to be a farm helper, was fined $5 and $2.50 costs, he being an old offender.

Mortimer Cronin, who has appeared a number of times in court for drunkenness, was fined $10 and $2.50 costs, or, in default, 30 days in jail. He went up on the hill.

Toney Vokoritz, a foreigner, working at Point Ann, was allowed to go, this being his first appearance in the court.

STRANGERS WITHIN OUR GATES

At the Parish Hall in connection with Christ Church last evening Miss Imogene Palen gave an illustrated lecture, the subject of which was "The Strangers Within Our Gates." The views were excellent and the subject appropriately spoken to by Miss Palen. During the evening Miss Cooper and Mr. Robins renders instrumental selections and Miss Simpkins sang a solo.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

The Toronto Rowing Club Minstrels gave a performance at Griffin's Opera house last night before a fair-sized audience. The company, as a whole, was strong musically, and several of their witticisms took well. The singing, both solo and concerted, was of fair quality, and Victor Lewis, their impersonator, made a big hit in his various characterizations. On the whole the performance gave general satisfaction.

MARINE NOTES

The steamer Alexandria arrived here this morning from Montreal. She had on board a number of passengers and a heavy cargo of freight. After unloading she proceeded on her usual weekly trip to Charlotte.

The steamer Beaverton has taken 29,000 bags of cement for Port Colborne and the Reindeer 3,000 bags for Picton from the cement works.

The steamer Turret Chief is at the cement works.

WINNERS AT MONTREAL

At the Montreal horse show, on Thursday the Wilmot stable won first in pony tandems with Hick Cup and Stirrup Cup, driven by Miss Wilmot, and second with Gold Cup and Pick-em-up, driven by Miss Wilmot. Mr. Fisher Wilmore's Diddie Van won second in saddle horses up to 200 pounds and over.

HAD A NARROW ESCAPE

It was reported to the police that yesterday afternoon a little child of Mr. Robert Gibson, residing on Great St. James Street, narrowly escaped being run over by some cars which were being shunted near Marsh & Henthorn's establishment.

TAX LOT INVESTIGATION

The tax lot sale investigation was continued this afternoon before His Honor Judge Deroche. A number of citizens have been summoned to give evidence in this enquiry.

LICENSE GRANTED

At a meeting of the License Commissioners for West Hastings, held at Trenton yesterday, Mr. Wm. Rodbourne, of this city, was granted a shop license for the year.

AN INTERESTING EXAMPLE OF HOW THE TUDHOPE MOTOR CO. LOOK AFTER THEIR CARS, AS SHOWN BY AN INCIDENT HERE LAST WEEK.

Mr. L. W. Marsh, who has an Everett 33 fore door touring car met with an accident some ten miles from Belleville last Wednesday afternoon. In conversation with the Company over the telephone they decided to send him an entire new engine and expressed same from their works Thursday afternoon at four o'clock, and at 4.30 on Friday afternoon the car was in commission. Their desire to serve their customers and to see that they lose no time in the use of their cars is very commendable. Mr. Marsh is particularly pleased with the way in which they handled this matter and cannot say too good things for the Everett Cars.

The car was therefore out of use practically only one day, and it might also be mentioned that it took only about five hours to connect the entire engine up to the car.

FOR A LONG LIFE

Fresh air and exercise, with proper food and a sufficient amount of sleep are the essentials.

Under such a regime of living, germs cannot develop and many diseases are prevented.

Should the system require a tonic, take only such as you know their ingredients—such is Vinol, which is a delicious combination of the health-giving properties of the cods' livers with all the useless grease eliminated and tonic iron added, happily blended in a mild, medicinal wine.

For this reason Vinol is regarded as one of the greatest body builders and invigorators for aged people. It invigorates and builds them up and keeps them up.

We sell Vinol with the understanding that if it does not give satisfaction the price will be returned. J. S. McKeown.

The erection of three wireless stations in the Fiji Islands has recently been begun by the Marconi Company.

SKIN SUFFERER TRIED EVERYTHING—THEN D.D.D. CURED

This was the experience of Mrs. Geo. Newman, of Orangeville, Ont., She wrote in Jan., 1910:—

"I was terribly troubled with eczema on my face, neck, and hands for four years. I tried everything I had heard tell of, then saw your advertisement in the paper, sent for a trial bottle of D.D.D., used it on my face and got well. It is now two years and no return of the eczema. I consider I am cured, and it was a blessing to me."

No matter how terribly you suffer from eczema, salt rheum, ringworm or any other skin disease, you will feel instantly soothed and the itch relieved at once when a few drops of this compound of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol, Glycerine, etc., is applied The cures all seem to be permanent, too.

For free trial bottle of D. D. D. write the D.D.D. Laboratories, Dept. B. I., 49 Colborne St., Toronto. Sold by J. S. McKeown.

SPORTING NOTES

BOXING.

Kid Meyers, who is now a resident of Belleville, will have a bout with Kid Barrish, of Boston, who boxed Artie Edmunds at Toronto recently. Meyers is very confident of the outcome, although Barrish has a big reputation, and hopes to win the lightweight championship for Belleville. Due notice will be given of time and place.

THE TURF

FASTEST TRIAL EVER.

Things were lively at the Woodbine track, Toronto, yesterday morning, trainers sending their candidates for the King's guineas along at their best. And the honor of the trials fell to Mr. Henry Giddings' grand horse, St. Bass, when he worked the plate distance in as fast a time as it was won by Mr. Seagram's Inferno, 2.10 2-5, with a 118 pound boy up, and with something left.

This is the fastest work ever done in a trial for the Plate. After his work he pulled up and cooled out as sound as a dollar.

Trainer John Nixon sent the Hendrie candidates, Powderman and Legislator the journey, and they did all they were asked. Powderman with Foden up and Legislator with young Bud Graver in the saddle, broke from the stand and went in 2.14 3-5, well in hand.

The next pair to show was Mr. Jos. Seagram's Havrock and Jane Shore Trainer Barry Littlefield sent them away from the 5-8 pole. They stepped in 2.15.

Trainer Eddie Whyte sent Miss Martinmas, Mr. McKenzie's hope, the full distance early, with Jockey Geo. Finch up. She went the journey in 2.15 2-5 nice and handy.

THE MARKETS.

Liverpool and Chicago Wheat Futures Close Higher—Live Stock—Latest Quotations.

LIVERPOOL, May 12.—Firm at opening in sympathy with sharp advance in America, and prices were ⅛d to ¼d higher. There was further good outside speculative support, with shorts nervous. Reports from Russia regarding the weather continue bullish and Plata offers firm, with lighter Argentine shipments this week and firmer Australian offers, with the continent bidding for cargoes in all positions. There is a general tightening of all offers here, despite the change in weather conditions in Southern Europe.

CHICAGO, May 12.—Short sellers were stampeding for cover to-day at the close of the market in wheat. Their action was due to the pit having become oversold and then suddenly confronted with allies' reports telling of a somewhat doubtful condition of the crop in sections of the southwest, where the drought was most severe last fall. Final sales were ¼c to 1⅛c higher than 24 hours before. Corn finished ⅛c up to ⅜c to ⅝c off; oats ⅛c to ⅜c lower to ⅛c advance, and hog products varied from last night's level to 1.15 decline, the latter for May pork.

Whiskey for the Stomach

"My Stomach's Bad and I Find That a 'Little' Liquor Is Good for It."

TAKE THE GATLIN TREATMENT—IN THREE DAYS YOUR STOMACH WILL DIGEST FOOD PERFECTLY, YOUR APPETITE WILL BE GOOD AND YOU WILL NOT CRAVE OR DESIRE LIQUOR.

NO HYPODERMIC INJECTIONS

YOU DRINK LIQUOR for your stomach—but what is WRONG with your stomach that it seems to require liquor? Before you commenced drinking it didn't demand liquor—NOW you find that alcohol has become a physical and nerve necessity.

Alcoholic poison accumulates in the system—its antidote is MORE alcohol. When you take a drink, alcohol temporarily deadens the nerve-pain caused by the accumulation of poison, and you feel better, but its effects soon die out, and there is demand again for replenishment—thus you are attached to an ENDLESS CHAIN OF DRINK. You keep right on drinking because you CAN'T STOP until this poison is eliminated by the Gatlin treatment—the only treatment that will eliminate it—but THREE DAYS' TIME required.

CRAVING GONE IN THREE DAYS

In THREE DAYS from the day you commence the Gatlin treatment every trace of alcoholic poison disappears from the system—with it, craving, desire and physical and nerve necessity for liquor also disappear. In THREE DAYS the liquor habit is gone, the stomach is returned to normal condition, and all the organs of the body are performing their natural functions, which they have not been doing since you have been drinking liquor.

Come TO-DAY to the Gatlin Institute and be treated under legal contract in THREE DAYS—the results are to be entirely satisfactory in every particular—or, on leaving, the fee paid shall be refunded and treatment shall cost NOTHING. No hypodermic injections, no poisonous or deleterious drugs, no substitute stimulants—no disagreeable features—a treatment so harmless that any child could take it.

The Gatlin Home Treatment for those who cannot come to the Institute for THREE DAYS.

Call or write for books of particulars, copies of contracts to cure and other information. Telephone North 4538.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, May 12.—Cables on Manitoba spring wheat came stronger, with bids 3d higher, but even at this advance they were out of line with values here at the close as much as 1½c to 2c per bushel. The foreign demand for oats continues good, and, as bids were 3d higher, further sales were made. The local market was stronger in sympathy with the advance in Winnipeg, and sellers were asking higher prices, but in the absence of business no change was established. A very firm feeling prevails in the flour market, and a fairly active trade is passing for local account, but the foreign demand is quiet.

Oats—Canadian western, No. 2, 42c to 42¼c, car lots, ex-store; extra No. 1 feed, 41½c to 41¾c; No. 3 C.W., 41c to 41¼c; No. 2 local white, 40c to 40½c; No. 3 local white, 39½c to 39¾c; No. 4 local white, 38½c to 39c.

Flour—Manitoba spring wheat patents, firsts, $5.30; seconds, $4.80; winter wheat patents, $4.50; strong bakers', $4.60; straight rollers, $4 to $4.10; in bags, $1.80 to $1.90.

DESTRUCTION OF RATS

About 250,000 rats have been destroyed since the campaign against these pests commenced in Essex. Something like $5,000 per week has been saved in damage done by the rodents. The assumed rat population of England and Wales is about $8,000,000. It is estimated that each rat costs $1.85 per annum to keep.

BRONCHITIS

Catarrhozone cures Bronchitis of three years standing after four doctors had failed.

A REMARKABLE CASE.

"I feel it my duty," writes Mrs. Boyd, of Leonardville, N. B., to let you know that I have been cured of Bronchitis of three months' standing by Catarrhozone.

"With the least change in temperature, or exposure to inclement weather I was attacked with bronchial discomfort, wheezing in the chest, hoarseness, sore throat, partial loss of voice, and stuffiness in the head. I consulted four doctors and was treated by them all without any benefit.

"Catarrhozone was strongly recommended to me by several persons whom it had benefitted, and I was induced to give it a trial.

"It quickly relieved my difficult breathing, so I got the complete outfit, hard rubber inhaler, etc., and I began systematically the Catarrhozone treatment.

"In a few days the huskiness and hoarseness disappeared, and my voice became stronger. The running of the nose, and stuffiness in the head, feverishness, difficult breathing, were all done away with before I had been using Catarrhozne very long.

"About six weeks' treatment was sufficient to do more for me than four doctors failed to do in three years' time. It cured me and I don't believe there is another such a remedy on earth. Its action is speedy, pleasant and permanent."

Catarrhozone is a new scientific treatment, and is guaranteed to cure Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh, Cold, etc., or money refunded. It contains nothing injurious, and can be used by the infant as well as the adult.

It is both a local and a constitutional treatment. The inhaler supplies abundance of medicated air, which spreads through all the air passages, killing germ life, and healing sore spots as it goes.

The impurities in the blood are driven off by Ferrozone tablets, which strengthen and build up the system, to such a healthy condition that the disease simply cannot exist.

Catarrhozone is recommended by doctors and druggists for all respiratory diseases. It relieves quickly and cures permanently. Complete outfit cost $1.00; trial size, 50c. At druggists.

"Jesus called a little child unto Him."—Matt. xviii:2.

"And He took the damsel by the hand and said unto her, "Talitha cumi,"—My little darling, or My little lamb, arise.—Mark v:41.

Oh, what do you think the angels say?"
Said the little children up in Heaven.
"There's a dear little girl coming home to-day,
She is almost ready to fly away
From the earth we used to live in.
Come, let us watch at the Gates of Pearl,
And be ready to welcome the little girl,"
Said the little children up in Heaven.

"God wanted her here, where His little ones meet."
Said the little children up in Heaven.
She shall play with us in the Golden Street,
She had grown too fair, and pure and sweet
For the earth we used to live in.
She pined for the sunshine, this dear little girl,
That gilds our side of the Gates of Pearl,"
Said the little children up in Heaven.

"So the King called down from the Angels' dome,"
Said the little children up in Heaven.
"My little darling, arise and come
To thy place prepared in the Father's Home;
The Home that My children live in.
So come, let us watch at the Gates of Pearl,
For Jesus has called her, the dear little girl."
Said the little children up in Heaven.

"Far down on the earth—do you hear them weep?"
Said the little children up in Heaven.
"For the dear little girl has gone to sleep—
The shadows fall and the night-clouds sweep
O'er the earth we used to live in.
But, up here, there is joy at the Gates of Pearl !
Oh, why do they weep for their glad, little girl?"
Said the little children up in Heaven.

"Fly with her quickly, O Angels, dear !"
Said the little children up in Heaven.
"See, she is coming ! Look there, look there !
At the jasper light on her sunny hair,
Where the veiling clouds are riven.
Oh, hush! hush! hush! All the swift wings furl,
For the King Himself, at the Gates of Pearl
Is taking her hand,—dear tired little girl,
And leading her into Heaven."

THE CULTIVATION OF RUBBER PLANT

Some Interesting Facts About the Industry Which is Thriving in Many Southern Countries

Owing to the rubber boom trees are being planted in every part of the tropical world suitable for their culture. Day after day the demand for rubber increases. Twenty-five years ago about 5,000 tons of rubber sufficed for the world's requirements. Now the estimated annual consumption of rubber, owing to the development of the electrical industry and motor-trade, is 70,000 tons. Taxi-cabs, for instance, use up four sets of tires a year, and create a demand for something like 50,000 tons of rubber. No substitute for natural rubber has yet been invented—though clever chemists are experimenting all over the world—and, as the wild trees of South America and the Congo are insufficient to meet the increased demand, the world's supply is being supplemented from great forests of plantation rubber.

Hundreds of new companies have been floated to develop rubber estates in various parts of the world, and hence the great boom in rubber shares. As showing the extraordinary rise in price, it might be mentioned that two years ago rubber sold at 2s. 9d. per lb.; to-day the price in Mincing Lane is over 12s. per lb. What is more, according to Sir Robert Laidlaw, who is a great authority in the rubber world, there seems no immediate prospect of the price being reduced. "In fact," he says, "the presumption is the other way. There are some good judges who think that rubber will go up to £1 before it falls, but personally I should not like to prophesy."

Success in Ceylon

The rubber which comes from Para, the centre of the rubber industry on the Amazon, is regarded as the best for most purposes, for in the forests of Central and Northern Brazil the Hevea Brasiliensis—to give the proper scientific name to the best rubber trees—grow in abundance. These trees have been introduced with great success in Ceylon, the Malay States, and other parts of our Eastern possessions. One great advantage growers have had in Ceylon is that they were able to continue cultivating their tea while the rubber trees were maturing in the same plantations. Their rubber is of the best quality, containing about 95 per cent. of pure rubber as against 83 per cent. in the best Para.

An acre of good land will support about 120 trees of the Para variety, and under favorable conditions the trees grow with great rapidity. It is recorded that rubber trees planted in Ceylon have attained a height of 50 feet and a girth of 2 feet from the surface of the ground in six years. At the end of that time the trees are ready for tapping in order to extract the latex or sap which is transformed into rubber.

The Art of Tapping

The process of tapping is a very interesting one, and on it depends a great deal; for unsuccessful tapping might mean the destruction of full-grown trees, or the impoverishing of the supply of latex. In gathering the latter, the collector goes out armed with a bill-hook for cutting the bark. In cutting, however, he must be very careful not to cut into the tree—only to go bark deep. Should he cut farther in he runs the risk of spoiling the rubber latex.

The bark is cut in a "herring-bone" pattern—that is to say, a perpendicular cut is made on the trunk of the tree from which other cuts branch round the trunk. Sometimes, however, the spiral method is employed, a spiral cut being made round the tree to a great height. Then a vessel is placed underneath the main cut to catch the latex.

From Latex to Rubber

When the latex has been collected, the owner proceeds to make it into rubber. This is done in a very simple but at the same time somewhat tedious manner. As a rule, a fire is made with a certain kind of nuts and wood, over which a funnel-shaped inverted tin is placed. The nuts, which do not burn, cause a dense smoke to come through the narrow opening at the top of the tin.

As soon as the heat has become very strong, and the smoke assumes a whitish color, the operator takes a broad piece of stick and dips it into the vessel containing the latex. Withdrawing it covered with the latex he holds it over the narrow opening of the tin through which the smoke is issuing, slowly turning the while, until the latex upon the stick has become thick and filmy to appearance. It has now become rubber. Without removing from the stick the rubber which has coagulated thereon, he dips it back again into the vessel, and goes on repeating the performance of dipping and smoking until he sometimes has as much as 60 lbs. of rubber upon the stick. The stick is then withdrawn from the rubber, which is quite ready for the market.

A GHOST STORY

The Gong Continued to Ring After the Patient Had Died

One day in a hospital in a Colonial city, a new patient was carefully placed in her bed.

"We can't save her," said the doctor who received and examined her, "so let her have anything she wants in reason, nurse."

Presently the patient was seized with terrible pain, and delirium was setting in. On the table at her bedside stood a small gong, which served instead of a bell when the patient wanted the nurse, and towards this the woman's hand unconsciously strayed.

Suddenly her strength seemed to return to her, and, beating loudly on the gong, she cried, in tones of passionate pleading:

"My husband! Fetch my husband!"

Later, when she was calmer, she told the nurse that her husband had deserted her, and now that she knew her death was near, she had but one desire—to see him before she died. At last the gong had to be removed from her reach, as she was wearing herself out and disturbing all the other patients with her frenzied beatings upon it.

She begged so piteously, however, that she might have it back that the kindly physician, to soothe her last moments, put her in a private room, with the gong at her bedside.

Later, when another patient was occupying the same bed, the gong still rang, although the doctor and nurses could find no reason for it. The doctor, with all his scientific knowledge, could give no explanation. But the fact remains, the gong still rang as when the hand of the deserted wife beat upon it in her last moments.

HARD TO BEAT IT

Two Travellers Compared Notes and Dig Up Some Stories

The smoking-room of a big West-end hotel was full, and, taking advantage of such a large audience, two travellers were relating to each other, in tones audible all over the room, some of their experiences. After both had confessed to having been nearly grilled to a cinder in the neighborhood of the Equator, they proceeded to compare experiences in the matter of cold.

Said the first traveller, "When I was in Hudson Bay I struck a certain district where the ground was frozen so hard that whenever a human being died, being unable to bury him in the orthodox way, it was customary to merely sharpen his feet and drive him in with a tent hammer."

The second traveller yawned, and replied in an off-hand sort of way, "Oh, yes; of course, I know that place well, every inch of it. It doesn't strike me as being anything out of the ordinary. Stopped there a week or two, and then got bored. The air was too relaxing, so I toddled up country a bit, and put up at a small town a few thousand miles farther north. Was most unlucky during my visit there. The hotel caught fire. My room was on the top floor, immediately facing the biggest iceberg in the neighborhood. For a moment I was quite in a fix—no fire-escapes or anything of that sort in such an out-of-the-way place. The staircases were soon burnt to powder. But, happily I didn't lose my presence of mind. I merely emptied my bath out of the window and slid down the icicle."

FIVE GENERATIONS

A Great-Great-Grandmother, Yet Not Three Score Years of Age

A remarkable Jewish family, consisting of five generations—great-great-grandmother, great-grandmother, grandmother, mother, and daughter—lives in Copenhagen. This has been produced by a series of early marriages, the eldest child of which has been a daughter in each case. The oldest link in the chain, Mrs. Levyson, is only in her eighty-first year. She has five children, among them Mrs. Salomonsen, married to a well-known broker. She may claim to be Europe's youngest great-grandmother, as she is still a long way off the three-score mark. Her eldest daughter, Mrs. Albert Meyer, the wife of a large paper merchant, is a young and charming grandmother. Her eldest daughter, Mrs. Hugo Trier, also a merchant's wife, and the mother of the fifth generation, is barely eighteen.

AN AGED JURY

There was tried at Denver recently a murder case in which the defendant was aged seventy-seven—the oldest man, it is said, ever prosecuted for murder in Colorado. An attempt seems to have been made to give the accused, in an exceptional degree, a jury of his peers, for the youngest man summoned as a juror was sixty-six, the oldest eighty-two, and the average seventy-two years and ten months. It is reported that, for the age of this jury, Colorado has beaten the record.

You can easily make a man hot by rubbing him the wrong way.

CONVICTS HAUNT HOUSE

A Ghost Story From an Australian Township

Just a hundred years ago, outside one small Australian township, now the capital of one of the States, a clearing had been made, and the work of building a large residence was in hand. The Government official in charge of the convicts who were employed to do the work, was most inhuman in his treatment of his laborers. Hampered as they were by their heavy chains, which bound one to another, they might work as hard as they could, but they never satisfied him.

He was a sullen, cruel tyrant, and on the slightest excuse, and sometimes absolutely without provocation, he he would order the convicts to chain one of their fellow-prisoners to a tree, and then compel them to watch while he thrashed the helpless man with a leather-thonged whip. Fatigue alone would stop the inhuman brute from wielding the lash.

At last the house was finished, and was tenanted for the first time. But these occupants soon left, and no one since has remained for long; for the anguished cries of the tortured men and the sounds of their clanking chains haunt the house, sounding out in the stillness of the night at irregular periods, and proving more than a match for the most strong-minded man or woman. To-day that great house stands desolate, haunted by the restless spirits of those men who were tortured in the building of it.

BEDROOM ON FIRE

Boarder Proceeded to Extinguish It With Cups of Water

His great hobby was lying in bed. For weeks together he would never rise from his downy nest. One day, however, his landlady was surprised to see him—garbed in a heavy dressing-gown, with the collar turned up—walk slowly into the dining-room and, in a half-dazed, half-sleepy fashion, fill a glass with water and carry it carefully upstairs.

Five minutes later he returned again and repeated the performance. Still the landlady made no comment, for, when engaging his rooms he had requested that he should not be spoken to, because the noise of the human voice was apt to disturb the train of his thoughts. However, when, a few minutes later, he returned once more she felt constrained to ask him why he was indulging in this sudden fit of energy, for, like the good soul she was, she feared that he might be ill—and might die, in which case she would lose a good-paying lodger. Landladies are always disinterested.

"What is the matter, sir? You're not ill, I hope?" she asked, as, with eyes half closed, and walking as slowly as the chief mourner at a funeral, he filled the glass for the third time and turned to leave the room.

"No!"—and he yawned sleepily. "No, I'm not ill; but my bedroom is on fire! That's all."

ELEPHANT WOULDN'T PLAY

Recognized in the Piano Keys its Mother's Tusks

The other day an itinerant circus announced, as the chief attraction on its programme, a performing elephant who, amongst other accomplishments, played the piano. The hour of the performance arrived; the docile animal was led into the arena and conducted to an open piano, when suddenly he wheeled round, uttering lugubrious cries. After a brief conference with the elephant's valet, the proprietor of the show came forward and said that until another piano could be procured that part of the programme could not be carried out. The elephant, a most sympathetic and affectionate creature, had recognized in the ivory keys of the instrument the tusks of its mother!

THE CHAMPION COW

The champion milch cow of the world is now supposed to be Chief Josephine, the prize cow of the University of Missouri. Eight months ago the keepers of the animal began a race for the record of one year. In the time that has elapsed since the start her milk yield has been greater by 2,100 pounds than that of any other cow that has ever lived. Josephine's daily yield has been 89 pounds. Her best record for a single day is 110.2 pounds. The cost of feeding her is about 35 cents a day.

PARLIAMENT REFRESHMENTS

How the late Parliament refreshed itself is told in the report just issued of the Select Committee appointed to control such arrangements. From February 15th to August 3rd, 94,089 meals were served, made up as follows: 18,162 luncheons, 27,592 dinners, 316 suppers, 45,705 teas, and 2,377 meals at the bar. The receipts amounted to $60,000. There was spent on provisions $36,000; cigars, $3,200; wines, etc., $21,000.

CORONATION DIAMONDS

The coronation of King George will see the Cullinan diamond take its place among the Crown regalia for the first time. Since it was quite impossible to cut this wonderful stone as a whole, it was split into two main portions, each of which is considerably larger than any other diamond the world has ever seen. The larger of the two has just been placed in the centre of the front of the crown that the King will wear next June.

DOES SOUR MILK PROLONG LIFE?

Peasants of Bulgaria Live Very Largely on That Fluid—Death of "Old Boppel"

Although the natural span of human life—said to be three score years and ten—possibly is quite long enough to satisfy most men, the peasants of Bulgaria, who live very largely on sour milk, reach a much greater age. Edison, who believes that he has discovered a way of prolonging human life to 150 years, and who has decided to live as long himself, will no doubt be interested to hear particulars of an old man of 105, called "Old Boppel," who lives in Obermoschel, in the north of Prussia, enjoying perfect health. The old man takes his daily walk and is able to read and write. He is the oldest man in Germany, and can still remember the march of the Grand Army through the Palatinate in the year 1812. Although his memory may have failed him a little, he can still eat and drink with the best. His advice to all those who want to live long is, "Live as I do, eat and drink as I do, and then you will grow as old as I do."

That is to say, eat and drink what you like; don't bother about your digestion or anything else, and you will live to be 100. Unfortunately, this is just what the majority of people can't do.

AIR FLYERS BUSY

Outlook Not Promising, However, for the "Lighter-Than-Air" Department

Preparatory to the departure of the Army Air Battalion for Amesbury, the expert military flyers that England possesses, have been practising daily at Farnborough. The general public has seen little of these trials, for most of them have been made at daybreak, not from any motive of secrecy, but because of the high winds which rage almost continually from 5 a.m. to 6 p.m. While the army aeroplanes are giving general satisfaction and the military Bleriot monoplanes are surpassing all expectations, the out look is not very pleasant in the "lighter-than-air" department, though without doubt present defects will be speedily remedied. In the dirigible department the English-built balloon Beta, occasionally flies in the direction wanted, even if only at a snail's pace, the Gamma has refused to fly for several months, and the much-advertised Lebaudy airship is proving something of a white elephant. The reason for the continued effectiveness of the Beta is found in her envelope of goldbeater's skin through which the escape of gas is almost, if not quite, imperceptible. But the case is quite otherwise with the gas bags of the Gamma and the Lebaudy. The leaking capacity of the larger dirigible is told in that fact that in ten days she lost a ton of lifting power. The serious side of this leakage, even in time of peace, is the cost of inflation, which is something like $3,500, to say nothing of the expenditure of labor in dismantling and re-erecting the internal framework.

REFORMING CRIMINALS

Help Them to Earn Money by Work and Give Them Good Wives

Gehemirath Krohne, Germany's leading criminologist and director of the famous open-air reformatory on the Island of Hela, declared to the International Criminological Congress that there are two ways of making criminals decent members of society again. "If they are not married," he said, "we must give them good wives." He assured his audience that that had succeeded in their colony in hundreds of instances. The other method, he declared, was to enable them to earn money by work; if they drank one day's earnings they got nothing the next.

AEROPLANE DANGER

Unintentional Hurried Descents May Injure Onlookers

An order has just been issued calling the attention of soldiers to the danger of aeroplanes dropping upon them, especially when the aviators are inexperienced. The Artillery Practice Camp on Salisbury Plain is close to the training ground of the Air Corps, and also the British and Colonial Aeroplane Company's ground. The camp commandant has therefore issued an order forbidding non-commissioned officers and men to follow closely any aeroplanes. Many of the men flying, he said, are only beginners. Consequently there is always the danger of unintentional hurried descents, which might "damage" men underneath; and the presence, also, of many spectators under or near a person flying may easily cause him anxiety and distract his attention from his very hazardous occupation.

MATRIMONY AND TRAGEDY

Passing as "Mme. Juliette," a Hapsburg, and a distant cousin of Emperor Francis Joseph, has been unearthed carrying on a dressmaking establishment in an obscure Hungarian town. Tragedy has marred no less than three matrimonial attempts on which she has embarked during her career. Her first husband, a

MARK TWAIN MADE THE WORLD LAUGH

Some of the Witticisms of the Late Great Humorist When at Home or Abroad

The famous humorist who has just died was a wit before he left the nursery. One day his father led him into the garden, and, pointing to a bed of flowers that had a considerable number of weeds in it, said: "I want you to weed out this flower-bed." Young Clemens looked at it for a moment, and then naively inquired, "Wouldn't it be better, father, to flower out this weed-bed?"

London police are not a little proud of the compliment Mark Twain paid them when he visited this country in 1907. "They would not only salute me," he observed, "but would hold up their puissant hands and paralyze the commerce of the world's greatest city just to let me cross the street."

It was during this visit that a London paper, either by accident or design, came out on the day of his landing with this placard:—

MARK TWAIN ARRIVES.
ASCOT CUP STOLEN

This was too much for "Mark." He publicly declared that he had not got the Cup. He didn't know where it was. He didn't want to know. All he wanted was that his character should be cleared at once. The sequel came when the Savage Club took up the joke and presented the humorist with a facsimile of the Cup.

Talking of this incident reminds one of Twain's "Notice to the Next Burglar," which he wrote on a piece of cardboard and nailed to the front door after burglars had entered his Connecticut home and carried off considerable booty. The notice ran:—

"There is nothing but plated ware in this house now and henceforth. You will find it in the dining-room, over in the corner by the basket of kittens. If you want the basket put the kittens in the brass thing. Do not make a noise. It disturbs the family. You will find goloshes in the front hall by that thing which has umbrellas in it—a chiffonier, I think they call it, or a pergola, or something like that. Please close the door."

The humorist had something of a tenderness for burglars.

"The burglar," he said once, as he fondled a new revolver, "like everyone else, must make a living; perhaps he has a family to support." Then he whistled, and three great dogs leapt into the study. "What a pity it would be," he continued, pensively, "if the burglar's family should be deprived of its invisible means of support."

Mark Twain has not been wanting in personal homage of humble admirers, and often a representative of them rang his door-bell and asked the privilege of paying his respects. Not long since a big, good-natured countryman—a butcher, as he introduced himself—after a few minutes' chat, asked, "Now, tell me for a fact, are you the one who wrote all them books?" "Truly I am," said Mark. "Of course you are, of course you are," cried the earnest fellow, "but, by George, I shouldn't think it by your looks." Whereat Mark was hugely tickled.

Mark Twain's passion for smoking was, of course, well known, but it came as a great surprise when he confessed last autumn that he had enjoyed forty cigars a day for twenty years. It was a great deprivation to him when the doctors cut his allowance down to four a day.

"My only restriction as regards tobacco," he once remarked, "is never to smoke more than one cigar at a time. I smoked discreetly during my father's lifetime. He died fifty-eight years ago; ever since then I have smoked publicly. I never smoke when asleep, and never refrain when awake. As for drinking, my rule is, when others drink I like to help, otherwise I remain dry."

When Mark Twain was a young and struggling newspaper writer in San Francisco a lady of his acquaintance saw him one day, with a cigar-box under his arm, looking in at a shop window. "Mr. Clemens," she said, "I always see you with a cigar-box under your arm. I am afraid you are smoking too much." "It isn't that," said Mark Twain. "I'm moving again."

In his autobiography Mark Twain has placed it on record that he was "a sickly and precarious and tiresome and uncertain child," and lived mainly on allopathic medicines for the first seven years of his life. "I don't think I needed them," he said, referring to his childhood during a speech on his seventieth birthday. "It was for economy; my father took a drug store for a debt, and it made cod-liver oil cheaper than the other breakfast foods. We had nine barrels of it, and it lasted me seven years. Then I was weaned. The rest of the family had to get along with rhubarb and ipecac and such things because I was the pet. I had it all. I was the first Standard Oil Trust."

Talking of speeches, at a public dinner on one occasion Mark Twain's name was associated with the toast of literature by an orator who, in the course of his speech, eloquently referred to Homer, Milton, Shakespeare, and—Mark Twain! The humorist, in reply, thanked the speaker for his allusions, and excused himself for acknowledging them at greater length by saying: "Homer is dead; Milton is dead; Shakespeare is dead; and I am not feeling any too well myself!"

Mark Twain gained a reputation as a humorist in the days when he was writing for the newspapers, and a comedian once offered him five dollars for half-a-dozen good jokes. Mark refused on the ground that if he were found with five dollars on him he would be suspected of stealing the money, and if the comedian were discovered with six good jokes he would be arrested for theft.

AIRSHIP FLIGHTS BY THREE WOMEN

Duchess of Beaufort and Others Made Flights Over Badminton Park, England, Recently

The Duchess of Beaufort, the Marquis of Worcester, Lady Blanche Somerset, and Lady Diana Somerset, made aeroplane flights over Badminton Park recently. The Duchess invited M. Tabuteau to fly from the British and Colonial Aeroplane Company's works at Filton, near Bristol, at Badminton House. He arrived at half-past nine—the appointed time—after doing the journey in twenty minutes. He was received by Lord Lonsdale, and, after breakfasting, made a number of exhibition flights in the park. The Duchess and some of her guests were so much impressed by the skillful handling of the aeroplane with apparent ease and safety of the flights, that they decided to go up as passengers with M. Tabuteau, and the aviator took up in turn the Duchess of Beaufort and her three children, the Marquis of Worcester (who is eleven), Lady Blanche Somerset (who is fourteen), and Lady Diana Somerset (who is thirteen). Afterwards Countess Nora Nutzen, Mr. W. H. Chaplin, General and Mrs. Brocklehurst, Mr. H. Lygon, and Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Ward, were taken for short flights. About six o'clock M. Tabuteau and his assistant started back for Bristol, and alighted at the works in the presence of a large crowd of holiday makers.

GHOST IN RICHMOND

In Holy Trinity Church in the Form of a Verger

The lovely London suburb of Richmond, which has lately come into the public eye as the home of the exiled King Manuel, has another claim to distinction now, having added a real ghost to its other attractions. The ghost is walking in the Holy Trinity Church in the shape of the church verger, and among those who have laid eyes on it is the Rev. A. G. Church, a well-known clerical writer and reviewer. When asked about the apparition of the verger, he said: "A few Sundays ago I was surprised to see the verger of Holy Trinity in the chancel of the church, as I knew that he was dangerously ill and had been confined to his bed for many weeks. His figure, in the cassock which he always wore in church, stood dark against the white of the surpliced choir. No figure could be more familiar to me; I knew him well, not only as a regular worshipper in the church, but from having employed him in his private capacity of a jobbing gardener. I may explain that my seat is close to the chancel, so that I could not have mistaken some other figure for his. What I saw was some five or six yards from me. It struck me as a little strange that I had not seen him before—the experience occurred to me about ten minutes after the beginning of prayers—and that I did not see him again. But I thought that he might have been tired and seated himself in the vestry.

"Anyhow, I was so convinced that I had seen him that I said to a friend while walking home from the service, 'So the old verger is about again.' 'No,' replied my friend, 'he is lying very ill in the infirmary.' He died nine days after."

THE FINEST EMOTIONS

These are Illustrated in "Monna Vanna," Says the Leading Lady

Mr. Maurice Maeterlinck is going to London to witness the first performance in England on June 1st of his famous play "Monna Vanna," which has hitherto been forbidden here as immoral, but which is now to be played at the Court Theatre. Miss Adeline Bourne, who created a sensation by her splendid and realistic execution of the title role in Oscar Wilde's "Salome," has been signed to play the heroine in "Monna Vanna." Speaking of the play, she said: "I can never understand what the Censor was thinking about when he barred the public performance of 'Monna Vanna' some years ago. The play resembles more than anything else a version of the Lady Godiva story, and serves to illustrate some of the finest emotions it is possible to portray on the stage."

MILITARY PUNISHMENTS

Code of Old was Very Stern—Some Strange Ways of Punishment

In times past the military code was no less stern and uncompromising than the civil. Sentence of death was readily decreed and as promptly executed. Where offences multiplied, and wholesale executions would have weakened the Army numerically, decimation—the slaughter of every tenth man—was the rule, or the troops gambled for their lives by casting dice upon a drumhead or drawing lots under the gallows-tree.

Lesser penalties, not capital, but physical, and causing pain with permanent degradation, were maiming, branding the cheek or forehead, boring the tongue, or cutting the nose and ears. These last-named were retained upon the military statute book until the reign of Queen Anne. The "trapado" was a fiendish device by which a delinquent was hoisted on high by a rope fastened to his arms, and then dropped down by a sudden jerk that often dislocated his shoulders. Hanging by the thumbs, sometimes called "picketing," was also practised; while the body was raised to such a height and its whole weight rested on one toe, and that again on a sharp-pointed spike.

To "ride the wooden horse" was to be mounted on a razor-edge, with weights fastened to the extremities.

Running the gauntlet, or "gantelope," was as old as the Cromwellian army, and it is thus described in an Army order about 1649: The culprits (who had been guilty of blasphemy as well as deer-stealing) were to be "stripped naked from the waist upward, and a lane made by half the Lord General's regiment of foot and half Colonel Pride's, with every man a cudgel in his hand. They were to be run through in this posture, so that every soldier might have a stroke at their naked backs, breasts, or arms, wherever it might alight."

"CHEER UP JEREMIAH"

An Incident of the Days When John Burns Was in Jail

It is, of course, well known that Mr. John Burns, the President of the Local Government Board, spent some weeks in prison in the early days of his career as a result of his prominence in in labor wars, and it is in connection with that experience that he recently told the following amusing story. "I was once," he said, "for the benefit of my health, interned in a building somewhat monastic in character, with a celibate population, and with cellular accommodation which enabled me to be alone. There was there one book called the Bible, and I noticed that my predecessor was a great student of it. With a pin which had probably been concealed in his oakum he had pricked comments in the margin. Opposite this passage in Jeremiah, 'Mine heart within me is broken; all my bones shake; I am like a drunken man, and like a man whom wine hath overcome,' he had pricked, 'Cheer up, Jeremiah!'"

ALFONSO'S QUEER MUSEUM

Making Collection of Articles With Which His Life was Attempted

King Alfonso XIII. of Spain is forming a curious, although somewhat ghastly, museum, where are grouped the various articles which have been used in attempts against his person, together with objects which have placed his life in danger.

Among other things in the museum is to be seen the teat of a baby's feeding bottle, with which an attempt was made to poison him at the tender age of eight months. Also a large glass vase, which he fell over and broke at the age of five years, sustaining injuries which placed his life in danger; the walking-stick of a discontented member of the Court, who made an attempt to strike him; pieces of the bomb of Barcelona; the skeleton of one of the horses which was conducting him and a fragment of the landau in which he was seated by the side of President Loubet at the time of the attempt in the Rue de Rivoli, at Paris; various articles found in the street after the explosion of the infernal machine, hidden in a bouquet, which was thrown against his coach on the day of his wedding—in fact, daggers, firearms, and projectiles of all kinds which have been used in unsuccessful designs against his life—unsuccessful, thanks to the careful precautions taken by the police.

PRINCE AND LECTURER

Hitherto absolute ruler, the Prince of Monaco has granted the 20,000 subjects of his eight-square-mile kingdom a Constitution. The Prince is one of the most interesting personalities in Europe. He is a millionaire, drawing ample resources from the Casino at Monte Carlo, the authorities of which pay him about $350,000 a year for permission to run the place. And, like the Duke of Abruzzi, he has frequently lectured before learned societies; for the Prince is an authority on marine biology, and over a score of volumes record the results of his deep-sea dredging. At Monte Carlo he has built an oceanographical museum, at a cost of $1,500,000, which is the largest of its kind in the world.

EATING THEIR NAMES

In order to facilitate the teaching of the alphabet a Servian schoolmaster has provided each of his youngest pupils with a chocolate set of letters. As soon as the child can put his name together correctly he is allowed to eat it. Word-making is taught on the same plan. Most of his pupils can read fluently in three days.

SICK HEADACHES AND NERVOUSNESS

"Fruit-a-tives" Completely Cured Me.

LAKELET, ONT., May 12th, 1910.

"It is my firm belief that every woman should take "Fruit-a-tives" if she wants to keep herself in good health.

Before taking "Fruit-a-tives", I was constantly troubled with what is commonly known as "Nerves" or severe Nervousness. This extreme Nervousness brought on the most violent attacks of Sick Headache, for which I was constantly taking Doctor's medicine.

Constipation was also a source of great trouble for which the Doctors said "I would have to take medicine all my life" but "Fruit-a-tives" has banished these troubles and I am a well woman.

When I started taking "Fruit-a-tives", I took four at a time, but have reduced the dose so that it is only necessary for me to take one in a week, and that one "Fruit-a-tives" tablet every week keeps me well". MRS. FRED GADKE.

It is wonderful how quickly women get better when taking "Fruit-a-tives". These famous fruit tablets relieve headaches and tone up the whole nervous system. They regulate the bowels, strengthen the stomach, stimulate the appetite, and take away that pain in the back. Pale, weak, nervous women should always use "Fruit-a-tives".

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

IN ALBERTA'S CABINET

Are Foremost Easterners—Three Natives of Ontario

Four eastern men are members of the Provincial Cabinet of Alberta, the entire personnel of which is considered, at least by the majority party, as very strong.

Hon. Arthur Lewis Sifton, late Chief Justice Sifton, and now premier provincial treasurer and minister of public works for Alberta, is a son of the Hon. John W. Sifton, at one time speaker of the Manitoba Assembly. Born near London, Ontario, on Oct. 26, 1858, he went west of the Great Lakes in 1875, when his family moved to the then sparsely settled province of Manitoba. In the year following, Arthur, then a youth of 18 years of age, returned to Cobourg, Ontario, where he attended the Victoria University in that town, taking the arts degree in 1880. The city of Winnipeg saw him complete his law course, and Brandon his entry into the legal profession, in which latter city he took an active interest in matters municipal. He was a member for a time of the Brandon city council.

In 1885, Mr. Sifton moved to Prince Albert, and in 1889 to Calgary, whence in 1898 he was elected a member of the Northwest Council, and in 1901 selected as a commissioner of public works. In 1903 he was created chief justice of the Northwest Territories, and in 1907 chief justice of Alberta. In 1882 he married Miss Mary H. Deering, and has two children. In 1905 Mr. Sifton refused the offer of the leadership of the Liberal party and the provincial premiership that went with it; but with the Liberals divided against themselves on a question of a colonization railroad he yielded to the demand for his return.

A powerful magnetic speaker, tactful, dominant, self-reliant, unafraid, clear-seeing, possessed of a colossal brain and urbane withal, Premier Sifton is one of the biggest men in the Northwest.

Hon. Duncan Marshall

If Duncan Marshall were to walk down the main street of any city, town or village in the province of Alberta, very likely every man on the thoroughfare would speak to him, and address him with real western cordiality.

Hon. Duncan Marshall has spoken in every part of that huge province. He knows Alberta, and Alberta, after duly appraising the man, has taken him to her heart.

His father was the late John Marshall, one of the pioneers of Bruce County, Ont. He was born in Ellerslie, Ontario, on Sept. 24, 1872, and received his education in the public schools, Walkerton High School and Owen Sound Collegiate, securing a teacher's certificate at the age of 17 years as a result of his energetic application to his academic work. Even at his early age, Mr Marshall evidenced a strong inclination towards politics, and, interesting himself in the farmers' party, the Patrons of Industry of Ontario, was, at 18 years of age, organizer for the party.

The fact that seventeen Patrons were elected at the next election is proof of the executive ability possessed and exercised by Mr. Marshall.

Going to the Maritime Provinces in the interests of the Patrons, Mr. Marshall returned in 1896 to his native province and entered the field journalistic, connecting himself with the Toronto World and the News, Toronto, until the year 1900. He bought and edited a paper in Thornbury, and in 1903 took over the Bracebridge Gazette, entering politics with a vim. In the contest in Muskoka constituency he cut the majority in two, and in 1905 came to the West as manager of the Edmonton Bulletin. Buying an 800-acre farm at Veds, Mr. Marshall studied western conditions and absorbed much that was of later benefit. In the general election of the province he was elected, and he is the only man in the new Alberta cabinet who held a portfolio in the old ministry, in which he was also minister of agriculture.

Mr. Marshall married Miss McIsaac, of Charlottetown, P.E.I., and has two children.

Hon. Charles R. Mitchell

Quiet and dignified, but brisk and very businesslike, is Charles R. Mitchell, attorney-general and minister of education for the Province of Alberta, as befits a keen young lawyer from the Maritime Provinces, that incubator of college presidents, politicians of high calibre, and men of like stamp.

The Hon. Mr. Mitchell is a son of the late James Mitchell, inspector of lighthouses, and was born at Newcastle, N.B., on Nov. 20, 1872. He is a nephew of Hon. Peter Mitchell, one of the fathers of confederation, the same who first organized the department of marine and fisheries at Ottawa. He was educated at Harkin's Academy, Newcastle, and the University of New Brunswick, where he took degrees in arts and civil engineering. Beginning the study of law in the office of Hon. Andrew Blair, at St. John, he practised later with Hon. L. J. Tweedie, at Chatham. In 1897 King's College, Windsor, conferred the degree of B.C.L. upon him, and in the year 1898 Mr. Mitchell came west to Medicine Hat, where, for several years he sat in the council, and later was city solicitor. In the year 1907 he was made district judge for the judicial district of Calgary.

He was married at St. Thomas, Ontario, to Miss Clara Fraser, daughter of the late Alexander Fraser.

Hon. Archibald J. McLean

A typical western rancher is Archibald J. McLean, provincial secretary for Alberta. Mr. McLean is rich from a worldly standpoint, but one would never learn that fact from his own lips. One could tell at a glance that the provincial secretary had lived in the open, and was generously hospitable, but that he was the famous owner of the C. Y. ranch in sunny Southern Alberta, of 45,000 acres, one would not learn from him in many years. Mr McLean is also interested in good coal mines.

Born in Aldboro, West Elgin, Ont., on Sept. 25, 1863, Mr. McLean went west to Manitoba in 1881, and six years later went on to Alberta, where he invested in one of the largest ranches in the country.

SINS OF THE ...CITY...

From that moment the relations between the two men altered. The antagonism vanished, and they talked as friendly business-men might be expected to. Very skilfully Guelfo played his "fish," although that "fish" saw the "hook" the whole time while he pretended not to. From the railway the conversation circled around to mines, and from mines to the letter which was resting on the table.

Gulelo feigned to deride it. His visitor seemed to accept his view of it, but all the time he held stoutly to his point. At length, without going closely into the intricacies of this verbal fence, the point of conversation had narrowed down to the question of the price.

"I'm not going to buy a pig in a poke," said Guelfo, "though I'm always willing to pay an honest price for what is of use to me."

"No one wishes you to buy a pig in a poke. Satisfy yourself by every means in your power of the genuine nature of my offer. I can trust you. Between us there must be a certain amount of confidence."

"But I don't know this man Balbi. There may be no such person."

"But there is, and you may as well take my word for it as that of any other man. Vipan saved Balbi's life at the risk of his own, and the man's gratitude is unbounded. There is nothing he would not have done for Vipan in return. And this is the first opportunity which has occurred and he has seized on it."

"You know that?"

"I know it of my own personal knowledge."

"But the price you are asking is absurd."

"Some people would think so; I don't."

"I won't give it."

"Very well, there is no more to be said. There are others who will."

"I mean, I won't give it all at once, down on the nail," the Italian said, altering his tone.

"I don't ask you to. Give me one thousand now, and the remainder when the mine is in your hands."

"No, I don't mind five hundred now, and, if the report of my mining engineer is satisfactory, another five hundred on the completion of the purchase."

"Never! I won't listen to it."

And so the argument went on, first one abating a little, then the other springing a few hundreds, until both men, wearied by wrangling, arrived at a point when they were more or less agreed, and the letter, with the half of the vichaya leaf, which had already cost one brave man's life, was transferred to Guelfo's private safe, and its place in the visitor's pocket taken by a cheque for seven hundred and fifty pounds.

"And, now, said Guelfo, having locked the safe door, and returning to his chair, "you may as well tell me your name."

"I have no objection now. I am Hans Reichardt."

"Thank you, Herr Reichardt. And what is your permanent address?"

"It is hard to say. But my letters addressed to me at 254 Old Compton Street, Soho, will always find me, wherever I may be."

"And when you are in Paris?"

"I sha'n't be here long. I am returning in a few hours. I don't like aris, and Paris—well, the truth is, Paris doesn't like me. But before I leave I will look in on you in case you wish to say anything. That is all I think," and Reichardt rose to leave.

"All for the present I can think of. But don't come here too often, and, above all things, don't chatter; if you do, I shall be sure to know, and then, not a penny more of my money will you see."

"Look here Mr. Guelfo, from this time forth you and I are in the same boat. If one goes under the other goes with him. We sink or swin together. And as I have no desire to lose my liberty, you may depend on me to be careful. Good-afternoon."

As soon as the financier was alone—and it was not for many minutes, for by this time the outer office was filled with clients—a smile of satisfaction came over his face, and, as he rubbed his hands together he muttered,—

"A good morning's work, Guiseppe—as good a morning's work as you ever did. The game is now in your hands. A word from you and Herr Hans Reichardt woul dance upon nothing, and you don't know that he sha'n't. You must think it over."

CHAPTER VI.

The Sign of the Pentagon.

It was on the morning following the interview between Guelfo and Reichardt that Henry Ellis, when he arriv. at his office at nine o'clock, found a wire from Paris awaiting him with the usual batch of correspondence. Tearing it open he read the words: "June Roses." To the outside world these could convey very little, and even to those in the office they would be a puzzle. But a glance was sufficient to give Ellis a clue to the mystery, and going to his small, private safe he took from it a small manuscript book and searched its pages for a few seconds.

"Ah!" he muttered, "Come instantly. I wonder what Guelfo has got hold of now. It must be something good, for he has used our strongest words of summons." And again he searched the small book, and then filled up a telegraph form: "Guelfo, Rue Scribe 19 bis, Paris.—Dandelion. There— 'Am leaving immediately.' That should do," as he rang his office bell. "Send that off at once," he said handing the form to the boy who answered the summons, "and tell Mr. Blake and Stephens I want them."

"Yes sir."

In a few moments the latter entered his office. "Go as hard as you can to my house, tell my man to put up things for two or three days in Paris, and meet me with the kit-bag at Ludgate hill, in time for the eleven o'clock train; and mind you're there."

"Yes, sir," and the boy left the room.

"Ah, Mr. Blake, I'm summoned to Paris and shall perhaps be away for two or three days. You will have to get on without me as best you can."

"There will be no difficulty, I think sir," replied the keen-faced man who had entered the room, arrayed in orthodox Stock Exchange get-up, with the blue and white badge of the authorised clerk in his button-hole. "There is nothing very important just now, and I suppose you will be back in time for settling-day."

"Oh, certainly, certainly, I have an hour to spare, so let us go through these letters and then if there is anything that you want to know you can ask me."

"Very well, sir," and drawing his chair to the table the clerk and his employer were for a time busily engaged, Blake occasionally making notes on a sheet of paper.

CORONATION EXHIBITION

Pictures From the Galleries at Sandringham Loaned by the Queen

For the Coronation-exhibition at the White City, Queen Alexandra has promised the loan of a number of valuable pictures from the galleries at Sandringham. These illustrate the tour through India of the late King Edward, when Prince of Wales. They include an oil painting, "Tiger Shooting in the Teerai," six other colored pictures, and 20 sepia drawings.

The Duke of Connaught is sending the loyal addresses with the caskets in which they are enclosed which he received during his recent tour in South Africa. These, with a collection of large photographs, illustrating incidents in the tour, will be shown in the South African Hall of Union.

AMAZING ADVENTURER

The amazing success which has attended an adventurer named Reisse, has set all Paris laughing. Relying on his plausibility of manner, he has contrived in the space of a few years not only to marry three ladies, all of whom have money, one of whom is of high position, and all three of whom are living, but to be received in provincial and Parisian society.

BUTTONS AND BEADS GALORE

The Parisiennes are more bent than ever this year on wearing summer dresses covered with buttons and beads galore.

IN PRAISE OF NELSON

"The Most Fascinating Man I Ever Conversed With."

Eight letters written by Nelson's chaplain on the Victory, the Rev. A. J. Scott, have just been sold by auction. While off Toulon Mr. Scott wrote to Lady Lavington:

"I never yet in my life met with so pure a mind as his, every thought flowing from the lusty family of selfishness is a stranger to his breast. He possesses that impulse of genius which, to whotsoever point the mind be turned, conceives, judges, and determines what is to be done, with promptitude."

It was his duty to accompany the body home after Trafalgar. On Dec. 10, off Spithead, he writes:

"Let the country mourn their hero. I grieve for the loss of the most fascinating companion I ever conversed with. The greatest and most simple of men—one of the wisest and most innocent—interesting beyond all. On shore—in public, and even in private life, men are not always themselves, and put on their behavior with their clothes—but if you live with a man on board of ship for years—if you are constantly with him in his cabin—your mind will soon find out how to appreciate him—the more you knew Nelson the more you loved him."

He was horrified later to find that a price was charged for viewing the coffin in St. Paul's, and remarks that no wonder the French call us a "nation boutiquiere." With this batch was a letter by Capt. Wells, of the Thunderer, describing the hero's death:

"I much fear his honors were the cause of his death, as he evidently was picked off from the rest, wearing his stars in action, which, in my opinion, was rather indiscreet. He loved to hear victory pronounced, and that the few ships of the enemy that were able were making off with all possible sail. It had a very great effect on him. He appeared pleased and happy, and thanked God for allowing him to outlive the day, and died almost immediately convulsed—his joy was too great."

This interesting series of letters realized $305.

THE ALTAR OF FASHION

Wholesale Destruction of Rare and Beautiful Birds

Addressing members of the Royal Colonial Institute, London, on the subject of "The birds of the Colonies and their preservation," Mr. Jas. Buckland said the critical condition of many of the more rare and beautiful birds of our colonies, due to their destruction in the millinery interests, was one which it was impossible to adequately realize or to exaggerate. Among ornamental feathers assumed for show during the courting season the strangely beautiful tail of the lyre bird of Australia was unequaled. A few years back over 400 lyre birds were killed in one district in a single season to supply the London plumage market. It was not so long ago that some sordid vandals surrounded a patch of scrub in which some representatives of this fast-disappearing genus were known to be breeding, and setting fire to it they shot down these avian marvels as they struggled through one pitiless ring of fire only to meet their death in another. The plumes having been cut off, the bodies were thrown aside to rot. No species could withstand such ill-timed slaughter as this, and it was a fact of sinister import that 152 tails only had been catalogued this year in the London feather sales. The egret had been practically exterminated in North America and in China, and was so thinning its ranks throughout the world that the best selected plumes were now fetching over $40 the ounce at London feather sales, double the value of gold.

ELEPHANT HUNTER'S INCOME

The first meeting of creditors under the failure of the Hon. Rupert Cecil Craven, a son of the third Earl of Craven, was held at the London Bankruptcy Court, when it was stated that the debtor's occupation had been mainly that of elephant hunting, which produced him an income of $2,500 a year.

The debtor owes about $5,000, and has no assets. He attributes his position to heavy expenses in connection with divorce proceedings in 1899 and to loss over South African shares in 1905

SOME ANCIENT DOGS

It is impossible to say when dogs were first domesticated, but some of the earliest traces are found on Egyptian monuments, with figures of dogs, somewhat of the greyhound type, which date back to at least 3,500 B.C. Even in those remote days the dog was highly esteemed. Coming down a little later, we read that Ulysses, 3,000 years ago, was recognized by his dog Argus after his swineherd had failed to do so. Plutarch speaks of Alcibiades, who cut off the tail of his dog, and Myron, the sculptor, immortalized the animal by chiseling his image in marble. The Romans valued their dogs, and kept them for the chase and also as pets. Alexander the Great owned a veteran dog.

A RUSTIC FUNERAL

In compliance with his wish, the remains of John Long, a farm foreman at Rowley Hill, Saffron Walden, were borne to the grave in a farm wagon, drawn by four favorite horses. His employer and all the employes on the estate followed. Long had worked on the same farm and for the same family for 56 years, while among those who followed the coffin were six laborers who had been employed on the same estate between 37 and 47 years.

Germany has more than 500 music schools. Nearly one-third of them are in Berlin.

SENSITIVE CELLS

Did Not Work as Prisoners Suspected a Trap was Set

A reminder of the Pearl Bryan murder case, in which the headless body of the girl was found near Ft. Thomas years ago, has been removed from the city hall. The two sensitive cells that were built expressly on the order of the late Chief Deitsch, in order to hear what Jackson and Walling might have to say when placed together, were torn out and sold to a neighboring town. After Jackson and Walling had been arrested, efforts were made to have them tell where the head of Pearl Bryan was. They both declared they did not know. Chief Deitsch heard of the sensitive cells and had two of them built. They had sounding boards and a canopy of sensitized steel that was guaranteed to carry sound a long way. The cells were built in the basement of the city hall, next to the storage room of the police department. The two men were placed in the cells and Chief Deitsch and a corps of detectives stationed themselves in the House of Detention, where the sound pipe ended. They heard something like this: "This is a scheme, Walling. Be careful what you say. Deitsch has kept us apart for some time and now he suddenly places us in the same cell. There is a scheme of some kind."

"I believe you are right," replied Walling.

"I know I am right. Look at this ceiling. It is different from anything else. We will just pay our compliments to Col. Deitsch and if he is listening he will hear what we think of him."

The prisoners then said some things that caused the chief to turn red. Turning to Detective Billy Jackson, now chief of police, he said: "Here, Billy, you listen a while."

Jackson listened for a time and then turned away.

"What are they saying?" asked the chief.

"They are talking about minor matters."

"Yes, they are calling the chief of police names, eh?"

"Yes, sir; that is it."

Jackson and Walling were in the cell about 24 hours, but during all that time they did not say a single incriminating word. The fact that the cells were in existence soon became noised about and no one would be trapped in them. As they had outlived their usefulness Inspector Callahan recommended that they be sold.—Cincinnati Times-Star.

ANNOUNCED THE PREACHER

It is related of a preacher in a small town, who was to be absent from his pulpit a fortnight, that he recently announced after the sermon:—

"The preacher for next Sunday will be Mr. Firstly, and the one for the Sunday after you'll find hanging up behind the door on the other side of the vestry."

Passing of Pelorus Jack

Pelorus Jack, the huge dolphin which for twenty years past has piloted all the steamers bound for Wellington, New Zealand, through the Pelorus Sound, is no more. Known by some as the Lone Fish of the French Pass, he was protected by a special Act of Parliament, and was one of the curiosities of New Zealand waters.

Rowing Across North Sea

The foundation of Normany a thousand years ago by the hardy Norsemen from Scandinavia is soon to be celebrated in several ways, the most striking being the project of seven Norwegian students to row from Bergen to Rouen in a boat which will be an exact copy of that in which King Hugleik with his Vikings rowed up the Seine in A.D. 910.

SOME CURIOUS WATCHES

Not as Complex Nowadays as Formerly—Queer Old Ones

With all our modern improvements we rarely hear nowadays of watches so fancifully complex as used to be made for great folks in the times when all watches were expensive and comparatively novel.

King George III., in the year 1760, received a present of a watch that was a kind of mechanical almanac. It pointed out the date, and also had a device to show the varying lengths of the days, according to the season. It was not bigger than other watches of the time, but then they were all what we should call turnips now.

The Emperor Napoleon I. had a watch which wound itself by means of a weighted lever, which, at every step His Majesty took, rose and fell, and having a gathering click to it wound up a ratchet attached to the barrel. Pedometers were afterwards made on the same principle. The Duke of Wellington had a watch which was given to him by the King of Spain, from which the time could be told by the touch, the hours being market by studs. In the back of the case was placed an index which, when moved forward, would stop at the portion of the hour indicated by the watch, and then by means of the studs the time could be approximately computed in the dark.

Catharine of Russia had a watch constructed by an ingenious peasan which played a chant, and had within it tiny mechanical figures which moving about, were supposed to re present the scene of the resurrectio of the Saviour; the chant was then heard all over Russia at Eastertime. But this watch was bigger than a hen's egg.

EXERCISE CARE IN SELECTING BOAR.

The selection of the boar is very important, and it is the opinion of the writer that some farmers do not have as much success as they should and could have in raising hogs simply because they do not exercise the care necessary in selecting the male to be used in their herds.

The boar should be selected with greater care than the sows, for his influence equals the combined influence of all the sows of the herd. A superior boar may be used on a superior herd of sows with good results, but the use of an inferior boar on sows of high quality will have a disastrous outcome. The one method raises the standard of the herd; the other invariably lowers it.

A boar with male characteristics strongly developed should be selected, preferably as a yearling or else as a pig that has been purchased at the same time as the sows and allowed to come to maturity before being used. He should have a well erected neck and a strong masculine head. His shoulders should be developed according to his age. However, strong shoulder development in pigs under a year or eighteen months old is objectionable.

The boar should be selected to correct any defects that may be common to the sows. For example, if the sows are rather coarse in bone and loosely built the boar should have high quality and fine bones, skin and hair. If the sows tend toward overrefinement and delicacy the boar should be rather rangy and strong boned.

PRIZE BERKSHIRE BOAR.
[By courtesy of Iowa State college.]

The same indications of a good pork producing carcass that the sows require should be seen in the boar—a broad, straight, deeply fleshed back, much depth and length of sides and well developed hind quarters. The visible organs of the reproductive system should be well developed and clearly defined.

A TRICK FOR TRADE

Der German Cobbler Hangs Out a Warning.

POETS TOLD TO PASS ALONG.

All Customers Were Rhymers and Insisted on Speaking Samples—Each Left Work, and That Was Just What the Dutchman Wanted.

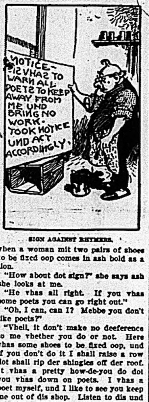
By M. QUAD.

[Copyright, 1910, by Associated Literary Press.]

NOT so much ash one shoe vhas in my shop to be fixed oop, und I vhas so hard oop dot I believe I shall shump into der river. Before I do so, however, I light my pipe und walk out for a leetle while to think. I think und think und think, und vhen I vhas home again I vhas all K. O. Dot evenings I paint me a sign und hang her in der window. She vhas big letters, und she reads:

"Notice.—Dis vhas to warn all poets to keep avhay from me und bring me no work. Took notice und act accordingly."

My wife can't make it out und asks me some questions, but I say nottings und go to bed. Early in der morning dot leetle German tailor comes in und looks around und says my peesness vhas busted all to smash und I vhas a ruined man. I keep still und say nottings. He vhas shust gone avhay vhen a woman mit two pairs of shoes to be fixed oop comes in ash bold as a lion.



SIGN AGAINST RHYMERS.

"How about dot sign?" she says ash she looks at me.

"He vhas all right. If you vhas some poets you can go right out."

"Oh, I can, can I? Mebbe you don't like poets?"

"Vhell, it don't make no deeference to me vhether you do or not. Here vhas some shoes to be fixed oop, und if you don't do it I shall raise a row dot shall rip der shingles off der roof. It vhas a pretty how-de-you do dot you vhas down on poets. I vhas a poet myself, und I like to see you keep me out of dis shop. Listen to dis und den talk of Shakespeare:

"A mashing young man in Detroit
Tried to flirt with a girl from Beloit,
But she gave him a stare
Dot curled his red hair
Und busted his mashing exploit."

She waves der old shoes around her head ash ash repeats, und vhen she vhas finished she says:

Warned by a Woman.

"Dot vhas poetry, Mr. Cobbler, der genuine stuff, und it vhas all my own. Yes, I vhas a poet, und I defy you. If you don't mend dese shoes by tomorrow you vhas a goner."

Three minutes after dot woman goes out a man comes in. He wants some heels on some shoes, und he slams 'em down und stands back und says:

"So some poets vhas not wanted in dis shop, I see?"

"No, sir."

"Vhill you tell me vhy?"

"Because I don't like poetry. He makes me tired. After I hear some poetry I can't sleep nights."

FARM LANDS.

The Story of Their Rise In Value Reads Like a Romance.

The farmer, not the money king of Wall street, is the real owner of the United States. The glean of his fields is another Aladdin story, only instead of rubbing a lamp he has simply scraped the ground.

Our cereal crops last year were worth $3,000,000,000, which is sufficient to pay for all the tools, implements and machinery of the whole of American industry. While this sum seems huge as it stands alone, you have only to go back a few years in the story of our agriculture to see the miracle of the steady increase that has been achieved. Eleven years ago the value of all our farm products for a single year was reckoned at $4,417,000,000. You have already seen how that figure was doubled by 1909. During these years the sum total that the soil has yielded the farmers is $70,000,000,000. The advance is so steady and sure that you can almost calculate upon it year by year.

Compare this record with the ebb and flow of earnings in steel or any other industry and you realize as never before how agriculture keeps the even tenor of its prosperous way unmindful of panic or depression. Why? Simply because land is stable and, given proper methods of farming, the more you take out of it the more valuable it becomes. It cannot be moved away. It is in truth the very foundation of the nation's material welfare. It would take $24,000,000,000 to buy our farm lands, and their value is real and not watered, save by irrigation.—Isaac F. Marcosson in Munsey's.

A Sixth Sense.

Scientists in Denmark are greatly puzzled by a man named Emil Knudsen, aged thirty-six, a Norwegian from Christiania. He has been an object of interest to the medical faculty for some time, and lately Professor Friedenreich, one of the leading nerve specialists of Europe, suggested an experiment. Knudsen was blindfolded, placed at the wheel on a steamer and told to pilot it through the intricate channels of Copenhagen harbor. This he did without any mishap whatever. He displayed no nervousness or hesitation. He took a dozen sharp corners and followed a zigzag course throughout without any uncertainty. He explains his gift as a sixth sense, and the scientific men who have him under observation are inclined to believe that this explanation is the true one. At present, anyway, they are unable to account for the performance on any other hypothesis.

BREAD AND BUTTER PERIOD.

It Makes a Woman an "Understanding Companion."

There is no gainsaying the fact that the broad-minded man has come to appreciate the importance—to himself—of the wife of business or professional training. The world has not yet grown accustomed to the woman in business. Woman herself has not grown accustomed to it, for the world forces her into a false position. Perhaps, after all, it is nature and not the world, for of the business or professional woman only the wife or the widow who has closed the door of romance in her life regards the business or professional life as the ultimate life. Usually it merely is a bread and butter period until some man comes along to make the bread and butter for her.

But that bread and butter period makes her a more understanding companion to the man who comes and takes her back into the life for which she was intended. Oh, yes, my fair readers, that is it—the life for which she was intended. You may place at the head of your creed "I believe in the business training for a woman," and you may believe it sincerely, but you prove, every one of you, that your creed closes, "but I believe she was intended for a home," because the minute the right opportunity offers to return to the home, how long does it take you to shut down your desk and smile a farewell to the business world? The business opportunity only gives you a chance to be independent in your choice. You have the advantage over your grandmother in being self-supporting and dependent only on the man—not a man.

Will many wives who have known the exhaustion of a commercial day in a great city make the demands upon the evening of the husband which will come from the wife who has not known? Will the wife who has known the hours spent in the making of the dollar demand the dollar unreasonably as readily as the wife who has not known the effort required? Will not personal knowledge of public life and its competition and annoyances make a woman more responsive in her sympathy? If it does not, this woman indeed is hopeless and selfish, and would be so no matter what her training or lack of it.

LONG A MYSTERY.

Experts Could Not Agree on Material of a Celebrated Glass Vase.

In the British Museum in London, on exhibition is the Portland vase, the masterpiece of ancient glasswork. A chance discovery led to the rescue of this magnificent urn from the grave, where it had lain for hundreds of years, hidden and unknown. The vase was found early in the seventeenth century by some laborers, who, digging on a hillock in the neighborhood of Rome, broke into a large vault.

On further examination it revealed a suite of three sepulchral chambers. In the largest room they found a finely sculptured sarcophagus, which contained the beautiful vase. It was full of ashes, but it bore no inscription as to the remains it held, nor has the mystery ever been solved which shrouds its origin.

The vase was deposited in the Barberini Palace, where it remained until 1770, when the representative of the Barberini family, a Roman princess, was forced to part with it to pay her gambling debts. The vase changed hands twice, then it was disposed of to the Duchess of Portland, but with such secrecy that her own family was not aware of the transaction until after her death.

At the sale of the Duchess of Portland's collection it was purchased by her son, the third Duke of Portland, for the sum of $5,145, and it was deposited in the museum by his successor. The vase was wantonly smashed in pieces by a drunken visitor, but the fragments were, however, joined together, but the bottom, with its mysterious figure in Phrygian cap, was not replaced.

The material of this case was long almost as great a puzzle as the story it illustrates. Breval refers to it as "the famous vase of chaledony"; Misson calls it an agate; Bartoli a sardonyx; while Caylus and others correctly decided that it was made of glass. The blue body was first formed, and, while still red hot, coated over as far as the bas reliefs were intended to reach with semiopaque white glass, the delicate figures being afterwards cut down to the blue ground in the same manner as with real cameos.

Telephone Girl's Record.

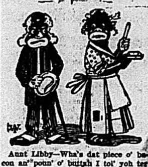
For a period of six years, which terminated only a day or two ago, Farnham, Surrey, England, possessed the paragon of telephone operators, a girl who never made mistakes or lost her temper. She was not the only operator at the Farnham Exchange, but the knowledge that she might be the one who would answer a call made the use of the telephone one of the pleasures of life instead of one of its worries to subscribers in the district, says The London Daily Mail.

But there is gloom among the telephone users of Farnham, for the girl has got married—to a young man who used to listen to her voice over the telephone wires.

Miss Lilla Patrick was the operator's name—she is Mrs. Lefevre now—and just before her wedding the Farnham telephone subscribers remembered that never once during the whole six years she had presided over the plugs and lines of the Farnham Exchange had a single complaint been made against her. This was a record not to be passed over lightly, so the Farnham subscribers subscribed again, this time for Miss Lilla Patrick, and presented her with $85 and their good wishes for a happy married life. She received in addition many other separate wedding presents from telephone users.

"We shall never see her like again," said the subscribers who headed the list, in a tone of regret. "She always spoke politely, was obliging and courteous, did her best, was quick in getting numbers, never cut you off too soon, never put you on the wrong number, never snapped at you, would ring when your number was on, and, finally, she had a charming voice."

The manager of the Farnham Exchange speaks thus in praise of Miss Patrick: "Her record in the service of the company was unsullied. Never was a mark made against her. She was a wonderful operator."



Aunt Libby—Wha's dat piece o' bacon an' poun' o' buttah I tol' yoh ter git down at de sto'?

This Came by Wireless.

The young and brilliant editorial guide was showing the party of antiquarians through the older portions of the city of Peoria.

"The streets running parallel with the river," he said, "are named Washington, Adams, Jefferson, and so on, you see. We named them in honor of the presidents of the United States."

"I see," responded one of the antiquarians. "And what's the name of the street we are passing now?"

"Perry."

"You seem to have run out of presidents, George, when you got to this one."

"Ye-es," said George; "we had not only used up all the presidents, but we seem to have made a bad guess on the next one."—Chicago Tribune.

The Love Story and Good Deeds of the Former Queen of Portugal.

THE FORMER QUEEN OF PORTUGAL.

The last few years have been unhappy ones indeed for the lovely and good Amelie, the former queen of Portugal. As every one knows, her husband, King Carlos, and the crown prince were assassinated while she was driving with them in the streets of Lisbon in 1908. The expulsion recently of her son, King Manuel, and the royal family from Portugal when the monarchial government was replaced by that of a republic is another bitter blow to this much tried woman.

Queen Amelie, the daughter of the Comte de Paris, was brought up in England in the utmost simplicity. Royal unions are not always love matches, but the marriage of King Carlos and Queen Amelie was an exception. There is a pretty story about this royal courtship. It seems the then Duke of Braganza was distinctly difficult to please in the choice of a wife. One day a portrait of Princess Amelie d'Orleans was placed in his way as if by accident, and the duke was immediately fascinated. Personal acquaintance increased the attraction, and eventually the young couple were married at Lisbon in 1886. The marriage [illegible] a happy one, for the royal [illegible] devoted to each other on [illegible] of the king's death as in the [illegible] years of their union.

Until recently Queen Amelie was much beloved by the people of her adopted country. She studied medicine so as to understand hospital work and general nursing and was untiring in her efforts to improve the public health. The higher education of women enlisted her warmest support, and she was never happier than when going about incog. among the poor of Lisbon.

Queen Amelie was considered the best gowned of royal women, and she is a born milliner. In the palace there was a room set apart where hats and bonnets were continually in course of construction, and thereby hangs a pathetic story.

Once while out driving in the streets of Lisbon she observed a large crowd surrounding some object. The queen sent the footman to see what was the matter, and when he reported that a young woman had fainted she immediately left her carriage and had the unconscious girl taken to a neighboring shop and personally attended her professionally. The queen had the young woman removed to her own home, had inquiries made about her and learned the poor girl's history. She was a milliner and, having failed to get employment, had ventured to undertake work on her own account for the support of herself and her invalid mother, but with so little success that she was nearly starved.

Queen Amelie sent at once some necessaries and commanded the girl's presence at the palace. Here she received her in the workroom and handed the poor milliner three bonnets of her own creation. "Take these as models, call them 'bonnets Amelie' and tell your customers they are made after the queen's own fashioning." Her majesty wore herself one of the identical bonnets and commanded her ladies to do likewise. Within two months the once starving girl could take larger premises and today is herself an employer of over 200 women.

What Dr. Madison Peters Says.

Our presidents were largely accidents, called from the plain people. They made good as a rule. Almost any American can be a king. Our American women so unexpectedly called to accompany the presidents to the White House acquitted themselves with a sense of fitness, showing that any American girl can be a queen.

BOARDING IN A CUBAN HOME

You Must Not Mention Money, but You Pay All the Same.

In Cuba, where money is not talked of, where no one is valued according to his money, the need of it is neverlessless the sword hanging over every home. Money—the lack of it is evident everywhere, but the word is never mentioned, writes Kate Jordan in the New Idea Woman's Magazine.

"Be sure you do not speak of money," the Cuban friend who had introduced us had said. "From her cousin's brother-in-law I know the senora expects $15 a week for each of you. Put this in an envelope with her full name on it, which you know means not only her husband's name, but all of her own family names, which I will give you, and leave it where she will find it. It will disappear, but," said our Cuban friend proudly and sternly, "it will never be mentioned."

To eat one's three meals under the summer sky gave a holiday flavor to what becomes habit. Our table was set under a palm on one of the galleries. Our first taste of the iced oranges of Cuba was a moment to be remembered. They are peeled whole and so close that even the juicy pods are cut into a little. A fork is stuck into each orange, and, resting in a bowl of ice packed all night, they are in the morning little globes of iced liquid sweetness. They are eaten while held up on the fork, on the pulp, the skeleton of the orange being left impaled on it.

April 26, 1911

Messrs. Newcombe Piano Co., Ltd, Toronto.

Dear Sirs,—It gives me great pleasure in testifying to the general excellence of your pianos. One in particular—style 70—shown me this afternoon, being especially fine, and for brilliancy and sympathic quality of tone, I consider your upright piano to be unequalled by any made in Canada. Your piano has a splendid sonority which is so rare in Upright Pianos.

Yours truly,
HOWARD BROCKWAY.

THE USEFUL CASSEROLE.

How to Make Cheap Dishes Pleasing to the Palate.

The casserole is a utensil which should be known in the American kitchen.

Awhile ago the casserole was an expensive imported dish. Now it is made in this country and can be bought for a small sum. Any fireproof earthenware dish, large or small, with a cover is a casserole or may serve in the place of one. The food cooked in the casserole is sent to the table in the same dish and has won by the process of cooking a savoriness it could hardly gain in any other way.

To make cheap dishes pleasing to the palate is the object of housekeepers at all times, but especially now, when the cruel rise in prices sends us all searching for ways in which to keep our bills down without letting our families feel they are being pinched in their food supply. In this effort the casserole is of distinct service.

Take, for instance, a casserole of veal. For this you may use the leg pieces or any other cheap lean portions. Cutlet is altogether too good and too expensive. You put the casserole on top of the stove and fry in it an onion in a little dripping and when this is hot lay in the slices of meat and turn them until their surfaces are lightly seared. You arrange the meat and sliced or stewed tomatoes in alternate layers, pour in a cup of weak gravy, cover your casserole and put it in the oven and leave it there for an hour and a half to two hours.

Isaiah's Vision and Call to Service (Home Missionary Lesson) Isa. vi.

Golden Text—I heard the voice of the Lord, saying, Whom shall I send and who will go for us? Then said I here am I, send me. Isa. vi:8.

(1) Verses 1-4—Why did God give this vision to Isaiah?

(2) Do you think that any such vision needs repeating? Why?

(3) When we have any special Divine illumination what is the advantage of connecting it with some event, or putting down the date, as Isaiah seems to have done?

(4) Did Isaiah, or anybody else ever see with the outward eyes, the actual eternal God, and will He ever be so seen?

(5) Is there any reason to think that Seraphim, or angels, are to be seen everywhere in the universe, if we had the medius through which to see them?

(6) Verse 5—How was it that the sight of the Lord made Isaiah conscious of his sinfulness.

(7) What if any reason is there to conclude that the use of coarse slang or profanity, proves the user to be an impure man?

(8) Which is the more effectual way to reveal to sinners their guilt, to correct them with words, or to live pure lives before them? Why?

(9) What effect does the teaching of the spotless purity of Jesus have upon sinful men?

(10) Verses 6-7—What is God's attitude to sinners who are conscious of, and loathe themselves because of their sins?

(11) What is the "live coal" with which the Seraphim touched the lips of Isaiah, emblematic of?

(12) What actually transpires in a man's spiritual nature, when he comes to God for the pardon of his sins?

(13) What reason is there to think that angels, or spirits, have anything to do with salvation, or the spiritual comfort of men and women today?

(14) Verse 8—What class of men and women does God need, and call to be missionaries?

(15) What are the indications that God is calling to-day with a loud voice for missionaries? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

(16) Is it possible for any person to be in harmony with God who is not willing to be a missionary or to support a missoniary, if the Lord should so demand?

(17) What reasons are there to conclude that it is the duty of pastors in these days, to look out for suitable young men, and call them to missionary work?

(18) Verses 9-10—The prophet was being sent to a people familiar with God's message, and hardened in sin. What is generally the doom of such people?

(19) What is the use of continuing to preach to a gospel hardened people?

(20) When sinners hear the call of God to repentance, and heed it not what change takes place in them for better or for worse?

(21) Verses 11-13—It is very trying to preach without results, but is there anything in this story to indicate that in time, a faithful servant of God will surely cause some to hear and turn to the Lord?

Lesson for Sunday, May 21st, 1911. Song of the Vineyard. (A Temperance Lesson.) Isa. v:1-12.

Spoiled the Shoot.

Among the many interesting stories related by a Londerer who has had 16 years' experience in the Indias forest service the following, told of a newly-joined subaltern's first attempt at tiger shooting, has most pleased his English friends:

Being a "griffin" (the Indian for greenhorn), he was not regarded as a great acquisition, and was posted in the worst position, with strict orders to fire at nothing but the tiger.

The beast started and all remained deadly silent in the line of machans (tree platforms) as the din of beaters gradually approached. Suddenly a shot was heard from the direction of the obscure corner where our "griffin" was posted, rapidly followed by another. Muttered ejaculations from the younger men and good solid hard swearing which grew heartier and more fervent as a perfect fusillade from the corner synchronized with the near approached of the coolies and end of the beat.

The fact that each sportsman had to remain at his post and swear in silence under his breath only increased the bottled-up wrath. At the end of the beat a general and hurried move was made in the direction of the despised corner occupied by the "griffin." There he sat, wreathed in a huge smile of utter content. As each angry man came up a storm of vituperation was poured upon his devoted head. The smile gradually faded and the youth stared in amazement at the angry sportsmen gesticulating below.

"What the d—l do you mean, sir," blustered a senior officer, "spoiling the whole shoot by your fusillade?"

The "griffin" blurted out: "I got only three. How many did you get?"

"Three what, sir?" yelled the peppery old man.

"Tigers, of course, sir,"" meekly answered the youngster, now seriously alarmed. "You said I was only to fire at tigers. They are down there."

And sure enough, three tigers lay in the long grass with Martini bullets in them.

EARL LEAVES WINNIPEG.

Winnipeg, May 1.—Contrary to the hopes of Winnipeg people, who had anticipated that the Earl and Countess Grey would spend a large part of next week in this city, the vice-regal party left for the east Saturday night. The earl was present at the play at the theatre at night, and at the close of the usual performance the members of the party bid farewell to friends in Winnipeg. It is understood that the political situation at Ottawa had had some effect on his sudden departure.

Very great regret is expressed that it has been found necessary that the Governor-General and Countess Grey should leave for Ottawa so soon. Arrangements had been made for a number of events next week, at which it was hoped that the vice-regal party might be present. One of the chief of these was the military concert, to be given by the Sheffield Choir, on Wednesday night. At this function it was hoped that there would be a very large representation of the military of the city, and it was intended that it should be made one of the greatest gatherings in the musical history of the city. Lord Lascelles had indicated his belief that the earl and countess would be present, but the plans have had to be changed, and on Wednesday night the party will be again at Rideau Hall.

Radway's Ready Relief

FOR OVER 50 YEARS
From FATHER to SON
From MOTHER to DAUGHTER

Radway's Ready Relief

has been the FAMILY DOCTOR and Unfailing Household Remedy for all coughs, colds, sore throat, bronchitis, "grip," pneumonia, and pains and aches of all kinds.

NEGLECTED COLDS run into the "grip" and PNEUMONIA. Lose no time, but get at once a bottle of RADWAY'S READY RELIEF, and prevent pneumonia, or cure it if already manifested. This wonderful remedy should be in every household: cures before the Doctor can arrive.

I have used a variety of preparations for Rheumatism, but have found nothing so satisfactory as Radway's Ready Relief. We have used it in the family since I was a child. Have used it successfully also for frosted feet. Yours Truly,

RECORD RAINFALLS

The Past Year in Great Britain Goes Down to Posterity as One of the Wettest of Seasons

The autumn and winter of 1910 seem to have gone down to posterity as record wet seasons. Not since the days when Noah gathered them in two by two has there been so much wrath directed against the Clerk of the Weather. And not without reason. The average rainfall for the last twenty-five years, for the last three months of the year has been 8.44 inches. The average had been exceeded in 1910 when December was a fortnight old. During the thirteen weeks ending December 12th, 1909, there were 301 hours of sunshine and but 3½ inches of rain. Last year for a similiar period there were 8¼ inches of rain and but 227 hours of sunshine; and for three weeks of that period "King Sol" shone for four an a half hours only.

The significance of an inch of rain may be gathered from the fact that it is equal to 100 tons of water for every acre, or 64,000 tons for every square mile. From the beginning of October to the middle of December about 8 inches of rain had fallen in the Thames Valley, which meant that the Thames in just over two months had to negotiate a downfall of water equal to 1,951,744,000 tons, which would fill a channel 8,000 miles long, 10 feet deep, and 250 feet wide. The Thames Valley covers an area of 3,812 square miles, so that a fall of one inch over the whole valley is equal to 242,968,000 tons of water, which has been calculated to equal a river 10 feet deep, 250 feet wide, and 1,000 miles long. It is computed that the weight of rain that falls in the Old Country in the course of a year averages 3,000 tons to every acre, and, as there are 77,142,938 acres in the United Kingdom, this computation shows us that 231,431,[illegible]00 tons of rain fall on its surface [illegible] course of twelve months.

One of the heaviest ra[illegible] yet recorded in the British [illegible] 2.24 inches in 40 minutes [illegible]shire, during a severe thun[illegible] June 18th, 1887. On Au[illegible] 3.12 inches fell in 2 hours, 1[illegible] at Camberwell, London. [illegible]falls during one day, the follo[illegible] be mentioned: Ben Nevi[illegible]vatory, 7.29 inches, on Octob[illegible] 1890; Newport, Wales, 5.33 inc[illegible] July 14th, 1875; and Camusinas, A[illegible]shire; 5.60 inches, January 24th, 186[illegible].

AN IRON ISLE

Discovery of Ore on Rassay, an Island Near Skye.

A new mining centre may be opened up as a result of the discovery of iron ore in the little island of Rassay, which lies between Skye and the mainland of Scotland. The island covers an area of about twenty-eight square miles. The investigations, it is said, have been so satisfactory that a Scotch steel firm has secured an option for the purchase of the entire island. It is believed that recent developments have been considered sufficiently important to justify the erection of blast furnaces for the smelting of ore. The discovery may mean extensive employment for the inhabitants of Rassay, the adjoining Isle of Skye, and the mainland of Ross-shire. Skilled labor will be in demand, but a certain proportion of unskilled labor will also be required.

SOLDIER AND SCULPTOR

Adrian Jones Understands a Horse From Tail Tip to Nostril

It is said of Captain Adrian Jones, who has designed the four-horse war chariot, weighing upwards of thirty tons, which is to be erected in London as a memorial to "Peace," that he is probably the only living sculptor who understands a horse from tail-tip to nostril. As a boy he loved and studied horses, and would have liked to become an artist, but his father had other plans, and he entered the Army. He saw much active service, and was then advised to become a sculptor, having devoted most of his spare time when in the Army to painting and sculpture.

ONE MAN, SEVENTEEN VOTES

What a champion pluralist was the Rev. Washbourne West, a late Senior Fellow of Lincoln College, Oxford, who in 1892, at the age of eighty, recorded seventeen votes in different parts of the country and still left half-a-dozen unused. A hundred and twenty votes in four years was Mr. West's achievement; and very proud he was of it, as he more than once told his friends. His only regret was that he could not live to make it two centuries. He recorded eight of his 1892 votes in two consecutive days at places as far apart as Sevenoaks and Mid-Oxford. But this feat was beaten by the seventy-year-old Mr. W. J. Haywood, of Herne Hill, who, at a recent election actually voted in six county constituencies in one day, covering something lke 250 miles in his motor-car.

A TRAGIC SIGHT

Mr. Asquith in speaking recently in Edinburgh said: "One of the most tragic sights in our town life is that of a boy sitting in the tail-end of a van reading some trashy story, rapidly graduating, as soon as his present precarious and short-lived occupation comes to an end, for a place in the unemployable. For years past this has been the darkest blot and the most fatal gap in our educational system."

PECULIAR BAZAAR

Vegetarians, who are organizing a bazaar to be held in London, are making a feature of a stall upon which every article displayed resembles leather, but has been obtained in reality from a vegetable product. Among the articles made from this substance are boots and shoes, bags, music-cases, bound Bibles, pocket-books, and despatch-boxes.

PRUSSIAN POLICE

An Interesting Description of the Officials Who Enforce the Laws With an Iron Hand

The Prussian policeman is an interesting personage. On first acquaintance he usually inspires the visitor to Germany with a sense of awe. This is hardly wonderful, seeing that his own fellow-countrymen stand in considerable awe of him. But in the case of the stranger it takes time to realize that the stately and commanding figure, adorned with a uniform closely assimilating to that worn in the army, who struts along clanking a sword is that of a policeman.

The Prussian policeman belongs to the great and honored official class. He is not a public servant—there are no "public servants" in Germany. If he is anybody's servant he is the Kaiser's. He is a State official. In his sphere he is absolute; an autocrat.
